This is the year of the rat....

If you'd like to have your children see a real live dancing dragon doing his thing, amidst the crackling of fire crackers, hike yourselves down to 22nd and Wentworth this Sunday afternoon, You'll be helping Chicago's Chinese-Americans welcoming their New Year. A Sunday afternoon Chinese dinner in one of the many fine restaurants there is a great way to top off a memorable day.

This is the year of the Con....

Congressional races that is Congressional candidates Blase and Mikva will be at center ring Sunday evening at B'nai Jehoshua, 901 Milwaukee ave., Glenview, about one mile north of Central. Round one in Skokie two weeks ago was an interesting opening round with partisans from both sides saying their tiger was the winner. It was our thought Blase substitutes glibness for content. He would do well to do his homework. He took the offensive at the end of the discussion which made him appear the more aggressive of the two men. Mikva seemed to be above the battle and became milied with Blase criticized him for not supporting the party's choice for state's attorney, inferring Mikva's Democratic Party credentials are not in order. Mikva emphasized his independence of thought before an audience which is less likely to demand party loyalty in supporting all the candidates. De-bating this issue along the Maine Township border this Sunday should prove interesting.

This is the year of the Con....

Conning the public, that is. Twice in recent weeks we queried Niles village attorney concerning actions being taken by the village board. His actions and answers point up the role of attorneys representing public bodies

Three weeks ago Niles officials approved the attorney drawing up a resolution expressing opposition to the location of Maryhill Cemetery for Oakton Community college, as well as postponing the date for the referendum. Last week the resolution merely expressed the postponement of the date for the March vote. When we inquired about the other half of the resolution the attorney said his minutes showed only the postponement date, and did not refer to the objection to the location. We checked back with our issue of Jan. 27 which reported both issues were included in the resolution. We next checked The Life newspaper which substantiated what we had reported. A third check with the minutes presented to the trustees also included both statements as we had reported.

On the surface it might sound like 'much ado about nothing.' But since the approval took place at a public meeting the attorney must legally draw up rulings which are authorized at the public meetings. If they are to be changed then they must be done so again in front of the public.

Oakton Absentee

Absentee ballots for the March 4 bond referendum for a permanent campus for Oakton Community college are now available, school officials have announced.

The referendum will authorize the issuance of $9,075,000 bonds to pay the local share of the cost to build a permanent campus for Oakton Community college. The tax rate resulting from the bond issue is estimated to average 4.2 cents per $100 assessed valua-

The State will pay for 75% of all eligible costs for purchasing and developing a permanent campus site.

Oakton Community college, now in its second year of operation, has a current enrollment of 2,399. Projected enrollment for 1973-74, when the first phase of the permanent campus should be ready, is over 5,000. The present, interim campus, located in re-modeled factory buildings in Morton Grove, will house about 3,500 students.

Family Enrichment

(By Larry Renetzky)

I have been most gratified by the interest of many of you in the last two articles in The Bugle. Please continue to call 966-1640 or write as I want to hear from you at Niles Family Service, Professional Mall, Lawrencewood Shopping Center, Niles, Ill. 60648.

Several couples spoke to me about their continuing interest in Women's Lib and some of the difficulties it causes in the household. For example, one couple indicated how they spent a good part of their time together in confrontation. Who is right or wrong? Who is going to win out in some argument this time? Who is going to apologize and be the first to try to make up? Who is to blame for most of the problems and difficulties in the home? Who are the children going to listen to when there is difference in opinion about something regarding their son or daughter? Whose job is the most important -- husband's or wife's?

The above list could go on, but what is important is to note that all of the above are put into a framework of one spouse winning and one spouse losing. Now I ask you, what kind of teamwork is that? Neither should win or lose all the time. It is not a matter of either/or. Instead, ask what is best for the children or either spouse

Unfortunately, many men back a woman right into a corner of frustration whereby she feels that she must come out fighting for her life. If she is constantly put down and her husband must always be right then she can usually take it just so long and she then explodes. Due to the climate of Women's Lib she is less apt to take it as long as she did even a few years ago. She bounces back quickly now and many times immediately as she feels that what she believes deserves some serious consideration.

