meet in eyeball confrontation

Niles 1- Chicago 0 in barrier controversy

[By Alice M. Bobula]

Niles Jaycees seek new members

The Niles Jaycees are seeking young men between the ages of 18-35 who are interested in joining the organization.

The Niles Jaycees are having a membership meeting Thursday,
July 28 at the Niles Trident
Center, 8060 Oakton st., at 8 p.m.
Slides of the Niles 4th of July Parade and other Jaycee functions will be shown.

Free refreshments will be served!

You are welcome to bring a guest.

If you need further information or transportation, call Rick Seaward at 823-3684 any evening.

For the second time in as many weeks, a Niles official prevented intrusion on village rights.

In a pre-board meeting Tuesday night Village Manager Kenneth Scheel told trustees that Chicago Alderman Roman Pucinski, headed on a collision course since June, came to an eyeball confrontation with Niles official Scheel Tuesday afternoon, finalizing in Chicago removal of city barricades set across the south end of Newark ave. at Hayes ave. Part of the barrier extended across the Niles portion of Newark.

Scheel said the post-barrier had been erected without Niles approval north of Hayes (at 6550 N.
Newark) providing free access by Chicago residents for east and west traffic on Hayes but prevented access to or from Niles. In irregular boundaries, Niles village limits end north of Hayes and east of Newark; Chicago limits extend approximately 500
ft. north of Hayes (to include Norwood Park Cemetery) west of Newark.

The Tuesday blockade was initiated by requests from Chicago residents to Ald. Pucin-
ski. Continued on Page 30

End of the Month Meanderings.....

We've been publishing the annual budget appropriation ordinance for the Niles Library District since 1970. This year we were bypassed in favor of two newspapers which publish outside the district. Coincidentally, this past year we actively editorialized against a library referendum which was soundly defeated.

The rationale behind such an action is obvious. As long as the local newspaper causes no waves the legal notice will be published there. But at the first sign of an editorial burp the local newspaper will be censured (and-censored) by hitting it in its pocketbook.

Certainly, such action reflects poorly. To expect a newspaper to bow its knee before the money tree is incredulous. Yet, since only The Bugle opposed the referendum, it speaks poorly of the Library Board as well as the other newspapers which remained quiet. It's interesting the same people who relish this newspaper's exposing the political shenanigans in our communities are the first to take vengeance when their favorite appletart is upset.

Since there is a legal problem we'll let the lawyers ponder the weighty question involved. But we would like to publicly ask if readers and public officials would prefer The Bugle follow the other outside newspapers by keeping its eyes closed, limit circulation to the bare minimum, (two of the 5 newspapers have 200 newspapers circulated in Niles, mostly to businessmen) and only run handout news releases?

The appointment of Lou Lerner to ambassador of Norway should graciously include our best wishes. But we have long been appalled at the people we send overseas to represent this country, and the Lerner choice merely accentuates this feeling.

We have long felt, as Adlai Stevenson did, a professional school for diplomats should be established. To send unseasoned, inexperienced presidential political supporters to represent the U.S. is unworthy of this country. How much wiser it would be to have a farm system of scholars, studying for many years the mores of a country and its surrounding regions. To choose a green young man, whose accomplish-

Lightning kills Niles teacher on vacation

A backpack trip through the Rocky Mountains turned into tragedy for two teachers at Niles North Twp. High School when lightning struck them, killing one and stunning the other according to the Chicago Daily News.

Killed was Richard D. Hashagen, 38, of 2626 N. Lakeview, an English teacher at Niles North in Skokie since 1968. Injured was Rita Kay, 29, of Evanston, a science teacher at the same school, who was knocked unconscious by the lightning bolt near Berthoud Pass, Colo. Miss Kay, reached by telephone in Idaho Springs, Colo., said she desperately walked for three hours over 5 miles of rough terrain to get help.

"I tried to hurry," she said. "Dick was still breathing when I left to get help. So I put my parka over him and tried to hurry down the mountain. We were at the 12,000-foot level."

"I finally made it to the Berthoud Pass Ski Lodge and got help. The search party couldn't find Dick the first day because of fog and rain. They found his body Wednesday."

Niles Days Festival's pet costume contest winners

by Diane Miller

Shown above are two of the winners in the Niles Days Pet Costume Contest displaying their trophies and their award winning pets. Winning the award for the medium dog class was Randall Urban, (l.)

Last Saturday afternoon, July 23 while the sun shone brightly above the Niles Days Festival grounds at Four Flags Shopping Center on Golf rd. in Niles, proud pet owners lined up on the carnival grounds waiting to enter the Pet Costume Contest, a special feature of this year's Niles Days Festival.

While the poodles pranced, the Yorkies yipped and the doves billed and cooed, Diane Miller, managing editor of The Bugle registered the anxious contestants.

Everyone was excited, hoping their pet would be judged the best. The prizes were also very enticing - three tickets to Great America donated by the Niles Days Festival and a beautiful trophy donated by The Bugle Newspapers.

In addition to Diane Miller, the judges included Ed Haase and Ruth Braun of Niles.

When the announcement was made over the loud speaker for the contestants to line up for the judging, completely attired in their costumes, they came from all directions and were a sight to behold. There were harem girls, kings, babies, park life guards, circus ringmasters and clowns. Each was unique in its own fashion and it was obvious that much thought and time was given to the costumes.

The judges were faced with a very difficult decision, but after consulting several times, picked the following winners:

Small Dog winner: Amy Jo, a miniature dachshund dressed in calico from head to toe and entered by Carol Ciccio, 8427 n. Shermer, Niles.

Medium Dog winner: Silver, a poodle dressed in bathing trunks with the word, "Guard" etched on the rear and wearing a small black inner tube with the lettering "Niles Park District" and entered by Randall Urban, 8645 N. Elmore, Niles.

Large Dog winner: Honey, a Bassett-Beagle dressed in a baby bonnet, bib, pajamas and a blanket and entered by Felicia Parnes, 9259 n. Courtland, Niles. Honey was one of the most placid and contented pets entered in the contest and seemed very comfortable in her attire.

Consolation prizes of 3 free ride tickets and cokes were given to all who had entered the contest.

The judges commented several times that their decisions were very difficult, but they thoroughly enjoyed their jobs and hoped that since the contest was so well received, it should be considered by the Niles Days Committee as a feature for the 1978 Niles Days Festival.

Displaying her very placid disposition, Honey and her owner, Felicia Parnes pose before the judges while awaiting the final decision. In the background is another entrant, Muffy, a Liisa Apso and her mistress, Lisa Kleeblatt, 7901 Park, Niles.

Minor American League Mariners defeat A's in championship

In the Minor American League championship game the Mariners triumphed over the A's 7-5. A's pitcher Jim Baffa held the Mariners scoreless for the first 3 innings but they came back with a strong 4th inning scoring 7 runs on 6 hits. Dan English and Bob Stejskal shared the pitching honors while strong Mariner defense kept the game close. Kevin Kochman and Jim Baffa drove in all the A's runs, Kochman going 2-for-3 with a triple and Baffa also going 2-for-3. Other A's hitters included Ron Rortman, who had a double; Scott Lutwak, Jeff Wenzel, Michael Owen, and Jeff DeCook. Offensively for the Mariners, Kevin Sandstead was 1-for-2 with 2 RBIs. Craig Israel doubled twice and drove in a run; Bob Stejskal, Tom Conradi, and Pat Ruchdrand each with a base hit and an RBI, and Dan English who went 1-for-2.

