Kosiba slam dunks Park Board

by Bud Besser

Niles park commissioner Dan Kosiba had a bug up his nose on Tuesday night as he took scatter-shots at park district policies, heatedly confronting new park president Mary Marusek.

Kosiba began an evening of slam-dunking when he took off after the one-month old financial manager concerning an article appearing in a Des Plaines newspaper. Kosiba said the board seem like it didn't know what was going on in the financial planning of the district. Kosiba demanded to know what evaluation the new manager has for setting up computers for the district. Park president Mary Marusek told Kosiba to give the new man a chance since he's only been in the district for one month. A July 23 meeting was scheduled to get the manager's recommendations for a computer.

Kosiba next inferred the park president, the park attorney and Continued on Page 31

(Reprinted from July 17, 1980)

I'm a big city boy. Or at least I'm a "I love a big city" boy. Putting it bluntly, I've never met a big city I didn't like.

During the 1943-'46 era, I discovered many of the big cities of the world. While stateside I ran into Los Angeles and San Francisco and wrote home reams of praise for the cities along the Pacific. Soon afterwards Boston became a port of call and I waxed warmly about Bostonians and their fine city. Overseas, I spent a great deal of time in London and Paris and Berlin and wrote enthusiastically about these 3 capitals, two of which were heavily wounded.

Today and yesterday Chicago has my affection. It's more than puppy love. It's been going on too long. It's more a romance of the mature, a passion which is enduring and permanent.

I walk the city and I'm proud. I sit at the el fresco cafe at the First National Bank Plaza and sip ice tea while I people-watch. Chicago has few outdoor sittings which are as pleasing as this one. On a warm 80 degree day the blooming flowers in front of the Chagall Wall makes this setting most pleasing and a bit fantastic. The bright colors Continued on Page 25

Storer to head District 207 Board

Former Maine Township District 207 school board member, Charlotte Storer, has been appointed to the board to replace retiring board president William Schaeffe.

During a special school board meeting Monday night Storer, who served on the District 207 board from 1975 to 1981, was among two candidates considered to fill the vacancy.

James Kosmond, a former School District 62 school board member, was also considered.

Before unanimously approving Storer, board members praised the experience of both candidates.

Storer's board position expires in 1985.

The most pressing issue the new complete board will deal with in upcoming months is the appointment of a replacement for former superintendent Dr. John Murphy who resigned on June 30.

Ed Rooney to discuss freedom of information act

Ed Rooney, assistant professor of journalism at Chicago's Loyola University and former Chicago Sun-Times reporter, will be the guest speaker at the Northwest Press Club's Aug. 3 meeting. He will discuss the impact, ramifications and exemptions of the new Freedom of Information Act for Illinois journalists.

Rooney has the reputation of being the dean of freedom of information in Illinois, and is vice president for freedom of information for the Chicago chapter of the Society of Professional Journalists (Sigma Delta Chi). He also has been responsible for establishment of the Center for Freedom of Information Studies at Loyola.

The new law, effective July 1, 1984, enables reporters, freelance writers and other interested individuals to obtain information about the expenditure of public funds, voting records of public bodies, salaries of public officials and consultant studies commissioned by public agencies. Twenty-six exemptions exist, however, which allow state and local agencies to prevent disclosure of some information.

The Northwest Press Club luncheon meeting will be held Friday, Aug. 3, at the Fireside Inn, 9101 N. Waukegan rd. in Morton Grove, from 11:45 a.m. until 2 p.m. The cost to members is $6.50 and non-members pay $7.50. Anyone interested may attend. Contact Dennis Frantz at 583-5090 during business hours to make reservations.

Northwest Press Club membership is drawn from communicators and journalists from the north, northwest and western suburbs as well as the city of Chicago.

MORTON GROVE SENIOR CLUB

The Morton Grove Senior Citizens Club provides recreational and social activities each Monday at the Prairie View Community Center. For information about joining the Club, contact Leo Provost, Director of Senior Activities, 965-4359.