Of course, the same is doubly true for men because of the importance their ego plays and their need for respect. This is particularly true in the area of the man's work. For most men work makes up at least 50% or more of their sense of meaning, purpose and fulfillment or satisfaction out of life. If the wife feels a need to work, then 50% or more of his life is threatened in terms of his sense of importance and how much he is really needed by his family.

Now, if some of you women need to work because you are too bored at home, or you need to find more stimulation than what you find at home due to all of your children being in school, or you need some more adult companionship and a chance to become more involved with the outside world, that is usually more acceptable to men. On the other hand, when the wife needs to work to provide the necessities of the home or she believes her career is just as important as her husband's, then this is usually harder for the man to adjust to. The climate of Women's Lib has helped to accentuate this problem in many households. It has had a serious affect on many marriages as well as the children of these marriages.

One thing needs to be seriously remembered -- marital and family living needs to be a true sense of cooperation, mutual understanding, compromise and teamwork. If both must work, then it should be discussed, understood and mutually agreed upon if at all possible. The same goes for resolving marital and family problems and discord. If a couple is pulling and working together, no problem is too great for them. Sure, the going get rough, but don't compound it by making out like one of you have to constantly win a battle of the sexes. If you do, then you both lose - Women's Lib or no

Slidesmobile for Dist. 63 Preschool Children

The SLIDESMOBILE is coming! It provides free vision and hearing screening for preschool children ages 3-5. The Office of SLIDES in cooperation with School District #63 offers this free screening opportunity as a community service.

Knowing whether a child has normal hearing and vision is essential. This is particularly vital during the preschool years when possible problems may be overcome through appropriate care. Registration for screening will be held at Gemini school, 8955 Greenwood ave., Niles, on Tuesday, Feb. 22, from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 1 to 2:45 p.m.

At registration, appointments for a screening time are made and materials to prepare the child are given to the parents. It is not necessary that your child be present for registration. Both hearing and vision screening will be held at Gemini school.

Feb. 28 through March 10. The SLIDESMOBILE is a unique, self-contained vehicle providing the best conditions for hearing and vision screening. It contains a soundproof room for hearing screening and ideal conditions for vision screening. The screening is done by technicians certified by Illinois Department of Public Health through special training and supervised

Because a child does not know how he should hear or see, he rarely complains. Parents may not be able to detect hearing or visual problems because the ears and eyes appear normal. Thus, it is very wise to have the hearing and vision screened annually during the preschool years.

School District #63 and SLIDES invites all parents of preschoolers to take advantage of this free hearing and vision screening program.

Friend Dave,

You don't remember me - I was Secretary of Kirk Lane organization a few years ago.

The article from the "Left published in the Bugle 10 was very good and I represented many person's viewpoints. I was sorry I wasn't there for the pomp and ceremony but your description was the best.

Your article about the men going up and down aisles must have tickled your funny bone as much as I when I read it.

The fifth paragraph was a good story of what went on and if you are halfway correct it must have been exciting to see grown men acting like they did.

Varsity Wrestling

Maine East's varsity wrestlers assured themselves of at least a tie in the West Suburban Conference by defeating Glenbard West, 29-20.

Again it was the big three of Vaughan, Kan, and Grant who clinched the win. The score up to the 155 class was 20-14. Coach George Jurinek stated that "when Scott Vaughan steps onto the mat, we have a sure 3 points. Vaughan, who is now 15-2, has lost only to Holland of East Ley-

Gymnastics Results

On Friday, Feb. 4, the Maine East gymnasts scored victories on the frosh-soph and varsity levels over conference rivals Downers North.

The score for Maine East's frosh-soph team was 57.75 to 45.36 for Downers North. The varsity gymnasts victory was 86.75 for Maine East and 81.11 for Downers North.

