Niles brides and grooms get Jimmy in the picture

by Diane Miller
Jimmy Carter came to Niles last Saturday night and three couples will have a picture to show their grandchildren one, of them, with the President of the United States! Before Jimmy left The White Eagle restaurant Saturday night, the couples from the three wedding parties holding their receptions there were taken into separate rooms in the restaurant. The President then posed with each newlywed couple for a picture and wished them well. Ted Przybylo, owner of The White Eagle, was a man of his word when he told The Bugle last week that the President was going to be served some of his infamous Polish food. Even though he arrived after dinner had been served, the President was given a plate of Polish sausage and sauerkraut which, to Ted's delight, he promptly consumed. White Eagle employees served a record number of diners that Niles attorney Tom Flynn led a verbal barrage against the Niles Park Board last week which infuriated the commissioners. Little Steve Chamerski, 62 years old, said Flynn should have been bodily thrown out of last Wednesday's open meeting after his attacks on the board members.

Flynn, who's been beating drums against creating a health club at the Grennan Heights gym, ran an ad in our paper, and subsequently received more than 1,000 signatures, which he said were from bona fide Nilesites opposed to the new club.

Commissioner Chamerski said Flynn should have been tossed out of the administration building hall after his performance. Steve said Tom called board members S.O.B.s, implied they were behind the bullet hole(s) in Flynn's Milwaukee ave. office window which was punctured last week, and accused board members of being behind the threatening calls Flynn's wife received during this same period.

Little Steve said he'd toss out Flynn himself. Sixty-two year old Steve is a rugged guy and we wouldn't bet against him in encountering anyone 20 years younger.

Park Board defers decision on health club

Last Thursday night Niles Park Board "deferred consideration" until Sept. 29 on a decision whether or not to create a health club at the Grennan Heights gymnasium.

The early evening meeting was called for this purpose and it required only a brief discussion before the vote was taken.

Park board members had sat through a 3-hour evening of being harangued by residents the previous night and were reacting to the tumultuous meeting.

Park Commissioner Steve Chamerski was vociferously upset by the previous night's confrontation and he was particularly critical of resident Tom Flynn, who has led the opposition to the health club. "I should have thrown him out," said Chamer-

An Illinois Appellate Court panel of three judges has denied School District 67's appeal to prevent Golf area residents from aligning with District 34. Attorneys representing District 67 were in attendance at their Sept. 18 school board meeting to explain the implications of that decision and the remaining avenues for action in the detachment litigation.

This long and bitter court battle stems from efforts of Golf-Golf Acres to detach from Morton Grove based District 67 and join with Glenview's District 34. Residents in this area had felt that many of their activities and their closer allegiance was to the community of Glenview. Their position was strengthened when District 67 closed Golf element-

District 67 Board denies subsidy for parochial bussing

by Debby Eisenberg

School District 67 board members once again denied bussing subsidies for parochial school students at their Sept. 18 meeting. St. Martha's school board president Lewis Masciopinto has been coming before the public school board for several months protesting this decision.

Attorneys David Kula and John Casza, of the law firm of Anthony Scarrano and Assoc., which represents School District 67, were in attendance at last Thursday's meeting and offered board members legal guidance in this matter.

According to Kula, "We have run into this same issue in 3 or 4 other school district settings. We do not believe you have the legal authority to pay or provide transportation to students in your school district to a point outside school district boundaries."

The Illinois legislature has been tangling with this issue for some years and most recently turned down Senate Bill 1812 which would have sanctioned such payments.

"When you get into operations other than those specifically designated by the school code, you could be running the risk of unconstitutionally spending public school monies," according to Kula.

He added that there is further "an uncertainty in terms of Illinois Board of Education reimbursement for these claims. They're all waiting to see how the legislature acts on it and if the governor vetoes."

School board member Sheldon Marcus reiterated his position against public funds for private bussing. "It is above and beyond our responsibilities as public officials to do anything that is above and beyond that mandated by school codes."

Dr. Marvin Garlich, president of the Niles Township Legislative Coalition, detailed strong arguments against making these payments in a recent newsletter to Niles Township elementary school districts. Board member Rosalie Applebaum, who also voted down the payments, referred to many of his points.

"If there is to be further drain on education dollars in order to provide more aid to private schools, it is time for the public school parents and taxpayers to start insisting that the private schools comply with the same laws, guidelines, regulations, and restrictions, provide the same broad range of social and educational services to students, not be allowed to turn any student down because of learning disabilities, low grade averages, behavioral problems, or lack of tuition and to share all the burden placed upon the public schools."

"Let's have compliance with life safety standards, including special accommodations for the handicapped. Let's have compliance with teacher tenure and seniority laws. Let's not have taxation without representation! When schools are receiving tax dollars for an elite private education, it's time to open private school board elections or selections to the public and to open private school board meetings to taxpayers."

Although school board members Judy Kochman, Kathleen McLaughlin and Ed Duglow supported the bussing subsidies, the motion failed to receive enough votes for reconsideration.

Lions go to bat for Philippine baseball team

With a gesture of community spirit and international goodwill, the Niles Lions presented the visiting Philippine baseball team a Friendship Banner at the opening game, Sept. 8.

Plagued with problems the touring team ran into additional difficulties here and the Niles Lions offered their aid. "We hope the boys, 15 to 17 years old, will remember their stay in 'All America City' Niles as a most pleasant one, and one filled with the hospitality and friendship Niles is noted for," Lion President Russ McAndrew stated.

Attending the games proved to be an inspiration in the true sense of the word. The scrappiness of this young team was a joy to watch. Playing under the lights at Jozwiak Park was a new experience for the youngsters, a first for them, and their efforts should be noted as most gallant. "The Village Officials, the Chamber of Commerce and the Niles Baseball League are to be commended for helping extend the hand of friendship and international good will to our friends across the ocean, proving that people reaching out to understand others and promote love and peace is so vital in the world today," the Lion President reiterated.