POSTAL CARRIER WATCH

All Morton Grove residents who are above age 65 or who are handicapped should consider the Village's free Postal Carrier Watch Program. Participants in this program will fill out a confidential registration form requesting information on an individual's health condition and persons to contact in an emergency. Postal Carriers will then affix a small sticker to the inside of the post box. If mail accumulates over a two day period, the resident, their contact persons, or the appropriate Village emergency department will be alerted. Since an emergency situation can never be foreseen it is recommended that every eligible resident participate in the Postal Carrier Watch Program. Registration forms are available at the Village Hall Senior Center, 6101 Capulina ave. or by calling the Senior Hot-Line weekdays mornings at 965-4658.

GRANDCHILDREN

Current laws permit grandparents to deposit up to $10,000 each, each year into a Custodian Account for a grandchild without paying a gift tax. All interest earned on the account is credited to the child and this usually means that little or no income tax will be paid on the income earned by the Custodian Account. No income tax is applied on interest up to $1,000 on such an account. Above that there is a tax on the income but most likely at a much lower rate than the senior's. Of course such an account is considered irrevocable, withdrawals cannot be made without penalty. The primary purpose of a Custodian Account is usually to help provide a college education for the grandchild. Bank or financial institution officers can be contacted to find out more about Custodian Accounts.

SHAKE THE SALT HABIT

Sodium is a mineral required by the body to function properly. It is essential for the proper volume and flow of blood and in body functions. However, a minute amount of sodium is adequate: generally felt to be 1,000 to 3,000 milligrams per day for an adult or less than one teaspoonful of table salt. Too much sodium is one of several factors that is thought to contribute to high blood pressure. Table salt, which is approximately one-half sodium, is only one source. Sodium is a hidden ingredient in many food items, such as: canned food, pickled products, soft drinks, smoked and processed meat and fish, dairy products, condiments, baking powder and baking soda, convenience items, and many nonprescription drugs (aspirin, antacids, laxatives, alkalizers, cough medicine).

HELP AT HOME

The senior citizen Chore Program has young workers who are able to do yard work, indoor and outdoor cleaning and other odd jobs for Morton Grove seniors (age 65 and above). The high school aged workers have been doing excellent work so far this summer and many seniors have been delighted by their extra effort. To receive Chore assistance, call the Village Hall at 965-4100, ext. 254.

For additional information about these and other senior citizens services, call Ralph Birmingham at the Morton Grove Senior Hot-Line weekdays, 9 until noon at 965-4658, or Bud Swanson, Director of Senior Services at the Village Hall, 965-4100, ext. 254.

Need more law enforcement on use of fireworks

Chief of Police Emrickson
7200 Milwaukee
Niles, IL 60648

Dear Chief Emrickson:
We have lived in Niles for 28 years and have felt protected and safe here - until now. We were really disappointed by what appeared to be the lack of police protection against wayward fireworks on the 4th of July.

We came home about 9 p.m. through a smoke screen so thick it could have been a battle zone. At one point, rockets were being set off that could be seen several blocks away, the ground shook from sounds resembling bombs, one group had commandeered the middle of the street for a 3 foot fountain display, etc.

This morning, I found a Peacock brand rocket No. 260A-6 oz. in my back yard and a No. 208RD-8 oz. in the bushes under my picture window in the front yard. This looks like pretty dangerous stuff to me. Am I going to be forced to sit on my front steps next year with a hose in my hand to protect my home against fire? Or spend the evening taking some neighbor child to the hospital, missing a couple of fingers?

I am writing to ask the aid of the police and the people of Niles to return safety and sanity to our Fourth of July celebrations so that the majority of the residents can enjoy the holiday. Perhaps more advance publicity to the effect that private fireworks are still illegal and that the law will be strictly enforced might help cut down on their use.

Comments cooperation on July 4th parade

Dear Editor:

Over 10,000 watched 1,000 in a 2 mile parade at the 1st Annual Skokie Independence parade. God's blessings to all forever.

The main attraction was the countless young people with their parents alongside holding flags and each other as we all celebrated our freedom and peace. How did this festive spirit of cooperation come about?

