

Niles Chamber of Commerce

By Al Green

President-Niles Chamber
This has been a year of progress for the Village and the Chamber.

This is the start of a new year, one in which we must go forward to new heights in business, industry, science and the professions.

We hope this year will be a banner one for the chamber—for this is the most important organization of any city or village. A strong chamber means a strong village.

I wish to welcome back to Niles our own Judge Anton Smigel. We have all missed him, I am sure, and it was like losing part of us when he was removed from the Village to the courts in Chicago. The village really needs Judge Smigel, and the chamber especially needs his activity in our affairs.

We are also happy to welcome back John Poeschl who has served the village and the chamber for many years so well in the past.

I think it is in order that we thank the village officials, the fire department, police department and public works for the wonderful things they have done for the citizens of Niles in the past year.

We wish to thank Mayor Nick Blase for the wonderful leadership he has shown in the past year; also our Village Trustees.

The Chamber thanks Niles' First Lady, Mrs. Nick Blase, (affectionately known as "Claire" by most of us) for graciously so many of our functions in the Village.

At this time, we will all make New Year resolutions, so I will make some for the chamber. We will strive to:

1. Increase membership.
2. Better serve the Village and its citizens.
3. Foster projects to improve our Village.
4. Continue to make Niles a better place to live and work.

The Chamber wishes to thank the Press for the fine cooperation the Chamber has enjoyed from all our local papers.

Our next meeting will be held on Wednesday, January 13, at the Lone Tree at 12 Noon. Vince Johnson, our outstanding Program Chairman, will present a film in color and sound on the Masters' Golf Tournament of Augusta, Georgia. Anyone wishing to attend (whether they are members or not) will be welcome. Kindly call the Chamber Offices, 823-7120, and make your reservations. A dedication to Eddie Bacher and his Public Works Department, who do so much for the Village and the Chamber and seldom get the credit due them, will likewise be made at this meeting.

In closing, may I offer a prayer for all: "May God give me strength in this coming year to be of service to my fellow man, both in my profession and community projects. May he bestow health, happiness and prosperity on our Village and its citizens."

Niles fire and inhalator service has been extended to residents of a portion of the unincorporated area west of the village limits. This service began January 1.

Niles fire chief Albert L. Hoebl said the change in fire protection would affect 105 homes and 12 businesses in the area on the east side of Greenwood Ave., from approximately 8500 north to 9700 north, and east to the west side of Milwaukee Ave. This area was formerly protected by the Des Plaines Fire Department, which will lic works department, are examination of present village committees, attracting better-qualified people into village work and completing the codification of ordinances, which will be compiled into one book. He noted Chicago's Mayor Daley may seek a city sales tax raise, which would have to be studied by the village. Scheel said he was not being "coy" in delaying his decision and it would be forthcoming within the next weeks.

In announcing his candidacy for Mayor, Blase said his party would be called the Forward Era Party. He named Leonard Borkowski, 7054 Grennan, Orville Ottow, 8555 Kedzie and Diane Hansen, 8028 Wisner, as campaign leaders. Ottow and Mrs. Hansen (Mrs. Niles, 1964) were active in the Blase New Era Party in 1961.

Commenting on Blase's past record, a spokesman said: "With all the improvements that have taken place in Niles—a new building for the police station and council chambers, new fire station with more men and better equipment, new street lighting and crossing signals, a modernized Clerk's office—the taxes have been kept down."

"I AM well aware," said Blase, "that those residents of Niles who live in School District 63 have had their real estate taxes skyrocket. However, it is the educational, or school, portion of the tax dollar which has increased so sharply. The Village of Niles accounts for only about 8 per cent of your tax bill versus about 78 per cent for the schools."

The selection of caucus representatives comes from civic groups representing the entire community. In the case of district 71, the representatives themselves SEEKED the caucus posts, and each year returned to caucus, under the guise of representing a different group. Thus, one year the representative would come from the Woman's Club, the next year the SAME person would represent the PTA, making sure they gained a foothold in the selecting group each year. This attitude defeated the intent of the group, which should have new representatives expressing the will of the groups they came from. The very tight control by a few persons aided in the collapse of a very good idea.