Greenbrier Hi-Boy Gas Furnace

Description

* Greenbrier top-of-the-line, extra care design and construction assure the utmost in quality of manufacture and years of dependable performance. Efficiency, quietness, versatility and dependability are hallmarks of these eleven gas furnaces.

* Greenbrier gas furnaces get the most heat from fuel and fuel dollars with baffling built into uniquely designed heating elements. The baffling slows down combustion gases as they pass element walls, creating a zigzagging SWIRLFLO action. The hot gases are forced into greater, longer contact with walls, so more heat is transferred to the air which circulates through the home.

* All quiet, attractive Greenbrier Hi-Boy gas furnaces are certified by the American Gas Association for use with either natural or LP gas.

Eighty persons with Cerebral Palsy from the State of Illinois participated in 20, 40, 100 yd. dashes; slalom; javelin; pin toss; discus; 440 yd. run; bowling; swimming; pin toss for accuracy and the softball toss.

Each person was classified according to their disability limitation. In total, there were 7 different categories ranging from those that can walk on their own to those needing motorized wheelchairs.

A grand prize was given in each of the seven categories for both men and women. These were presented at an awards banquet which took place at the O'Hare Holiday Inn. Following the banquet at which Mr. John Shullen, a sportswriter from the Sun Times was keynote speaker, a dance was held with a live band.

Sponsors for the games were the Maine-Niles Association of Special Recreation and United Cerebral Palsy. Donations and volunteer assistance was received from the Niles Lioness Club, Fluky's, Tubbo's of Morton Grove, Browns Chicken of Park Ridge, Arby's of Des Plaines, Poochies of Skokie, the Park Ridge Fire Department, Des Plaines VFW, the Grandmothers Club, and several individuals who came out to help for one or both days.

Express your opposition to Grennan Heights health club!

Dear Editor:

The Niles Park Board was supposed to meet local residents on Sept. 17 and discuss the Grennan Heights problem. They used the meeting to showcase their project and showed little concern for the citizens present. It was tragic.

They gave their hired consultants one hour and fifty minutes to show slides and read so-called fact sheets. They then limited each citizen to three minutes for rebuttal and also required any questions to be in writing and signed. Mr. Kosiba even said it did not matter that I had 1,081 signatures on petitions opposing the conversion of Grennan Heights into a private health club.

We also learned by accident that they planned to meet the next evening and take a final vote on the health club. We did force them to postpone the meeting until 9:29-30 at 7 p.m. in the Rec Center at which time they will vote on the club. There was also a rumor that if the club is successful, they will build a second floor at Grennan Heights for more members.

I remind you that this club will have a maximum of 400 members or less than 1% of Niles' population. However, we will all be forced to pay for the land, building, bond interest, conversion costs ($175,000) and equipment. It will create a potential flooding, parking, noise and garbage pollution problem and endanger the safety of our young children. It can also be built at the sports complex which is losing about $90,000 each year. I urge you to attend the Sept. 29 meeting and express your opposition.

Sincerely,

Thomas W. Flynn

Circus has as many "seedy" characters as a carnival

Dear Editor:

I would like to say a few words to the Village Trustees and Mayor. They did not want Niles Days to have any rides for the kids because it brought "seedy" carnival people to the Village. So Niles Days lost out very badly. Not only did Niles Days lose but the handicapped children lost because $7,000 was going to the handicapped park for equipment to be used by the handicapped children of Niles.

Let's get back to the "seedy" carnival people, which a carnival is supposed to bring in. I think the Circus at Golf Mill had ten times more "seedy" people. Sunday morning around those trailers was something to behold. I saw this with my own eyes plus other people told me that Friday was worse. I think one should stop and think about the rules. What applies for one should apply for all!

Yours truly,

Elaine Heinen

★★★The Niles boxer-fighter who might have been champ★★★

by Ed Hanson

EDITOR'S NOTE:

His name is Jack Sharkey. He's not to be confused with the former heavyweight champion by the same name. He was a lightweight. His scrapbooks are filled with newspaper clippings of his past glories in the rough, tough world of boxing.

His heyday was the era of the Roaring 20's ... and threadbare 30's ... an era that produced the largest crop of great fighters and boxers among the smaller men. The flyweights, bantamweights, lightweights and welterweights of that day were not only legion, they were sensational! Competition was much keener then than it is now. The pay was low—the dues were high.

Sharkey now lives in Niles. He still stands proud, slim and straight as an arrow, and is very spry for his 74 years. Although retired he keeps active with his hobbies, possesses a keen sense of humor and takes an avid interest in home, church and community affairs.

Like his boxing instructor and mentor, the immortal Sam Langford, "the Boston Tar Baby," he never won a title. But, like Langford, he, too, became a legend in his own time.

This is his story ...

Boxing experts once hailed him as the next Lightweight Champion of the world.

Others said, "He was the hardest puncher, for his weight, they'd ever seen."

Perhaps, but for a caprice of nature, he might well have become a champion.

But, his genes or D.N.A. dictated otherwise.

For nature, which gave him so many pluses, also gave him a minus—an ulcerated stomach.

He had to win quickly. Word got around thru the boxing grapevine that if you could stay five or six rounds with Sharkey, you'd have a chance—'cause he didn't train much.

But those in the "know" really didn't "know" the truth. His secret was he didn't want to leave his fight in the gym. His ulcerated stomach couldn't take the rigors of hard, vigorous training. It sapped too much of his strength.

What limited training he did was at Kid Howard's Arcade in Chicago's Loop, 22 W. Madison st., where the Forum Cafeteria was for many years. Later, I think, it became a porno movie house.

Unless you had a pass, as a paid-up member (I did), I and a guy named Earl Prais rented the gym jointly for $5 a month back in 1926), you flipped two-bits at an old straw-hatted, banjo-eyed guy, then climbed up a flight of rickety stairs to the second floor. You opened a large swinging door, and entered a huge room which was the gym. This big, dingy room swelled of a mixture of rosin, sweat, stale beer and cigar smoke.

The big gym was alive with sweaty action. Some skipped rope. Others shadow-boxed.

