The big question on Nilesites' lips the past week has been: "How can public officials turn against Mayor Nick Blase, all of whom were chosen and supported by Blase in past years, in hopes of ousting him from his Mayor's post after next April's election? And how can Blase be

Among the names bandled around for next April's elections in Niles include Park Commissioner Jerry Sullivan who is rumored may be running for the Mayor's post. Other hopefuls who head the rumor mill include Tom Trayes and park commissioner Mike Provenmo. Friends of Ed Ciccone (who was one of the four Mayor candidates eight years ago) are still mentioning him when the names fall but closer observers of the political scene don't believe he is any longer interested in Niles politics,

Trustees Postpone Decision

Niles Board Hears Plans For Theatre, Olympic Homes

By Naomi Krone News Editor

Appearance of the Candlelight Theatre Dinner Playhouse North in Niles came a step closer to reality luesday night when the Niles Village Board of Trustees heard the formal presentation of plans for the playhouse by the attorney for Lakeview Trust & Savings bank, trustee for the estate owning the proposed Candlelight construction site on the southwest corner of Milwaukee and Oak-

Plans call first for rezoning: the entire parcel of land is presently zoned Bl. The front parcel of land, where the playhouse would stand, requires rezoning to B2; Frontage on milwaukee ave. would be 489.62 feet. The rear parcel of land, where it is hoped the Olympic Estates subdivision will be constructed, needs a rezoning to R2. Amount of land available for homes is 570 by 358.87 feet. With a 50-foot dedication, this allows for approximately 22

The theatre would provide seating for 720 people, morethan-ample attendant parking, a fireproof building and be managed as a "family project," according to the attorney's presentation. There would be 8 shows weekly and the theatre would be closed every Monday. It has been estimated more than 50 persons would be employed for both the theatre and the subdivision or the owner of the land will withdraw the complete petition.

Only "fly in the cintment" according to the attorney, with the whole project is the village

While the trustees did not give any formal decision at the Tuesday night board meeting, they asked the petitioners to return in 2 weeks with more detailed specifications as to where the water and sewer lines would be placed, where street parking would be and also asked petitioners to further consider the problem of a de-acceleration lane off Milwaukee ave. as well as relocation of light poles and water hydrants, where necessary. These last 2 items seemed to provide the biggest stumbling block to present

In other business Tuesday night the trustees approved the revised sewer and water maps for Niles as presented to the board; referred to committee bids for a fire department aerladder truck; postponed approval on a request by Joseph Giancastro, 8317 Octavia, that

Yule Program Chairman

Hundreds of Chicago metro-politan residents of Swedish ancestry, and in native costume. will participate Dec. 8 in four colorful programs at the Museum of Science and Industry that depict the age-old Christ-mas customs of the land of their forefathers.

The stage programs, which celebrate Swedish Day of the Museum's 27th annual "Christmas Around the World' festival, are free to the public and will be seen at 2, 3:30, 5 and 7:30 p.m. in the main

At the first performance, members of the Varblomman Children's club No. 54, of the Vasa Order of America, will present a two-part program. The youngsters, age five to 15 years, will guide their audience on a tour of toyland; then present the ancient and beautiful Lucia pageant as performed during the holidays in their forefathers country. Chairman of the program is Mrs. Carl Norman, 8108 Ottawa, Niles.

Associate Director

Lawrence Burns of Morton Grove is currently serving as an associate director of membership for the Chicago chapter of the National Association of Accountants. He is associated with Durkee Famous Foods.

LETTERS to EDITOR

Voice Your Opinion, Too

In past referendums there has been a surprisingly small number of parents that have turned out to vote. It would be a great help to the school board if a majority of the parents would cast their ballots in a referendum at this time to indicate to the school board which direction they should turn for the next few years. This is an affirmative vote by the majority of parents indicating coninued support for the program as it is now or a negative vote indicating that the present path is not the right one.

The vote, of course, would only be the first step. Next on the list would be your attendance at a school board meeting to voice your opinion on changes. if there are any that you would like to see the school oard take.