The choosing of the candidate was another bone of contention which proved a hindrance to the group. Rather than following a very specific means of questioning the candidates, the caucus representatives bore down hard on the nervous, average-educated candidate, while treating the more highly-trained with respect bordering on awe. We sat in on one meeting in which an obviously ill-at-ease candidate was bombarded with silly questions concerning "progressive" education, music programs, language curricula and the like. When the PHD candidate followed her the caucus members were so in awe by the PHD's credentials, that they dared not ask him similar questions. The unfairness of the contrasting inquisitions proved the need for a very specific guideline, for questioning and measuring the candidate.

Despite the obvious handicaps, the caucus system seems the best way for choosing candidates. In school district 63 we have looked at the hokum of

The "caucus" system, now used as a means for selecting candidates for both Niles and Maine High Schools' Boards, is about to be extended into elementary school district 63.

Not too many years ago Niles Public School district 71 had initiated a caucus system, which led the way for the election of three members of its present Board, which were re-elected for a third term last year. However, the district displayed only a very luke-warm interest in such a system, and it eventually unravelled, after caucus-candidates took a severe shelling in a subsequent election.

It is not difficult to have mixed emotions about this means for selecting candidates. On the one hand, it is generally agreed the more qualified candidates are selected by the caucus. This caucus stamp of approval normally is tantamount to the candidates being elected. The Niles district 71 experience was an exceptional one, though its candidates' defeat seemed to show the community was not attuned to the caucus itself.

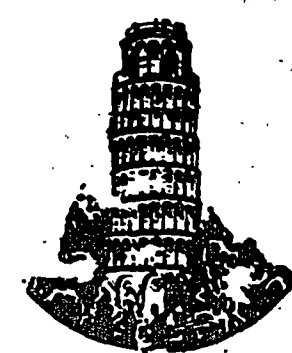

In order that the caucus system can be successful it should have the backing of the community it represents. In district 71, the caucus unfortunately was in the hands of a few well-meaning persons, whose intentions were good, but who refused to live by the rules of the very group which it created.

Would Prevent Mayor, Trustees From Servicing Or Selling Niles' Employees

SCHEEL: OFFICIALS SHOULD NOT SOLICIT EMPLOYEES

Could Be Political Hot Potato

Trustee Ken Scheel may have thrown a political hot potato into center ring Tuesday night when he suggested "no elected official has any right to solicit or service any employees of the village of Niles." The suggestion was referred to village attorney Geocaris for further study, prior to it being voted upon.

In a rather broad interpretation under state statute no elected official can do business with the political body he serves. It does not mention the soliciting of business of employees of a political body by an elected official.

While Scheel did not say it was aimed at any of Niles officials now in office, it is common knowledge Mayor Blase does legal service for public employees and trustee Ang Marcheschi does insurance business with the Niles Fire Benevolent Association. If the Scheel ordinance was approved it would be difficult to determine whether or not "doing business with" and the "solicitation of" business with employees could be determined.

Scheel told THE BUGLE if he was an official of a north-west suburb, which has hard water, and he solicited all the employees of the suburb, it might prove highly profitable. He said he was aiming at preventing men running for public office who might have in mind doing business with Niles' more than 120 employees.

Mayor Blase told THE BUGLE he was unaware of Scheel presenting this idea Tuesday, and that interpreting such an idea would require study.

Political wags around the village hall might think the Scheel sudden presentation of this bill indicated he may not be running on the ticket with Blase in April, since such an ordinance, before election time would hardly be an aid to Blase. However, Scheel, who has often implied he does not read the political barometer, may merely be using the suggestion as one condition for his running again with Blase. He told THE BUGLE last week he wanted to sit down with Blase, and "iron out" cer-

March Of Dimes Kickoff

Campaign Director Kenneth J. Cohen with Niles' Mayor Nicholas Blase who, proclaiming January, 1965 the March of Dimes month, stated: "The March of Dimes was successful in its fight against polio, and its dedicated goal is to do as complete a job against birth defects and other crippling diseases. I urge all citizens to contribute generously to this campaign."