Before large vertical mirrors, or beat a rhythmic rat-tat-tat on punching bags, similar to the way an accomplished drummer beats a snare drum. Some pulled weights, while boxers sparred in one or both of the two regulation rings. It was these sparring sessions that were avidly watched, like rail birds at a race track clocking early morning workouts, by the pearl-grey fedora'd, cigar-chomping sages of the squared circle.

And, it was here at Kid Howard's Arcade that Jack Sharkey won by a K.O. his first pro fight in the second round, more than half a century ago—March 16, 1926, to be exact.

The next day Sam Langford, the immortal "Boston Tar Baby" who was then boxing instructor at Kid Howard's in those days, said, "White boy, you are okay! I heard you knocked out Billy Alberts in two rounds."

In those days Kid Howard paid the loser $3 and the winner $7. So, for his first pro fight Jack Sharkey received a measly seven bucks, a far cry from the big purses of today.

Jack Sharkey and his brother were born and raised on a farm, 20 miles south of Dixon, Ill. Both he and his brother, when they were little more than kids, took a correspondence course on boxing from Mike and Tom Gibbons of St. Paul, Minn., and a wrestling course from Farmer Burns and Frank Gotch, both former world champions, when "wrestling was wrestling" and not "show biz."

With their new found skills with "holds", it wasn't long before they were throwing most of the neighboring farm boys like rag dolls.

In 1925 Sharkey came to

Jack Sharkey

Chicago and worked as a carpenter's helper at the Art Institute, and even became an artist's model for $1 per hour—which was big pay then. But Sharkey was itching to try out his wrestling and boxing skills, so he decided to stay permanently in Chicago and roomed with his brother on Bowen Ave.

Sharkey headed for Kid Howard's Arcade, because that was where all the champs and top contenders trained, such as Tony Canzoneri, Bud Taylor, Eddie Shea, Sammy Mandell, Earl Masire, Mickey Walker, Barney Ross, Ace Hudkins, Tommy Loughran, Jack Dempsey, and many other "greats" of the Roaring 20's. In fact, Sharkey, after he gained some experience, became a sparring partner to Tony Canzoneri, who held the Featherweight, Lightweight and Welterweight crowns. Canzoneri, one of the greatest of the "little" men, had a total of 178 bouts and wasn't knocked out until his final (178th) bout with Al "Bummy" Davis. Canzoneri, in a career that spanned 15 years, met the best bantamweights, featherweights, lightweights and welterweights of his era from 1924 through 1939, yet his total earnings in purses were only a little more than $350,000. Nothing, compared with the millions of dollars Sugar Ray Ray Leonard received for his bout with Duran.

Canzoneri, as did so many former champions, died broke and alone, at the age of 51, in a cheap hotel just off Times Square in New York. Death was ascribed to "natural heart disease."

Ironically, it was "heart" that made this muffed-faced, black-haired battler the scourge of four divisions during his 15 year career of 178 bouts.

After Sharkey talked with Kid Howard, he was told to forget about wrestling because he was too small. Instead Kid Howard suggested that he sign up for boxing lessons from his renowned boxing instructor, the immortal Sam Langford, the "Boston Tar Baby."

Sam Langford, when he was interviewed years later back in March of 1955, blind and broke in a Roxbury, Mass. nursing home, said, "I never weighed more than 150 lbs. but I fought anybody in sight from 1902 to 1923."

Langford, during this last interview, also recalled his historic fight with Jack Johnson in 1906. Langford weighed 148 and Johnson scaled 195. They fought 15 rounds with Langford winning the decision. Each had the other on the canvas once in the brutal, bruising battle.

Langford was only 17 when he fought Joe Gans, the super lightweight champion, in a non-title bout at the old Criterion Club in Boston. Gans was a 15-1 favorite but Langford won the 15 round decision. "I remember Gans came over to me after the fight," Langford said. "He told me, 'Boy, take good care of yourself and you'll be champion.'"

But Langford never made it. Years later, as boxing instructor at Kid Howard's Arcade, Langford said to young Sharkey, "Take good care of yourself, white boy, and someday you'll be champion."

Ironically, Sharkey never made it either. After completing his boxing lessons and winning his first pro fight, Sharkey and his brother moved into a rooming house at 3137 Warren Ave. "I got a job," Sharkey recalled, "as a conductor on the Chicago Surface Lines (the trolley cars). I kept on boxing in spite of a badly ulcerated stomach."

Sharkey was a natural 132 pounder but often boxed at 126 or 128 because of the weight-reducing diet of treating the ulcer. "Some of the boys were fighting three, four times a week. I didn't have the stamina. I seldom trained at the gym but did do roadwork in Garfield Park," he said.

"I scored six successive quick knockouts," Sharkey told me. "These, as you know from my newspaper clippings, were well publicized by the Chicago newspaper boxing writers. Several promoters offered me the semi-windup spot. I accepted one at Eagle Hall and was matched with a pretty good boy named Nick Carlos. He outweighed me by ten pounds. I complained to the promoter that Carlos was to weigh in a 135 not 145. The promoter offered me an additional ten dollars so I fought him," Sharkey said.

"What happened, Jack?" I asked.

"Well, Ed, I'd developed a following by then. One lady, a street car motorman's wife, saw my fight against Carlos who was reputed to be very tough and had never even been knocked down. At the bell I rushed out and met him head-on, crossed a right to his jaw and he dropped like he was pole-axed. The motorman's wife told me her hubby lit a cigarette just as the bell rang, and missed the knockout."

Sharkey told me that it was the shortest fight ever held in Eagle Hall. In fact, he claimed it may have been the shortest fight in Chicago's boxing history.

Sharkey said some friends brought his Dad in for a fight he had in LaSalle, Ill. Some of the friends saw the right hand he landed on his opponent's jaw for a quick K.O. but Sharkey's dad didn't see the punch because he was lighting his pipe when it happened.

