Skaja, Beusse, Kosiba support park take-over by village

Park Commissioner Skaja supports end of Niles Park Dist.

Niles Park District Commissioner Bud Skaja gave the following interview to The Bugle on Monday. In it, he answers questions about his support for the upcoming referendum to dissolve the Niles Park District as well as regarding other recent park controversies.

Bud Skaja III

Bugle - Do you support the November referendum to dissolve the Niles Park District?

Skaja - I'm in support of the referendum one hundred percent. It took me a long time to make this decision. If this ends my political career in Niles, so be it. But I couldn't live with myself any other way. I feel this is best for the people of Niles.

Bugle - Do you feel you are getting a lot of support on your decision?

Skaja - Since I've made the decision and talked to people...I've gotten phone calls at work and at home and I love that. Since I've made this decision I've gotten nothing but congratulations.

Bugle - What issues did you weigh in coming to this decision?

Skaja - With all of the things that are going to be needed to be fixed and are coming up...are we going to have the monies to do it without the alternate income of the village's sales tax? We can't just keep going out and getting more and more bonds. If one more large expense occurred unexpectedly, I don't think we could cover it.

Bugle - In the event the referendum fails, will you be a candidate for re-election in April?

Skaja - I won't know till at least January.

Bugle - So does your supporting the referendum simply come down to a question of money?

Skaja - I really think that's what it comes down to. I also think with the Village Manager that we have and having the Park Director just

Niles Police/F.B.I. probe cash link to drugs

Niles police and F.B.I. investigators are checking to see if money found on a woman arrested last week is part of a national drug money laundering scheme. The Elmhurst woman apprehended in Niles was carrying an envelope containing $11,400 in $100 bills.

An F.B.I. source said she is the sister of Anthony Yunez, one of 24 people indicted by a Federal Grand Jury Sept. 30 in Chicago on more than 700 counts of money laundering. Yunez had been in Colombia but operated in New York, Chicago and Los Angeles, the source said.

The woman, 26, was apprehended Oct. 16 when an alarm sounded in a restricted area at So Fro Fabrics, 8245 Golf Road, Niles. Employees found the woman and her young daughter in a rear storage room and called police because of recent thefts in the store's employee areas.

She could produce no identification of her own but carried two

Absentee ballots available in Niles

Niles Village Clerk Kathy Harbison advises residents that absentee voting will be conducted at the Village through Friday, October 30, between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Absentee voter's application forms are also available at the Village Hall.

Anyone wishing additional information should call Kathy Harbison or Kathy Barnat at 967-6100.

Niles Park District Commissioner Bud Skaja, along with former commissioners Walt Beusse and Dan Kosiba, this week endorsed the November referendum to dissolve the Niles Park District.

The move is seen as a watershed development in swaying local voters to support the take-over of the park district by the Village of Niles.

Skaja has spent four years on the board. Beusse served as commissioner for 18 years and Kosiba for 11 years.

Commenting on Tuesday Beusse said, "It's mindboggling how much money the Park District is spending. These improvements could have been extended over a longer period of time serving the same purpose of improving the park district and not being so over-taxing in such a short period of time." He added, "They're not trying to improve the park district, they're only trying to improve their image. Not letting people talk at meetings is deplorable. If I was there all of this wouldn't have happened."

Carbon Monoxide testing begins in Niles

As of October 15, volunteer callers began contacting senior citizens to set-up appointments for free carbon monoxide testing.

According to Todd Bavaro, Director of Housing for the Village of Niles, "the purpose of this test is to play it safe and, hopefully, to save lives." Most problems in detecting carbon monoxide poisoning occur due to:

- dirty furnaces
- dirty chimneys
- leaves or animals that get caught in chimneys allowing carbon monoxide to escape through flue tiles

Carbon monoxide is colorless and tasteless, therefore, it is impossible to detect without using a sophisticated testing instrument. Symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning include dizziness, vomiting and light-headedness. If you have any of these symptoms, call the Village of Niles at 967-6100, ext. 355 and make an appointment between the hours of 9 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. After Nov. 1,

Park gives up legal challenge to referendum

The Niles Park District will not continue their appeal of lower court rulings placing the referendum on its dissolution on the November 3 ballot.

The park board had retained election-law attorney Michael LaVelle, along with park attorney Gabriel Berrafato, to challenge the referendum in court. However, on August 31, Circuit Court Judge Francis Barh ordered the referendum on the ballot.

The Appellate Court had scheduled a hearing on the issue on November 10, one week after the election. Commenting on this late hearing date, Niles Mayor Nicholas Blase said Tuesday, "The court saw nothing (in the circuit court's opinion) that indicated they wanted to come to a conclusion quickly."

Taxpayers charged $2.9 million to fix sinking Park District

Over $2.9 million in tax money has or will be spent by the Niles Park District in efforts to shore up its sagging image and fight the November referendum to have the district dissolved.

The tax-dollar cash register began ringing when taxpayers paid an additional $16,000 for the Parks to replace former director Tom Lippert who was terminated December 31, 1991. Following his firing the Parks spent $10,000 on a search firm to interview prospects and wound up paying a new director, Tim Royster, $60,000 per year; a $6,000 increase over Lippert's salary.