Hair-Raising Problem Receives Trustees' OK

A hair-raising problem was approved at Tuesday's village Board meeting when trustees okayed the Niles School of Beauty Culture at 8041 Milwaukee Avenue. Charles Simon, 8041 Church, said parking has been assured alongside the tile store to the south, which was the major problem concerning the plans. Simon, whose wife owns Roses' Beauty Salon, at the above address, made offers to improve Blase's and Scheel's coffers after the school became operative.

In other actions Tuesday night trustees approved new up-to-date map created by Wente and Zoning Board member Jack Frick which details each lot in the village. The map will be included with copies of the zoning ordinance which can be purchased for $5, or the map alone for $2.50. Blase commended Wente and Frick for the many hours of work which went into the project.

Approved $8,110 purchase of truck chassis for Public Works Department from Lehigh Truck Company.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Private 'No Parking'

Gentlemen:

One Sunday morning in November, we got to Church (St. John Brebeuf) to find the parking lot filled up, and we had to go down Monroe Street, the one that borders the Church property to the South, looking for a parking place. On the Southside of Monroe Street, there is no parking. On the North side, all along the church property there is parking, but these places were all taken. However, on Monroe Street on the north side right next to the Church property and on the corner, is a large brick ranch house, and although there is parking allowed along the Church property, in front of this resident's home there is no parking allowed. My husband and I have often wondered about this situation; it seemed quite unusual. On this particular Sunday the only parking place open was in front of this house. Other cars were parked there also. Due to the fact that it was raining, people seemed to park in this space out of desperation, just as we did.

When mass was over and we returned to our car we found a parking ticket in the wiper on the windshield. All the other cars parked there had tickets also.

I would like to know who has so much pull in this village that they can tie up the entire area in front of their home with a no parking sign, when there is no need for it, especially when it is adjacent to Church property where parking space is desperately needed. I asked this question when I went to the police station to pay the ticket, but no one could answer me. I thought perhaps your paper would be the one to get to the bottom of it. Thank you.

Very truly yours,

Letter To The Editor

It was indeed curious during the November election campaign to hear candidates for high public office offer well meaning lip service to the cause of education and education's need for adequate funds. As a matter of fact since Abe Lincoln said "Education is the most important subject which we as a people can be engaged in," these sentiments have been echoed and re-echoed by our country's leaders. But in many instances, at a level where the amount of funds for education are in actuality determined, education comes last. If it is considered at all! What comes first? The highest financial return — and in many instances windfall profits — to the landowner, the developer, and the builder. Who so determines this order of priority? Zoning boards and courts. An illustration of the effect of zoning boards and courts through land zoning can be seen in East Maine Elementary School District 63. In 1963, of the 121 elementary school districts in Cook County, East Maine 63 ranked 15th highest in tax rate, but 91st from the highest in annual per pupil expenditure. And in order to even reach this expenditure rank, the district was the recipient of state subsidy of over $600,000. Let the public recognize where much of the cause lies for inadequate educational funds and high tax rates! It lies at the doorstep of zoning boards who fail to zone plan within the school district to provide for educational funds without overburdening the taxpayer, and with courts that grant re-zoning against the best interests of schools and communities! School Districts that embrace considerable unincorporated areas are forced to face a second problem related to zoning. Some unincorporated areas, traditionally farm and rural regions, are being flooded by all types of multiple-housing developments. Some may be or may not be financially detrimental to the school districts. School board members, often the only locally elected representatives for these areas, are aware of the intertwining of school and community welfare. They are concerned over the creation of substandard, congested, rootless and undesirable land pockets. They question whether a good educational system can survive and flourish under such conditions.

Each Maine District 63's unincorporated area now contains over 10,000 residents (and perhaps 20,000 plus in the near future) but contains no local government, no libraries, no public parks, and few facilities necessary for today's urban needs.