Another time Sharkey fought a guy named John Kramer at the Princess Theatre, 63rd and Cottage Grove. Sharkey knocked him out in less than a minute of the second round. The promoter, Paddy Kane, came into Sharkey's dressing room right after the bout telling him he was short a bout at 113th where he was promoting another set of bouts that same night. "Would you fight Kramer again tonight south?" Kane asked Sharkey. "Sure," Sharkey said, "I will, if Kramer will." Kramer agreed. "We didn't even take off our boxing trunks, just slipped our street clothes over our boxing togs and rode with Kane to 113th st."

"I knocked Kramer out again, and yes, in the second round. Sam Balter used that story on his popular radio series 'It Happens Once In A Lifetime,' Sharkey concluded.

As an amateur and professional, Jack Sharkey was a veteran of more than 150 ring bouts. Despite increased problems with his stomach ulcer, as a professional he scored 33 knockouts, most of them quickly. His last fight (in the ring) was on Jan. 26, 1938. A press clipping on that era tells the story which appeared under a large picture of Sharkey in a fighting pose. It reads as follows:

"The age-old question which has baffled ring students since the days of John L. Sullivan as to whether a young, strong man with little actual ring experience can cope with a lighter, faster opponent, who is a veteran of more than 150 ring battles, is scheduled to be settled again on Thursday night at Ohio when Jack Sharkey of Dixon meets Donald Friel of East Grove in the headline attraction of tonight's card."

"Sharkey, in training, has said that he anticipates an easy victory. 'It's in the bag,' he told interviewers. 'In spite of the fact that my opponent is six years my junior and 30 pounds heavier than I am. I can't believe a youth with practically no ring experience can make much of a showing against a participant of more than 150 contests, besides having been sparring partner for some of the best lightweights around, including two former world's champions, Tony Canzoneri and Sammy Mandell.'"

Sharkey was right. He just toyed with his opponent and when a friend of his at ringside yelled out with a one-two, a left hook and a right cross to the jaw.

After hanging up his gloves, Sharkey joined up as a guard, one of 611, of the huge Green River Ordnance Plant in Dixon, Ill., in 1942. During the war this ordnance plant was under strict security as they made high-powered munitions, including the 500 pound bombs which our Air Force used to pulverize Nazi-

Athlete's summer accomplishments

Peter Kron, a native of Morton Grove, has participated in cycling competitions this summer. In late June, Peter took part in a Midwest cycling team challenge among six cities: Chicago, Kenosha, Milwaukee, Detroit, Kalamazoo and Northbrook, Ill. His team, representing Chicago, took first place honors in Detroit. Peter also participated in the August national championship team race, held in Northbrook, where his team placed sixth in the nation.

Peter is one of the athletes sponsored by the Niles Township Olympic Committee. Area athletes are given financial assistance for otherwise unreimbursed expenses incurred in competition events. Other young athletes receiving support from the committee include: speed skaters Denise and Celeste Chlapaty of Skokie, gymnasts Bart Conner and Ben Fox, both of Morton Grove; fencer Tim Glass of Niles; fencer Howard LaBou and gymnast Neal Sher, both of Skokie.

Maine East on All-America Gymnastics Team

The Maine East Girls' Gymnastics Team has been named to the 1980 All-America High School Gymnastics Team by the National High School Gymnastics Coaches Association. The high team score of 103.55 met the requirement of 95 points without the all-around score added. In addition to the team being selected, several individual gymnasts were selected as members of the All-America High School Gymnastics Team in individual events. Library welcomes new head; approves tax levy

by Eileen Hirschfeld
R. Mark Neyman, new administrator to the Niles Library District, was welcomed at his first meeting of that board Sept. 17 when a tax levy of $1,083,625 was presented for approval by the board.

Action was taken in the main library, 6960 Oakton.

Last year's levy of .25 mills per $100 equalized assessed valuation is being lowered to about .19 mills per $100 equalized assessed valuation.

Some costs included in the levy will be salaries, $493,000; operating expenses, $148,925; employee fringe benefits, $49,000; and the total corporate levy, $904,125.

As of Oct. 1, employees will pay for coverage of dependents at their own expense.

Library board members authorized a payment not to exceed $1500 to East Maine School District 63 in order to aid renovation of rooms in Ballard School for occupancy of a day care center operated by the Young Men's Jewish Council, a non-profit organization. Four of the rooms now used by the day care center have been requested for branch library facilities.

Callero and Catino, Niles realtors, notified the library current facilities for the branch at Shoppers Walk must be vacated by Oct. 31. The library district chose not to renew the lease with Callero and Catino because of escalating costs in rental fees.

Margaret Rajski, board member, said the $1500 would promote interagency cooperation. She said, "It is a small price to pay for the benefits of being in that building (Ballard)."

who will be in attendance, while Board Chairman Harvey Schwartz will present life memberships to twelve persons for service to the party.

Congressman John Porter will speak and introduce the new Attorney General of Illinois, Tyrone C. Fahner, the featured Speaker.

Bernard Carey, State's Attorney, Louis J. Kasper, Eugene Salamon, Bob Sklodowski, Ed Gjertsen, Bonnie Hickey and Robert Hall, all County candidates will be on hand as will Sen. John Nimrod, Representatives Penny Pullen, Pete Peters, Roger McAuliffe, Bob Kustra and John Forde from our local Senate and house districts.

Also to be honored will be newly appointed Associate Circuit Court Judge Robert Ericson of Lincolnwood who joins former Niles Townshippers Judge John Nordberg of Golf and Regie Holzer of Lincolnwood on the bench.

evening with 2,557 attending the Polish National Alliance centennial celebration and 900 additional guests attending the three wedding receptions.

Additional grading work was done in the parking lot last week to provide more space and cars still had to be turned away when the lot was filled to capacity, a rarity for The White Eagle. Over 500 spectators lined Milwaukee ave. outside the restaurant to get a look at the Presidential motorcade when it arrived.

According to informed sources, the Secret Service had 30 armed men posted on the roof of the restaurant while additional men were in St. Adalbert's cemetery across the street and in the Bunker Hill woods directly behind the eatery. The guards were armed with rifles equipped with infra-red scopes for night shooting. Forty-two Niles police officers were also posted throughout the building during the evening.