I've attended a few of the school board meetings, which incidentally, are open to the public, and it is surprising how few people attend these meetings. Some of you may have heard they are long and many of the matters are routine, but you take any type of a meeting and you will find the same conditions and routines exist at nearly all meetings. There is, however, an Item in the agenda which allows for recognition of visitors and asking them what matters they would like to bring before the board. This is where you come in. This is your chance to voice your opinion and I'm sure that if enough people had an opinion to voice, the board might even call a special meeting. After all, this would be the perfect time to hear what the people have to say and we are the people they are trying to

So why don't you try something along with me. First, on Dec. 3, go out and cast your ballot on the tax referendum, That shouldn't take more than 10 minutes of your time. Second. at the next school board meeting, which will be held on Dec. 9. meet over at Merrill school 801 Glenlake, Park Ridge, with only one thought in mind to tell the school board how you feel about our school in general or on a particular topic. I'm sure the board will be happy for the information and don't you think our children will be

Basic Point Missed

The discussion of the antiballistic missile base which may be placed in Glenview, misses the basic point that these systems leave us quite defenseless against nuclear attack. A delivery system as simple as a ship in the harbor of any one of dozens of U.S. cities, including Chicago, could set off a nuclear bomb which would utterly destroy those cities, with no warning. We would not even know what country had attacked

The Defense Department is deluding themselves and the country in urging these systems upon us. They cannot or will not see the limitations of military technology to solve this problem. The past plans to evacuate cities even when the warning time was reduced to 15 minutes is an example of how untrustworthy these "expert" judgments can be. 🦈

Our policies must be b a clear handed look at reality or we will waste billions of dollars, our brain power and precious time, which must be spent on building a better world or we will all be living on one big time bomb.

I wish the "Defense Department Experts" would quit trying to build a Maginot Line in the sky, and admit the fundamental fact that no nation can defend itself against nuclear

The Project Headstart School in Des Plaines was visited by 21 Brownies from Troop 282 last week and presented a play called "The Birthday Party." After their play, they pretended it was everyone's birthday and gave the Headstart children books wrapped in gift paper. They also wrapped candy to look like miniature turkeys for the children. Everyone had a good time sharing songs and games and we left with a promise to return next Spring. Troop 45

On Nov. 15, Troop 45 went out near Crystal Lake, Illinois for their Lakota Camp Out. The boys had their own private lake; if you remember, it rained almost the entire week-end.

In spite of the poor weather, some of the scouts started their ordeal for the Senior Patrol. Boys have to be 14 years old, Life Scouts or Eagle Scouts to qualify for their honor.

The boys slept out "under the stars" (rain didn't stop them) and, to prove themselves even further, managed to cook 3 meals for themselves with out using cooking utensils. (2nd class cooking requirements.)

The weather was pretty miserable, but the boys managed to pass some tests, do a little hiking, and collect firewood (slightly wet).

Boys ttending were: Owl Patrol -- P.L. Mike Krejsa, Terry Frick A.P.L., Mike Davis, Brian Cronin, Rich, Pignato, Ken Schneider, Eagle Patrol - Ron Friedman A.P.L. Arrow Patrol -- P.L. Don Schneider, A.S.M. Thor Sandvik, and Camp Chairman, Pete Welsch, were the adult leaders.

The camp-out was cut short a little. "Wash-out" was the term S.M. Don Schneider used. Although the equipment was a little damp, troop spirit wasn't.
The boys headed for hame late Saturday night, but were already discussing their next trip.

Troop 175

With the complete cooperation of the weatherman, 25 Scouts of Troop 175, St. John Brebeuf parish, Niles, spent an enjoyable tenting weekend, Nov. 22-24 at Camp Lakota, near Woodstock. Milehi Board News

Nearly 150 persons, half of whom were Nilehi students, attended the Board of Education peeting Tuesday night to hear the administration's report on student involvement in the Niles Township High schools.