Some public officials, such as Seymour Simon, President of the Cook County Board of Commissioners, and Nicholas Blase, President of the Village of Niles, have grasped the significance of these problems. They have taken strong and unprecedented action to attempt to solve them. Representative, John W. Carroll of Park Ridge was interested in successful legislation which specifies that schools are "interested parties in zoning matters." However, if public and school welfare is to prevail, a much greater government and judicial understanding will be necessary.

Human Relations

Dear Editor:

I must admit I am a little apprehensive of the purpose and intentions of the new HUMAN RELATIONS COUNCIL that has been formed in Niles, as per your front page news item, December 17, 1964.

One of the charter members of this new organization recently wrote me in regards to the literature I had distributed in Niles this year in which I opposed "forced housing." This charter member hoped that my material would not cause the citizens of Niles to add "violence" to their already present "hatred"; I have "done them harm" (the Negro); and that I am perhaps a "false shepherd", the likes of which Christ warned about, though they hoped not.

Will I and other citizens of Niles have to expect this type of attack by the new organization if we do not see eye to eye with them?

I notice that at least one other charter member signed a formal statement early this year that "residential segregation in our communities" is a "denial of the will of God" — i.e., a sin against God. I personally find it rather shocking that the citizens are to be charged with sin because they selected to live in an all-white neighborhood.

Will the new Human Relations Council be characterized by this sort of racism?

Alcoholism Center

This $750,000 alcoholism treatment and educational center is being planned by the Lutheran Institute of Human Ecology in Park Ridge, Ill.

The building will be constructed west of Lutheran General Hospital on Dempster Street in Park Ridge.

New Alcoholic Center For Lutheran General Hospital

An alcoholic treatment, rehabilitation, research and educational center is being planned by the Lutheran Institute of Human Ecology, Park Ridge, Ill. The center will be built directly west of Lutheran General Hospital on Dempster Street.

Groundbreaking is scheduled for this spring. Total cost is estimated at $750,000.

The Lutheran Institute of Human Ecology owns and operates Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge; Lutheran General Deaconess Hospital; and a school of nursing in Park Ridge. It conducts a growing program of research and education.

A $200,000 challenge grant for the center has been made by Patrick and Aimee Butler Family Foundation of St. Paul, Minnesota. The Foundation for Human Ecology, the fund raising and development arm of the institute, is raising funds to cover the remainder of the cost.

"We are contracting business and industry throughout the Chicago area asking their support for this program," said William M. Carlson, executive vice president of the foundation. This center will serve an indicated need in the metropolitan Chicago area. We feel that business and industry has a definite stake in helping make this center a reality."

Carlson pointed out that alcoholism costs business and industry millions of dollars each year.

"It makes good economic sense for industry to support the program," he stated.

The four story building will provide over 28,000 square feet. Included in the center will be private patient rooms, day rooms, therapy facilities, counseling offices and living facilities for resident staff.

The center is regarded as the first major effort of a Christian church body to deal with the problems of alcoholism—a problem medical authorities call the fourth largest health problem in the United States with over 5,000,000 alcoholics.

The center will initially provide resident facilities for 40 patients. Outpatients facilities will also be included in the building.

The program planned at the center is now functioning. Carlson pointed out. The team in charge of the program is currently using facilities of Lutheran General Hospital.

In charge of the new center will be Dr. Nelson J. Bradley, psychiatrist. Working with him are Dr. Jean J. Rossi, a clinical psychologist; and the Rev. John E. Keller, a clinical chaplain.

"Together in these three men, we have over 35 years of successful experience in working with alcoholics and their families," Carlson said.

Treatment and rehabilitation emphasizes the team approach. The three men will be joined by additional personnel when the center is opened. Among those expected to join the center will be an internist, a social worker, a vocational rehabilitation counselor, a research psychologist and several lay counselors—recovered alcoholics. In Alcoholics Anonymous who are trained as counselors.

"If enough funds are raised we hope to build an educational facility at the same time," Carlson noted.

The educational facility would contain 30,000 square feet. Included would be classrooms, seminar rooms, library facilities, research areas and quarters for residents. The educational facility would cost an additional $750,000.