The Secret Service had four "bomb" dogs trained to sniff out explosive devices checking out the various rooms in the restaurant. One agent noted it cost over $15,000 to train an animal for this purpose. The food in the kitchen was also checked out by security personnel.

Many of the White Eagle personnel, in addition to Niles Park Commissioner Elaine Heinen, were interviewed by a local television station and appeared on the news broadcast Saturday evening.

But no one was happier than Ted Przybylo when he was invited to ride back to the airport with the President in his limousine so they could "chat". In addition, Ted had his picture taken with the Chief Executive which will take a place of honor on the wall of his office, next to the one of Pope John Paul II and himself.

Germany in World War II. Was it the same instinctive drive and desire to win that caused Sharkey, in only 6 months, to rise from guard-to-corporal-to-sergeant-to-assistance chief and, finally, to become chief of the entire full man security staff? Well, that's what he did . . . went from 55 cents an hour guard to Chief of Guards in just six months!

Another amusing anecdote happened when Sharkey attended the Air Port Dance in Dixon, Ill.

Neil Reagan, brother of the now Republican presidential candidate, was playing the drums with the dance band appearing there. A big bully threatened to "kick in" Reagan's drums and punch him out. A little man said to the big bully, with a smile, "Oh, I wouldn't do that if I were you."

The big, tough guy bellowed, "Shut up or I'll cream ya, you little S.O.B."

Tom Flynn has become a newspaper problem. He's been flooding newspapers with letters to the editor for many years. We've never discouraged him. We've always bemoaned the residents who sit at home and do nothing about problems in the community. We never have censored Tom. We saw no reason to.

Tommy's a human dynamo. He's very bright and terribly involved. He also is very emotional and lets things get out of hand. While we don't censor him, we have a red flag up in the office every time he submits a letter. We scrutinize every line before publishing it.

One newperson from a neighboring paper said they're wary about Flynn and everything he writes. Much of what he sends never gets beyond their copy desk.

When Tom's front store window was popped by a bullet or BB shot, he was in our office right afterwards. We suggested he play it very low key. We didn't even publish any story about it because it could well be a non-story. But we subsequently found every newspaper including the Chicago ones were made aware of the bullet story. We began to wonder whether Flynn was using us, as well as all the other newspapers. And we concluded he exploits all of us.

Tommy's random attacks on the park board and his innuendoes about other people regarding the shooting and the phone call were out of sync. They were irresponsible and reflects poorly on Tom. It only makes all of us more wary of trusting his judgment when he lashed out so recklessly.

We're a defender of anyone's right to oppose, to criticize and to express views which may not be favored by the many. But wild, bull-like charges in any and all directions are uncalled for and are not in the interests of any of us.

Unlike the other newspaper we won't restrict Tom's future letters. But every phone call to this office will make us wonder if he is merely using us or sincerely desires to express an honest point of view.

Ted Przybylo of The White Eagle restaurant fame, hosted President Carter when the President came to Niles to speak before the 2,500 people at the Polish Alliance dinner last Saturday. Afterwards, Ted joined the President in riding back to the airport with him. Rich Hareczak called Tuesday morning to inform us of Ted's ride with the Number One Man. Rich reiterated what Ted said, "This is really something for a guy with an 8th grade education!"

It was an interesting remark. Bugle Editor Diane Miller's son worked for Ted until he went away to school a couple of weeks ago. Ted sat Mike down and lectured him for 30 minutes on the importance of getting an education.

At a Thursday morning press conference, Maine High Schools Superintendent Dick Short said by November the administrators must know students' programs for the coming year. It is likely at the October or November board meetings Maine people will announce whether or not Maine North will be closed at the end of the '81 or '82 school year.

Short noted student enrollment in the Maine schools will be down another 600 for the next year, the same as last year. He said this means 40 teaching-administration positions will be cut out for that year.

When students are transferred from Maine North, one-third will go to West and two-thirds will go to East. The Des Plaines River will be a boundary.

Emerson Junior High students presently have Oakton st. as its border. Those living north of Oakton go to Maine East. It was guesstimated 115 Emerson students are presently going to South. These borders could be changed.

School Board President Charlotte Storer said she had no feedback from residents after the board voted to close North. She said she did not receive any letters pertinent to the closing after the board made its decision. That was in sharp contrast to the many hundreds of cards and letters the board received before the vote was taken.

among his officers. He commended his men for helping to transfer materials from the old building to the new in their off hours, in particular citing Sergeant George Incedon and Lieutenant Ronald Lanning for their help. Glauner assured residents that the department's communications and operations were almost in full service at the new facility.

"The Board deserves a lot of credit for moving ahead. All of Morton Grove can be proud of what we have today," Glauner said. "And we can be assured that our children's children will not have to pay for this because it is almost paid for now."

Another progressive area for the village is the introduction of cable TV. Over 500 units have already been installed on the west side, with workers moving east. Mayor Flickinger said residents could call up to find when installers will be in their area.

There have been problems, however, with hook-ups for village condominiums, according to Trustee Gregg Youstra. A representative from the Lincoln Terrace Condominiums, 5501 Lincoln, said that they were originally promised an internal network, but now Cablevision is proposing an outside wire mold mount that residents fear will deface the building. Representatives from Cablevision have failed to show on three occasions when installation dates were set.

Jim Sloan, the Mayor's administrative assistant, has scheduled a meeting with the company to discuss the condo situation.

In other business at the Sept. 22 village board meeting:

• Village corporation counsel Martin Ashman was given authority to investigate the possibilities of another village mortgage revenue bond issue. Realtors in the area had requested this action.

• Testing will begin Saturday, Oct. 18 for a new fire chief to replace retiring Fred "Ike" Huser. An appointment will be made by Nov. 1.

• There have been 20 participants in the Health after 60 program at Prairie View Community Center. This seniors' program stresses relaxation, exercise, and improved health maintenance discussions.

• M-NASR, now located in Lawrencewood Shopping Center, requested a five-year lease with a one-year option to renew. Board members were reluctant to lease two classrooms in an otherwise empty building for reasons of economy, or a possibility of utilizing the building in some other manner.

