We're not sure whether it's a new phenomena but we've come across a new group of people in the community which we've named "One-Issuers".

In Niles there's a group calling themselves SPIN, Skaters' Parents In Niles, while small in number, is large in vocal volume. They've been at odds with the Niles Park Board for many months, brow-beating the board and trying to hustle it into providing an all-year-round skating program for their SPIN children.

At the last park board election, a member of their group placed himself in nomination for a park board seat. He came out 5th in a 5-person race.

According to past park board meeting records, the park board contends SPIN owes the board money for their activities at the rink. But because many of the transactions were not in writing, SPIN argues the amount owed is not true.

While SPIN claims to be a Niles organization, a Skokie woman took us to task many weeks ago because we wrote something which was not in the interests of these skating

Mill Run vs. Niles

Anatomy of a controversy

Following weeks of controversy and accusations it seems the Village of Niles and Mill Run Theatre have at last decided on how to allow people in wheelchairs to see performances in the theatre without obstructing the public aisles. The solution found is simple: Mill Run is going to install a front row of temporary chairs which can be replaced by one or more wheelchairs. However, while the solution seems simple, slicing through the charges and counter-charges to try and determine who the bad guys and who the good guys are is not quite as easy. And while it is not easy to judge who the winner is, it is a sure bet that for the brief time they were used as pawns by the theatre, the people in wheelchairs were the real losers.

Built in the early 1960's the Mill Run Theatre is owned by the Golf Mill Corporation. It has been rented to Tiffany Productions, Inc. of Chicago since 1970. The head of Tiffany is its chief stockholder Jerry Kaufman.

In the 11 years Tiffany has rented Mill Run they have been at odds with the village during at least the last eight years, says one village official. The cause of the friction has been Mill Run's continuous "uncooperative attitude" when inspected by the village, said Joe Salerno, Niles Director of Building and Zoning.

For instance, for years there seems to have been a problem with the obstruction of aisles during performances. The village is particularly concerned about keeping aisles clear in case people should have to leave quickly during an emergency.

Commentary

Of all the village agencies which have been involved, it is the fire department which feels it has had to battle the most with Mill Run. During inspections by fire officials while performers were on stage, numerous warnings have been given when portable chairs were used in exit ways. Fire officials even had to demand an exit way be cleared when the theatre had an orchestra set up in an aisle during a children's performance.

Fire officials said it often occurred that following an order to clear an aisle, inspectors would find the aisle again obstructed only days after being issued the previous warning.

As an example of how difficult the theatre has been when asked to meet fire standards, fire officials recalled trying to work with the theatre to install new exit doors. The fire department felt larger double doors at the main entrance would help get people out quicker in an emergency. However, according to officials, theatre representatives were very uncooperative resulting in a drawn out set of talks between fire officials and the theatre before the doors were finally installed.

This uncooperative attitude was fairly typical of Mill Run, according to fire officials.

As in so many controversies Mill Run does not quite recall the facts as the village tells them. Mill Run claims it is a victim of a petty and arbitrary fire department which has distorted the truth and presented a false picture of the theatre.

One Mill Run employee seemed dumbfounded by charges of having been uncooperative. Claiming Mill Run has always been more than willing to assist village officials, he noted Mill Run has been so concerned about the public's safety that following a deadly theatre fire in Kentucky, they asked Niles Fire Officials to inspect the theatre and advise on how to upgrade its fire safety standards.

Mill Run officials said there have been very few citations issued by the fire department during the past 11 years. And after receiving a citation, they would work to correct the situation cited.

After receiving so much unfavorable publicity because they would not sell tickets to patrons in wheelchairs, the employee noted Mill Run "has always been very accommodating to people in wheelchairs..." as well as to the blind. The employee said Mill Run has had blind patients from Hines Veterans Hospital at many shows.

The latest dispute between Mill Run and Niles officials began following the lighting of a theatre light during a sold-out performance of "Liberace" on March 13. The Bugle and Niles officials received several letters from people in the audience stating when the light ignited, smoke gathered at the top of the theatre and some patrons sitting in the upper level momentarily panicked. Letter writers described a few patrons climbing over seats to try and reach an exit. However, the incident lasted only minutes and the Niles officials expect a possible out of court settlement with the city of Chicago in their ongoing dispute over Chicago's recent water rate increase. The end result, according to Niles Mayor Nicholas Blase, may be the establishment of a contractual agreement with Chicago stating how much and when water rate raises will occur.

Chicago increased its water rates to surrounding suburbs by 51% on May 1. Before the increase Niles residents were paying $1.05 per 1,000 gallons of water. Following the May 1 increase, Niles water rates will shoot up to $1.39 per 1,000 gallons.

Niles officials were forced to raise the water rates following the April 30 refusal of a Cook County Circuit Court Judge to issue an injunction preventing the Chicago water hike. Blase said the combined suburban suit to roll back the Chicago water rate is scheduled to begin November 30 in Cook County Circuit Court.