To me, it took a courageous and innovative park board, under the leadership of president Shirley Shevick. She is also a member of the Skokie Human Relations Commission. She was supported by a very capable and efficient superintendent, Dan Brown, an energetic committee of volunteers, and many countless "little guys" who put the "we care about each other" message together. What is the future of the parade?

Seeks free bus lifts for the handicapped

Dear Editor:

People have praised the sleek new minibuses in Niles. These free courtesy buses pick up passengers near Golf Mill Plaza 2 Nursing Home where I live.

I wish I could use them. But I'm physically impaired, restricted by a wheelchair. Unfortunately the buses lack lifts, preventing me from going aboard.

So I can't shop at most local businesses or participate in a Thursday night swimming program at the Leaning Tower Y.

I know other disabled Niles residents who are also isolated from the social mainstream.

We are frustrated and disappointed. Niles officials have been aware of this problem since last fall. Their only response: offering a special discount fare to handicapped riders who use Flash Cabs. Yet many elderly persons can't transfer out of their wheelchairs. And besides, why should we disabled citizens have to pay when able-bodied people can ride free? That isn't fair.

Niles prides itself as being a community where people count. It has helped youths and seniors. Now officials can perform a vital public service for us disabled persons. I ask them again to please equip one free bus (which could be on a dial-a-ride basis) with a wheelchair lift. And I ask your readers to support me.

Niles Nuggets Semi-Pro Baseball Team

Nuggets 6 - Palatine 5
The Nuggets battled to win this one in the 10th inning. Palatine tied the game up 5 to 5 in the bottom of the ninth, but the Nuggets would not be denied this win. In the top of the 10th inning, Lee Newasian walked and then Paul Minasian hit a single bringing Lee around to third base. Scott Madsen then layed down a perfect squeeze bunt enabling Lee to score. Palatine had one more turn to bat, but Nugget pitcher, Scott Madsen, shut them down one, two, three. Jim Prims was in top pitching form this game only allowing 5 hits in 8 innings. Scott Madsen came in relief to finish Palatine off. Paul Minasian had himself a day getting 3 singles and collecting 3 RBI's. Dave Raddatz had a triple and a single, Nick Busija had a double and Angelo Christopher, Dan McManus, Severo Pedroza and Jim Prims each had a single.
Nuggets 10 - Scorpions 13
This loss will haunt the Nuggets because it kept us from going into the City Playoffs. We had 13 hits to their 10, but we made some costly errors. It was not to be Lee Newasian's day. The two times he came up to bat he was hit with a pitched ball; now, Lee is pitching against the Scorpions and a batted line drive hit him in his forearm. Luckily, no broken bones! Severo Pedroza was swinging a hot bat, smacking a triple to left and two singles into left center field, collecting himself 5 RBI's. Dan McManus and Mort Schufreider each had 2 singles and Nick Busija, Dave Raddatz, Angelo Christopher, Scott Madsen, Paul Minasian and Marty Oddo had a single each. The Nuggets battled to tie it up 10 to 10 in the 7th, but lost it in the ninth when Scorpion batter, and Linda Christie who, it turns out, are having troubles of their own. We meet along the way Allan's ex-wife, who divorced him on the grounds of insufficient laughter, and we come in contact with a variety of women who have in common their disinterest in and quick rejection of Allan.

Tickets for the show are available at the OCC Theatre Box Office at OCC/Des Plaines, from noon to 3 p.m., Monday through Thursday. Prices are $4 in advance and $5 at the door. Students, OCC faculty, staff and seniors can purchase tickets for $3. All performances begin at 8 p.m. For ticket information call 635-1900.

Art exhibit at OCC Koehline Gallery

Chicago artist Donna Hapac will exhibit her recent work at the Koehline Art Gallery of Oakton Community College, 1600 E. Golf rd., Des Plaines, from July 25 to August 13.

Hapac produces drawings and paintings which attract and repel simultaneously. There is an element of humor in her work, but, frequently, there also is menace.

The exhibit contains works which fall into two categories. The earlier character portraits show frontal head-and-shoulder views of figures framed with border designs. The second group shows figures in action. Some depict two human figures struggling. The others depict snakes slithering.