• Mayor Flickinger has proclaimed Friday, Oct. 5 as Fire Prevention Week.

District 67 . . .

District 67 will suffer the loss of a lucrative tax base when new boundaries will deprive them of some industrial land, most specifically the Avon complex. One of their arguments protesting the detachment was that children in this area should logically stay within their elementary district as they do proceed to Niles Township high schools, rather than Glenbrook.

An earlier circuit court decision had gone in favor of District 34. The judge had ordered that while the matter was in litigation, students from the detachment area could choose which school to attend with District 67 paying for the tuition of those attending District 34.

Attorneys David Kula and John Canina of the law firm of Anthony Scarriano and Assoc. which represents District 67 explained the Appellate Court's ruling at last Thursday's school board meeting. This higher court said the circuit court was "erroneous" in allowing the students to switch to a new district before the court gave its directive. In what Kula labeled an "unfairly written decision", the appellate judges said they would nevertheless uphold the Library District and Young Men's Jewish Council, a non-profit organization, for negotiations resulting in a library take-over of four rooms now being used as a preschool day-care center by the YMJC.

Bond said the library offered $1500 toward the school district's renovation of new rooms picked out by the YMJC. Also, the school board reduced its standard fee of $2.50 a sq. ft. charge to $1.87 for the first year rental. Previously, the day-care center had been asked to move from Melzer school, Morton Grove, to Ballard school.

Dr. Bond's praise seemed to be premature when Elaine Finnegan, director of professional services at the YMJC, said she had no "formal request" for the move. She also said standards set by the Department of Children and Family Services require a certain amount of "activity space" per child. Their present location would enable them to serve 32 children. She said if they give up the rooms they now use, "Our license will in all probability be reduced to serving 16 children."

Board members approved a formal request for the day care center to relocate as well as terms needed for renovation. Board members also approved a three year lease with the Niles Library District at $2.50 a sq. ft. for about 9,050 ft.

Last June board members authorized the administration to enter into negotiations with Maine-Niles Township Special Recreation for their use of two classrooms and the gymnasium in Oak school.

M-NASR, now located in Lawrencewood Shopping Center, requested a five-year lease with a one-year option to renew. Board members were reluctant to lease two classrooms in an otherwise empty building for reasons of economy, or a possibility of utilizing the building in some other manner.

Emil Wingrad, director of M-NASR, refused to commit the organization for a period of less than three years. Board members approved a three-year lease. James Bowen, business manager, said Oak was necessary as a storage facility.

In other action, board members approved the hiring of three more teachers. Board president Richard Smith said the splits in pupil-teacher ratios should be included in administrative planning.

lower court's ruling.

Since this ruling came down Aug. 29, 1980, it does not go into effect until July 1, 1981. District 67, who must pick up the tab for those students which legally should not be switching, can now demand those students attend District 67 schools until the ruling goes into effect at the end of the term. It is presumed District 34 would now meet the tuition payments rather than have their future enrollees switched back and forth over a year's period.

According to Kula, the only remaining course for District 67 is to file a "permission for leave to appeal" to the Illinois Supreme Court. The school board voted to pursue that route which would involve a "minimal expense at this point."

Kula labelled their chances for success as "slim" since the supreme court would be reading the "very unfairly written" Appellate Court decision.

Health club . . .

ski. He said Flynn called board members S.O.B.s at the meeting and accused them of being involved in shooting a bullet hole through Flynn's office window on Milwaukee ave. Charnerski noted the park board members do not receive any pay for their work and he did not believe there was any need for the board to take such abuse. He said Flynn accused board members of being responsible for threatening phone calls he said his wife received. "Mr. Flynn made us look like Yo Yos. That's no way to threaten us!"

Board member Elaine Heinen also voted with Charnerski and Walt Beusse to defer action. She said she felt the same way Charnerski did. She said until the controversial Wednesday night Flynn meeting she was ready to make up her mind. But she said the Flynn-led meeting was a 3-way circus and she decided the board should wait to make its decision.

Ms. Heinen said two engineers and the police chief should be in attendance at the Sept. 29 meeting. Parking and flooding problems were the most frequent complaints leveled at the park board by neighbors of the gym area, who were concerned they would increase if the club was

After the discussion it was noted 3 of the 5 board members were ready to cast their votes. Park Attorney Gabe Berrafato said only a majority of those voting would determine the decision.

When park board commissioner Walt Beusse recommended the board table the motion, Commissioner Jeff Arnold said such a motion would restrict future debate. Beusse then motioned to "defer consideration" until the Sept. 29 meeting.

While Beusse, Heinen and Charnerski voted to defer park board action, president Danny Kosiba and vice president Jeff Arnold indicated they would prefer to go ahead with the building of the club at an estimated cost of $150,000. Both agreed they didn't understand what could be gained by a delay but Arnold said it was the board's decision to make. A delay might result in their being over-budgeted since a roof should be completed before the winter snows come. Both men reiterated they were ready to cast a favorable vote. Kosiba re-emphasized further delay would result in higher labor costs.

permits the traffic signals to be activated by a light signal emitter on the fire vehicles from a distance as far as one-third of a mile. The newly flashing emitter sends a light signal to a detector mounted on the traffic control which instantaneously sends a message to a phase selector in the traffic signal control cabinet. The fire engines can then proceed through intersection after intersection without interruption.

When the emergency vehicle has passed, the traffic signal returns to its normal operation without interference with pre-timed controls.

According to Chief Hoelbl, the installation of this traffic control system would reduce the probability of collisions with other vehicles and improve response time. Presently Niles Fire Department personnel have noted they have to come to almost a complete stop at many intersections since private vehicles just do not stop when they hear the sirens.

With the installation of Opticom, they could maintain the normal speed limit without stopping at the intersections.

Approximately five years ago, an elderly couple was killed at the intersection of Howard and Waukegan when they collided with a Niles fire engine which was responding to a call. While this was the only fatality on record involving Niles fire equipment, Chief Hoelbl did state there have been several serious accidents involving private ambulance services in recent months.