Senior citizen auto insurance reduction

Legislation that would enable drivers over 55 years of age to receive a discount on their auto insurance premiums if they have completed a safe driving course passed the Illinois House Insurance Committee, announced State Rep. Ralph G. Capparelli (D-16), a co-sponsor of the bill.

House Bill 781, which was approved by a 12 to 1 vote in committee, now goes to the full House for action.

"Studies have shown that drivers over 55 are among the safest on the road," said Capparelli. "If they complete an approved drivers safety course, they should receive a reduction on their auto insurance premiums."

Capparelli estimates the savings under this bill could amount to as much as $150 a year per driver who qualifies.

Brebeuf Features Speakers on Divorce

A public lecture will be presented on May 27 at St. John Brebeuf Church by Fr. James Flosi and Eunice Wozniak, directors of the Archdiocesan Office of Pastoral Care for Separated and Divorced Catholics at 8:00 p.m. in Flanagan Hall.

Today divorce touches nearly every family. This tragic fact has raised many painful questions in the minds of Christian people. Catholics may wonder if the Church still teaches the indissolubility of marriage, if it is easy to get an annulment, if divorced people can receive the sacraments? Fr. Flosi and Eunice Wozniak will take up these questions in their presentation as well as the role of the Church in reaching out to divorced persons and their families with care and compassion.

Fr. James Flosi is a Chicago priest. He has worked in vocation and counseling work in the past, been a field advocate for the Marriage Tribunal, served in the Navy Chaplaincy Ministry and is now the director of the Archdiocesan Phoenix Office.

Eunice Wozniak is the associate director of the Archdiocesan Ministry to Divorced and Separated Catholics. Eunice has been divorced for thirteen years and is raising her own seven children as a single parent.

So you've been arrested!!

Many Illinois motorists are unfamiliar with and do not fully understand what takes place if they are stopped for a traffic violation. Illinois State Police Captain Hugh S. McGinley, Commander of District 15, wishes to inform the motoring public of the state police officers' procedure when they make an arrest for a traffic violation.

The Illinois Supreme Court is responsible for the guidelines to be followed by the arresting officer.

The officer will schedule a court appearance date from 10 to 45 days later. This will be on the face of the ticket. The alleged violator must then post a bond. The arresting officer can accept a valid Illinois Operator's License, an acceptable bond card issued by an insurance or motor club company, or a cash bond in the amount specified for the violation. A receipt for the bond will also appear on the face of the ticket. The officer then mails the ticket with the bond to the Circuit Court of the County in which the violation occurred.

In most cases, the arrested party may contact the circuit clerk at any time prior to the court appearance date and, if they choose to plead guilty, can pay the fine and have the bond returned or applied toward the fine. If they wish to plead not guilty, the circuit clerk may assign a new appearance date and notify the officer when to appear.

Captain McGinley indicates that when the public understands the necessary procedure, the Illinois State Police are able to better perform as a professional police organization.

These guidelines will help the motoring public recognize our role when performing this service for the public.

Honored for bank service

Mr. Thomas O. Leigh, Acting Chief Executive Officer, O'Hare International Bank, presented Mrs. Adelaide Tesch with a savings bond for 20 years service with the bank. ## "The Glass Menagerie"

Director James Batts has selected Niles West High School students Debra Rich, Ian Streicher, Amy Marschak and Doug Walls to star in the school's production of Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie." Performances will begin at 8:15 p.m. May 21-23 in the school theatre, Oakton St. at Edens Expressway, Skokie.

"Unlike many of Williams' plays which combine lyric tenderness with shocking brutality, 'The Glass Menagerie' underscores the former by means of moonlight, music, candles, and Laura," commented Batts, who is offering the production as the school's annual spring drama. Junior Amy Marschak will star as Laura, with Rich cast as the mother, Streicher portraying the son and Walls as the gentleman caller.

Sophomore Michael Albert is the assistant director of the production. Admission is $2.50 for students and $3.50 for adults.

Sheila, a resident of Winnetka, has created her unique "Skyline" from Chicago area restaurant match covers and various Chicago logos. Beautifully framed in chrome and glass, they are a true conversation piece and Sheila has been commissioned by many Chicagoans to create this prestigious work for them. The Ritz Carlton Hotel displays a "Skyline" in their lobby which has received very favorable comment, and they are also available at Accent Chicago in Water Tower Place.

The theme for the April meeting of Cub Pack 175 was circus night. In addition to segment patches, silver arrow points were earned by Matt Guerrier, Pat Kelly, Marty O'Grady, John McCarroll, Ken Piton and Christian Sikorski. In addition to segment patches and silver arrow points, the Conservation award was earned by the following boys: Steve Notaro, Greg Weiss, Brian Ochab, Tim Brieske, Jonathan Pawlowski, Brad Pawlowski, Chris Michelotti, Frank Biga, Ed Swider, Tom Wolshon, Matt Sergot, Mark Zaprzalka, Paul Cieniniwa, Tony Klancnik and John Majerowski.