After announcing they would close the ice rink, the Niles Park District spent $20,000 to study options for the repair of the ice rink following a March outburst

Kosiba's bottom line: let Niles run the park district

by Daniel E. Kosiba
Former Niles Park Commissioner for 11 years

On Tuesday, November 3 residents of Niles will go to the voting polls to select the system of government that will control their recreation.

What are the real issues that residents should concern themselves with in making this decision.

The issues are economics and stability.

1. Money Revenues: The Niles Park District is at their tax limit. Additional major improvements or land acquisitions will need a bond issue to pay the freight.

The Village, on the other hand, not only has property tax revenue but also has as its main source of revenue, sales tax money. Ninety percent of the village's revenue comes from sales tax and 75 percent of the village's revenue comes from non-residents...other people paying for your recreation.

Bottom Line: The Village financially has much more to offer the residents of Niles when it comes to paying the freight for quality recreation, necessary improvements and progress for the future without more taxation.

Commentary

2. Money Savings: If the Village of Niles takes over, the savings on equipment, electricity and gas alone will amount to hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The Village and recreation department will be able to use mutual equipment. Instead of buying a dump truck ($50,000) for two separate governmental agencies (2 dump trucks - $100,000) one will suffice and can be shared. (Savings $50,000). This can happen in many cases of large equipment purchases.

The Village does not pay for electricity or gas at non-income producing buildings while the park district does pay. These savings per year after a hot summer of air conditioning or a cold winter where much heat is needed will be astronomical.

Bottom line: Savings related to more money available to spend on recreational needs and improvements without more taxation.

3. Taxes: The Niles Park District will have to raise your taxes to make major improvements and land acquisitions to better your park system.

The Village of Niles, because of sales tax revenues, will not need to raise taxes to give you quality recreation.

Bottom line: Increased recreational opportunities with no new recreational taxes.

Year-round ice a possibility under new plan

Plan to rehab Sports Complex to cost $921,000

by Shellya Hackett

Set public hearing on drop-in center budget

The Maine Township Board will hold a public hearing at 7 p.m. Monday, Oct. 26, to consider amending the 1992-93 budget to include funds to cover operation of the new Drop-In Center through February 1993.

According to figures presented to the board last month, approximately 12,000 to cover salaries is already included in the current budget for MaineStay, the township's youth services department. An additional $13,000 is needed to cover the other expenses for the Drop-In Center. The proposed budget changes are available for inspection in the Clerk's Office at the Maine Township Town Hall.

The public hearing will be held in the Maine Township Town Hall, 1700 Ballard Road, Park Ridge, and will be followed at 7:30 by the board's regularly scheduled meeting. During the meeting the township will honor volunteers who have helped supervise the Drop-In Center since it opened last June. The free Center provides informal activities for 5th through 12th graders.

During the summer months, the Center was open three nights a week at Golf Maine Park District.

A remodeled Sports Complex building will turn into a revenue producing, modern facility if the Niles Park Board follows a plan outlined Oct. 13. "It is a good, structurally sound building, though some components need upgrading," said Carl Fuerst, of Leisure Concepts and Design, Inc., the overall consultants on the project. The plan includes features for year-round ice at the building's rink, but it will take creative programming and effort to attract off-season skaters and generate revenues, he said.

James Maland, a consultant with ice rink specialists Bones-troo, Rosone, Anderlik Associates focused on the building. He recommended wide-spread changes in the facility, including adding a 44' x 36' fitness room on the lower level.

The scheme includes new locker rooms, team rooms, offices for the hockey and figure skating directors, a meeting room that doubles as a training space, expanded lobby and ticket-taking areas. To relieve lobby congestion, a 3,600 sq. ft. addition would be inserted between the existing Complex building and the pool. The pro shop would be moved away from the arena and, to meet Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) requirements, public restrooms would be installed near the ice.

Further ADA compliance requires a lift or elevator between the first floor and the lower level. Maland suggested a chair platform lift to save the $18,000 an elevator would cost.

Center of Concern needs volunteers

Several years ago, The Center of Concern was the recipient of a van with the name of The Center of Concern emblazoned on it.

The van was immediately put to work, as some of the calls for help The Center received were for transportation to doctors' or dentists' offices or to hospitals for outpatient treatments.

Any recently retired person who is seeking volunteer work, or anyone else with the desire to help others, who would like to assist with this transportation work, call The Center at (708) 823-0453. The Center's office is in Suite 223 of the 1580 N. Northwest Highway Building in Park Ridge.

Another area of interest to volunteers is visiting those confined to their homes because of a mobility problem. The days sometimes can seem extremely long, but a visit from someone who will take an hour or two every week to listen and to respond to questions that require answering can make a real difference in the shut-in's lonely existence.

The Center of Concern in Park Ridge is a not-for-profit social service agency that has been answering the calls for help in the community for fifteen years. Within that time the original Information and Referral service has been enlarged to twenty other programs, and year after year, the number of people requesting help in solving problems has also grown.

Not every call means a crisis since there are counselors available for legal, financial, Medicare and tax advice, as well as for those requesting personal counseling. On the last Saturday of each month, free blood pressure testing and blood sugar screening are provided. A weight watching group, which concentrates on nutrition, meets once a week and there is a monthly meeting of the Book Browsers Group. YOUR PARENTS AND YOU
Ballard is a Safe Place for Trick or Treaters

There is nothing like a special event to add a little spice to life. At Ballard, we put on dozens of special events throughout the year, but Halloween is really something. Our residents and staff get their kicks by designing and manning more than a dozen Halloween booths.