Introduced by Assistant Su-perimencent, Dr. Merton Haynes, building administrators and teachers explained and described student activities which provide communication between students, teachers and administrators. ·

Niles East Principal Arthur-Colver pointed out early in the report that there are several factors which influence the young high school people of today. Among those he mentioned were continuous change, television programming, chronic violence and affluence. He noted that these factors have given students today a sense of involvement and at the same time

The Bugle, Thursday, December $ 1968

After the administration's report to the school board, about 15 students and adults addressed the board, voicing their points of view on student involvement in a school political forum and in activities sponsored by the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS). One student summarized her reaction to the discussion by noting that two opinions existed, making it obvious that the two groups expressing those opinions have to get together to work out their differ-

The Board of Education commended the administration on its report and requested that at a future meeting the administration discuss with the board how to involve more students in school activities generally and not just in student government and in politics.

Much later in the evening, the school board authorized the administration to begin plans on extending the hours of the school libraries. It was suggested that the school administration explore the situation and recommend a pilot one-semester experiment involving one of the school libraries

In other matters, the Board of Education heard that Michael McDevitt, a math teacher at Niles West since September, had died in his hometown of Dwight, Ill.; heard that the school district's computer had been installed and is ready for projects; and approved the appointment of Ralph Heissinger as a social studies teacher at Niles West, effective immediately.

Have the Parent-Teachers Associations in our area outlived

Does your PTA offer a service to you and your school other than providing free office help and clerical workers for the overburdened and under-moneyed school districts? How about the PTA monthly programs-do you look at the title of each program and think to yourself "Well, that doesn't concern my children so

As a past president of a grade school PTA and at present a board member of a junior high school PTA, I have a few afterthoughts. True, there are many instances where the paper work involved and the red tape surrounding PTA work makes you feel as though it's really a branch of the federal government (it not the whole thing) you're trying to manuever through the choppy waters of community living.

There are a lot of reports to file, meetings to attend and other details to worry about. But, if the PTA at your school had no value then why would the administrators seek its help first when a referendum is forthcoming, a school board election set, a project (such as Sex Education) being planned, a welcome for new and returning teachers alike? Evidently administrators do not (for the most part) feel the PTA is just an "ice cream social" group with nothing better to do than schedule meetings so the ladies (where are the fathers) will have something to do with their time.

Why is your PTA always asked to help with the sight and hearing tests of YOUR children at the beginning of each school year? Why does your PTA provide (in many cases) the only vocal link of communication between parents and school? Because the board members have nothing else to do? NO.

The PTA is an organization of PARENTS-TEACHERS and administration representatives. Its object is to promote the welfare of children in the HOME, SCHOOL, CHURCH and COMMUNITY; raise the standards of home life, secure adequate laws for the protection and care of children; to bring into closer relation the home and the school and to develop between educators and the public such united efforts as will secure for EVERY child the highest advantages in physical, mental, social and spiritual education.
THIS MEANS EVERYBODY.

A case in point. A junior high school recently scheduled a meeting, with the cooperation of its PTA, for all parents (there are more than 1300 children at the school) so the administration and faculty representatives could explain the new curriculum system now being used. Important? About 30 to 40 people showed up-10 of those were PTA board members. I can only assume the majority of those not showing couldn't have cared less.

Another case in point. An elementary school PTA recently scheduled a program for its November meeting concerning shoplifting by juveniles; use of narcotics by youngsters and other interesting pasttimes such as glue-sniffing, etc. The school has an enrollment of about 400 children, each with parents. Attendance at this meeting? Ten persons besides the PTA board members.

Since any organization is only as good as its membership is active, it therefore follows that the PTAs in our area are quickly and, in many instances, quietly going "down the drain." Is it the leadership, the methods used, the wrong night for meetings, the topics touched upon? How about apathy? Lack of interest in your own child's welfare? Good program on TV that night? During this holiday season I suggest take your PTA seriously and give it a gift...a little of your time and effort.

Nuff said. Meeting adjourned.