Rob Hubicek was especially honored when he received the Arrow of Light Award in addition to Artist and Outdoorsman awards. David Pienzo received the Outdoorsman merit. Each and every boy should be congratulated for his efforts. In a special ceremony Rob Hubicek and Rich Blassick were welcomed into Boy Scouting. The Pack then received the President's Award for leadership shown at Scout-a-Rama. Again each boy was instrumental in showing the qualities necessary to earn the award. The parents of each boy should be proud, not only for the achievements earned by the Pack as a whole, but for the growth of each member of the Pack as exhibited by the awards earned. Congratulations and thanks to all leaders, helpers and parents for another successful year.

ED HANSON

Would You Believe Chief
Crazy Horse is Still Alive?

I was making my way down the long corridor when he motioned to me. He was standing in the doorway of his room. He was very old, actually ancient. His face was more wrinkled than Reagan's. His skin was weather beaten, almost black as though burnt from a thousand suns.

"Come into my room," he said in a voice still surprisingly strong for a man of his incredible years. I followed his bony skeleton-like figure, which was bent like a bow, watched him shuffle along on shaky shanks. He slowly eased his aged body into a chair.

"Come, sit down. I will tell you an incredible story," he said.

I had visited with a friend of mine and was anxious to be on my way. But something about this ancient man, perhaps pity or maybe the strange expression in his black, deep sunken eyes, intrigued me. I pulled up a chair and sat facing him.

"Would you believe I am 140 years old?"

"Yes," I replied.

"And would you believe I am an Indian. An old, old, famous American Indian?"

"Yes," I replied.

My affirmative answers seemed to please him. "My real name is Chief Crazy Horse, the famous Indian warrior. Would you believe my name and exploits are in American history books?"

"Yes," I replied.

"Would you believe that no one here really believes me when I tell them I am Chief Crazy Horse?"

"I believe you, Chief Crazy Horse."

"Would you believe I have slain many, many white men many moons ago?"

"Yes," I replied.

"And do you know what finally defeated the Indians?"

"No," I replied, which was quite a switch.

"White Power," said Chief Crazy Horse. "It was White Power that took away our land, our food, our homes, our country - this country."

I nodded in sign language.

"Yes," said Chief Crazy Horse, "Red Power was outnumbered, out-gunned and out-thought by White Power."

Again, I nodded.

"And," said Chief Crazy Horse, "it was White Power that herded the Indians into concentration camps, which the white man called reservations. It was White Power that beat us, starved us, and deprived us of housing and education to preserve white supremacy and make it the law of the land."

"Sad, but true, Chief Crazy Horse," I said. "But a few of you did strike oil on your reservations. And one, I think his name was Jim Thorpe, was quite good at football."

"Would you believe that, in this case, the exception does not prove the rule," said Chief Crazy Horse somewhat surly.

"You have a point, Chief, please continue..."

"Now, we Indians know about White Power, and we have witnessed the struggles of Black Power, and we know there is a future potential of 'Yellow Power'. Because of the world power structure, you white eyes believe it will continue to remain so. But, in the light of recent developments, this will change."

"Somewhere on the old Indian trail you lost me, Chief," I said.

"The recent development I refer to is the plan we redmen have for taking our country back from you palefaces, black faces, and yellow faces. Do you think we Indians have been asleep in our tepees these many moons? Do you believe we Indians have forgiven you white eyes for all your transgressions to the only true American, the one who met your boats - the noble redman! We, the real Americans, now have the power to defeat all of you and regain what is rightfully ours - YOUR country!"

"With what power will you, I mean your people, accomplish this?"

"With the most powerful power of all - GREEN POWER," said Chief Crazy Horse with a toothless, somewhat evil grin.

"Green Power!?", I exclaimed. "I've heard of red power, black power, white power - but what in the name of heaven is GREEN POWER?"

"That's where it comes from - heaven - up there in outer space," said Chief Crazy Horse, pointing a bony finger skyward. "For years now you've been hearing about 'flying saucers'. Thousands of documented sightings have been recorded. The U.S. Air Force shrugs these off as balloons, natural phenomena, gases, etc., but that's what they tell you. What about their secret dossiers to the contrary?"

"What about it, Chief?" I asked.

"How (which is a famous Indian word) about the many recorded cases of landings and documented testimony about the little 'green people' who man these spaceships? Most recorded visits from these aliens, these interplanetary visitors, these little 'green' people, show landings in remote and uninhabited regions such as the desert and mountainous areas of New Mexico and Arizona. And who lives in these regions? My people, the Indians!"

"You're beginning to convince me, Chief Crazy Horse."