Ballard is a safe place for Trick or Treaters, and those booths are like a magnet. They play games, enter contests and collect Halloween goodies. This year, there will even be a Haunted House.

Parents enjoy their own refreshments in the Terrace Room.

Hester, one of our residents who worked on a booth last year, is planning to make this year's event even more fun for the kids. "It's such a joy to see their eyes light up when they win a prize," she told me.

Ballard invites you to bring your costumed youngsters for trick or treating between 2 p.m. and 4 p.m. on Saturday, October 31. You won't be able to miss Pumpkin Lane, a double row of pumpkins that leads right to our front door. There is no doubt, Halloween at Ballard is, indeed, a special event.

Criminal damage to vehicle

A resident of the 7900 block of Oketo Avenue, Niles, said unknown offenders entered his unlocked 1984 Chevrolet Impala the night of Oct. 16. They broke off his turn signal lever, rear view mirror and radio knobs, tore off the Impala nameplate and then punctured all four tires.

Theft of service

Three 15 year old youths ate lunch and ran up a $28 check, then fled from a pancake house in the 9200 block of Milwaukee Ave., Niles, the afternoon of Oct. 12.

Retail theft/possession of Cannabis

The manager of a grocery in the 8700 block of Dempster Street, Niles, stopped a man he saw take a pack of cigarettes and a package of nuts, then leave without paying the night of Oct. 17.

The man, 19, of Des Plaines, had a plastic bag containing a substance similar to cannabis in his pocket. Police charged him with theft of merchandise valued at $3.38, and possession of cannabis. He was placed on a $1,000 recognizance bond and given a Nov. 23 court date.

DUI, Blood Alcohol Content .23

Responding to a tip, police stopped a driver in the 8000 block of Milwaukee Ave., Niles, early Oct. 16. He assured the officer he was all right and only tired from working a long shift. He was let go, but kept under surveillance and when the driver wove in traffic and braked abruptly several times, was stopped again in the 7200 block of Milwaukee.

The driver, 45, of Chicago, had trouble standing and was taken to the station where he registered .23 in blood alcohol content. He was charged with driving under the influence and having a blood alcohol content over .10. He was placed on $1,000 bond and given a Nov. 23 court date.

Offer car etching to area residents

Suburban Chicago continues to be the target for professional vehicle thefts. There are measures, though, that car owners can take to reduce the chances that their vehicle will become one of the "chop shop" statistics.

October has been proclaimed as "National Crime Prevention Month." Keeping in line with this theme, the Morton Grove Police Department, Kropp Insurance Agency, Globe Glass and the Chicago branch of Hanover Insurance Company, are co-sponsoring a vehicle etching program for Morton Grove and Niles residents to help deter professional car thefts.

A donation of $3 per vehicle etched will be given to the Morton Grove Civic Foundation.

The etching process only takes about 5 minutes and does not detract from the appearance of the car. To set a car etching appointment call Connie-Doll at 965-2330.

Jewish police organization names Man of the Year

The Shomrim Society of Illinois, composed of more than 300 Jewish police officers in the state have named Saul Binder as its Man of the Year. Binder is president of the Success National Bank, Lincolnshire and Lincolnwood.

The award will be presented at the 33rd annual Endowment Fund dinner of the Society.

Approximately 600 people are expected to attend the event that will bring the leading names in government, police work and business, said Chicago Patrolman Bernard Feinstein, who is chairman of the organizing committee. Cost of the dinner is $50 with reservations made by contacting Bruce M. Rotner at the Shomrim Society Endowment Fund, 2651 W. Estes Ave., Chicago 60645.

Sgt. Bruce Rotner of Rogers Park, who will be the master of ceremonies, said Binder was selected for this honor "because he works hard for many charities, including ours, with no desire for personal gain. He is dedicated to charity and to the support of our police organization."

Binder in helping police personnel has developed charity drives that provided every policeperson in two communities with bullet proof vests and with flak jackets for every squad in a larger community. He has chaired this dinner in the past and worked in fund raising for the organization for many years.

Shomrim is a Hebrew word that can translate as "protector." The non profit organization uses monies received in fund raising and dues for charitable purposes and scholarships. Its members work in municipal, county, state and federal law enforcement agencies.

The Community Assistance for Secondary Education and the Bank division of the State of Israel Bonds have also named Binder as their Man of the Year. Binder heads the banking division of this organization. He also is a director of the Gastrointestinal Research Foundation at the University of Chicago and is a past director of the Variety Club.

He has been the president of a number of banks that includes Jefferson State Bank, Peterson Bank, First National Bank of Wheaton, Bank of Bellwood and the First National Bank of Lincolnshire which last year changed its name to Success National Bank.