"Since we cannot educate the public to be more alert for sirens, we feel this will be the best and safest answer to the problem."

Dave Hawkins, a representative for the 3M Company which installs this system, told the trustees the system costs approximately $3,500 to $5,000 per intersection plus installation costs. The emitters used in the emergency vehicles run approximately $1,000.

Hoelbl also noted that Morton Grove emergency vehicles use the Dempster st. corridor to Lutheran General and could purchase the emitters for their engines.

In other business Trustee Orville Ottow noted that residents are calling the village to notify them of damaged trees still in their parkways. Several hundred trees in the village were damaged during the July and August storms and the Public Works Department is handling the removal of these trees as quickly as possible.

Niles Finance Director Charles Kohlerman told the board he had attended the Sept. 16 meeting of Commonwealth Edison reps regarding their petition for a 19.5% increase in rates. Kohlerman stated they are basing their need for the increase on the high interest rates and increased construction costs. He told the board he will continue to monitor information being received from Com Ed and report back to them at the next village board meeting.

Mayor Blase announced the replacement for two vacancies on the Niles Family Service Board. They are Leonard Borkowski and Isabel Curtin, which, Blase commented, were excellent choices.

Entertainment Guide

La Margarita entertainer

One-man orchestra Al Lopez displays his talents nightly at La Margarita restaurant on Dempster st. in Morton Grove. A talented singer, Al blends the sounds of four instruments — the guitar, organ, bass and drums. He uses a computerized, 52-button Peda-Band to give him bass and organ sounds. A "guitargan" slung across his shoulder acts like a Hammond organ and a guitar combined, while a sideman rhythm drummer gives him several drum sounds. Al, who's played music all his life, also uses a 12-string guitar for instrumentals like "Dr. Zhivago" and "Malaguena". He uses his "Big Sounds" to play everything — Kenny Rogers ballads, country and western, light rock, disco, Latin and old standards. Whether you like to dance or just listen to music, you may want to catch virtuoso Al Lopez during his nightly appearances at La Margarita.

Children's auditions set by DPTG

Open readings for roles in Dicken's "A Christmas Carol" will be held at Guild Playhouse, 620 Lee st., Des Plaines, on Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 4 and 5, beginning at 1:30 p.m.

Mackey Cohen of Mount Prospect will direct the Des Plaines Theatre Guild's Children's Theatre production of this famous Christmas story, being presented Dec. 6 and 7 at Guild Playhouse.

Children between the ages of 7 thru 19 years are needed for the cast of about 25, says Mrs. Cohen, who has headed DPTG's Children's Theatre activities for the past five years. A musical version of "Hansel and Gretel" which she adapted and directed was presented at Guild Playhouse to full houses and critical acclaim last June.

Currently on stage at Guild Playhouse is Rodgers and Hammerstein's "The Sound of Music" ending a four-weekend run on Sunday, Sept. 28. Mackey Cohen, her husband, Joel, and one of their twin sons, Marc, are members of the cast.

For information about "A Christmas Carol" tryouts, call 296-1211 between noon and 8 p.m. daily.

'Curious Savage'

Maine North's Thespian Troupe #2111, opens its drama season with the arena play "The Curious Savage" on October 2, 3, 4 at 8 p.m. in the school's theatre.

In the production, Mrs. Savage who is played by Mary Carol Boemmel, is committed to "The Cloisters" by her children, Titus played by Dennis Chartier, and Samuel portrayed by Tony Bonilla. Lily Belle, Mrs. Savage's other child will be played by Chris Carlson. She had devoted her life to her husband. Once he died, leaving her wealthy, she discovered that she had never lived any of her foolish fantasies. She then decided to give her money to people to make their fantasies come true. Her children found such an idea appalling. Mrs. Savage hid her money and, with the help of her new friends at "The Cloisters", she succeeds in not having to turn her money over to her greedy children. She succeeds at the same time to prove her sanity.

So come join the fun Sept. 27 from 10 a.m. til 3 p.m., 8200 N. Greendale (off Oakton between Prospect and Cumberland).

Other cast members are: Jamie Gertz, Jenny Greske, Drew Herman, Holly Herman, Lane Lewis, Dan Roth, and Jan Zamzow.

Tickets for the production are now on sale in the school's bookstore. Tickets are $2 for adults and $1.50 for students.

Spiderman to kick off program for Four Flaggs

A "Good Neighbor" program has been initiated by the Four Flaggs Shopping Center in Niles recently with the announcement that the Marvel Comics superhero "Spiderman" will be on hand to talk with the kids as well as to have their pictures taken with him at Four Flaggs Shopping Center in Niles.

Scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 27 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday, Sept. 28 from noon to 5 p.m., Spiderman will visit with as many children as possible within that time period.

Plans call for an area outside to put to use for the Spiderman appearance and all efforts will be made to have a photo setting for the children and Spiderman pictures. Pictures will be available in color, instantly, for the price of $3.

The "Good Neighbor" concept was announced recently by Mrs. Joyce Freed, wife of shopping center owner Joseph J. Freed.

"A 'Good Neighbor' is always helpful, safe and friendly," stated Mrs. Freed. "In addition, a 'good neighbor' is close and convenient," she added. "We feel the 'good neighbor' concept to be a valid one with the addition of the Wickes Furniture store and the already successful tenants we have at Four Flaggs Shopping Center. As we continue to grow in the community, we want to always remind our residents that things happen at Four Flaggs Shopping Center that are good for the community and our customers."

In addition to the Spiderman appearance, the merchants will be participating in a Harvest Value celebration during the Sept. 25-28 time period at Four Flaggs. Future plans call for the Cavalier sponsored Haunted House from Oct. 10 thru 31 at the center. The Cavaliers have won prizes throughout the Chicago area for their Haunted House presentations in Norridge and are a new guest to the area.

Ralph Gandelman, owner of Ann Brooks, stated, "We are really excited about the many programs coming up in the next few months for the 'good neighbor' concept at Four Flaggs. We feel our customers will be very happy with the effort and time being expended by the merchants on their behalf."