South Majors
This was the final game of the second half, with both teams tied for the lead. The American Rivet Cardinals had already taken the first half, and by winning this game that matched them against Kohl's Giants, they were able to capture the second half title and win the championship without a playoff. This was accomplished as they beat the Giants 5-2 in a thrilling game. A grand slam home run by Cardinal shortstop Steve Karbowksi, after timely hits by Ed Gershman, Kevin Garner, and Peter Joseph, accounted for 4 of the 5 Cardinal runs. Peter Joseph, pitching for the Cards, held the Giants to only 4 hits while striking out 8 and walking

2. The Cardinals ended up with 8 hits, two each by Mike Borre and Kevin Garner. Super pitching and great defense were the keys to this low-scoring game. Cardinal defensive standouts were Mike Borre, Scott Hewicker, Brian Nopenz, Steve Karbowksi, and Kevin Garner. Much credit also has to go to John Dethloff, Mike Fautch, Danny Vishny, and Matt Wilstein. Commenting after the game, Cardinal manager Bob Garner said, "I must say in all honesty, this was the best-played game of the entire season. It was a team effort; all 12 boys on the roster participated and contributed to this victory."

North Majors
The sizzling Midas Muffler Red Sox continued to burn up the league as they ended the season on a happy note. They recorded their first shutout and 13th win of the year with a convincing 4-0 victory over the Padian Rug Company Yankees. The win put them in a first place tie for the second half with a mark of 7-1. The Sox had earlier won the first half with a 6-1 record. The Red Sox wasted no time as they scored 2 runs in the top of the 1st. Walks to lead-off man Dave Olszowka, Bob Elliott, and Andy Kupciet got Yankee starter John Herbert in a jam. Mike Kupciet then came through with a single and drove in two. Ace pitcher Andy Kupciet went the distance for the Sox and gave up just 3 hits as he struck out 10 and walked only 1. The Red Sox didn't score again until the top of the 5th. Then, with 2 outs, consecutive singles by Bob Elliott, Andy Kupciet and Mike Kupciet brought across 2 more runs to end the scoring. Again, fine shortstop play by Red Sox Dave Olszowka

White Sox 7, Red Sox 5
Key hits for the White Sox were by Solan and Dargis. Homeruns by Bacci and Smolen were needed for the White Sox to win the game and clinch the Division Championships. The Red Sox made a valiant try but fell 3 runs short of victory. The Red Sox led the White Sox 4-2 going into the third inning. However, the White Sox managed 5 runs in the 3rd and 4th innings leading to a 7-5 victory for the White Sox. Steven Ruschinski lashed out a single. Mike Piento and Larry Dombrowski each batted out long home runs, Jim Hickey got a single and Mark Goldberg blasted out 3 singles to help score 5 runs and make a very exciting game.

Mets 6, Dodgers 2
The Mets ended their final game of the season with a victory of 6-2 over the Dodgers. Glen Szymaniak was the hitting star for the Mets with a 2-run homer. Mike Singer and Jim Elenz each hit a double and Dan O'Neill hit a triple. Jerry Romanek hit a single and did a great job pitching. Romanek, Elenz, Livingston, and Kaplan held the Dodgers to 3 hits. The Dodgers closed out the season with their second straight loss to the Mets, coming in secondplace with a 9 win and a 9 loss record in their division. The Dodgers led in the 1st inning as Gambro singled and Ugel hit a long homer to left field. They failed to score any more runs even though they had bases loaded twice after that. The Dodgers had a couple of good defensive plays by Norberg, and 2 shutout hitless innings were pitched by Ugel, with Gambro going 2 for 2 with one walk in 3 at bat.

continued to thwart Yankee batters. Pitcher Kupciet is now 6-1 with a 1.71 ERA and 78 strikeouts for the year.

The North Majors is pleased to announce their 1977 All-Star team, which is being managed by Bill Horewicz, skipper of the Midas Muffler Red Sox, and coached by Dave Huber from the Padian Rug Company Yankees. The team is strong in all areas. Pitching finds Andy Kupciet, strikeout leader of the league; Joey Rodgers of the TIT Bell & Gossett Athletics; John Herbert of the Yankees, and Jay Lehrfeld of the First National Bank Tigers to round out a solid mound staff. The infield is the key to the team's strength. Combining brilliant defense and superb hitting are Bob Lauesen of the Gore & Lewis Insurance Royals, Dave Olszowka of the Red Sox, John Wrzala of the Yankees and Bob Grolnick of the Monogram Model White Sox. In the outfield speed and superb arms abound with Dave Kloser of the White Sox, Bob Wolf and Bob Elliott of the Red Sox, and John Vaessen of the Athletics. Alternates include Mike Kupciet of the Red Sox, Mike Huber of the Yankees; Fred Stokes of the Tigers, and Ken Lammersfeld, also from the Red Sox. The North's first tournament game will be held on Sunday, July 17 at 1: at the Skokie VFW field against the Skokie Indians. Manager Bill Horewicz states, "I feel that this team has all the makings of a winner."

for the Sox as the Tigers had won all their previous matches. Chris Drehobl went the distance in a well-pitched game and held the Tigers scoreless in each of the first 2 innings. The Red Sox jumped out to an early lead scoring 5 runs in the first 2 innings. Dan Arkus was the key hitter for the Sox driving in John Lockner, Kevin Wheeler, and Drehobl. Five more runs came across in the 3rd and 4th innings as Francis Ferrer and Dan Arkus scored runs plus a triple by Don Baggio which drove in two runs. The Tigers threatened with bases loaded in the 4th and 5th innings but excellent defense and top-notch pitching kept the game out of reach. The Red Sox finished the season in third place after a resounding 24-3 win over the McCue Marble Yankees.

The Tigers who finished in first place for the first half, faced the First National Bank White Sox, who had won the second half, in a championship game at Herrer Park on July 11. The enthusiastic crowd witnessed an exciting game, a pitchers' duel between the Tigers ace starter Joe Falkovitz and the brilliant Sox tandem of Scott Pegararo and Tom Winkler. Falkovitz's impressive pitching performance - striking out 15 White Sox while walking only 2 - was wasted as the Tigers bowed to the White Sox 5-2. Ten Tiger batters went down swinging and 5 reached on walks. The Sox left 2 men on in their half of the 1st, but the Tigers pushed 1 across in the bottom of the inning in spite of a great catch in shallow center field by shortstop Tom Winkler. Lenny Gail singled, stole second, and reached 3rd on a pass ball. After a walk to Joe Falkovitz, Ben Teitelbaum hit a bouncer between third and short. Winkler made a fine stop of the ball but the throw to first got away from Mark Esposito enabling Gail to score. Joe went to 3rd on the play. Brian Kabat hit the ball sharply back to pitcher Scott Pegararo who threw it to catcher Barry Butler who put the tag on Joe to stop the threat. Joe had no trouble with the White Sox in the 2nd in spite of a lead-off single to Neil Wada as he struck out the next 3 batters. The Tigers added another run in their half of the second when Jim Johnson doubled down the left field line to drive in Wise, who had walked. The Sox tied in the 3rd. Barry Butler was safe at 1st on an infield hit. He then stole second. After a strikeout by Brad Fine, Winkler doubled into right field to score Butler. Falkovitz then struck out Scott Pegararo for the 2nd out but the Sox caught a break when Mark Esposito hit a high pop-up that dropped between the first- and second-basemen. Winkler scored on that play. Mark then stole 2nd and Neil Wada drew a walk. The 2 runners then executed a double steal with Mark taking 3rd and Neil taking 2nd. But they were left stranded along with Steve Rupke who had also walked as Ross Verdin struck out to end the inning. Tom Winkler came on to pitch in the 3rd and although he walked the first batter he faced, Ben Teitelbaum, he then picked him off first base. Two more runs came in for the Sox in the 4th. Butler singled and stole 2nd, and although Winkler struck out, the dropped 3rd strike got away from Tiger catcher Howard Snow and Tom was safe at 1st, scoring Butler. A balk sent Tom to 2nd and he stole 3rd and was singled in by Pegararo. This ended the scoring until the 7th inning, when Scott opened with a single and stole 2nd. Dave Weick singled him in on the throw to the plate he went to 2nd. He stole 3rd and on Neil Wada's ground out he tried to score but was out at the plate, which made this a beautiful double play by the Tiger infield. There were two defensive highlights in the 5th inning for the Sox, one a great outfield catch by Chris Dynek that robbed Joe Falkovitz; the other a running catch in short center by Scott Pegararo to take a hit away from Ben Teitelbaum.