Tips for preventing auto theft and break-in

- Always close the windows, lock the car and take the keys with you.
- Don't leave valuables in the car. If you have no choice, make sure they are out of sight. Try to avoid anyone seeing you put things away.
- Avoid street parking in urban areas off the main streets.
- Always park where it is well lighted.
- Park with your wheels turned sharply to discourage towing.
- Never leave your car running unattended to do a quick errand, even if it's for only a few minutes. A thief may be waiting specifically for just such an opportunity.
- If you have a garage, use it. Cars are often stolen from driveways and open spaces by residences, but seldom from garages.
- While you must leave your insurance ID card in the car, don't leave your registration in the car. You wouldn't want someone impersonating you. Also, never leave your house key hidden in your car to invite a burglary.
- If you have an anti-theft device, use it even for quick stops. Most cars stolen don't have the device activated or didn't have one at all.
- Have your vehicle identification number etched on your six major pieces of glass. A professional thief will not want your car because the doors, windows, or the entire car cannot be easily sold to the "Black Market".

Retail thefts

A Sears, Golf Mill employee, 18, left the store early Oct. 16 to deliver $4,300 in computer equipment to a customer. Later a phone caller indicated the youth would not return that day because his car had broken down. When store personnel checked with the customer, he indicated he had planned to pick up the equipment. Store personnel contacted police and the employee since he had no permission to remove the merchandise. That night the employee returned to the store with the merchandise and signed a statement admitting theft. Police charged him with retail theft, placed him on $3,000 bond and gave him a Nov. 12 court date.

The evening of Oct. 12, agents for J. C. Penney, Golf Mill stopped a Chicago man, 32, as he left without paying for a $41 bottle of cologne. Police charged him with retail theft, placed him on $1,000 recognizance bond and gave him a Nov. 12 court date.

An argument over a shopping cart allegedly led a Chicago man, 60, to punch a Glenview man, 71, twice in the mouth the morning of Oct. 17 in a grocery store parking lot in the 8200 block of Golf Road, Niles. The Glenview man will sign a complaint and charges are pending.

That afternoon, in a parking lot in the 8200 block of Golf Road, a Glenview housewife, 45, objected to a Chicago woman, 41, parking her van in a non-designated parking space next to her own van. The Chicago woman explained she was making a delivery at the F & M Discount store there and walked towards the store. Witnesses said the Glenview woman began kicking the other woman's van, then got into it in her absence. When the delivery woman returned, a shouting match began and the Glenview woman pushed the other. She pushed back with greater force, causing the Glenview woman to hit her head on the asphalt. Niles paramedics took the Glenview woman to Glenbrook Hospital, Northbrook.

A Des Plaines woman reported her locked 1987 Chevrolet Caprice was taken from a lot in the 7500 block of Caldwell Ave., Niles, Oct. 14.

A Prospect Heights man, 18,

As he got into his car, the manager grabbed the jacket and phone, but the alleged thief drove off, hitting and knocking down the security agent as he fled. The man's red Pontiac Trans Am carried Florida license plates, but a computer check indicated there were no charges against the license owner there.

He said his 1979 Mercedes was taken in the thirty minute period it was parked in a restaurant lot in the 9100 block of Golf Road, Niles, Oct. 17. Neither owner estimated his car's value.

ONE OF THE REASONS WE CALL THEM SMART BUSINESS LOANS.

When Ted and Jeffrey Pickus wanted to develop a housing subdivision in Zion, Tom Romano helped with a First of America Smart Business Loan. Because smart business owners know the time has never been better to take advantage of low interest rates. And they're making their move.

First of America understands that by helping businesses succeed, we help the economy and the community, too. Harbor Ridge Venture, for example, will not only offer affordable homes, it will also create a number of construction jobs. And we can't measure the value of that investment in monetary terms alone. Since the beginning of the year, we've loaned $600 million through our Smart Business Loan program. And we're ready to lend even more in the next few months.

First of America has always had a philosophy of supporting the communities we serve. So we work hard at providing competitive, customized commercial loan packages to local businesses.

If you think your business could benefit from a Smart Business Loan, call any of our First of America Bank offices listed below. You'll find our Smart Business Loans can give you a way to get things moving.

'92 Federal Efficiency Standards

CHICAGO-With the support of congressional leaders and the endorsement of a broad coalition of environmentalists, Congress recently passed the National Appliance Energy Conservation Act (NAECA).

Effective January 1, 1992, the new legislation raises the efficiency standards for most electric, oil, and gas-powered home appliances, including furnaces, water heaters, air conditioners, ranges and ovens.

Starting on January 1, 1992, all newly manufactured gas furnaces will be required by federal law to meet higher efficiency standards. Next year's furnaces will have burners that will still provide the same amount of heat.

If you're looking for a furnace right now, here's some news you can use. Every gas furnace Amana makes already surpasses next year's efficiency standards. In fact, Amana gas furnaces have met the '92 standards for over four years. We combine state-of-the-art technology with long-life materials to make our furnaces not only affordable, but among the best performers on the market.

Along with the industry's highest efficiency rating, Amana gas furnaces come with an unbeatable limited 25 year warranty and offer the ASURE Extended Service Plan with guaranteed, no-cost parts and labor by an authorized Amana dealer.

Watkins blasts Hyde on 'gag rule' vote

"Congressman Henry Hyde's insensitivity to women is startling. Not only does he oppose a woman's right to reproductive choice but he also won't even let women be told in health clinics about the abortion option," charged Barry Watkins, Democratic challenger for the 6th Congressional District seat currently held by Hyde.

Watkins, of Park Ridge criticized the incumbent Congressman today shortly after Hyde voted to sustain President Bush's veto of a Family Planning Amendment to the Public Health Service Act.

