Harold Harpold, the manager told police the two men entered the restaurant thru the front door shortly after 8 p.m. and ordered eleven patrons and approximately a dozen employees to the rear of the restaurant. Both displayed handguns.

As the group of customers and employees were walking to the rear kitchen area, one of the patrons, a 48 year old Niles man, quietly exitted the restaurant thru the east side door in an attempt to escape. He was approximately 30 ft. into the east parking lot when one of the armed men observed his flight and ordered him to return to the eatery "before I blow your head

The Nilesite returned to the area and was immediately struck on the head by one of the men. After regaining consciousness, the man later told police he was not sure whether he had been hit with a gun or fist.

As gunmen herded the people into a cooler in the rear kitchen office, one of the robbers observed they were not moving fast enough and fired his gun into the floor to hasten movement The manager was burdened to open the office safe and the two men removed cash later determined to be approximately $1,086 into a First National Bank of Viles bag. Money was also taken from a cash register in the restaurant

The two men then prodded the manager into the kitchen cooler and left. After a 10-minute wait, he called police.

Nab arson suspect in toy store fires speech team by Alice M. Bobula Police patience paid off when an 18-year-old Des Plaines youth suspected of arson in numerous December fires at Toys R Us, 9555 Milwaukee ave., was arrested Saturday afternoon January 6 after he came to collect a paycheck at the toy Christopher Boyd of 1150 N. River rd. was taken into custody under an outstanding warrant for aggravated arson issued last Dec. 26 by Judge LaPlante. Boyd is being held at Cook County jail in lieu of $50,000 bond pending a Feb. 2 hearing in Niles court.

Police said they waited for the suspect to return from an out-oftown visit over the holidays to relatives. They said the youth, who has no previous record of arrest, was employed as a temporary help stockboy in the Niles store for several months.

Niles Police Lt. John Christie singled out the detective division for "a good piece of police work in obtaining information which led to the apprehension of the subject.'

He credited Detective John Katsoolias with intensive investigation of the fires at the toy store, leading to the information needed to obtain an arrest warrant.

Christie noted the excellent police work "undoubtedly prevented future fires and possible deaths" since the fires were initiated at times when the store was filled with Christmas

A fire Dec. 13 labeled of "suspicious origin" by fire officials struck the second floor storage area of the toy store around 9 p.m., causing an estimated $2,000 to $3,000 fire loss to contents involving cardboard cartons holding plastic toys and kits. No one was injured.

Fire officials had noted there was nothing in the area which would ignite spontaneously. It 8 p.m. at Trident Center.

was possible they said that the fire could have been caused by careless smoking (smoking was prohibited thoughout the store) or "by willful intent."

Fire Inspector Edward Sosnowski said the building sprinkler system had been activated, possibly saving the toy store which was well supplied for Christmas shoppers. The store had been evacuated of shoppers and employees and closed for the evening. Among the employees re-admitted to the store for cleanup was an 18 to 19 year old youth who said he had left his shoes in an employee "break" area.

The fire inspector noted an earlier, small fire in a trash container in the men's room near the cafeteria had been extinguished approximately 15 minutes prior to the alarmed fire.

On Dec. 18 notice of an 11 p.m. fire causing $300 in damages brought Niles firefighters back to the Toys R Us store. A store manager told firemen that he had extinguished the blaze in a main floor aisle of the store, stating it was the third fire in the toy store that evening.

The first fire he said was discovered by a store employee in a public restroom located in front of the store. The second occurred in a storage area at the rear of the establishment. Both fires were extinguished by store officials who indicated the fire department had not been called in because the Monday fires were considered to be "minor." No one was injured in the fires he said.

Fire officials said no odor of accelerant could be detected.

SJB girls' basketbal

St. John Brebeuf's varsity girls' basketball team has won five games in a row and seven of the first eight games of the still young basketball season.