"Spirit Of Soul"

The Spirit of Soul, a program about Negro music, was presented for students at East Maine Junior High school on Nov. 14 by Avon Gillespie, a music teacher at Evanston High school in Evanston and a group of his students. Mr. Gillespie traced the development of Negro music from its origin as a tribal expression to the current popular Negro music known as soul. The essence of Soul, Mr. Gillespie said, is communication, the sharing of an idea. "It's becoming a part, really listening to the message and answering the message with our own involvement and response." If we understand the music of a people, Mr. Gillespie said, then we begin to understand the people themselves.

What has made John a winning photographer? because I've had the opportunities to practice my photography at Maine and to learn new and creative ways of setting up and shooting ordinary scenes. K.C. To Host 3 Yule Parties

The social year of the Knights of Niles will dramatically end when the North American Martyrs Council 4338 K. of C. will again this year host 3 Christmas parties.

The 1st will be the Childrens party to be held Sunday Dec. 15 at 2:30 p.m. in the St. John Brebeuf Hall, 8307 N. Harlem ave. The party is open to all children of the members at $1.00 per child or $3.00 per family. In addition to refreshments and a visit from Santa the day will be highlighted by the presentation of "A Night Before Christmas, a puppet show staged by the famous Gordon Sisters. Attendance is by reservation only and must be obtained from Chairman Roy Zechlin (967-7369).

The 2nd event scheduled is the Formartyrs 4th Degree club affair Monday evening Dec. 16 at 8:30 p.m. in the Formartyrs clubroom. The party will follow the regular meeting and is for mbers only.

The climactic event will be the Adults Christmas party Wed. Dec. 18 at Heck's Hall, 5131 N. Milwaukee ave. The evening will commence with a family style dinner at 7 p.m. to be followed by a Little Theater presentation, and later by a ing-A-Long to the music of the Frankie Grad Orchestra. The tickets to this affair are $3.00 per person on a 1st come-1st served basis and are limited to 250 persons. For tickets and/ or information contact Chmn. Irv Blaszynski (967-8232)

Hint: Think small.

The fact is, electric heat costs have come down so much in the last ten years, that sometimes it surprises even us. Of course, we've done our best to help, by lowering electric rates dramatically during that period.

Actually, you pay about $200 a year for electric heat in a typical six-room house with proper insulation—the kind most people buy. It all boils down to the fact that you don't have everyone interested in the future of our communities has a big job ahead," Dahl said. "That job is to get the full story of our proposed joint junior college district and the impact it will have on all our lives directly to the people."

Dahl praised the community newspapers that serve Niles and Maine townships for treating the proposed junior college as the major news story it is and for being factual and accurate in their reporting. "But we have found that only a majority of our fellow residents have been interested enough to study the facts and to become familiar with the real reasons behind our proposal," Dahl added. "While most residents of both townships have heard about the proposed junior college, too many of them have jumped to the wrong conclusion based on incorrect assumptions rather than on facts. "The most dangerous and erroneous conclusion is that a junior col-lege district will be a frill and an expensive luxury for Maine and Niles townships.

Toys For Tots

Drive This Saturday

The United States Marine Corps Reserve will kick off its traditional Christmas "Toys for Tots" drive in Niles, with a ceremony at the McDonald's Drive-In, 7937 N. Milwaukee

On Dec. 7 at 11 a.m. Mayor Blase will join the Marine Corps Honor Guard in the raising of the flag and cutting the ribbon for the start of the "Toys for Tots" drive. Santa Cluas will be on hand along with Ronald McDonald, the Clown, who will entertain both young and old with his tricks and antics. Master of Ceremonies for the kickoff will be Dick Biondi, Disk Jockey for WCFL radio in Chicago. McDonald's will give a free puppet, an autographed picture of Ronald McDonald and a "Be My Guest" card for a free hamburger to any child donating a toy, game or doll. Marine Corps Reserve Units across the country will be conducting this Christmas tradition in their own communities, and McDonald's is cooperating in the "Toys for Tots" program as a public service. The Marines have requested that only serviceable or new toys be donated because a manpower shortage makes it impossible for them to repair broken or unusable toys. Last year the Marine Air Reserve in Glenview collected over 85,000 toys and more than 3,000 children had the

A recall provision is included in the regulations providing a method by which teachers may in subsequent school years select a new organization as their sole representative body.