On Friday, the House voted (246-148) to sustain the President's veto of the bill which provides funding of family planning clinics and repeals the so-called "gag-rule" prohibiting counselors at the clinic from discussing abortion even if women patients ask for such advice. The vote was 10 short of the two-thirds needed to override.

Watkins pointed out that today's vote was the third time Congressman Hyde voted for the "gag-rule." He voted to sustain a previous Bush veto in November, 1991, and when the amendment was passed by the House last Aug. 6.

Watkins also listed Hyde's votes on 16 key issues. Watkins, who is pro-choice and opposed to the gag-rule, contrasted his positions to Hyde's.

Tax accountability group endorses Dudycz

Senator Walter Dudycz (R-7th) has been endorsed by Tax Accountability '92 in his reelection bid for the 7th District Senate seat.

Dudycz's endorsement was announced by Jim Tobin, Chairman of Tax Accountability '92, which is the political arm of National Taxpayers United of Illinois.

Since 1985, one of Dudycz's top legislative priorities has been fighting skyrocketing taxes. He is a member of the Senate Republican Task Force on Cook County Property Tax Relief, which is fighting to give Cook County residents the same property tax relief that other suburban residents have had for more than a year. Dudycz has consistently sponsored legislation to roll back property tax levels in the Chicago area and has actively opposed any legislation that raises taxes of any kind. He sponsored the Tax Accountability Amendment and was active in the statewide effort to get the amendment on the ballot.

James McGing, the Democratic challenger for State Senator in the 7th District, charged his Republican opponent, eight-year incumbent Walter Dudycz, with padding his own pension benefits while ignoring the needs of the people. He accused Dudycz of voting for legislation that enabled him to inflate the value of his government pension at taxpayer expense.

"People are struggling to make ends meet, but instead of worrying about people's interests, he spends his time in Springfield worrying about his own interests, and the special interests. It's not enough that the taxpayers pay him for two jobs. He also wants to retire with two government checks," McGing said.

Dudycz, who worked for former Cook County Sheriff James O'Grady is currently a Chicago police officer as well as a member of the Illinois State Senate.

McGing charged that, in 1985, 1132, which allowed him to transfer pension credits from the Chicago Police Department pension fund to the more generous General Assembly Retirement System without paying the state's share of the cost of benefits obtained. Essentially, he transferred the pension credits at a highly reduced cost, and the taxpayers have to pick up the difference. Dudycz voluntarily resigned from the Chicago Police Department to take advantage of this special deal. He later used the Department to get his job back, claiming he was forced to resign for political reasons. Both the Circuit Court and the Appellate Court ruled that Dudycz, "resigned voluntarily...in order to take advantage of the certain benefits available to him." Dudycz later settled with the police department and was reinstated as a detective. He is now eligible to collect benefits from both the General Assembly and the Chicago Police Department.

Dudycz attended the signing ceremony at the police and fire station in Bedford Park. The legislation has an effective date of Jan. 15.

"When police officers, prison guards, firefighters and paramedics become targets for criminals, no one is safe. Tougher penalties may make criminals think twice before trying to harm public safety personnel," Dudycz said. "The men and women who protect our society put their lives on the line every day. They deserve our full support."

Senate Bill 1964 increases penalties for the Class X felony of attempting first-degree murder of a police officer, firefighter, correctional officer, paramedic, ambulance driver or other governmental emergency personnel. The minimum sentence will be 15 years and the maximum sentence will be 60 years in prison. Aggravated battery with a firearm of a police officer or other public safety officers will be punishable by a minimum sentence of 10 years and maximum sentence of 45 years in prison. Aggravated discharge of a firearm committed against an on-duty police officer or other public safety officers, or in retaliation for official acts, will be punishable by a minimum sentence of six years and a maximum sentence of 30 years in prison.

Criminals convicted of murdering a paramedic or other governmental emergency personnel could also face a maximum sentence of the death penalty under the legislation. Illinois law currently provides for a maximum sentence of the death penalty for the murder of a police officer, correctional officer, or firefighter.

The legislation also requires a minimum sentence of life in prison without parole for murdering a police officer, firefighter or correctional officer.

In other action on legislation, the Governor:

- Signed Senate Bill 400, which significantly strengthens laws addressing domestic violence. The legislation will expand the classes of victims to include dating relationships, people with disabilities and children from previous marriages. It also will bar offenders from legally contacting their victims within 72 hours after being released on bail and will repeal the presumption that abusers enjoy the right of visitation or joint custody of their children.

• Signed Senate Bill 1823, which allows the Cook County Board to take full advantage of private funds to improve Brook-

Heinen attends Capparelli fund raiser

Elaine E. Heinen, commissioner of the Niles Park District, is with State Rep. Ralph Capparelli (D-13th) at a recent campaign fundraiser at the Rosemont/O'Hare Exposition Center. Other guests included Speaker of the Illinois House Michael Madigan and State Democratic Party Chairman Gary LaPaille. Capparelli is focusing his campaign on a proven record of service to his constituents by bringing state-funded public improvements to the communities and by opposing new or higher taxes.