For questions, please contact S. Garland & Associates at (312) 932-0141 regarding upcoming plans or desires to demonstrate or exhibit in the shopping center.

Four Flaggs Shopping Center is located near the southeast corner of Golf and Milwaukee, with entrances off both Golf rd. and Milwaukee ave.

under the direction of Leon Pailles.

Variety Club golf winners

From the holes of St. Paul to the shores of Skokie, it was a cavalcade of stars, as the Ladies PGA Tour returned for the 3rd annual Variety Club-Ivy Kupinet Pro-Am Golf Tournament, Monday, Aug. 18 at the Evanston Golf Club. Thanks to 30 of the nation's top women professional golfers, who gave their valuable time and blisters, the tournament was a tremendous success, raising over $50,000 for the Variety Club-Karyn Kupinet Social Rehabilitation Center at Little City.

This facility provides social, recreational and physical therapy for non-resident mentally retarded children on an outpatient basis each week. "Remarkable," Kup said of the event which honors him. "Having the lady pros makes it a different event. And it's an unusual tournament in that people give of themselves." The winning team which shot a whopping 24-under round consisted of (left-right) Allen Dorfman, Bud Solk, 8954 Keeler, Skokie, pro Mary Dwyer, Bob Jacobs, Lincolnwood and George Bradley. That was one stroke better than the runnerup team of Mary Bea Porter, Dr. Roger Kallal, Ron Stillman, Curtis and Don Schultz. Top individual score was recorded by Pat Bradley with a 70 followed by Kathy Whitworth and Sandra Post with 71's.

The women golfers were skillful, outgoing and fun loving, which captivated the foursomes they played with. Tournament coordinator Bob Dachman, Mike McDermott, Andy Nickols, Les Lear, Howard Mendelson and Hal Miller rate a salute for their nifty handling of the tournament. And another bow to Bankers Life Insurance president, Bob Ewing, who for the third straight year picked up the tab for the dinner, thus enriching the charity.

Increase in Notre Dame enrollment

While schools are closing, and enrollment lags in some area schools, enrollment at Notre Dame High School, 7655 Dempster st., Niles, is on the rise.

Enrollment jumped 6% this year with the addition of 70 new students. Most of these students are part of a large incoming freshman class of 311 new Dons.

Fr. David Tushar, C.S.C., Asst. Principal attributes Notre Dame's rising enrollment to several factors. First, Notre Dame has a "structured but caring atmosphere" and the strong support of a Notre Dame family, which include alumni and parent support. Also, the rise is the result of a good religious education program which offers courses in all four years of high school study. Finally, Notre Dame offers a good all-round athletic program, which includes ten varsity sports.

Additional figures show Notre Dame has a high percentage of students who pursue higher education. Over 86% of the 1980 graduating class went on to either four or two year colleges.

Of those who are continuing their education from the 1980 class, 77% went on to four-year colleges, and 15% to two-year schools. About 35% enrolled in all state. An additional 38% enrolled in state colleges in Illinois. Enrollment in all-private non-Catholic colleges was 12%.

Students choose colleges for curriculum, size, area of the country and for the athletic program.

Scholarship recipients from the 1980 Notre Dame graduating class include: National Merit Semi-Finalist Thomas F. Kannin, National Merit Commendations, Stephen J. Puisis, Thomas F. Quinn, Steven A. Zimmer, Cardinal Cody Communications Scholarship, Michael A. Uhlarik, St. Norbert Presidential Scholarships to James M. Burke, Daniel J. Rago, James Viola, Illinois State Scholars were Dennis J. Bartimoccia, John J. DeGrasse, Kevin Gilbert, Thomas E. Gorham, Robert C. Kubas, Joseph S. Lis, Thomas E. McCarthy, Timothy R. McHugh, Edward F. Messetti, John C. Michael, Alejandro S. Moreno, John L. O'Donnell, Stephen J. Puisis, Timothy R. Prout, Edward A.

Roback, Martin A. Ross, John J. Sullivan, Michael A. Uhlarik.

The Illinois State Scholarship Commission gave three Notre Dame students a $1,000 award: Kevin J. Gilbert, John Michael, and Joseph Lis. An honors academic scholarship from Creighton University was awarded to Timothy R. McHugh. Enrolled in the honors program at Loyola University are Timothy J. McHugh and Alejandro Moreno. And Evans Scholarships from the Western Golf Assn. were awarded to Dennis Bartimoccia, Thomas McAuley and Steven Zimmer.

Gomberg attends Democratic Campaign workshop

Larry Gomberg, Democratic candidate for the Illinois House in the Fourth District, attended a two-day Illinois House Democratic Campaign workshop recently in Springfield.

The campaign seminar, sponsored by the Committee to Elect a Democratic House, featured top political experts who discussed campaign techniques, strategy and issues.

Among the featured speakers were: Speaker of the House William A. Redmond, Comptroller Roland Burris, former Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett, House Majority Leader Michael J. Madigan and Assistant Majority Leader Thaddeus "Ted" Lechowicz.

Candidate Gomberg commented on the workshop, saying, "I have come away from this seminar with a heightened feeling of confidence in my election effort for 1980."

Lions welcome surprise guest from India

At the Sept. 18 Board of Directors meeting, Lion Past District Governor Bir Kumar Mookerjee of Calcutta, India, was welcomed to Niles by Lion President Russ McAndrew.

Lion P.D.G. Mookerjee stated, "The warmth and friendliness of the Lions of Niles will be long remembered." He heartily felt the openness of the board meeting was a refreshing approach, as meetings of his nature in India are generally closed to visitors.

In presenting a Niles Lions Friendship Banner to Lion P.D.G. Mookerjee, Lion

President McAndrew stated, "Lionism is the key to solving many of the world's problems. The bond of men working together for the betterment of mankind is so vitally important in today's world. The unselfishness of sharing is personified in Lionism."

Lion P.D.G. Mookerjee was most interested in our methods of fund raising and the exchange of ideas between the Indian P.D.G. and the Niles Lions made this surprise visit a truly memorable event.