The outstanding event in the varsity meet were the high scores earned by the side horse team of senior Dan Ropski, senior Dave Levitt, and junior Steve Stein. The event score was over 18.00. which is one of the season's high

The victory by the frosh-soph team was their second conference victory in a row. Their two victories have to be considered outstanding considering that all but 3 of 24 routines were performed by freshmen: whereas the opposing schools are using almost 100 per cent sophomores against our freshmen. The freshmen also lost two other meets, each by less than 2 points each.

Considering the above froshsoph record, Coach Tom Gardner is very encouraged about the future outlook for the gymnastics

Next year we will be competing in the Central Suburban Conference and while we don't meet a school as strong as Hinsdale, the new 12 league conference will be much stronger over-all.

Coach Gardner commented, " don't expect to scare anyone next year with our team record, but I do expect to be fighting it out with the best in the conference the following two years."

The La Grange Lions managed to hold off the Maine East Demons in a well-played contest. The final score, 65-58, was not a good indicator of the closeness of Friday's game.

La Grange trailed only at the outset. Bill Castonzo put Maine out in front, 2-0, but the Lions came up with 7 successive points.

Their front line of Tom McConnell Brad Warble and John Konnell Brad Warble and John Brad Warble and Joh nell, Brad Warble, and John Keeve (second in conference scoring behind Mark Bondeson) dominated the boards on both ends of the court. The Demons offset this disadvantage with some fine outside shooting. The score at the end of the first quarter read La Grange 14, Maine East 12.

Bondeson pulled the Demons into a tie at the beginning of the second quarter. Then Keeve and the Lions went on a spree, outscoring Maine 17-7. Russ Anderson sunk a pair of buckets to bring the Demons within 8, 33-25, at the half.

Maine rattled off 6 unanswered points to open the third period. Cromer's basket brought the Demons within two at 35-33. But La Grange settled down and maintained an apparently safe margin at the quarter's end.

Maine outscored the Lions, 9-2, in the early stages of the final period and suddenly the Demons

What we're really writing about is the role of the public attorney. He's a hireling of the public officials, and his job depends on his placating the guys who sit in the officials' chairs. And even though theoretically he's supposed to be working in the best interests of the community, realistically public attorneys act as the Charley McCarthys for the guys who are responsible for their public jobs.

A month ago we questioned Niles village attorney about a statement he made concerning a Supreme Court decision. It sounded a bit flaky, but he said the Court reached this decision, and based on it Niles was to draw up an ordinance. But when the ordinance was presented for approval suddenly they backed away from it. It may have been because they needed more time to study it. And it may have been because the law was not based on any sound

The roles of village attorneys in particular have always been looked upon here with much skepticism, In those rousing days when we took battle with the Stankowicz administration in Niles, we always felt the village attorney was really the defense attorney

In recent years we were continuously amazed at Morton Grove's very partisan attorney, Jim Orphan, who for all intents and purposes was part of the old administration. His opinions at Board meetings were often above and beyond what would be expected of an attorney, and we concluded he assumed a role often more powerful than an elected official.

To the guys who've been attending public meetings. after reading the last paragraphs they might ask, "So what else is new?" But for the purposes of keeping The Bugle flock informed it's well to know who the players are and what positions they play.

And while you're understanding the roles of the players you don't need a scorecard to know who they are. All you need to know is in Niles it's a team effort and the village attorney is the batboy.

Many Ways To Enjoy

The ability of families to "get away from it all"—into the solitude of wilderness areas in our northern states and Canada-has much to do with the booming popularity of snowmobiling.

There are few sights to compare with the grandeur of a huge stand of towering, snow-laden trees or the stark expanse of a wide plain stretching to the horizon un-der its deep winter mantle.

In the decade since advent of the snowmobile, this newest sport has constantly

broadened in scope to now include a wide range of activ-

Then, there is an expanding list of new "games" for family-and-friend competition, and to develop driving Foremost are slalom runs, where drivers compete through a zig-zag series of poles to test steering skill, and numerous creative enthusiasts even have developed their own forms of snow-polo—with their mounts being sure-footed snowmobiles.

And for most families there are the ever-new pleasures of trail riding and exploring new winter scenes, trips through frosty white woods and fields, for a refreshing new kind of contact with nature—and pure relaxation.