The planned center has received the endorsement of Mrs. Marty Mann, executive director

WHAT IS "ITCHING?"

Itching is often a symptom of an underlying disorder. It is very closely related to the sensation of pain and by following the natural reflex to scratch it will after a time initiate pain—which is temporarily more comfortable!!

Itching can be caused by many conditions—local infection, allergy, nerves, nutrition, etc. Self-treatment could delay proper therapy. A persistent itching should be checked with a physician. He can find out the cause and advise the proper treatment.

At Des Plaines

During a birthday celebration for James Franciscus, which she has been invited by him to attend, Suzanne Pleshette discovers her rival Genevieve Page, is not only on hand but has taken over. Dramatic scene is from "Youngblood Hawke", new Warner Bros. drama due to open Friday at the Des Plaines Theatre. Franciscus and the Misses Pleshette and Page star in the new release produced, directed and scripted by Delmer Davis. "Youngblood Hawke" is based on the giant-sized, best-selling novel by Herman Wouk, author of "The Caine Mutiny". Co-featured with "Fall Safe", from the novel by Eugene Burdick and Harve Wheeler.

Another Morn'nother Yawn..

by Frieda Aron—966-9669

The father of a 26yr. old student at Wright Junior College charges his daughter is required to read obscene books. Can a father of a young adult censor her reading? Should a father do so? And how does he expect his daughter to evaluate her own capabilities and powers of deduction when he apparently is still her voice and her only source of worldly experience. The author of the book in question, James Baldwin, is one of our angry young Negro writers and many of his books I find difficult to read because of the subject matter and the harsh philosophy he encounters and projects. But the book, "Another Country", is one of the most beautiful of them all and most touching. Why do people confuse reality with obscenity? Must we always live like the ostrich, with our head in the sand, when something akin to the truth is confronting us? There is a large derelict society with which most of us of moderate or affluent means never come into contact with except through books or films; it is a life alien to the majority of people. Nevertheless it is the only way of life from the cradle to the grave for those so ill-endowed economically. And to be thoroughly realistic, one must admit it is simply that—the underprivileged community—with no training, no education and no opportunity, either because of color, lack of money or lack of inspiration. Each individual searches for some warmth, some tenderness, some momentary pleasure, anything at all to give life a bit of meaning. And if sexual pleasure is all that's left them, why not?

Ugliness and obscenity is in the eyes and mind of the beholder. The sexual passages in this book are tortuously beautiful, scathingly revealing and painful in its ecstasy. One must be living in a glacial atmosphere to withstand the evident truths glaring up from those written words in the book, "Another Country". After reading it myself I handed it to my 19 yr. old daughter, also a student at Wright Jr. College, long before this controversy started. Dean Oscar Shebot should not be shaken from his faith by the puritanical fury of those who do not wish to know that life is not only a large bowl of cherries, and think they can hide the fact from others.

A dozen numbers, with solos and groups interspersed with the full sixty-piece band concert compositions, will constitute the hour-long program, which will be presented in the school auditorium Sunday, January 24, at 3:30 p.m.

Admission to the concert will be by ticket obtainable at the door or in advance at Scharinghausen's Pharmacy in Park Ridge or Persson's Record Shop in Golf Mill. Tickets are $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

Vargas, who is director of school bands, will divide the conducting honors with O.D. Premo, assistant director.

Hi There

Mr. and Mrs. Hector A. Vargas, 9338 Washington Street, in Niles, welcomed a daughter, on January 5, named Adriana Marie. Adriana weighed 7 lb. 7 oz.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Do you suppose that a formal statement of purpose could be printed in this paper for all who cannot attend this meeting? I will be out of the state and would like to see, in print, just what the function this group plans to play in our community. Other citizens may also wish to know precisely what this organization plans to do.

At this season of the year when we are especially conscious of the Virgin Birth of Jesus Christ, the Prince of Peace, we are in hopes that this new council will be dedicated to peace and freedom and liberty for all. We sincerely hope that it will not turn out to be racism in reverse with the evil purpose of racial manipulation.

Sincerely yours,
Rev. Louis A. Maple