"Now, some years ago," Chief Crazy Horse continued, "the Indians became friendly with these little 'green' visitors from outer space. Upon learning about the bum deal we got, they've promised to use 'green power' to eliminate all whites, blacks, and yellows and destroy all their noisy, polluting inventions, like autos, planes, television, radios, bombs, missiles, rockets, etc. Why, white and black power has turned this land, our land, America, the beautiful, into one, big, ugly crime-ridden parking lot. So, we Indians have just been waiting for the day you are all eliminated by 'green' power and we regain our old happy hunting grounds again."

"And when, Chief Crazy Horse, will this world-shaking day take place?" I asked.

"Would you believe September 31, 1981?" Chief Crazy Horse, said with what I can best describe as a toothless, crazy grin.

I thanked Chief Crazy Horse for his incredible story and took my leave. At the gate I gave my visitor's pass to the guard of the Illinois State Psychiatric hospital and he bid me a very good day.

P.S. Incidentally, this was the same guy who told me the Cubs would win the pennant!

LETTERS to EDITOR

LWV objects to ban of wheelchairs at Mill Run

Dear Editor:

The members of the League of Women Voters of Morton Grove-Niles were appalled at the decision of the Mill Run Theatre to ban wheelchair occupants from attending performances.

Since 1975, we have fought for the right of accessibility for the handicapped to public places, and have been rewarded by observing progress in this direction. We are pleased at the increasing numbers of public buildings that have been equipped with ramps, special curbing and restroom facilities to accommodate wheelchairs. In light of this progress, we are dismayed to see the regressive attitudes displayed by the Mill Run management.

The League of Women Voters objects to this discriminatory decision and urges the management of Mill Run to immediately retract the decision and to make accommodations to allow handicapped citizens the opportunity to enjoy the theatre performances.

Niles West runners win Township

The Running Indians from Niles West High School scalped the Vikings of Niles North High School in the Annual running of the Niles Township Outdoor Track and Field Championships.

OCC Raiders break the wire

The Oakton Community College Running Raiders continued to show improvement putting in fine performances at the recent North Park and Southwestern Michigan invitational.

Oakton's 400 meter relay team of Dawn Lawrence, Betty Watkins, Gwen Kasper, and Linda Kaufman won that event at both invitational.

At North Park, Lawrence won the 100 meter hurdles and placed third in the discus. Kaufman won the long jump and was third in the high jump. Kasper was third in those events.

In the Southwestern Michigan Invitational, Watkins was third in the 400 meters and fourth in the javelin and 100 meters. Lawrence took third in the discus and hurdles while Kaufman won the long jump. Kasper placed second in the long and high jumps and third in the shot put.

On the men's side at that invitational, Jukka Kallio, running the track for the first time since running in the Boston Marathon, placed third in the 5,000 meters, with Carlos Montes right behind in fourth. Bill Joern won the javelin and was fourth in the discus. Dave Gharade placed fourth in the steeplechase.

It was a clean sweep for West as they had previously won the Township Cross Country and Indoor Track Championships this school year.

Niles West showed surprising strength in the field events as they won five out of six events. Norb Rock won the Shot Put while Bill Johnson won the Discus. Victor Wu was a double winner in both the Long Jump and Triple Jump. Mark McCormick won the High Jump while only Wagner of Niles North in the pole vault was able to prevent a complete sweep by the West Team.

As usual the West distance core led the way as they scored nearly half of West's total points by sweeping both long relays and the 400, 1500, and 3000 Meter Runs. Scott Margolin won the 400, Dan Zeller won the 800, and Co-Captain Art Gunther won both the 1500 and 3000 Meter Races.

Jeff Turkin was a double winner for Niles North as he easily won both the 100 and 200 Meter Dashes. North had another double winner in Danzyger who won both hurdle races.

Coach Savage was especially pleased with his athletes as they not only won the township championship in all three running meets this year but also he was very excited in the fact that they had a perfect dual meet record of 16 wins versus 0 losses.

Both West and North will be running in the IHSA State Meet in Charleston on May 22 and 23.

There are still a few openings for the second half of the Niles North exchange program with the city of Ahlen, Germany. Field welcomes inquiries from students attending high schools other than Niles North. The entire cost for the trip (except spending money) is $850.00 for the three week venture which includes staying in Ahlen and traveling to surrounding German towns.

Field can be contacted at 673-6900, ext. 1166.

The gas burner has a time proven single port design. Precision formed steel venturi. Stainless steel deflector forms flame to match combustion chamber for efficient burning. The burner is equipped with a special Electric Ignition*. On demand, a tiny electric spark ignites the pilot, thus eliminating the continuously burning pilot flame. Unusually quiet ignition and extinction. Scientifically designed for fuel economy. The units are completely factory assembled, wired and fire tested.

Nimrod sees more State responsibilities

Senator John J. Nimrod, R-Glenview, who recently returned to Springfield from Washington, D.C., following a 2-day briefing by the Reagan administration, declared today that more duties and responsibilities are being transferred from the Federal to State governments.