The regulations also include a section which provides for the right of an individual teacher to "deal directly with items of concern through appropriate channels of appeal or through the grievance procedure."

"The board of education and administration are perfectly willing to continue the present system of working with representative teacher groups," Su-perintendent Hugh E. McGuigan commented later, "but we are well aware of the desire of teachers state and nationwide to organize, and we want to give teachers in our district a chance to democratically choose their representative body, or, if they wish, to voice their desire to maintain the present system.

"We feel," he continued. "that the several teacher organizations within the district have had time to publicize their existence, tell who they are and what they are, and to enroll

Such organizing can, he said, sap the energies of both teachers and administrators. "We feel consequently that we must provide our teachers with a way of resolving the situation, so that they, and we, can channel our undivided energies to the task joy of receiving them for Christof educating children."

The Landing

NORWOOD Ran into some amazing things on my weekly "rounds" to my auto dealerships this week...For example, MacAlley, manager at Nugent's Volkswagen took me to see what they are doing in their service department... They are Custom Building Dunes Buggies...There are two completed and several others in the "works"...This is truly an interesting thing...If you like cars and engines it will be worth your while to stop at Nugents (on Waukegan rd. just north of Golf) and have a "look-see"... Ask from Mr. Alley (he is the kind of chap who would rather you ask for Mac). So ask for Mac and he will be glad to show you around ... These are truly amazing, powerful, creations ...

Bill Seatsema

Bill Seatsema, used car manager at Jennings Chevy in Glenview, was showing me the improvements he has made in the used car operation at this outstanding dealership...Until John Wathan was named G.M., the Jennings operation sold most of their tradeins at wholesale...This practice made it impossible to make a great many "close" deals that were lost to competitors. Mr. Wathan was able to hire Bill Seatsema, a veteran used car man, and proceeded to prepare trade-ins for sale to Jennings customers, and to allow the Jennings salesmen to make the better deals...Today, the better trade-ins are completely worked over, put into A-l condition and offered at retail. Yes, it's a nice job you're doing Bill. Keep it up!

On my rounds this week I found several outstanding offers at all dealerships...here are a few very fine "buys" that my readers who are in the market, should see... At Buick in Park Ridge there is a 1964 Buick Skylark 9-Passenger Wagon with air condition, power and many extras that would make an ideal 2nd car for a large family...Then there is another 2nd car at very low cost and in good condition in a '63 Dodge Dart at Des Plaines Chrysler-Plymouth...of course these are only a pair of examples, you'll find many, many other values offered by my dealers in their ads in this issue...In closing, welcome back to our advertising family, White & Cronen. See you next week...

The League of Women Voters of Morton Grove, following completion of abusy election season, will resume its quest for Council-Manager government for Morton Grove. The League is holding a series of "coffees" throughout the Morton Grove area, and will also provide educational materials and offer speakers to local organizations who desire to learn more about Council-Manager government.

It is the belief of the league that the citizens should come to conclusions regarding pro-posed changes based on a clear understanding of what Manager Government can offer, as opposed to our present governmental form. In order to dispel some of the misunderstandings, we would like to comment on statements made by the Village Trustees with regard to Manager Government

I. "NO USE SPENDING MON-EY FOR SOMETHING WE AL READY HAVE. Morton Grove operates on a strict President-Trustee system. We do not have the equivalent of a Council-Manager system. Changing to Council-Manager would not merely be 'changing titles' from Administrator to Manager.

Under Council-Manager government, administrative responsibilities are clearly defined by ordinance. The legislative policy-making responsibilities are retained by the board of trustees. In Morton Grove, the office of Village Administrator has never been established by law. Administrative authority therefore rests with the village board, as it should under the President-Trustee system.