Cool cooking during a sizzling summer

During hot summer months, thoughts of preparing meals are often far from the family chef's mind. But when it's necessary to be in the kitchen, Commonwealth Edison has a few pointers to help you cook efficiently and economically.

Frozen Foods: Whether you plan to use the oven, broiler or range, thaw frozen foods in the refrigerator compartment before using.

Pots and Pans: Use the correct-sized pans for the surface element: the bottom of the pan should cover the element, never extending more than an inch beyond the outer ring. And remember, tight-fitting lids on pots and pans allow less heat to escape.

Ovens: Oven cooking can be less expensive than cooking on top of the range. Surface units stay on the whole time they're in use, whereas an electric oven is on for only part of each hour it's used. The rest of the time it "coasts" because its insulation holds heat in. And if you bake in glass or ceramic, lower the oven setting 25 degrees. These materials transfer heat better than metal. If you do use your oven, plan to get the most mileage from it by baking two batches of the same meal at once, freezing one for later use. Or, if you cook an entire meal in one oven and each dish calls for a slightly different temperature, pick the average temperature to cook all of them. Just remove each as it's done.

Refrigerators: Refrigerators or freezers will use less energy if located away from heating equipment and direct sun. You can also improve the unit's efficiency by defrosting your freezer when frost is about 1/4 inch thick. Frost only makes your appliance work harder to maintain the same temperature.

During vacation, a refrigerator may be left fairly empty and set at a warmer temperature. During long periods of unuse, you can even clean and shut off the unit altogether.

Small Appliances: Electric grills, skillets, fondues, slow-cookers, toasters, popcorn poppers and the like often use less electricity than your range for specialized jobs, and can be an economical way to prepare small meals.

With these tips from Commonwealth Edison in mind when you're in the kitchen this summer, time spent cooking will be easier, cooler and more effective.

LETTERS to EDITOR

Korean teens seek American Pen Pals

To the Editor:
I am a girl, fifteen years old, presently attending a high school in Seoul, Korea. In my country we are taught the English language from the first year of junior high school as the most important required subject. To improve our English, we practice not only in the regular class but also through our English Club of which I am now the leader.

My English teacher told me that letter writing would be a great help for improving our English and suggested that I write to you on behalf of the boys and girls in my school. Many of them would like to exchange letters with boys and girls from your country. Therefore, we would very much appreciate your putting this letter into your newspaper.

Through the letters we hope to learn more about your customs, student life, and many other things. Of course, we will have the pleasure of introducing our ways as well, while improving our English skills.

So if you can print our request in your paper, we shall eagerly look forward to receiving letters from your country and will answer them promptly. Thank you for your attention.

Sincerely yours,
Dam-dang Ja

Ex-Niles Little League Manager cites 'poor taste' antics by commissioner

Dear Editor:

It has been my recent misfortune to have become this year, a manager of a Suburban Niles Little League team. It's unfortunate because had I realized what was in store, I most certainly would not have rekindled the desire to coach a bunch of kids which I must admit, I thoroughly enjoyed.

My reign, however, only lasted six games into the season, before I was terminated from my voluntary position. I guess because I committed the cardinal sin of a first year manager could make-to challenge the rulings and actions of the league's Board of Directors. I was always told that the type of people who head these organizations are, to put it mildly-somewhat egotistical. All I can say to you, reader, is -read on.

What caused the ruckus was a letter I sent to the Board of Directors, disagreeing with their ruling that resulted in an automatic forfeit by a team (no matter what the situation) if a pitcher is used without three days rest. I obviously was the culprit, as I wholly admitted to in this letter.

However, as I pointed out, with a 11-1 lead and two innings to play, I could have used another pitcher. I attempted to stress the point that as it wasn't blatant error, but rather a mistake (which, I added, we are trying to impress upon the kids if they make, they'll get another chance).

Further I pointed out that even in criminal cases, judgements are based on the intent of the crime. If there's malice and forethought, it's murder one; if an accident, probation (another chance). Nevertheless the league said "no way", the REMATCH I requested was impossible to grant-as a rule's a rule-even when dealing with 10 and 11 year olds. This letter was not the end of the matter, but the cause of something much more disturbing and revealing, which all parents who have kids in the little league systems should be made aware of.

The most amazing characteristic was the tension I felt in these kids, implanted in them by their managers and coaches. It's probably not too unrealistic in saying that the only reason my team won its first six games (and all by large margins-13-2 etc.) before I quietly made my exit, was not that we were better than the other team but rather that such a loose, respectful atmosphere was created with the kids that they didn't feel like they had to look out of the corner of their eye at me if they missed the ball. They knew what they'd done and certainly didn't need somebody making it more difficult from the sidelines. In essence the kids played like a team, but most important had respect for each other, which seems to be a rare quality these days.

To exemplify this mistreatment of the kids, the commissioner of the league put on a performance (after having received my letter) for myself, the team and the parents on "how to be a Little League Boss." The commissioner, Mr. X., literally stormed on to the field (at our next game) accused me of threatening the Board-which he boasted he's been in charge of for 14 years-because I had sent copies of my letter to the parents of the players, so they'd know where I stood.

After being unable to reason with him, I allowed him to continue his shouting match until he finally threatened the kids that they'd forfeit another game if they played with me as manager. Then I joined in, however, to no avail. Fortunately my only coach did show up for the game, and I was forced to name him manager so the kids could have their game.

Anyway to shorten a lengthy story, ALL the parents present at the game taught the commissioner's antics were, as one parent described, "in such poor taste" that every one showed up at the league's next board meeting to argue for the rematch and removal and reprimand of the "man who's making the rules for my kids".

Well, obviously, you know the results, I'm out and he's in-yep, the Board's decision-we back our commissioner's actions and antics 100%.

Parents, be aware, if your kids don't end up with some sort of complex from these overbearing managers and egotistically, headstrong rulers-well, consider yourself lucky.

Compliments for Police and Fire Department

Dear Sir:
The mystery writer who asks you to bring him the Bull, came to the wrong person. You don't publish any Bull and I won't give him any either. But I will comment on his questions about our Police and Fire Dept.

First of all he might be reminded of people who become dissatisfied with their job, their neighbor, most of their good friends and sometimes their own family. This happening can be a good mystery to us. Why this officer, left the Department?

As for our Police Dept.: many times I had to call on them and all I got was top professional service and the best of courtesy. Many times I had a look inside. There again you see the best established Department and one of the most regulated. I also have a few friends who are Niles policemen. If there was that much of dissension in the Dept. I think I would have heard some of it. Why doesn't our mystery writer do some looking for the Bull himself, or don't worry about the situation.

As for our Fire Dept. with all the honors that have been bestowed on them, we should not wonder as to how well these fine guys are doing. Their service is also the greatest.

Sincerely,
George C. Hall

Thanks for 'above and beyond' paramedic aid

Dear Editor:
My sincere "Thanks" to all the paramedics, firemen, police and all who helped me when I fell off a ladder in my back yard and broke my leg. Their solicitous, gentle care and kindness was deeply appreciated.

A special "thanks" to the paramedic who helped me to hold my wig on during the ride to the hospital; I was so concerned about it falling off.

God bless and thank you all -- you were good to me also when my husband had a heart attack.

Proud to be living in Niles

Girl Scouts earn First Class rank

Sixty-eight Northwest area girls were honored recently when the Girl Scout Council of Northwest Cook County held its annual recognition for the year's crop of First Class Scouts at the Niles Recreation Center.

The ceremony capped months of work and preparation on the part of those honored. They were congratulated in introductory remarks by Sandra Piper of Skokie, who also planned the event; Gert Schriener of Elk Grove, Council Vice-President, presented the first class pins.

A girl who has attained first class has learned skills in many new areas and put these skills to the test. A high honor in girl scouting, candidates may earn the award through badge work or "Cadette Challenges." The purpose of the Challenges is to offer an opportunity to gain new knowledge and experience through action designed by the Scouts themselves, and with the help of the leader, to confront a true-to-life situation and deal with it based on what has been learned.