This exciting team utilizes a 1-3-1 offense. The leading scorer so s deen amv ptaszek with 7 points. Amy plays point guard and consequently is in charge of the offense. Playing right wing is Kathy Kuhr with 50 points thus far. Kathy can usually be seen leading the fast break down the court. Jamie Lepak plays for-ward. Donna Jordan and Patty Loftus alternate at the pivot position

This eighth grade girls team registered a milestone in Niles by winning the first annual Niles girls' basketball tournament sponsored by the Niles Park District, besting eight Niles girls teams.

This observer was impressed by the quality of play and prac-tice sessions carried on by these girls. They use the same patter-ns, drills, and plays used by the boys and seem to enjoy it. It's obvious that basketball is a "natural sport" for these girls and they can play it well.

Other members of this fine team include Sheri Adamczyk, Sue Schoos, Barb Kunach, Theresa Re, Sue Hanna, Julie Sok, Debbie Gwozdz, Lynn Kubas, Maria Sorrentino.

Immaculate Conception plans Diamond Jubilee celebration

Plans for Immaculate Conception parish's Diamond Jubilee celebration moved into high gear Jan. 4 when the jubilee planning committee met after a long hiatus following the Christmas holidavs.

One of the earliest events planned for the jubilee year is a bus trip for parishioners to Chicago's Chinatown on Feb. 11. A tour of Holy Name Cathedral will follow dinner at the famous Chiam restaurant. The Immaculate Conception School Parents Club is sponsoring this event.

A general census of all registered parishioners will take place on Feb. 25, when 200 trained interviewers will knock on doors throughout Edison Park and Norwood Park and leave questionaires to be completed by the interviewees and mailed back to the church.

A major event occurs March 18 with an Open House for the entire community. Immaculate Conception's church, school, bowling alley, rectory and convent will be on display for much of that day. A recital of the parish's newly acquired pipe organ will highlight the Open House. The event is under the direction of Sister Joan Mary Schaefer, S.P. the Immaculate Conception school principal.

William Rock will chair a committee planning an old-' fashioned Ice Cream Social in the Immaculate Conception east parking lot on June 24 from 3 to 7 p.m. Entertainment will be provided by a banjo group: Anyone over 75 years of age will be admitted free of charge. Other members of Rock's com-

Since the U.S. Supreme Court decision in 1973 an increasing grass roots effort to inform and educate the American public on the effect this decision is having on values and beliefs long treasured in the Declaration of Independence and Constitution has been gaining momentum.

Over one million abortions are performed (a risky business, as evidenced by the revelations in Chicago newspapers recently) each year in the United States. Has the value of human life

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Roses for Niles Family

Service Dear Mr. Besser,

I am writing you, the editor, to commend the Village of Niles for having a fine facility such as the Family Service Center. I feel the residents of Niles are very fortunate to have the various services available to them, and the program is a great asset to the community.

Everyone associated with the Family Service is very professional yet personal, which tends to make a perfect blend to help their clients.

I feel with the Tenth Anniversary of the Family Service coming up, more recognition should be given to the Service, so that more residents can make use of their fine services.

Thank you very much.

Very truly yours, Ruth Rebellato 9043 Maryland Niles, Ill. 60648

Calendar year 1978 was the coldest year since 1929, according to records kept by Northern Illinois Gas (NI-Gas). billion cubic feet of gas. During the four-day period NI-Gas sup-plied the energy equivalent of 2,3 million barrels of oil, Bekkum added.

- The utility's peak sendout to date for one day during 1979 oc-curred during 24 hours beginning noon, Jan. 2, when 3.57 billion cubic feet of gas was supplied to customers, Bekkum said. "About half of that gas came from NI-Gas' underground aquifer storage system." The company's supplemental natural gas (SNG) plant was also credited with helping supply meet peak demand.

Even though this year's peak day of 74 degree days was colder than last year's 68 degree days, less gas was distributed, Bekkum said. He cited more efficient use of gas by customers as a reason for the smaller sendout.