"After hearing from key administration officials," said Senator Nimrod, "I'm convinced that if there's one thing the Reagan administration intends to do in the months and years ahead, it is to get rid of excessive government regulations, excessive government spending and a delegation of authority back to the States."

Senator Nimrod was among a select group of lawmakers throughout the nation who attended the briefing sponsored by the American Legislative Exchange Council, which is the nation's largest individual membership organization of state legislators with nearly 1,300 members nationwide.

Nimrod noted, "What was really encouraging is that all of the Cabinet Members that I talked to, showed a sincere concern for state governments. They gave us their private telephone numbers and urged us to call if we have any special state legislative problems where they could be of help."

"One of those decisions that will surely help the economy of Illinois will be some positive, concrete changes in the Clean Air Act. With Congressional approval, we'll be able to mine, transport and burn much more Illinois coal. I think all of us are for clean air, but the environmental restrictions placed on Illinois coal has been a terrible detriment to our State. I'm confident the Reagan administration will be able to determine what is environmentally acceptable and then make the needed changes to help the Illinois coal industry," concluded Senator Nimrod.

Key administration officials addressing state lawmakers were Vice President Bush, Secretaries Regan, of Treasury; Edwards, of Energy; Lewis of Transportation; Watt of Interior; Schweiker, of Health and Human Services; Bell of Education; as well as White House Domestic Advisor Martin Anderson and Congressional Liaison Max Friedersdorf.

Washington students busy writing books

Washington School students, in grades K-6, have been busy writing original books in preparation for the "Young Author's Conference." There have been 143 books submitted with topics ranging from adventure and science fiction to real life dramas.

On May 19, Jamie Gilson, local children's author, addressed the student body and shared her experiences as a writer. All students who wrote a book were honored by receiving a special Young Author's Certificate, with their name and the title of their book on it.

Fifteen of the most outstanding books have been submitted to District #63 for judging for participation at the state level. "The Diary Under My Bed", by Cara Lazerwith, a grade 5 student, was chosen for the state conference.

Lucille Solomon, Reading Coordinator, feels this annual activity has motivated the students to read and write with a wider interest span.

Drafting competition awards

Three Maine East industrial education students earned awards at the recent Illinois State drafting competition.

In the introductory division Eric Stendel of Park Ridge was third and Scott Bradke of Park Ridge was fourth.

Larry Marturano of Morton Grove won an honorable mention in the advanced architecture division.

costing $3,000 out of her own pocket. Though Heinen lost the mayoral election she remains a member of the Niles Park Board.

Dr. Watson, Maine South principal, was honored at a retirement party Sunday. He will be retiring at the end of the school year after serving 37 years as an educator. He is the only principal in Maine South's 2-decade history.

District 71's Niles North public school will host a concert orchestra and band program Thursday, May 21, at 8:30 p.m. School choruses from North and South will perform as will the jazz band. A fashion show by Home Ec students will be featured and art projects will be on display. 39 students will graduate from District 71 on Tuesday, June 16.

District 63 happenings include district officials expecting roofing bids for 7 schools to come in at about $700,000. The opening of bids for the sale of 3.5 acres of Harrison st. was postponed when no bids were received. Previously the district had asked for a minimum of $225,000 for this property. This time around the district had made no minimum price tag but still there were no takers.

District 63 teachers' contracts expire Aug. 15 and teachers are currently negotiating with officials for a new contract. North end residents desiring to disannex from Dist. 63 fell short of needed petition signatures by as many as 600 to 1,000. Registered voters number 3,500 and 2,200 signatures would be required for the separation. The $1.5 million working cash bond sale will not raise the current 37 cents tax rate in the district but will extend this present rate by three years. School doors close permanently at Apollo Jr. High on June 12. The Northridge Prep School, presently at Wilson School, is interested in renting the soon-to-be empty Jr. High. All empty Dist. 63 schools are now rented except for Oak School. An appraisal on Oak School is expected to soon help the district determine whether it will sell the Main st. school. Strong letters from Niles Mayor Blase could deter future sale.

Federal Judge Abner Mikva sent his regards to the 10th Congressional District Democratic Women's Organization on Sunday. Celebrating their 25th anniversary during a dinner at the Seven Eagles restaurant in Des Plaines, Mikva, former 10th district Congressman, asked Eugene Eldenberg, Democratic National Committee Executive Director to convey his best wishes to his former supporters. Eldenberg, who is a former Evanston resident, was the evening's keynote speaker. Eldenberg relayed Mikva's message that his former neighbors know that "his heart is still back in the 10th." Niles residents at the dinner included Zoning Board Commissioner Louella Preston and veteran Committeeman and Niles Mayor Nick Blase.

Mill Run...

Officials in a verbal bout which culminated with the decision to remove a front row of 10 seats which would provide space for approximately 8 wheelchairs.