The categories studied by the girls include The Challenge of the Arts, Community, Environment, International Understanding, My Heritage, Knowing Myself, The Out-of-Doors, and Today's World. A Scout choosing the Challenge of the Out-of-Doors might examine any activity from bird-watching to scuba diving. An ingenious leader might, when the moment to devise an unexpected emergency arrived, require the girls to demonstrate exactly what they would do in case a bird-watcher broke a leg and was trapped at the bottom of a gully. Working as a group, the girls must solve the problem in order to meet the challenge.

Local girls who have earned the rank of First Class Scout include: Catherine Becker, Sue Androff, Laura Frahm, Elisabeth Kaminski and Kay Mackintosh from Des Plaines. From Morton Grove: Cindy Baffa, Karen Hathy, Barbie Pintz, Laura Ryan and Karen Schulte. From Skokie/Lincolnwood: the girls are: Judy Anderson, Cara Johanson, Ruth Paul, Julie Gunchick, Marie Helgeson, Yvonne Johanson, Denise Mahan, Stacy Maslov, Laurie O'Connell, Gail Piper, Tarina Uglicina.

A $125 Iverson bike was removed from a closed garage on Lyons st. Sunday between 11 a.m. and noon.

Thieves took a 1977 Schwinn valued at $146 from a garage on the 8100 block of Elizabeth shortly after 3 p.m. Sunday.

A Des Plaines resident said his locked-up 1977 Schwinn valued at $160 was stolen from Jo-Jo's Restaurant, 9449 n. Milwaukee ave.

A Morton Grove resident reported his 1975 Schwinn valued at $165 was removed from the parking lot at McDonald's, 7937 Milwaukee ave.

A $125 unlocked bicycle, owned by a Morton Grove youth was reported stolen from the 7525 Milwaukee ave. parking lot.

Two young Park Ridge boys said they were confronted by two youths 17 to 18 years old on the bike path who took both brothers' bikes away and fled the area. The two bikes were valued at $75 and $150.

A 10-speed bike valued at $90 was stolen from the Jewel store, 8730 Dempster, after he had chained it to a rack, said the Des Plaines owner.

Stolen Truck
A 1977 Ford Pickup truck valued at $3,349.20 was reported stolen Friday from Dave Corey Ford at 6200 Touhy.

Pigeon drop target refuses fleecing

A 53-year-old Des Plaines housewife who refused to rise to the bait in the old, phony "pigeon-drop" scheme was home safe and with her money said Niles police last week.

The intended victim said she was leaving Butera's Food Store when she was approached in the Golf Mill parking lot by a woman holding a brown envelope which allegedly held $30,000 in race track proceeds which she "found" in the parking lot.

A second woman drove up in a Lincoln Continental to inquire directions to the postoffice and became involved in the conversation of "what to do".

The first con artist left to ask advice from her "boss" lawyer located in the Professional Building, returning to say he would hold the money but each of the women would be required to put up "good faith" money.

The two offenders drove the housewife home to get her checkbook but when they returned to Golf Mill, the "pigeon" said she could only offer $25. When told the lawyer required at least $1000 from each, the intended victim shook her head, got out of the car and went home.

She described one woman as 35 years old, 5 ft. 2 inches in height, medium build, with a short black Afro and dressed neatly, in a two-piece aqua dress.

The second woman she said was also about 35 years old, 5 ft. 2 inches tall, slender, black hair, black plastic framed sunglasses and wearing a denim dress with a zipper up the front.

Safety hints

[By Alan J. Dixon
Secretary of State]

With more motorcycles being licensed every year, you will find additional riders traveling our roads and expressways. If you are close to a motorcycle, there are some added safety rules to keep in mind.

The motorcyclist has the same right-of-way privileges you do and he is entitled to the same courtesy on the roadway.

If you are following a motorcycle, allow plenty of distance when approaching a railroad track. If the crossing is rough or the track cross the road at an angle, the rider will have to slow down to maneuver.

Certain types of bridge surfaces are dangerous for motorcycles. The rider can't tell what he is going to do until he gets there. Give him plenty of room and be prepared to stop quickly.

Motorcycles are entitled to use the full width of the traffic lane, the same as a car. Do not try to stop next to one in the same lane, either change lanes or stay behind. In passing, change lanes and pass like other vehicles.

Stevenson Patriettes

Stevenson Patriettes, Theresa Hughes, Anna Sepulveda, and Jenni Wolf attended the NCA summer Drill Team Camp at Illinois State University, Normal, Illinois during the week of June 26th.

Routines were taught by members of the Kilgore Rangerettes, from Kilgore, Texas. The Rangerettes are world famous and have performed on national TV plus Japan.

These Patriettes earned fifteen ribbons for the routines they learned at camp; they received a trophy for the best original routine; they received a trophy for being the most outstanding drill team at camp; and Jenni Wolf received a trophy for being the most outstanding participant at camp.

During the week of June 13th, four Stevenson Patriettes attended a summer Pom-Pom Camp sponsored by the National Drill Team Association at Vincennes University, in Vincennes Indiana. Participants, Robin Anderson, Kelly Beck, Suzy Harris, and Sandee Worley learned eight routines. The girls received excellent and superior ribbons.

1st National of Morton Grove reports growth in key areas

The First National Bank of Morton Grove has recorded new levels in total assets, deposits and loans, reported president Marvin von Aswege. Total assets rose to $83,366,307 as of June 30, a gain of more than $8,000,000 over June 30, 1976. Total deposits as of June 30 increased to $75,660,306, up more than $7,500,000 over the same period last year. Loans climbed to $43,738,156, an increase of $4,300,000 during the fiscal year. Shareholders were informed that the bank's income, net operating earnings and earnings per share also had risen since last June 30. Income is up by more than $257,000, while net operating earnings increased by nearly $24,000. "This financial growth is coupled with the progress being made in our building expansion program to present a most optimistic outlook for the remainder of 1977 and beyond," said Von Aswege.

"The $1,500,000 expansion project is approximately at the half-way point and will put us in a position to offer more facilities, conveniences and services upon completion in early 1978," he added.

Unity Savings offers unique customer service

Unity Savings announces another unique service for its customers: free telephone transfer of money 24 hours a day from anywhere in the state of Illinois.

Saul Z. Bass, Unity's President said, "With the growing number of customers at Unity opening up Unity NOW checking accounts, we felt it was important to offer this service. Even if you are traveling downstate, all you have to do is dial our toll-free number and Unity will simply transfer funds from your Passcard savings account to your NOW checking account any time of the day."

Mr. Bass went on to say, "Our customers have told us that what they particularly like about this service is the fact that their money on deposit at Unity earns interest until the very moment of transfer."

Unity Savings is the largest state chartered, federally insured savings & loan in Illinois. It has offices in Norridge, Schaumburg, Chicago and Hanover Park.

Honor student

A total of 728 outstanding Rice University students have been named to the President's Honor Roll for the Spring Semester of the 1976-1977 academic year. President Norman Hacerman recently announced. Included was Suzanne E. Kemmer, daughter of Mr. Robert W. Kemmer, 7213 Breen St. in Niles.

Home sales dollar volume decreases 11%

Dollar volume of sales of existing homes in Cook County decreased nearly 11 percent during June compared to a month earlier, according to First Federal of Chicago's Home Sales Index.

The report showed dollar volume on 3,297 sales was $135 million, a decrease of $16.7 million from May's 3,653 sales which totaled $151.7 million. Sales volume, however, is up nearly 23 percent from last year, with 616 more transactions than the 2,681 recorded in June of 1976.

For the same period, dollar volume increased $15.8 million or 13.2 percent over last June's dollar volume of $119 million. The Home Sales Index covers one-to-four unit properties.

"The exceptionally large volume of mortgages and explosive demand for housing that characterized early 1977 has given way to a settling of activity," said James C. Fitzmaurice, senior vice president of First Federal.