You dare not turn around, but instinctively you hurry up your own space until you are almost running. Then, just when you reach your car, but before you can begin to fumble for your keys, a rough hand lands heavily on your shoulder, a thrill of fear grabs your stomach. You are about to be mugged. WMTH celebrates 20th Anniversary

In the late 1930's, the first FM radio station was created. The station was created the by Zenith Corporation for promotional reasons as Zenith produced the only FM radio. From this stemmed the idea to create what is now known as WMTH, 88.5 FM. The idea for WMTH, the radio voice of Maine Township, came about in 1957.

WMTH is an educational, noncommercial broadcast radio station owned and operated by Maine Township District 207.

Presently each of Maine's four high schools participates in its operation. This was not always so, however. In 1957 WMTH was just an idea in the minds of Maine East student Richard Allen and Mr. Otto Koehler, then the social studies department at Maine East. They, with the help of Mr. Keith Honn, a Maine East social studies teacher at the time: Mr. Theron Whitfield, a former Maine East electronics instructor; and Mr. Ralph Frost, former dean at Maine East; to name a few. turned a simple idea into a reality.

With the creation of the FM radio and Zenith operating the only FM broadcasting station in the country, the possibilities of what could be done with FM radio were_endless,_and_Maine_East was bound to be a part of it all.

Rich Allen and Mr. Koehler took their ideas first to Mr. Whitfield, Mr. Frost, and Mr. Honn, who all helped to refine and perfect the ideas. The ideas were then taken to the National Education Radio Center, which approved it and supplied the money for the station's first transmitter.

Niles Twp. band concert

The Niles Township District Honor Band will present a concert of serious music on Tuesday. Jan. 23 at 8 p.m. at Niles North High School, 9800 N. Lawler, Skokie.

Among the featured selections will be Samuel Barber's "Commando March" and the Finale to Gianini's "Symphone #3" when this first district wide music event takes place.

According to Dr. Charles. Groeling of the district's music department, the concert will serve a two-fold purpose. First, it will recognize the high caliber of the music students that attend schools in District 219 and, second, it will help to develop the spirit of cooperation between the students and staff of the various music departments as the district moves toward consolidation to two schools.

Consisting of 40 students about equally divided between North. East, and West, and conducted by faculty members Dr. Groeling, Mr. Timothy Wolfram and Mr. Keith Ramsden, the concert will be a test of district wide musical activity with an eye towards future events of this scope à 📲 🕯 .

Al Gorman was the greatest promoter, I ever knew.

As an advertising man - better still, an "idea" man - he had no peer. I visited with him last Sunday - Kaven't seen him in years.

"Tell me, Al," I asked, "what was the most unusual promotional idea you ever concocted?'

Al's blue eyes became thoughtful. "As you know, Ed, I've developed many major promotions for national accounts. But, I think the best 'brainstorm' I ever had was for a local grocer in a small mid-western town. In fact, part of the story was once mentioned in a national magazine.

"Give me the complete inside-story, Al." Here it 'tis.

Years ago, Al decided to take a vacation by himself. He wanted to get away from the hectic, mad world of Madison ave. With no particular destination in mind, he drove away in his Caddy After driving half-way across the country, he came upon a small town called Appleby. Al, liking the peace and quiet of this little town, decided to spend a week or two amid the summer sun of its pleasant countryside.

Like in all small towns, gossip gallops fast. It didn't take a hep character, like Al, long to learn that Jeffers' Food Store, the local grocery, was in financial trouble. It seems Jeffers' Food Store was sort of a landmark in town, like the post office and village hall.

Mr. Jeffers, a kindly old gent, had been running it for years and years. He sold quality groceries and meats and gave such fringe benefits as credit, free delivery and generous pieces of liver for customer's cats.

Jeffers' problem really started two years before Al came to town. A new chain store had opened then but this didn't cause too much of a ripple in Jeffers' sales. What actually caused his present predicament was one of his 'fringe' benefits - CREDIT. According to Al, while Jeffers' sales held up, his cash intake had been steadily going way down. Jeffers knew all his customers on a first-name basis. So, it was customary for Ida, Mary, Pete or Bill to say to Jeffers, "just charge it, will ya."