Niles officials represented by Village Manager Ken Scheel, Director of Building and Zoning Joe Salerno, Niles Fire Chief Al Hoelbl, Duty Chief Gordon Michalsen and Village Clerk Frank Wagner made it obvious at the special meeting called at the playhouse Friday afternoon they didn't intend to leave until a solution to the much publicized problem had been reached.

Approximately 3 weeks ago Mill Run box office personnel began telling wheelchair patrons they could not purchase tickets for shows because the Niles Fire Department had issued an order banning movable, or portable chairs from being placed in the entrance and exits of the theatre. In addition, handicapped patrons who arrived for shows with tickets purchased previously to this order were turned away. Several of them contacted The Bugle expressing their irateness at being treated as "second class citizens" and seeking support in their fight to be admitted to a form of entertainment they said they thoroughly enjoyed.

A Bugle call to the Illinois Department of Human Rights revealed the Mill Run theatre was in violation of a state statute which states it is illegal to deny public accommodation to any individual because of his handicap. During the Friday meeting at the playhouse, village officials suggested that stack chairs locked into position could be used for regular patrons in the event the entire area was not occupied by wheelchairs. Mill Run's Jim Herbert told the village entourage in the event of a show where a thrust stage (a stationary stage with a runway used by many groups instead of the revolving stage) is used, the wheelchair patrons would be placed on either side of the runway.

When asked by The Bugle approximately how many shows a year used the thrust stage, Herbert replied, "I don't attend shows at Mill Run. In fact I haven't seen one here in 3 1/2 years."

Village Manager Ken Scheel told Herbert to have the plans for the proposed wheelchair placement in his office on Wednesday morning (May 20) and Herbert agreed. Herbert also told village officials the seats would be removed and the area ready to accommodate the wheelchair patron by June 4 when the Steve Lawrence-Eydie Gorme show opens at Mill Run.

Rodeo...

The rodeo will feature various tests of the bike rider's ability, but it is not a competition, and the focus of the event is educational. However, Blase repeated that "the cost of laying lines is very expensive for us" and could result in even higher water rates than Chicago would charge.

Andrea will be out with representatives of the Post and Unit helping display the red flower of remembrance which hospitalized veterans have fashioned from their hospital beds. This work enables them to earn a small monetary salary as well as, according to doctors, giving them therapeutic value.

The proceeds which the Legion and Auxiliary derive after the materials and vets' pay are used for community and children and youth programs and the rehabilitation of these still confined former servicemen and aid to their families.

Little Miss Poppy is expected to make an appearance at the local banking institutions and also meet with Mayor Richard Flickinger at the village hall.

Newly elected trustee Doris (Dodee) Connelly suggested that people apply for metal detector permits for a $2 fee. Berrafato argues though "we might actually be inviting people to dig up our parks with that. It would be implied consent."

The board concurred with their attorney and signs will be posted noting the existing ordinance banning excavation will be enforced. Ironically, park district police officer Dale Shimp had submitted a letter to the board in support of the "treasure finders."

Also at Monday evening's meeting, there were two changes in racquetball policy. Prime time hours will now be from 3:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. Previously they had begun at 5 p.m. And the board approved a new husband and wife membership fee of $35. ## Commentary...

situation quickly returned to normal.

The letter writers wondered why there was no fire escape easily accessible for people sitting in the upper section of Mill Run. The letter writers said it would have been necessary to have gone to doors on the main floor in the event the theatre was evacuated.

Again, there are disputes as to what occurred. A Mill Run employee who said she was present at the time of the incident said there was absolutely no panic.

Nonetheless, Niles fire officials met with Mill Run representatives on April 29 and ordered the theatre to install an outside fire escape for patrons sitting in the upper level. Village officials noted that in the seventeen years since the theatre was built, there have been numerous fire and building codes which have been upgraded to require the additional fire escape. The theatre was given until May 30 to install the fire exit and escape or ask for an extension.

Also during that same meeting fire officials again ordered the theatre to keep the aisles clear of wheelchairs and folding chairs. When people in wheelchairs attend performances at Mill Run, they are positioned in aisles for the duration of the performance. Often their companion is seated in a folding chair next to the wheelchair in the aisle.

Mill Run officials claim this order by the fire department meant they could not sell tickets to people in wheelchairs. And just to bring this point home, they told people in wheelchairs to complain to the fire department and mayor if they did not like it.

Fire officials say the intent of their order was to insist that Mill Run provide space for people in wheelchairs by replacing a few permanent seats with temporary seats which could be removed and a wheelchair put in its place.

Mill Run employees said it was rare for there to be even two people in wheelchairs at a single performance.

Following a few days of refusing to sell tickets to the handicapped, these people began calling The Bugle as well as other newspapers. The newspapers were quick to pick up on what seemed to be an obvious injustice against those in wheelchairs and it was only a short time until even the Chicago Tribune was reporting the story.

Village officials seethed with anger as the theatre box office personnel told patrons and newspapers they could not allow people in wheelchairs into the theatre on order of the village.