II. "THE MANAGER SYSTEM IS TOO COSTLY." The cost of manager government is primarily in salaries for administrative personnel. The present cost of administrative services in Morton Grove, is $22,900 a finance director, treasurer and office manager, with salaries of $8,000, $3,000 and $11,900 respectively. A professionally trained manager equipped to perform these services and more would cost about $15,800. We believe our present administration is more costly than comparable Council-

Manager communities How much a village spends, and its subsequent tax rates are dependent upon the needs of the community the goals of that community, the services which its residents desire and are willing to pay for, and that communities assessed valuation. For example, some communities prefer to limit or keep to a minimum the industry in their community so that the community keeps its residential character. This is a policy decision reached by the village board and reflects the will of the local citizenry, not the man-

In Morton Grove, an examination of village records for the past several years shows continued transfer of funds from reserves to the General Fund in order to keep the government in operation. In lean tax receipt periods, it has been necessary to make loans at in-

III. "COUNCIL MANAGER GOVERNMENT WOULD LIMIT CITIZEN PARTICIPATION IN GOVERNMENT." Morton Grove presently has 103 citizens participating on various boards and commissions. Under Council-Manager government, commis- ager System.

sions such as the Plan Com sion, Zoning Board of Appe Board of Health, and Hu Relations Commission continue to function as the now. Under Council-Man government, public informa on governmental issues is r readily available, and the cit has sufficient information participate actively in gove mental discussions, whether not he can serve on a board

IV. "THE MOST EFFEC IVE GOVERNMENT IS THE O THAT REACTS MOST QUICK TO THE ELECTORATE." T statement was made as a c ticism of Manager governme but it is a statement with whi we can agree. Since the me ager has legal authority to me administrative decisions and available to make these dec sions on a full-time basis. would seem to us that the Mar ager System would be no le responsive to its citizens. Who a problem involves policichanges, action by the village board would continue to be re quired. Citizens may still con tact village trustees about mu nicipal problems, if they prefer

V. "VILLAGE BOARD CAN PASS THE BUCK FOR FAIL. URES TO THE MANAGER. No system of government althan does the President-Trustee system. In virtually every administrative area, there are a: least three or four people involved, often with ill-defined areas of responsibility. For example fiscal matters are handled by the trustee in charge of finance, treasurer, village administrator, auditor and village collector, while matters relating to water or streets and sidewalks are handled by the appropriate trustee, Board of Local Improvements, Public Works Superintendent and the Village Administrator. Under Council- Manager government, if there are administrative prolems, responsibility can be pinpointed with the manager. If there are policy problems, the board of trustees continues to

VI. "BECAUSE THE MANAGER IS NOT A LOCAL RESI-DENT, HE IS NOT SINCERELY INTERESTED IN THE COMMU-NITY." Village managers as a professional group face essentially the same problems as any other business or professional group. Their job secu-rity depends upon their ability and reputation. Since they come to a community with training municipal government and do not have to learn on a trialand-error basis, they are well out in front of any local citizen who is untrained. They usually make their home in the community in which they work and are soon well acquainted and have even more at stake in that community as does any other

be responsible.

VII. "MANAGERS LEAVE FOR GREENER PASTURES AS SOON AS POSSIBLE. Since we are currently paying administrative salaries well cbove the average manager's salary for a community of our size, we could well afford to pay this rate for a qualified manager and keep our "pastures green." The average tenure for a professional manager is 5 1/2 years. The league believes that this liability is not as significant as the assets of the Man-close friend and political ally of Blase. He also happens to be the key stepping stone for Blase in the Democratic Party, in the event Blase wants to move about in the Democratic political scene. The owner, Angelo Geocaris, is the brother of James Geocaris, who Blase appointed as Niles 2nd village attorney under the Blase regime. Geocaris, Sr., headed the Humphrey forces in Illinois the past year.

While all these relationships cannot be filed under the title of hanky panky, nevertheless Niles public officials say, 'they've had enough."