And it came to pass, that many of his charge customers, when they had cash, patronized the chain and when they didn't have cash, they charged it with Jeffers. Soon, the kindly old Jeffers found he had everything but money, and the local bank, who held his note, told him they would have to foreclose.

Luckily for Jeffers, this is when Al came in. Al introduced himself and said,""I hear you're up the well-known creek without a paddle ... maybe I can help ... you need a very special promotional idea.'

"I'm afraid it's too late for promotions," sighed Jeffers sadly while glancing thru his books. "Buck up, man," said Al. "I never saw a business problem a good idea couldn't lick. Let's see," said Al, drumming his fingers on Jeffers' account book, "You don't need sales - you need quick cash from sales made. Here's what we're gonna Two days later, instead of Jeffers' regular small ad, there appeared the most unusual full page advertisement in the history of Appleby or anywhere else for that matter. This full page ad in the local paper carried a large headline and read as follows: 'WHO'S THE BIGGEST DEADBEAT IN TOWN?''

Nate Jeffers, owner of Jeffers' Food Store, is sponsoring a unique guessing contest next Saturday at 8:30 p.m.

Mr. Jeffers will draw a name from a box stuffed with delinquent customers' statements. The person, whose name is drawn, will then have the distinction of being known as Mr. or Mrs. Deadbeat of the Week.

At the bottom of this advertisement is a coupon on which the public is invited to guess the amount that Mr. or Mrs. Deadbeat owes. The person guessing the amount closest to that actually past due, will WIN $100 worth of FREE groceries and meats.

In case of ties, duplicate prizes will be awarded.

Additional coupons are available at the store. Guess as many times as you like - there's nothing to buy or pay but YOU MUST BE PRESENT TO WIN.

Who will be Mr. or Mrs. Deadbeat of the Week? Be here Saturday at 8:30 p.m. and find out."

The advertisement, Al told me, appeared on Wednesday in the weekly local paper. Before the day was over, money from delinquent accounts came pouring in like a tropical rain. It seemed everybody in town was rummaging thru desk drawers and cookie jars for unpaid bills owed to Jeffers. His phone, too, was jumping off the hook.

Ida, Mary, Pete and Bill called, saying either they would be in shortly to pay their account or they were just dropping a check in the mail.'

According to Al, other merchants around town reported sudden cancellations of orders for automobiles, fur coats, furniture, hi-fi sets and other big ticket luxury items.

"You know, Ed," said Al, "Jeffers collected more than 90% of his past due accounts, in less than two days. He paid off his bank note and everything came up roses."

"But what about the contest, Al?" "What happened at the drawing?"

"I didn't stay to find out. You see, Ed, in a small town, word gets around fast. Seems that a lot of folks discovered that I, the big advertising man from New York, was responsible for the

"So, you high-tailed it before the local townspeople tarred and feathered you," I said.

The Northwest Symphony Or-chestra, under the direction of Perry Crafton, will hold the second concert of its current season on Sunday, January 21, 1979 at 7:30 p.m. at the Maine North Auditorium, 9511 Harrison st., Des Plaines.

Mr. Crafton and the orchestra will open the program with Beethoven's Symphony No. 6, the "Pastorale". This symphony was stimulated by the composer's great love of nature. Unlike his other symphonies it consists of five movements instead of the traditional four. It is also the only one of the Beethoven symphonies whose movements are titled, providing clues to subject matter and moods.

Next, Steven Honigberg of Highland Park will perform Tchaikovsky's "Variations on a Rococo Theme for Cello and Orchestra", Opus 33. This is one of only two works composed by Tchaikovsky specifically for cello and orchestra. It displays the range and dynamics of the solo cello better than most other works featuring this instrument.

Students raise funds for forgotten children

The Niles North High School Student Congress raised over $4,000 for the Forgotten Children's Fund through various fund-raising activities in the past two months. Matching last year's total, the drive chaired by Ronni Barnes, Skokie, and Bruce Hamilton, Golf, met its moneyraising goal by sponsoring a Dominick's Day, a hockey marathon at Golf Junior High School, a homeroom collection contest and, the largest moneymake of all, an auction.