Finally on Friday, May 15, Village Manager Ken Scheel arranged a meeting between village officials and Mill Run representatives at Mill Run theatre. Scheel invited the press to attend.

Representing Mill Run was Jim Herbert from Jerry Kaufman's Tiffany Productions. Also present was Golf Mill Corporation executive director Patrick O'Shea.

Perhaps as evidence of the years of frustration the village has had with Mill Run, the village was represented by Village Manager Ken Scheel, Village Clerk Frank Wagner, Niles Fire Chief Al Hoehl and his Duty Chief Gordon Michalsen. Also Niles Director of Zoning and Building Joe Salerno was present at the meeting.

Held inside the empty theatre the two sides quickly made their intentions known. Niles village officials were there to find a solution to this latest Mill Run problem. They made it very clear there was no time or patience for delays.

Using a yardstick village officials and Herbert determined how much room would be available if seats were removed and how many seats would be removed. Noting that Mill Run owner Jerry Kaufman had previously said it would be impossible to remove a row of seats because of steps which, in fact, do not exist, Village Manager Ken Scheel said, "I didn't know who to believe until we came here to see for ourselves."

Mill Run's Herbert said, even at that late date, he had still hoped the village would allow wheelchairs to be put in a service exit aisle about 15 feet wide. But Village officials were not leaving until they had permanently resolved the problem.

Herbert finally agreed a section with ten seats would have to be removed and temporary chairs put in their place. Scheel said the plans for the wheelchair section would have to be on his desk by Wednesday, May 20.

Also, Scheel stated Mill Run had not kept appointments with him in the past and told Herbert to call him before coming over to the Niles Administration Building.

As for the original question of who are the good guys and who are the bad guys, the facts seem to support Niles contention that Mill Run has been neither cooperative nor professional in their dealings with the village. They've been told by the village during numerous inspections not to block aisles and yet they repeatedly ignored village warnings.

To their credit, it is true Mill Run has not allowed equipment to become defective or hazards to compound each other which would result in a fire. However, it is also true that Mill Run's allegation the village is "picking on them" is unfounded. For if the village was singling them out, points out one village official, Niles would have simply ordered the theatre to clear its aisles, to install an outside fire escape and to make the main floor exit doors larger or face being temporarily closed down.

But instead the village met with theatre officials so both sides could discuss their differing interests. The village always tries to operate in just such a professional manner and, in the case of Mill Run Theatre, was continuously met by stalling techniques.

Mill Run's turning away wheelchair theatre-goers because of what they contended was a directive from the Niles Fire Department was childish and grossly insensitive, not to mention illegal. By their box office personnel telling wheelchair persons "to complain to the fire department or the mayor if they did not like it," they were in fact trying to pressure the village.

And the hard feelings caused by this action may result in Mill Run having to deal with a considerably less patient and understanding village in the future.

sole board member to vote for Beusse.

Following the meeting Pierski explained his proposing Beusse for the presidency, saying, "I don't believe there should ever be an election for president with only one candidate." Adding that "Walt Beusse would do a good job," Pierski observed that Kosiba's reelection "proves" that he has done a good job.

Commenting on his reelection Kosiba said, "I'm really excited about this year." Kosiba described the new Park Board as "a good working board" and said he hoped the park district would be able to continue "moving forward" during the next two years.

Following the election for President, Beusse was elected Park Board Vice President. Beusse received the vote of all board members except his own due to his abstention.

Attending their first meeting after being elected in April were Commissioners Mary Marusek and Jim Pierski. Marusek had served on the Niles Park Board prior to being defeated in 1979.

In other action the Park Board unanimously voted to appoint former Commissioner Jeff Arnold as the new Niles Park District Treasurer. Arnold had been a Park Board member for six years prior to his decision not to seek reelection this past April. Arnold will succeed Tim Sheehan whose resignation became effective upon Arnold's appointment.

Niles Park District Director of Parks and Recreation, Bill Hughes was also reappointed by the board during a unanimous decision which was preceded without discussion.

Also Park Board secretary Grace Johnson and Park Board attorney Gabriel Berrafato were unanimously reappointed by the board.

During his report Hughes said a pole with a light will be installed in Jonquil Terrace Park. According to Hughes a resident living next to the park had complained of groups of teens in the park after dark. The light, which will cost $1,400, is expected to help discourage teens from gathering in the park at night.

Also, Hughes said a contract has been prepared to formalize the hiring of a local security firm to patrol Niles Park District property. The cost for the firm, Protection Group, Ltd. of Niles, will be under $10,000 and will include one and two trained guards patrolling parks from May through October. Hughes was careful to note that last year college students were hired at a cost of $8,000 to patrol the parks.

However, Hughes said, with the cost of insurance and normal employee benefits the cost was almost the same as for the security firm. Hughes said Protection Group, Ltd. will pay for its employees' insurance, benefits, and uniforms.