Hapac exhibits her work in national, regional and local shows. She received a Juror's Award in the 1983 Rockford and Vicinity Show in Rockford. She is a former member of ARC Gallery in Chicago.

The Koehline Gallery is open free to the public, Monday through Thursday, from 7:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. For further information, call 635-1642.

from Chagall, the soft beauty of the flowers and the pretty girls and the warmth of the day makes this stop something special.

I walk east toward Michigan ave. up the steps of the library's culture center and walk with awe through the renovated Center. Upstairs, at Wednesday noon, the Myra Hess concerts are a joy and a respite from the day's activities. Located in the Preston Bradley Room the inlaid tile ceilings and walls are a restful backdrop to the peaceful music.

Downstairs, there is a hydro-sculpture made of soap and detergent bubbles which has a hypnotic effect on the many watchers who sit around and wile away the minutes.

I walk north on Michigan ave., crossing over to the east side of the street. At the river I watch the boat traffic. Down below office workers are boarding boats which take them west to the Northwestern train station. It's a lovely way to end their business day boating their way home after a day at work.

The Plaza in front of the Tribune building is another great spot for people-watching. As the shadows of the Gothic towers of the McCormick's 1924 building languish in the background, you can replenish your energy supply with popcorn from an old-fashioned popcorn cart which is in the square.

I walk across the street to the Wrigley building and head west to the restaurant whose entrance is on the river-side of the building. It is a Chicago restaurant, a little bit of elegance with a bit too much noise. You can turn the clock back 40 years sitting in this restaurant whose heyday was back in the early-radio days. It is still advertising row's favorite. And old chauvinists still point to the male waiters who signify the better restaurants in Chicago.

If I hadn't headed east after sitting at the First National Plaza, I would have moved down the street to Adams and west to Berghoff's Restaurant.

Berghoff's is Chicago-eating at its best. Again, male waiters move officiously, somewhat coldly to and from your table, as they bring you cold steins of dark beer, great barley soup, fresh rye bread and German dishes which give off gemutlich. All cities brag about their fine restaurants. Berghoff's could go to the Olympics for restaurants as our representative for the best in our world.

I walk the city. Alongside Berghoff's is a store which sells Cohasset Punch, a drink of younger days. It brings back memories of New Year's Eve, a peach in the center of a punch bowl. I walk east, west, south, and north and there's a book store nestled down an alleyway, on the second floor of a musty old building. Bookstores are a joy to a walker, a drop-off where you can browse and refresh amidst backrum and old paste.

I walk the city and move into a lobby, the old Rookery building, with its white wrought-iron railings and staircases. It has become a landmark and it is essential Chicago.

I walk the streets and move east to Wabash, south to a record shop filled with old jazz recordings. Or I head north to Rush st. where a better jazz record shop is nestled away around the corner from the neon jungle. Book junkies can loll away hours hidden in the stacks of old musty stores. Record fans no longer have the joy of lolling around an old turntable and playing for hours new-found treasures. Near that south Wabash shop, we used to frequent a store which sold twelve 78 RPM discs for a $1. And the joy of discovering of an old classic was every bit as exciting as discovering a favorite book.

I walk east at the south end of the loop and pass the Auditorium Theatre, another out-of-another-era building which has been renovated and restored. It's my Chicago. It's my theatre.

I walk east to Michigan ave., then south to the Conrad Hilton. It used to be the Stevens Hotel in our teen days when Griff Williams orchestra played for the young and the old. And it wasn't too many years ago Peter, Paul and Mary were playing their music on the public mezzanine for conventioners who were cheering for Gene McCarthy and Hubert Humphrey. And the kids and their jeans and their barefeet invaded the building, and the police confrontations followed there and in the park across the street and in front of the hotel and down the street south to Roosevelt rd.