McGing charges Dudycz with padding his pension

James McGing, the Democratic challenger for State Senator in the 7th District, charged his Republican opponent, eight-year incumbent Walter Dudycz, with padding his own pension benefits while ignoring the needs of the people. He accused Dudycz of voting for legislation that enabled him to inflate the value of his government pension at taxpayer expense.

"People are struggling to make ends meet, but instead of worrying about people's interests, he spends his time in Springfield worrying about his own interests, and the special interests. It's not enough that the taxpayers pay him for two jobs. He also wants to retire with two government checks," McGing said.

Dudycz, who worked for former Cook County Sheriff James O'Grady is currently a Chicago police officer as well as a member of the Illinois State Senate.

McGing charged that, in 1985, 1132, which allowed him to transfer pension credits from the Chicago Police Department pension fund to the more generous General Assembly Retirement System without paying the state's share of the cost of benefits obtained. Essentially, he transferred the pension credits at a highly reduced cost, and the taxpayers have to pick up the difference. Dudycz voluntarily resigned from the Chicago Police Department to take advantage of this special deal. He later used the Department to get his job back, claiming he was forced to resign for political reasons. Both the Circuit Court and the Appellate Court ruled that Dudycz, "resigned voluntarily...in order to take advantage of the certain benefits available to him." Dudycz later settled with the police department and was reinstated as a detective. He is now eligible to collect benefits from both the General Assembly and the Chicago Police Department.

Dudycz attended the signing ceremony at the police and fire station in Bedford Park. The legislation has an effective date of Jan. 15.

"When police officers, prison guards, firefighters and paramedics become targets for criminals, no one is safe. Tougher penalties may make criminals think twice before trying to harm public safety personnel," Dudycz said. "The men and women who protect our society put their lives on the line every day. They deserve our full support."

Senate Bill 1964 increases penalties for the Class X felony of attempting first-degree murder of a police officer, firefighter, correctional officer, paramedic, ambulance driver or other governmental emergency personnel. The minimum sentence will be 15 years and the maximum sentence will be 60 years in prison. Aggravated battery with a firearm of a police officer or other public safety officers will be punishable by a minimum sentence of 10 years and maximum sentence of 45 years in prison. Aggravated discharge of a firearm committed against an on-duty police officer or other public safety officers, or in retaliation for official acts, will be punishable by a minimum sentence of six years and a maximum sentence of 30 years in prison.

Criminals convicted of murdering a paramedic or other governmental emergency personnel could also face a maximum sentence of the death penalty under the legislation. Illinois law currently provides for a maximum sentence of the death penalty for the murder of a police officer, correctional officer, or firefighter.

The legislation also requires a minimum sentence of life in prison without parole for murdering a police officer, firefighter or correctional officer.

In other action on legislation, the Governor:

- Signed Senate Bill 400, which significantly strengthens laws addressing domestic violence. The legislation will expand the classes of victims to include dating relationships, people with disabilities and children from previous marriages. It also will bar offenders from legally contacting their victims within 72 hours after being released on bail and will repeal the presumption that abusers enjoy the right of visitation or joint custody of their children.

Dudycz bill calls for stiff penalties for injuring public safety officers

Criminals who attack or try to kill public safety officers will face tougher penalties, under a new law sponsored by State Sen. Walter Dudycz (R-7th, Chicago) and signed Aug. 25 by Gov. Jim Edgar.

Dudycz attended the signing ceremony at the police and fire station in Bedford Park. The legislation has an effective date of Jan. 15.

Edgar backs homeless voting

Gov. Jim Edgar today backed legislation that will permit homeless people to vote but recommended changes that will provide safeguards against election fraud.

"I fully support the right of homeless people to vote, but I am equally committed to preserving the integrity of the voting process - especially given Illinois' infamous history of election skulduggery," the Governor said in announcing his amendatory veto of Senate Bill 1992.

The Governor pointed out a consent decree allowing homeless people to vote in Chicago since 1986 contains safeguards against fraud.

The legislation would allow homeless people to register as long as they provide a mailing address, such as a shelter. He conditioned his approval of the bill on several changes, including:

- Elimination of a provision that would allow directors of homeless shelters to serve as deputy registrars. "An unscrupulous director could easily commit vote fraud by signing up voters, retaining a copy of the voters' signatures and then filing applications for absentee ballots," which would then be sent to the shelter, the Governor noted.

• Addition of a provision to allow election authorities to do a pre-election canvass of homeless people who are registered. Such a provision is included in the consent decree that governs Chicago.

• Authorization to local election officials to make reasonable rules regarding registration of homeless people so the officials can do whatever they believe is needed to preserve the integrity of the election process.

"If the General Assembly accepts what I believe to be prudent changes, homeless people throughout the state will have the opportunity to vote. Until then, the provisions of the consent decree will provide the opportunity for homeless people to register in Chicago within the context of adequate safeguards," Edgar said.

Crawford's program takes us a first step toward solving Illinois' health care crisis by slashing paperwork, expanding coverage and strengthening cost oversight.

Crawford pointed out that paperwork and overhead consumed 27 percent of health care costs in Illinois in 1992. Crawford proposes that the state require all providers to use the same claim form. This simple procedure would save consumers millions of dollars a year.

4. Checks & Balances: The Niles Park District is currently under the control of five elected park commissioners. When these five park commissioners vote on issues of policy, spending taxpayers' monies or land acquisitions, only a majority of 3 votes is needed to pass. For all practical purposes, 3 people control millions of dollars of taxpayers' monies and the future direction of recreation for 30,000 residents.