"The Chicagoland area continues to generate a strong, but leveling demand for mortgage funds, concurrent with the normal slowdown during summer vacation months," he said.

"Our interpretation of the current market is that builder prices have peaked - it appears they are as high as the traffic will bear. The fast-paced buying in the existing single family market seems to be settling, but listings still are in short supply," said Fitzmaurice. "Sellers continue to get their original asking price or close to it."

In addition, he said, "Lenders have adapted to the recent pressures of strong demand and are now better organized to accommodate the existing volume of home sales."

"The outlook for the second half indicates demand will remain strong but not so intense," he said.

Jefferson Township received the highest dollar and sales volume for all Cook County townships. Its dollar volume totaled $11.9 million on 311 sales.

Second in both dollar and sales volume was Lake Township which received $8.7 million on 227 sales.

Cumulative activity for the first six months of 1977 totaled $697,898,000 on 15,576 sales. This is an increase of $163,285,500 or 31 percent over the $534,612,500 recorded for the same period last year. Sales volume increased 22 percent with 2,853 more sales than the 12,723 transactions recorded for the first six months of 1976.

The Morton Grove Park District Swim Team has been in full swing since the beginning of June. Practices run Monday-Saturday, with swim competition every Wednesday evening against other Park Districts in the surrounding areas.

The team's efforts this year have been very successful. The team moves into the conference meet with a 2-3 record, losing 2 of the 3 meets by only 3 points. The team also was invited to compete in the Franklin Park relay on July 11th, in which the team brought home a 3rd place trophy. The meet consisted of 10 teams, and 40 events of relays.

Shown are the 13-14 Boys relay team, Robbie Drag, Mike O'Brien, George Spentzos and Jim Krozel. These boys have been undefeated all season and took 3 firsts at the Franklin Park Relays.

The team moved on to their conference meet on Wednesday, July 24th. They competed against all 5 teams from their conference with 2 swimmers in each event.

MAME opens tonight at Maine North

The dazzling Broadway musical Mame will open tonight at 8 p.m. in the Maine North Theatre. The curtain will rise on the company of performers that make up Maine North's summer theatre workshop as they sing and dance to the music and lyrics of Jerry Herman's Mame. The show has been in rehearsal for six weeks and according to director K.W. Steinhauser "is becoming one of the most exciting shows Maine North has ever produced. I've never seen such company spirit. Everyone involved with Mame is excited."

The summer theatre workshop is comprised of past, present and incoming students of Maine North. They have been working together as a "company" for the past six weeks preparing Mame for performance. Tonight the curtain will rise and their efforts will be rewarded. "The community has really taken a liking to Mame. We've sold quite a lot of tickets just this week. I've never seen them go so quickly. I think a lot is prompted by the popularity of the show itself, and the production is first rate," says business manager, Steve DiMenna. Reservations can be made for tonight's performance or either of the two remaining ones by phoning 298-5510 or 729-4934.

"Mame is a show that should not be missed by anyone. Young or old can count on a great time at this musical," says Miss Carla Oleck, choreographer for the show. The show takes place at the peak of the twenties and revolves around it's central character Mame Dennis. The story is partially true, and is based on the play and the book Auntie Mame. Mame is a lively woman of the world who spends most of her time just being happy and spreading her happiness to those around her. Young ten year old Patrick walks into her life by surprise. He's her only living relative and she's his. Together she and Patrick open new windows on life until their dream is haulted by the reality of Patrick growing up. Mame senses it coming but fails to accept it. This is a bitter blow for her and she must try and strike up all her courage to face it. She regrets opening so many windows for Patrick because now he is gone. The show takes a turn for the better when Patrick walks back into Mame's life and the happiness flows once more.

The box office opens at 9 a.m. and reservations can be made until 5 today. This evening's performance of Mame will be followed by tours of the Maine North Theatre and radio and television studios. For full information phone Steve DiMenna at 298-5510.

ED HANSON

Peter Who?

It's 1985. The United States has a new President. He approaches the podium as the band plays "Hail to the Chief". He signals for quiet amid the wild cheers. Finally, with the calm of the political professional, he smilingly waits. He finally speaks.

"My fellow Americans, my fellow Italians, my fellow everyone.... It all began eight years ago in the All-American village of Niles. Sometimes, the tiniest of sparks can ignite the greatest of fires. In this case the "spark" was ignited in the column of a small weekly newspaper written by an obscure old newspaper man. I'd like to turn back the calendar, for a moment, to that significant day, July 28th, 1977."

The President holds up the page containing the column. He pauses for dramatic effect, then begins to read from the newspaper column. This is what he reads to the vast, hushed audience:

"Peter Who?" by Ed Hanson of Bugle Newspapers

"Little more than a year ago, a man rose from obscurity to the highest office in the land. In the initial part of his campaign, he was known as 'Jimmy who?' Originally, the political experts regarded him as something of a bad joke. Their highly respected opinions gave him as much chance of becoming President as that of Gerald Ford writing a book on "The History Of Poland or "Unions I Never Made".

But it came to pass. For the Grand Planner often enjoys making jackasses out of his puppets. And, today, former President Carter, who has served two brilliant terms, is the BEST known man, next to God, in the universe.

I have learned that PETER PESOLE, a Niles Trustee, wants to run against John J. Nimrod, the Republican incumbent State Senator for the 4th Congressional District. This has been Republican country for as far back as I can remember - and I can remember back to Teddy Roosevelt.

For a Democrat to even think of becoming a State Senator in the 4th district is tantamount to "Fools rushing in where angels fear to tread".

But Peter Pesole is convinced he can beat Nimrod. He believes a Democrat can achieve this office. Moreover, he tells me, if he is the candidate, he can put in action the same organization that helped to elect Jimmy Carter.

Pete wants to run against Nimrod so bad he can taste it. But he has a problem. His problem is his job. For Pete Pesole works for AFL-CIO. Moreover, he represents COPE, the political arm for these unions in Illinois and Indiana.

Therefore, Pete's problem is this: Can he get an okay to throw his hat in the ring? Pete loves his job which represents many years of work. Besides, being a poor man, he needs the income he derives from it.

I cannot see where there is a conflict of interest present. For I'm quite sure that the aforementioned unions would support the Democrat in this race for State Senator anyway.

So why not PETE?

Pete's an honest, hard working guy. He has compassion for the little guy and a sense of fairness for the big guy. He's street smart and very knowledgeable politically.

I have also learned, on good authority, that several very prominent Republicans would support Pete if he were the candidate. And, get this, they'll come out "public" for him.

If Pete is the candidate, I think he's got a fighting chance to win. Moreover, I think even tho' it would be a tight race, he could win. I'd predict Pete would win "by a nose". And - this I know for SURE - he'd get the majority of the women's vote. I want to make this perfectly clear. Pete had nothing to do with my writing this column. What I've written are the facts as I know them. I don't really care if he likes it or not. And the same goes for anyone else.

If Pete is the Candidate I'd vote for him!

Up-Date on Best Dressed Man contest: They're spinning around the far turn. Bebe Stein is leading by a nose, Chuck Barbaglia has moved into second, Blase is third, Frank Troiani showed a brief flash of speed and is fourth; Harczak, blocked, briefly lost ground, but is now looking for racing room. Ed Hanson on the outside is sixth and trailing the rest of the pack by fifty lengths is Besser

Remember it's a long race, anything can happen and Sept. 31 is still a long way off this is a field of 20 entries and as it is in real racing, anything can happen ...

I've decided to make an award to the second and third place finishers too. I'll keep you "posted".

Spanish honor students

A chapter of the national honor society in Spanish, Sigma Delta Pi, recently was established at Northeastern Illinois University. Dr. Miguel Martinez, faculty sponsor of the chapter at Loyola University, presided at the ceremonies initiating five students and seven professors into the society.

An associate membership was conferred upon Angelina Pedrosa, 8805 N. Kilpatrick, Skokie. Students initiated into the honorary included Lynette Bergh, Niles.

