An unfamiliar disease of the eye, macular degeneration, is one of the primary causes of central vision loss in older Americans. This condition results from changes in the back of the eye which lead to blurring or loss of the center of vision. This may make reading or doing close-up work difficult or impossible. More than 10 million people over the age of 50 have this vision disorder. To check personal vision, cover one eye and look at a clock face, newspaper, door frame, curb, or venetian blind. Macular degeneration will affect vision in one of severment Fair, co-sponsored by the al ways: vision will be blurry or fuzzy, straight lines will appear wavy, straight lines will be doubled or tripled, letters will appear jumbled.

Early detection of fluid leakage is the most important factor in determining if a person is in the early stages of macular degeneration.

Summer con games cost residents plenty

by Lt. Jerry Sheehan Niles Police Department

Several months ago Chief Ray Giovannelli approached me and inquired if I would like to write a periodic public service message for The Bugle. These articles would be primarily aimed at making our citizenry more aware of possible criminal problems in the surrounding area which might help in preventing them from becoming victims. Other subject matters included departmental programs, new laws or ordinances, and any current criminal justice or police matters.

In May, The Bugle asked me to help keep residents in-formed about pertinent Niles issues. One thought which immediately came to mind was that with the advent of the warm weather it also seems to be opening day for summer time con games. Con men and women are the ultimate opportunists and prepetrate the same cons year after year. In warm weather residents open their homes and spend more time outside. That's when the con men begin plying their trade.

Two of the more prevalent con games that we see year after year are the driveway repair fraud and the home inspection scheme. A drive way repair fraud that recently occurred included a couple of con men who approached an elderly resident and informed him that they had just completed a driveway repair in the neighborhood and had some driveway sealer left and they could seal his driveway for $15 a gallon. The resident agreed and about half way through the job the con man told the resident that he had already used 25 gallons of sealer The resident protested when the con man pressed him for money. The resident called the police and when they arrived, they recognized the con men from prior incidents of the same nature. Inspection of the so-called driveway sealer revealed it was not driveway sealer at all.

This resident was lucky but there are many unsuspecting victims who allow themselves into being bullied into paying exorbitant sums of money for such services. Residents should also be aware that while one of the con men keeps the resident occupied the other enters his home and burglarizes it. A related variation of this offense is the home repair scheme. A resident may be approached by several con men who flash a bogus I.D. at the resident and claim they are inspectors from a utility or municipality and are there to check the furnace, chimney, windows, etc. These cons usually travel in pairs and once inside the victim's home the havoc begins. One of the cons keeps the resident busy and the other one burglarizes the bedrooms. They are very good at finding money and jewelry.

The more brazen cons will generally just drive through the neighborhoods looking for open front doors and when they determine the residents are outside they will enter homes and loot the bedrooms. It they are confronted by residents, they will claim that they were lost, were looking for a party, or are in need of a telephone and leave. By the time the victim discovers the theft the perpetrators are long gone. These incidents may sound trite, but they work. And they work in Niles and elsewhere year after year.

The safest advice to follow is not to let anyone into your home until you have verified the legitimacy of their visit. Also, when working in the back yard, be cautious about leaving the front door open. Don't depend on a locked screen door to keep intruders out. And don't leave your purse or wallet on a table or divider in plain view of passers by.

If you have suspicions about people coming to your home soliciting business or for other reasons call us at 647-0400. People soliciting business in Niles are required to have a solicitors permit to go door to door and legitimate utilities people will generally be in uniform, have proper identification, and be driving a utility company car or truck. Have a nice summer and don't let yourself be victimized by the summer cons.

All my suits, sportcoats and slacks feature quality fabrics, superb tailoring and attention to detail, at prices lower than the sale prices of comparable suits. How do I do it? By making everything I sell in my own factories, and selling what I make only in my own stores. That way, I cut out the middleman and his mark-up, and pass the savings on to you. The moderator also solocited audience responses, asking them to share their experiences with touch or to discuss a scene or situation presented by the actors.

Touch allows younger children to realize that they have the right to trust their own feelings about touching, question other people's touch, refuse touches that make them feel uncomfortable, and tell someone if they are forced or tricked into touch. Children are encouraged to express their feelings and to learn to talk with dults they trust about questions or situations that arise which make them feel uncomfortable, intimidated, or confused.

On May 18, the Junior High students attended the performance of No Easy Answers, which uses the format of Touch with actors, moderator and audience discussion, but addresses teenage issues and concerns about sexuality and sexual abuse. Topics addressed include: communication, acquaintance, rape, and incest. Protection and prevention skills of particular use to adolescents were introduced and explored.

The Apple Users Group has donated computer chips that double the memory of the Lincolnwood Library's Apple GS. Available for patron use, the computer can run 95 percent of all the software ever made by Apple in addition to advanced new programs.

The group meets the first Thursday of the month at 7 p.m. at the library which is loated at 4000 W. Pratt Ave. According to Eugene Mitofsky, president, the club's programs demonstrate helpful samplings of what the computer can do. The schedule of topics to be covered in the meetings is posted on the library bulletin board. The Apple Users Group is open to everyone. Members range from the neophyte to the wiz and are happy to share their knowledge.

At Oakton Arms we believe that less is more. That's the big difference between us and other retirement communities. You see, we're designed with only 102 apartments-less than one-third the number of many retirement communities. So we can personally attend to your needs. And you can easily get to know all your neighbors and participate in all our social and recreational activities.

One look inside Oakton Arms and you'll notice other differences as well. Our atrium lobby is sunlit and cheery. Our elegant dining room is a place you'll be proud to entertain family and friends. And our apartments are bright and cozy.

We are ideally located in a quiet residential Des Plaines neighborhood, shopping and restaurants are within walking distance, and transportation s at your command.

Our surprisingly affordable rental apartments require no endowments or long term commitments to be concerned about. We provide 24-hour building security and an emergency call system in each apartment. And a complete range of health and supportive services is available to help you live as independently as possible.

Our ownership has 20 years of senior housing experience in the Chicago area. We are staffed by caring professionals with one simple goal: to respond to your needs.

CALL 827-4200 TO ARRANGE FOR A LUNCH AND TOUR.

Our model apartments are open Monday through Friday, 9am-5pm, and Saturday and Sunday, Noon-4pm. Come see for yourself just how big a difference one small detail can make.