This is the most glaring fault of the system. Three park commissioners voting together can:

- close the ice rink
- charge groups for using baseball fields, soccer fields, football fields

- spend your tax dollars unwisely
- increase your taxes through non-referendum bonding

These decisions can be made with no checks and balances. True, the commissioners are responsible to the taxpayers (and only to the taxpayers). However, they are elected by the taxpayers every four years. Four years is too long to be unchecked without voter recourse.

If the Village takes over the park district, there will be a larger appointed board. These people will be appointed because of their knowledge in recreation or related business functions. This board would deal with future direction, budgets, acquisitions and taxation. Their recommendations would be given to the village manager for review and then to the village board of trustees for final approval.

Bottom line: More administrative minds would be involved resulting in fewer mistakes, better administrative decisions and better spent money for the taxpayers of Niles.

"Can we provide the same amount of service and not always have to be crying for money? With the village we have the alternate funding of the sales tax. At this venture, I think this is what's best for the people of Niles."

5. Who's The Boss?? Under the current Niles Park District system, the head executive (The Boss) is the Director. This person is a recreation professional, schooled and richly experienced in the field. The director is ultimately responsible for everything that goes right or wrong. This person answers only to the elected board of park commissioners. The director is hired and fired by the board. The director's salary is raised, lowered or frozen by the board. The director's perks and benefits are given or taken away by the board. Basically, the director is in a position where he has to be careful not to anger or alienate board members for any reason, right or wrong!

The director theoretically has one boss above him - the combined board of park commissioners ruled by the majority of three. But, in reality, the director has five separate bosses (the five park commissioners) who can pull him in five different directions. This usually results in inefficient government and a director who is hand-tied and frustrated.

Under the Village System the appointed recreation board will not have authority over the director or his staff. Therefore, the board cannot be involved in the day-to-day operations of the district. The professional park director is the boss who answers to another professional, the village manager. This system allows the professionals, schooled and experienced in recreation, to do their job with no board interference.

Bottom line: The recreation staff and director will be more productive and the job will get done with happy faces and not fearful faces. The director will not have to be worried about the park commissioners' pet projects or interference.

All facts in; the Bottom line: The Village of Niles is the better system of government to operate Niles recreational needs. Choosing the best governmental system is the task now at hand. This entire process is not a personality conflict, but choosing the best form of government to run the Niles Park District and that is The Village of Niles.

King Lab students to pow wow

On October 29, King Lab students will be participating in a Pow-Wow, the culminating activity of an artist-in-residence program featuring the Blackhawk Native American Dancers and funded by the Evanston Arts Council and King Lab PTA's Cultural Arts Committee.

This program is an alternative Columbus Day observance, stressing multiculturalism. Twice each week, selected 5th and 6th graders learned Native American dances. These students will be dancing along with the Blackhawk troupe. In addition, students in many subject areas studied Native Americans, participating in such activities as making sand painting and duck decoys.

The Blackhawk Native American Dancers will also perform in King Lab's auditorium at 7 p.m. on October 29.

Installing pre-cast concrete bleachers near the ice would add 530 seats and provide room and storage space beneath them. The current vent system must be replaced and the entire 22 year old building brought up to code, Maland said.

Earlier speculation that the plan would include a studio ice sheet was dashed when consultants determined there would not be enough property to accommodate it. The building has public suits on two sides and is edged by School District 63 property on the remaining two sides. Maland said the School District has declined to sell any of its property at the present time, but the situation could change in the future. The current garage at the southeast end of the building is too small and now houses District buses and vans.

Then there will be "no summer ice until '94?" asked resident Carrie Jochim. Park Director Tim Royster replied "That is not the case; we haven't got that far. We can't decide until we hire an architect." Jochim responded "Everytime you close it down more than two weeks, you'll lose people...morale would be down. It's worth it to put in temporary things to keep the rink open."

Maland noted since the Complex lobby will be coordinated with the pool the construction time frame depends on the rest of the project. Four months is needed for construction. He estimated the total cost of the renovation at $921,000. Optional items, such as replacing the infra-red arena heating system, overhauling the hot water heating system, installing an elevator instead of a lift and buying new fitness equipment would add $154,000 to the bill.

Sprint and Centel merger statement declared effective

Sprint Corporation (NYSE: FON) and Centel Corporation (NYSE: CNT) jointly announced that the Securities and Exchange Commission today declared effective the registration statement, which includes a joint proxy statement and prospectus, on the merger of Sprint and Centel.

On December 2, 1992 the stockholders of both companies, in separate meetings, will vote on the merger, which involves an exchange of 1.37 shares of Sprint common stock for each Centel share in a tax-free transaction for stockholders. The proxy solicitation material will be mailed to stockholders shortly.

"We believe this combination represents an exciting opportunity for the stockholders of both companies to participate in a corporation uniquely positioned to face the rapidly evolving competitive challenges in the global telecommunications industry," said Sprint Chairman and Chief Executive Officer William T. Esrey and Centel Chairman and Chief Executive Officer John P. Frazee, Jr. In letters that accompany the proxy material, the chairmen of Sprint and Centel describe the benefits of the merger.