I walk south to Roosevelt and west to Jefferson where Manny's cafeteria ladies out soups and gravies and sandwiches and Jewish foods which whet the palates of a non-secular clientele. If it was Sunday morning I'd walk the streets surrounding Maxwell st. viewing the largest flea market we've ever seen. And I'd eat a 7 a.m. Polish Sausage sandwich, smothered with strong-smelling onions which is ritualistic for any flea market habitue.

Lieutenant, Deputy Chief and Chief, Quillin also spent time as a corporate safety and plant production manager for International Harvester Company. Village Manager Eppley informed Board members by telephone today of his selection, citing Quillin's experience, education, and excellent performance record in fire service administration. "After our lengthy recruitment process I am pleased with the selection of Tom Quillin as our next Fire Chief. His record reveals a talent for innovation and the fact that he's served as a firefighter, fire officer, paramedic and industrial safety manager, evidence a rare combination of ability and experience. These attributes along with his educational credentials make Mr. Quillin an excellent choice to assume the leadership role in the Skokie Fire Department."

"I would also like to take this opportunity to thank Deputy Chief Albert Tedeschi for his work as Acting Fire Chief over the past six months," commented Eppley.

Quillin was born in Martin, Tennessee but has been a resident of the Chicago area since 1969. He's married and has two girls ages 2 and 4. He is currently serving as President of the Northeastern Illinois Fire Chief's Association.

"I'm pleased to join the Village's management team and look forward to a rewarding tenure as Fire Chief in Skokie. I welcome the opportunity to head the Skokie fire service and serve the citizens and administration of the Village," remarked Quillin. Quillin succeeds Jerome P. Burke as Fire Chief. Burke retired from service in February after 31 years with the Skokie Fire Department.

then commissioner Walt Beusse were delinquent in not knowing about the lower tax multiplier which was announced by the County Assessor's office which lessens, by $36,700, the amount budgeted for the coming year. Kosiba insisted there is a need for better communications with the legislature to enable better tax anticipation. He was told every district, village, park, school and library, has the same problem and there was no way of anticipating exactly what the multiplier would be.

Kosiba later wanted to know about personnel at the golf course and was also concerned about an employee sitting around at the new golf range and not doing very much. He was told the employee does a multiple of activities but it is necessary to have someone at the net (range) to prevent golf course abuses of the turf there.

The most heated exchange came late in the evening when Kosiba made a motion for a plaque to be placed at the golf course in memory of someone dying there. President Marusek asked Kosiba to clarify his motion and he indignantly resented the park president interfering with his motion. She insisted it needed clarification. After 20 minutes of wrangling only commissioner Elaine Heinen opposed the new motion. It stated anyone dying at any park facility could have a memorial plaque and a tree placed in that area so long as it is done at the expense of the person requesting the memorial and would not interfere with park operations.

In other Kosiba-less issues it was reported two youths, 17 and 19 years old, were apprehended after being caught in the swimming pool at 2 a.m. July 8. The park officials signed a complaint and the swimmers will stand trial for the charges. President Marusek emphasized the district will take similar actions in all such cases.

The good weather and the new water slide are believed factors in contributing to the increased swimming pools revenue this year. After less than a month, revenues are up $15,000 over last year. The water slide was given its due as a measure of this year's pool successes.

...Commissioner Jim Pierski reported the golf course revenues for June are also up from last to be valued at $1,000, occurred at the Branch Library, Ballard School. Other vandalism resulted in a broken window and glued locks.

The Board Attorney recommended that all bids for a telephone system be rejected as not being in compliance. He said a bond commitment for both payment and performance should have been filed the same time as the specifications.

Accepting his recommendation, board members moved to rebid asking for a bond commitment or cash deposit.

Regarding construction of the library addition, a second phase in pouring forms was completed. Retaining walls are ready to be placed in the parking lot area. This area, when filled, will be used for storage of materials.

An increase of 387 rounds of golf has boosted revenue $6,300 over last year. Reservations increased by 134 and golf cart revenue was up $1,070, the pro shop was up $1,000 and the concessions increased by about $1,000 over last June. The new manager was credited for the increase with a helpful hand from the weatherman who prevented any rain or intense heat from invading the June days.

(Park Board Report will be continued in next week's Bugle).