Entertainment

The stage or the street?

Warm summer evenings can be inviting to young teens looking for a little "action" to help pass the time. Street corners become the most popular hangouts for many young suburbanites. Destruction is often the result of a lack of nothing to do and a need to release the tension brought on by the summer heat. Yet this need not be the case for suburban youths. Teenagers wanting to express themselves can certainly find a constructive rather than destructive way to do so. Citizens of some of the northwest suburbs have complained that there are not enough activities during the summer months for their children. Many young people who are active in school find themselves wasting away their summer vacation.

What can these creative young adults turn to as an alternative to the "street scene"? Vandalism isn't the only way of releasing energy. Well a group of Glenview - Des Plaines community students of Maine North High School have found the perfect outlet for their "summer energy". They spend their nights in an air-conditioned facility that allows them to be constructive as well as destructive, and they receive a valuable experience at the same time. What is the magic facility? It's not a recreation center, or bowling alley or even a funhouse. It's a theatre. (Although sometimes it takes on the appearance of a funhouse). These students are members of the Maine North Summer Theatre Workshop. Each day from about 1:30 in the afternoon until 9:30 in the evening, 37 of Maine North's past, present, and future students work together in preparing a musical show that is presented at the end of the six week workshop.

The constructive part begins with the first rehearsal on June 20 and continues until opening night of the show on Thursday, July 29 at 8 p.m. The destructive part begins three days later when the show closes and the scenery must be torn apart. With both activities the students can release any anxieties built up by the boredom of summer. No one is ever left without something to do. The group forms a "company" of workers who participate in every aspect of the production. There are no divisions between actors and technicians. Everyone is seen on stage at one time or another, and likewise everyone puts a hand in the wheat paste. Rehearsal parallels with the crew calls so that no time is wasted.

The workshop offers the students the opportunity to work in areas of theatre most familiar to them. Students interested in lighting work primarily in that area, while someone who is handy with a sewing machine spends most of the time in the costume shop. There's room for artists, painters, carpenters, photographers, jugglers, animals, seamstresses and even actors. In addition to the company of workers, the workshop also brings in the Maine North Orchestra made up of past and present musicians. Mr. Walter Wolodkin, orchestra director at North rehearses with his 33 piece orchestra bringing them to the peak of perfection. And they too get their hands in the wheat paste.

The workshop is offered as a 1/2

credit course, but that's not the real value of the program. It's primary objective is to bring a sense of unity to an art form that demands it but seldom receives it. Because theatre is such a competitive art, it must be held together by something. This is why unity within the company is so essential. "Unity is our key word," says director of the workshop Kurt Steinhauser, "it's essential in any situation where people must work closely together, but even more so in theatre because we leave ourselves so open. This is why we form the "company" over the summer. The students get to know each other, and develop lasting friendships."

The success of the program lies in the fact that the group of students stay so close together. Most of them know each other because of school. Those who arrive new are always immediately welcome. They learn with each other and from each other, and they have fun together. Having fun is another objective of the workshop. The educational value of the program is great and the fun adds the frosting. "I love seeing old friends who I graduated with, and I love working with them on the show. We can all share good times, and learn how to grow together. This is the best thing the workshop does for us," says Steve DiMenna a graduate of Maine North working on the show.

"It's good seeing the new people at North working with the old. I try and stress to everyone how important it is that we get the work done, but I never forget about the fun that goes with it," says Laura Helgren, another North graduate, and stage manager for the show. The most important thing about the program is the feeling of camaraderie that develops within the group of students.

What more can be said about the program except that it works, and is appreciated by the students. Not only do the students receive a reward for their six weeks work, but the community shares in it. At the end of the six week rehearsal period the company performs its show. This year the workshop will present the sensational Broadway musical, Mame. Opening night is Thursday, July 28 and the show continues through the 30th. The group considers it their final exam. Curtain goes up at 8 a.m. Tickets are $2 and are available by calling 298-5510 or 729-4934. Group rates are also available.

The summer workshop cannot accommodate every suburban teenager looking for action. If more groups like it were formed for various activities, it might help solve the problem of boredom. The theatre workshop is now in its second year and it has grown considerably. As it grows the group's purpose also grows, hopefully the growth will never stop. The stage may not be the most desired alternative to the streetcorner for suburban youths, but it is worth a try. And a "stage scene" is a bit more entertaining than a "street scene."

Jaffe urges passage of rape and child sexual abuse reform bills

In a letter sent to Governor James Thompson this week, State Representative AARON JAFFE (D-Skokie) urged him to sign into law as soon as possible eight bills approved by the Illinois General Assembly dealing with rape and sexual abuse of children.

Jaffe, Chairman of the Illinois Rape Study Committee, which was responsible for the investigation of sexual crime in Illinois, was the principal sponsor of this reform legislation. He advised the Governor of the extreme urgency of action needed to bring about immediate reform in these most sensitive social areas.

The bills which are now on the Governor's desk are: HOUSE BILL 234, which creates the offenses of soliciting for a juvenile prostitute and juvenile pimping involving persons under the age of 16. The bill classifies violations as a Class 4 Felony, calling for a minimum of one year prison sentence. (Current law has classified these offenses only as misdemeanors);

HOUSE BILL 270 provides that any person who has sexual intercourse or performs an act of deviate sexual conduct with a natural child or stepchild commits aggravated incest. (Current law has classified only the sexual activity of a father with his daughter or stepdaughter as aggravated incest. Court decisions held the present exclusionary law to be unconstitutional);

HOUSE BILL 637 adds medical services for rape victims to the list of services the Department of Public Aid is authorized to provide under the medical assistance program and includes in such services test to secure evidence in relation to rape;

HOUSE BILL 639 amends the Sexually Dangerous Persons Act by requiring that the defendant be convicted of being a sexually dangerous person by the same standard of proof required in criminal cases of guilty beyond a reasonable doubt, before he may be deprived of his freedom by commitment to confinement;

This bill will bring Illinois law into conformity with constitutional standards determined by the courts and will enable the state to more successfully gain and retain custody of sexually dangerous persons.

HOUSE BILL 760 - In prosecutions for rape or criminal sexual assault, the accused may, as a defense in the trial, claim that the alleged victim consented to the sexual act. In such cases, the prior sexual activity of the prosecuting witness (victim) is inadmissible as evidence. Exceptions to this rule are evidence concerning the victim's reputation for sexual promiscuity and the past sexual conduct of the victim with the accused. However, the trial judge must first consider such evidence before ruling what admissible evidence may be introduced in open court.

HOUSE BILL 761 provides that the Department of Children and Family Services may require each foster home applicant to authorize an investigation of his background with regard to criminal offenses. Protection of confidentiality of such information is incorporated into the bill;

HOUSE BILL 1185 redefines rape, expanding the definition of the crime to include situations involving only the threat of force. It limits the use of consent as a defense to rape in cases involving patients or inmates and personnel of custodial or penal institutions. It eliminates references to deviate sexual conduct and deviate sexual assault and replaces these classifications with "criminal sexual assault." It defines aggravated rape and aggravated criminal sexual assault as offenses committed under certain especially offensive circumstances. It calls for sentences for aggravated rape or aggravated criminal sexual assault of terms in prison for a period of not less than four years. It calls for sentences for rape and criminal sexual assault of terms in prison for a period of not less than two years;

HOUSE BILL 1186 requires the appointment of a guardian ad litem to protect the rights and best interests of a minor in any court proceeding where the minor is the alleged victim of sexual abuse;

Legion flea market

Displaying their live plants for sale at the Morton Grove American Legion Post's Third Annual Flea Market are Marlene and Raymond Goltz of Niles. The event is being held Saturday and Sunday, August 13 and 14 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at 6140 Dempster. A donation of 25 cents is requested for the Post's Veterans Rehabilitation Fund.

Although the Morton Grove American Legion Post 134 has called its annual event a "Flea Market," it is much more than that...it is a sale of arts and crafts created by area residents...of memorabilia, antiques, new merchandise, imports, household items, etc.