The vague phrase "We've had enough" is the indicator. They've had enough of the wheeling and dealing and they've had enough of the 'po-

Blase's role as township committeeman for the Maine Township Democrats is the button which is likely to be pushed the most when the campaign oratory begins to flow. When he first became involved with the Democrats he defended the action by saying it was important to have a 'connection downtown. Only thru knowing the right people could direct action be taken which Blase contended was beneficial to the village. But the most mild-mannered of the trustee candidates. Keith Peck. said the name Blase has been a deterrent rather than an aid in getting things done when the village sought efforts from Downtown to aid its problems. Blase's high-handedness were needed to help Niles solve its problems.

Blase's committeeman activities has also caused a conflict. An underling or "runner" of Blase's at the township level has been a source of concern to Niles as well. According to one public officia. Blase's "runner" threatened a local bank

Blase's township group has also been accused of playing "dirty" during an election cam-paign. When Blase won his committeeman post 2-1/2 years ago Blase was yelling liar at his opponent while Blase himself was inclined to slide off truth's dead center. His party was accused of playing dirty and Blase himself has been accused of being downright "vicious" during a campaign. Opponents signs had been torn down from

The use of the police for Blase's private purposes are so notorious we ourselves inadvertently were caught in the middle one time. In an effort to collect a bill we sought Blase's legal efforts. The next day the debtor told us a Niles policeman in uniform dropped in to collect the money. We called Blase and told him to forget it. We were flabbergasted at his actions and were even more dismayed that he laughed it off by saying "we were chicken' because we didn't care to go posts and Blase's opponents accused him of using Niles police to obstruct them during the last campaign.

While the picture may seem vague, putting the parts together leaves a picture of a minor league politician whose ambition overshadowed the rules of the game. While he brusquely banged phones down in telephone callers' ears, brushed aside people who were not accustomed to rudeness and placed himself on stage center for his own financial and political gain, he has alienated many people who now is seeing the chickens coning home to roost.

attend a meeting there are hopeless since there are no meetings to attend. And unlike its neighbors Morton Grove's sales tax revenues thru the years have not only not matched its sister villages but even showed a regression in the recent past while other communities were continuing to move forward.

The ability to keep a Chamber of Commerce going in bedroom suburbs like Niles and Morton Grove is difficult at best. Unlike more autonomous cities. where most of the businessmen live and are socially active. Niles and MG do not fill this bill. Businessmen and industrialists ring up their sales in these towns but then leave these communities for other towns which they call home. Their activity in their business towns is limited to their business ac-

Thru the years we've found very few residents of these suburbs have strong ties to their towns. If they work outside the community, have families in other areas, and move in and out of Chicago for much of their activities, their rapport with the town they sleep in is slight. Thus, groups such as the Lions clubs, Chambers of Commerce and Womens clubs make up the bulk of groups which have allegiance to their

In the case of the Chamber. unlike these other groups, there is very little to hold them together. While joint action among business men may bring them such some aid for their businesses most realize their success is based mostly on their individual action

It can be argued a Chamber of Commerce does enhance a village by much of its group actions. But its primary aim, despite any of its published purposes is self-seeking and self-protecting and has little interest in the welfare of the community, if it does not directly affect the business com-

Years ago, one of the luminaries in the Niles Chamber or Commerce got up at a meeting of 50 men and said Niles did not need any public transportation because it would bring 'riff raff" into the community. t was not one or Niles brightest moments for not one Chamber member spoke up against this man's opinion. Interest-ingly, the man had a private transportation service which was being served thru his main business and his main business housed some "ladies of the night" who were hawking their wares at a bistro he ran. It was an inspiring spectacle in which the Chamber members were more impressed with this guy's jingling pockets than op-posing the rot he was muttering at the meeting. But it was a day when our impression of Chamber of Commerce meetings was sealed, placing them on the same notch with the other noon-time rah rah meetings which were reported in a book named "Babbitt" some 40 years ago.