Park Board President Kosiba said he and other board members had recently returned from Springfield where they had lobbied State House Representatives on behalf of various park related legislation. Kosiba reported four of these bills passed and will now be taken up by the Illinois State Senate.

parents. She left the impression the Spinners include some outside provocateurs.

In School District 63 you've been reading about the parents at the north-end of the district who are attempting to disannex from District 63 and annex into Glenview District 34. Presently, they have not been able to acquire enough signatures for these two procedures.

Both the Spinners and the Annexers have much in common. They have zeroed in on one issue and seem to ignore the much larger issues which they should be concerned with.

The Spinners have been whirling around like over-spun tops in their desires to coerce or intimidate the park board into giving their children an all-year-round skating program. They have one essential point to make in their monthly and bi-monthly harassment of the park board and they refuse to look at the overall programs in the park district. While they endlessly seek what they want, they disregard what the board is doing in so many other areas within the district.

Considering the park board oversees programs in about 15 parks, a gymnasium, two swimming pools, a golf course, many, many, tennis courts, day camps and programs ad infinitum, the Spinners ignore these rather substantial efforts, only seeking favor for their limited group in an area of their private interest.

The ice rink has been run at a very substantial deficit through the many years. Yet, the Spinners are asking the park board to increase activities in the rink during the summertime, which will have an even more costly price tag added to its already substantial one.

Over in District 63 the problem is not dissimilar. A small group of very vociferous, and sometimes vindictive, people have been out to "get" School District 63. The closing of Wilson School at the extreme north end of the district started their efforts which had led to the petitions for disannexation. If they should be successful, the move could take off about $30,000,000 from the tax rolls, which could prove an extreme hardship for the remainder of the district. As one annexer told us, if they should be successful, the District 63 area should disband and residents should join neighboring school districts. And this all started because these people's neighborhood school was closed.

For the people who sign the annexation petitions, they have to be made aware they will be double-taxed. They still will be responsible for bonds in their own district as well as being responsible for the costs in their new district. It seems foolish to accept this double-taxation, because their children might have to go about 4 blocks further to school.

The Annexers are as single-issue minded as the ice skating parents. They are not concerned about the many programs in their present district, nor are they concerned about the success of the children who have moved to higher learning after having been given the sound background they have in District 63. They're splitting mud at the district which closed their local school and they intend the spit goes in the collective eyes of those in the district who remain.

Both the Spinners and the Annexers are obsessed by one issue. Both seem geared toward getting their ounces of flesh from the two boards they're encountering.

Both groups serve a private and selfish issue. Both seem willing to throw away the baby along with the bath water. They do not serve the interests of the community. But by raising and raising the volume of their cries, they hope to wear down the public boards they harass.

Single-Issuers have one great advantage over the rest of the community. They seldom have much counter-opposition which resists their efforts. While we don't often ally ourselves with public bodies, these are two times when local boards should be relieved of the punishment they take from these people. Both their causes seem excessive. And from here in Bugleland, both of the one-issuers' demands seem highly unreasonable.

the board in the main library.

Rosenblatt said the "outreach" program included visits to nursing and senior citizen homes, day-care centers, Maine-Niles Assn. for Special Recreation, shut-ins and a nursery school to be started by St. John Brebeuf church.

Rosenblatt said the program took in about 700 persons during the two months of January and April. R. Mark Neyman, library administrator, said this creates good feelings between a library and the community it serves.

Martin Hodes, board member, suggested reports of the outreach program be publicized and submitted to the North Suburban Library System (NSLS).

Margaret Rajski, board member, during a trip to Washington, D.C., arranged a traveling exhibit from the Smithsonian Institute, "Jupiter and Its Moons", be displayed in the Niles Library during mid-June.

The exhibit consists of 40 panels or 300 linear feet of color and black and white photographs transmitted from Voyager 1 and Voyager 2. A narrated slide show will accompany the exhibit.

Rajski also investigated potential for grants from the National Endowment for the Humanities. A two mill levy for the district will be filed with the county.

Neyman said the library needed a form of computerization provided by OCLC Inc. One effect of this would be to centralize cataloging from the branch and main library. Board members directed the administrator to make out an application for OCLC terminals.

Board members agreed to approve taking part in an agreement for reciprocal borrowing in the entire state of Illinois.

Reciprocal borrowing provides a lending library must have a direct application from the borrower. This is in contrast to an inter-library loan in which the borrowing library applies for a book from the lending library.

Harry Pestine, board president, notified the board of a communication sent by the Bugle newspapers concerning a recent court decision affecting the publishing of legal advertising by the Niles Park district. Pestine asked the attorney to research the matter and see if all newspapers of publication now used by the library district meet the legal requirements. According to an early interpretation of library law, newspapers must be either "published or circulated" in the area.

Lawrence Weiner, attorney, said, "My intent is that we comply with the law."

Pestine, representative to the North Suburban Library System, said the NSLS is asking member libraries to list services in order of importance because of possible financial problems at the system.