The Legion Post grounds can accommodate 60 exhibitors, and its building will contain 22 exhibitors on the main floor and eight in its upstairs hall, thus a total of 90 exhibitors will be on hand displaying their wares. Last year all spaces were filled. At this writing there are still 15 outside spaces and five inside spaces available. Residents interested in space should contact Co-Chairman Joe Schmidt, 965-0739 or Les Berg, 965-1429.

Although called a "Flea Market" it could also be referred to as a "Giant Garage Sale," a "White Elephant Sale," an "Arts & Crafts Sale," or whatever, but suffice to say persons attending enjoy themselves buying and looking at the variety of merchandise. Over 4,000 persons attended last year's event and depending on the weather, at least 5,000 are expected this year.

Exhibitors who are returning for the third year in a row are the North Shore Parents Without Partners with miscellaneous Bric-A-Brac and household items; Grandmother Gulbransen from Elk Grove with her hand-made Afghans and Stollies; the Domash's, Dorothy and Irv with Antiques and bargain priced gift items; the Bidars of Melrose Park with jewelry, notions and novelties; the Turbins of Morton Grove with a full array of housewares at below retail prices; and Don Svoboda of Morton Grove with his collection of imports. All of these exhibitors will be on hand in the post grounds.

Residents of Chicagoland are urged to attend...plan on spending the day. Hot dogs, hamburgers and liquid refreshments will be available from Connie's kitchen and Bill's bar. Commander of the Post, George Kreeger will occupy the patio of the Post home greeting people and offering his bargain priced carpeting.

The date of the Legion Flea Market is Saturday and Sunday, August 13 and 14 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. The place is the Legion Post home at 6140 Dempster. Ample parking is available surrounding the Post. A donation of 25 cents per adult will be requested for the Post's Veterans Rehabilitation Fund.

Raffe cites Demos motives for incorporating outlying Maine Township

Phillip Raffe, Maine Township clerk, charged this week that efforts to incorporate a new city out of unincorporated Maine Township would lead to double taxation for services that residents are now paying for, and should be receiving from the county.

Raffe, who also is Maine Township Republican committeeman, made a wide-ranging attack on Democratic politicians who have called for incorporation of a new city in the area bounded generally by Dempster street on the south, the Tri-State Tollway on the west, Central rd., on the north and Greenwood ave. on the east.

He said Nicholas Blase, mayor of Niles, has annexed the "cream of the taxpaying property" then told the 20,000 residents to form their own community with the "skim milk"; accused U.S. Rep. Abner Mikva (D-10th) of using the area's problems only for campaign purposes and said Patton Feichter, one of the leaders of the incorporation effort, hopes to become mayor of such a community and use it as a power base.

Noting that Blase and the mayors of Des Plaines and Park Ridge issued a call last week for state and federal funds to study solutions for problems in the unincorporated area, Raffe said that Mayors Herbert Volberding of Des Plaines and Martin Butler of Park Ridge are "not professional politicians, not as politically astute" as Blase and intimated they were being used by the Niles mayor, who also is Maine Township Democratic committeeman, for Blase's own purposes.

Raffe pointed out that the village of Niles has annexed the Golf-Mill, Greenwood-Dempster and Green Lakes shopping centers, "skimming the cream" of real estate and sales tax revenues. The area not incorporated is largely residential.

Raffe challenged Blase's statements that the area is deteriorating, and said that at least two pictures circulated in the last township election, purporting to show deterioration in the unincorporated area, actually were taken within the village of

The township clerk also noted that Mikva had, with considerable media fanfare, formed a task force during the last congressional election race, to find solutions for the area's problems "But a year later, nothing has been done," Raffe said.

He called Feichter, "a perennial candidate who would like to be mayor of a city," and said Feichter has already run unsuccessfully for township supervisor, state senator and community college trustee, as well as managing gubernatorial campaign at the local level.

Raffe agreed there is poor police protection and substandard apartment construction in the area, but said the residents already are paying the county to deal with these problems and should demand that the County Board act.

"East Maine residents are paying $50,000 a year in vehicle stickers which should go for police protection," Raffe said. "If the sheriff can't provide it, he should resign and let someone take office who can."

Raffe said the county also has an adequate number of building and health inspectors to maintain standards in the unincorporated area and said that if Mikva and Blase were really interested in the residents' problems, they could use their political influence to get action.

Raffe said the county should require developers to bring private streets up to standards, then dedicate them to the public, so they can be properly maintained. He said that township maintenance of dedicated streets now is "as good as, if not better than maintenance in some of the villages." State law permits townships to maintain and build roads and bridges, but does not give townships the power to adopt and enforce building or health codes.

Raffe said East Maine residents "should quit letting themselves be used by politicians and organize to demand services from the county which they already are paying."

ments have been most modest, and have him represent 210 million people is astounding. Both the White Sox and the Cubs invest several years, and often hundreds of thousands of dollars, preparing one pitcher for his eventual major league career. If a baseball team can take this much time and money to prepare a man to play a game, certainly the much more serious game of world politics deserves many years of preparation.

At the end of World War II, I was transferred to Berlin and served on General Clay's staff (as a messenger boy). Clay was in charge of all military governments under the U.S. auspices in Europe. Even at that tender age, I was aware of the poorly trained people who had key roles in running the show. Chemical Warfare Colonels were making decisions which affected the lives of millions of people. But the wartime to peacetime period had to have untrained people do the best job they could. It certainly should have taught us the need for professionally-trained people.

When I read in Lerner's biographical sketch he was a student of Scandinavian folkways 20 years ago and is married to a former opera singer, I'm aware his own credentials must be very sketchy. This is no reflection on Lerner. He's just a guy like the rest of us, who should be guzzling beer in his undershirt. But to be exchanging great thoughts with the leaders of the world while balancing cocktails, with his pinky pointing up, and while cruise missiles are being pointed all over the world, frightens me a great deal.

ski following complaints of increased traffic from Niles. Officials said the 1/2 mile road from Rusch dr. to Hayes "has always been a good drag strip." Offenders apprehended, they said, were generally from the Chicago side.

Scheel drew support from Niles trustees Tuesday evening who voted no official action in the area other than police patrol, dependent on whether Chicago "follows proper channels of action."

The village manager said he did not look to a confrontation with Chicago officials Tuesday, "but I don't know what the City Council was thinking of...one just does not block off a street without taking proper action."

Scheel said he first learned the barriers were up around 1 p.m. Tuesday when he returned from lunch to receive a police report of the blockade.

He left immediately for the area followed by 4 Niles patrol cars. Scheel's arrival at the scene just as the Chicago crew was finishing their work brought Aid. Pucinski and 3 Chicago patrol cars.

Following an eyeball confrontation during which Scheel, an ex-Marine, reportedly said that if the barriers were not pulled out, he "would saw them off personally," Pucinski retreated to a corner home to call corporate counsel. Scheel said he did not see him again.

A witness on the scene was heard later to say that Pucinski expressed fear that Scheel would strike him in anger. Pucinski was carrying his arm in a sling due to a broken wrist suffered in a fall.

Scheel said an earlier meeting with St. Adelbert officials and a lone resident family in the area indicated cemetery officials were not concerned over the barriers. The resident objected to the barricade which in case of emergency closed off the nearest exit to help.

The village manager said he became aware of City Council intention, only after cemetery officials advised him following notification by Aid. Pucinski in June.

"Niles received a letter from Comr. Francis Degnan, Dept. of Streets and Sanitation July 7 requesting village board approval of the City Council order to install a barrier," noted Scheel, "but they didn't wait for the o.k."

Trustee decision to hold off action was drawn from numerous options; to erect barriers north or south of Hayes; post diagonal barriers on the south end of Newark; set in "speed bumps"; erect posts and "no entry" signs; or "if we do nothing Pucinski has problems."

Scheel said a letter advising no action by trustees would go forward to Degnan Wednesday.