Lunches with Bill Veeck of the Chicago White Sox and Dr. Gilbert Weldy, Northi Principal, brought in the most money for this auction which raised over $2.000 of the total funds that will go to provide the necessities for adults at the Lincoln-Dixon state school in Dixon, Illinois.

The Forgotten Children's Fund has for many years been the joint project of Chicago Tribune columnist, Jack Mabley, and Radio station WIND (am560). Niles North Student Congress has onsored a drive in each of the last eight years.

Several committee members headed by Barnes and Hamilton along with Ms. Mary Murphy, faculty sponsor, presented the proceeds of their activities to Eddie Schwarz at WIND while he was on the air on Dec. 21, 1978.

One man was trapped Saturday night when the roof collapsed from heavy snows on suburban Morton Grove's, Public Works garage at 6418 Main st.

Village employee Tom Sefick knocked unconscious was taken to Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge. "I heard a noise and looked up," said Sefick later, "to see one of the roof trusses cracking. Before I knew it the whole thing gave way and I was under it."

According to Village Administrator Fred Huber and Morton Grove Fire Chief Fred Huscher, fourteen drivers and mechanics were repairing equipment in the garage when the roof gave way. One other employee was hospitalized with a back injury and 6 others were treated for shock said Huscher. "Most of the men dove under trucks to avoid the roof collapse.'

Officials said the entire center of the garage completely caved in. "Of the entire 40,000 square ft. structure, approximately 35,000 sa' ft. came down," they noted, damaging 17 pieces of village equipment and leaving only the office area intact. The eight snowplows not damaged were out on the streets at the time.

The fire chief said the roof collapse at 6:43 p.m. Saturday cut off electrical power, causing an automatic fire alarm to the fire department resulting in prompt rescue aid to public service employees.

Officials extended gratitude to Joe LoVerde of LoVerde Construction Co. in Niles for sending equipment to aid village services. In Niles, public works employees bore the brunt of massive leanup efforts. A Public Works

Bus service in the village was discontinued Saturday thru Monday due to driving dangers. While the snowfall was not as heavy as the '67 blast observed the spokesman, snow clearance was made more difficult due to extreme cold before and after the blizzard accompanied by 40 m.p.h. winds.

Snowbanks went up to 6 ft. and higher along streets, exerting extreme caution by motorists.

Parked cars, stalled and abandoned autos and private snowplowing (which buried fire hydrants and threw snow back onto streets) were the greatest hazards to public cleanup said the spokesman.

Courtland Park, Nordica, Oak st. (between Cumberland and Greenwood ave.), Root and Wisner st. were designated as "disaster areas" due to numerous parked cars which prevented snowplowing by the village.

Costs of snowplowing were tripled said the Public Works spokesman because residents did not remove cars from streets.

Police Monday began enforcing Niles snow route ordinance by towing cars to the police pound.

"We have no idea of costs." said Director of Village Services Keith Peck. "although much money has already been spent on snow removal." Normally using 600 to 800 tons of salt the village has already used up 900 of an annual 1200 tons ordered.

of these signs, it is also important that no one climb onto the roof without proper precautions. The added weight of an individual could cause a cave-in and serious injuries could ensue. The roof should be shored up before anyone makes an attempt to climb up on it.

Both structural engineers and roofers recommend extreme caution if you do attempt to remove the snow from your roof. Tie one end of a rope around your chimney and the other around your waist to prevent slipping and falling off the roof. They also recommend using a large broom to push the snow off and definitely no shovels or snow blowers should be used. They can cause extreme damage to the roofing which will definitely show up in the Spring and leaking will occur.

In Niles a garage roof cave-in was reported at 8150 Ozanam and damage to a garage roof at 8111 Elmore. A roof cave-in was also reported at 7515 Milwaukee.