In other action Mayor pro-tem Abe Selman and trustees approved a 10 ft. high security fence with 3 strand barbed wire request by Wilson Jones Co., 6150 W. Touhy ave., despite Committee recommendation by Tr. Ang. Marcheschi and Peter Pesole for an 8 ft. fence with no barbed wire. Village ordinance does not allow barbed wire and provides for 6 ft. industrial fence height.

Board approval (Pesole dissenting and Marcheschi absent) came after Bldg and Zoning Director Joe Salerno statistically related approximately 10 industries in Niles with fence heights from 5 ft. to 11 1/2 ft., four of which have barbed wire. Tr. Richard Harczak favored the industry request, "Give them what they want," in face of Pesole's recommended cutback.

The security fence request came after repeated vandalism in the area caused by "juveniles" according to a company representative.

*Beautification Committee Chairman Tr. Richard Harczak said 3 proposals on specifications sent to 4 local tree spray companies opened July 25 came from Hendrickson Tree Experts of Des Plaines, $2.65 per tree (malathion spray) and $2.20 per tree (Dormant Oil spray); Glenwood Tree Experts of Glenview $1.90 and $2.19; and Barrington Nurseries at $1.72 on either spraying. Davy Tree, Inc. of Mt. Prospect declined to bid.

Trustees selected the Barrington proposal with spraying to start in mid-August of all parkway trees. "Dependent on conditions, temperature and time," noted Village Manager Scheel, "usually with good weather, no wind and cars off the streets the job can be accomplished in 3 days' time."

*Awarded a contract for a new Fire Dept. Ambulance to Midwest Ambulance Co. of Wilmette for $24,247. Two other bids ranged upward to $27,467.

*Presented a check for $5,000 (village-apportionment of revenue-sharing funds) to the Niles Public Library for purchase of books, accepted by Niles Library Board President Martin Hode.

Johnson claims victory in anti-Mikva debate

Mark "Markus" Johnson, Republican candidate in the primary for the Tenth Congressional District, claimed victory in a debate with three other candidates held last night at the Winnetka Community House.

Johnson said, "My campaign theme of thoughtful leadership is the basic issue in the primary because thoughtful leadership is needed to discuss traditional Republican principles in ways that appeal to non-Republican voters. Conversion of non-Republican voters to Republican principles is necessary to save America because non-Republican ideas will still flourish beyond the Tenth District no matter who beats Mikva. My opponents' unwillingness to address this broader issue, the transformation of our party in the country at large, shows inability to deal effectively with national-level issues. I can do more for the party at the national level than they can."

At the debate Johnson outlined a strategy of thoughtful leadership for converting non-Republican voters and also illustrated the strategy with an example. Johnson said Republicans could make their fiscal policy more popular by relating it to broad non-Republican social trends.

He said, "Decades ago legislation was passed providing immediate social benefits to be paid for by future generations. Today those future generations are working and voting. They are reported to be concerned about resources, such as energy, that may be exhausted in their lifetimes. They're afraid that in the next century there won't be enough left for them."

"This is the kind of gut-level political concern that destroys old political groupings and which engenders new coalitions. Thoughtful leadership aimed at these non-Republican voters will not present new positions on all issues at once -- instead it will start on a few key issues. Tonight I will do just one: Social Security."

"Social Security reserves may be depleted in a few years. In a generation the proportion of people drawing benefits will be so large that the financial burden on the working population will be intolerable."

"Democrats say they have provided for Social Security until the end of the century, but that really ignores the aspirations and claims of millions of people born after 1935. The financial well-being of voters after the year 2000 may be just as uncertain as the availability of energy then to sustain our present life-style."

"Voters are not sure if an energy crisis exists because they think oil companies found oil and kept it a secret. This reasoning cannot be applied to Social Security."

"Oil for the year 2000 is different from Social Security. Oil can be found all around the world, even under the ocean. But money for Social Security benefits can be found only one place if it's going to be used for people who expect it. The money has to be in accounts with people's names on it drawing interest -- but it's not there."

Other participants in the debate were Dan Hales, Peter Pierce, and State Rep. John Porter. The debate was moderated by David E. Brown, State Committeeman for the Tenth Congressional District. Brown also announced that potential candidate Harvey Schwartz of Skokie was withdrawing from the race. (Brown works at Kemper Insurance in Long Grove.)

ICCB approves annexation of New Trier, Glenbrook to Oakton

The Oakton Community College boundaries were extended to include the New Trier and Glenbrook high school district on July 22 following annexation orders by the Illinois Community College Board.

All students from Glenbrook and New Trier high school districts will be treated as in-district students for the fall term. If they plan to attend another community college in Illinois, they must make application to the OCC Office of Admissions and Records for chargebacks. These must be made at least 30 days prior to the first day of classes at the college where the student intends to enroll.

The status of students residing

Boys' State delegate

The Maine East Boys' State delegate for 1977 is Carl Baumeister of Morton Grove.

This honor was presented at the June 1 Maine East social studies department honors program by the Mel Tierney Legion Post 247 of Park Ridge.

In an essay submitted to the screening committee, Carl commented, "I think I'm fortunate to be an American citizen, especially when I realize that if I were living in a country under the rule of Communism, this very profile of myself would be different and prejudiced by the bars that would have been surrounding my freedom."

Police advice on door to door salesmen

There are many legitimate door to door salesmen who offer excellent products at reasonable prices. But many are "fast-buck" experts who back glib sales pitches with high-pressure sales tactics and fraudulent promises.

Police Chief Glauner reminds residents that all solicitors must be registered with the Village prior to any door to door or street-corner sales.

One example of a sales fraud is the door to door magazine subscription racket that is typically based on misrepresentation and misinformation. In this scheme, traveling magazine crews operate from city to city, soliciting high rate or non-existent magazine subscriptions. These "salesmen" are always selling magazines to "put themselves through college", to "raise funds for a charitable organization", or to "win a trip to Europe."

The same type of fraud is perpetuated over the telephone. Phone crews soliciting magazine subscriptions often begin their sales pitch with statements such as "you have been selected to receive 'free' magazines (with only a nominal fee to cover handling and postage costs)". The solicitor states that the customer will receive the publication for a specified period, such as 24 months, and that most people prefer to pay the associated costs on a monthly installment basis. The person who agrees to buy magazines in this manner actually pays a sum far in excess of the normal subscription rate. In many cases, he never receives the publications purchased.

in the Evanston high school district will continue to be out-of-district. These students should make application to the Evanston High School business office for a chargeback, whether they intend to attend Oakton or another state community college.

Petitions have been filed by residents of the Evanston district for a hearing on the annexation question. The ICCB has scheduled a public hearing for 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, August 11, at Evanston Township High School. The hearing is the first step if a referendum on annexation is deemed in the best interest of the students residing within Evanston.

The annexation of New Trier and Glenbrook will increase the geographical area of the Oakton college district by about two-thirds. It will almost double the number of people served. Assessed valuation of the college district will increase from $1,782,515.587 to approximately $2,840,991,573.

Oakton has no outstanding capital bonded indebtedness and has contributed its share of the construction of the permanent 170-acre campus scheduled for occupancy within the next 18 months.

The financial soundness of the college district is indicated by Oakton's balanced budgets every year since it was founded in 1969 and the fact that its 1969 authorized tax rate remains unchanged in 1977-78. Paul D. Gilson, chairman of the OCC Board of Trustees, points out.

Oakton's share of the local property tax bill has gone down on the 1977 tax bills in spite of increasing costs. Oakton receives only about three cents out of the local property tax dollar in most communities within the original district, even less in the two annexed districts. The OCC tax rate is 22 1/4 cents per $100 assessed valuation or $22.50 for a home valued at about $50,000.

The following are typical tax rates for each $100 in equalized assessed valuation and OCC percentages in the various communities within the present OCC district including the North Shore townships:

Communities	T.T. Tax Rate	OCC Rate	OCC %
Des Plaines (Dist. 62)	$7.535	.225	3.0
Morton Grove (Dist. 67)	7.156	.225	3.1