The combined company - to be called Sprint - will be one of the major U.S. telecommunications companies providing customers with long distance, local and cellular services. The new Sprint will be the country's third largest long distance provider, a local telephone company serving 5.7 million local customer lines, and the ninth largest cellular company (based on the number of POPs when adjusted for ownership interest) serving an area with more than 20 million in population.

some of the movers and shakers of the city such as Marshall Field and Potter Palmer were determined to have a fair, even though it was a year late in opening.

In conjunction with this program, the Historical Society has a Museum display of objects and pictures relating to the Columbian Exposition, and a display to commemorate the Columbus Quincentennial. The museum is open to the public on Wednesday and Friday from 10:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. Special tours can be arranged by calling the Museum at (708) 390-0160.

Your child needs more than good grades to attend college

by Jeffrey Cardella
470-8953
Niles, IL

If your child is an above average academic achiever, don't start packing his or her bags for college just yet. These days it takes more than good grades to get a degree.

If your child will begin attending a state university within the next four or five years, you'll pay roughly $26,000 for a four-year education. That's quite a burden when you consider the average annual income per two-salary household is less than $45,000.

Worse yet, college costs continue to climb. If your child won't start college for another 15 years, you'll pay nearly the same amount, $24,000, for one year of college education. Remember these are the costs of state universities; the price tag for a four-year private school is even steeper.

While there is no way to completely eliminate the sting from saving for your child's education, a number of investments are available to making the savings process as painless as possible, including zero-coupon bonds, annuities, and mutual funds.

There are two types of zero-coupon bonds. Both offer tax advantages. The first type of zeros, zero-coupon government bonds are backed by the U.S. Government. With this investment you set aside a smaller sum today. The money grows at a compounded rate to a much larger sum by the time your child finishes high school. The interest is automatically reinvested, so your money grows more quickly than if you take possession of your earnings. The other type of zeros is zero-coupon municipal bonds. These bonds are backed by the city, state or local government that issues them or are guaranteed by an insurance company. Zero-coupon municipal bonds save you tax dollars. All zero-coupon municipal bonds are exempt from federal income taxes.

Although annuities aren't familiar to us as CDs, they also provide an excellent means of accumulating wealth over a longer period of time. Plus, with annuities all taxes on your earnings are deferred until you begin withdrawing them. There are basically two types of annuities. Both combine insurance coverage with the opportunity to invest. Fixed annuities guarantee the return of both principal and interest. The return of variable annuities, on the other hand, fluctuates because it is dependent upon market performance.

Yet another type of investment that offers potential rising income and appreciation of principal is mutual funds with growth or growth-and-income objectives. Because mutual funds represent the pooled investment dollars of many investors, you gain the advantages of professional management and diversification. Many conservative funds have excellent records of staying ahead of inflation and the rising costs of education.

Depending on your situation, any one or a combination of these investments can provide an opportunity for you to save for your child's education. What is vital is that you begin studying the costs now. It doesn't take a lot of money to start these saving programs, but it does action.

Holy Family offers Halloween safety tips

When the ghosts, goblins and other creatures of the night come out to haunt the neighborhood on Halloween night, several simple safety tips could help prevent a fun night of trick-or-treating from becoming a night of horror.

The following are some tips to ensure a safe and fun Halloween: 1) Don't let children go out alone. 2) Visit only people known and stay in the neighborhood. 3) Wear bright colored clothes that fit properly. 4) Don't wear anything that hampers hearing. 5) Don't wear a mask that blocks vision. Use makeup instead. 6) Carry a flashlight. 7) Don't eat treats until checked with parents. 8) Follow pedestrian rules when crossing streets. 9) Don't wear sharp objects as costume jewelry. Make swords and knives out of cardboard. 10) Don't stop and talk to strangers. 11) Obey trick or treat hours set by the community. 12) Discard all unwrapped or loosely wrapped items.

At home: 1) Give non-edible treats (i.e.: stickers, pencils, money, gift certificates). 2) Use a flashlight to light up the jack-o-lantern instead of a candle. 3) Make sure the doorway is uncluttered.

Call the local police department and Holy Family Hospital's Poison Control Center at (708) 297-1800, ext. 1017 with any questions about suspicious looking treats. Be safety smart and have a Happy Halloween!

Planning financially for having a child

When a couple decides to start a family, the financial obligations and related emotional strain can be overwhelming. Recent studies indicate a child most likely will cost parents more than $20,000 even before he or she begins kindergarten.

Too often, couples don't realize the impact of this added financial crunch until after the child is born.

Viviana Ploper, acting program director for the Child & Family Counseling Center in Chicago, recommends that couples consider the cost of a child before rushing into parenthood. She says the added financial strain often increases stress and tension between couples.

"For example, one of the parents may need to take an additional part time job to help support the child. If this happens, further ramifications may ensue, such as child care considerations," she says.

"Couples need to communicate about their expectations," Ploper adds. "Does the wife want to stay at home and raise the child? Will the husband be the primary care giver? Will both parents work? These financial and lifestyle issues should be addressed before the child arrives."

Some couples in the metropolitan Chicago area consult with professional financial planners regarding their finances and necessary adjustments before embarking on parenthood, according to Karen Morse, financial planner in the Oak Brook office of IDS Financial Services Inc., the nation's leading financial planning firm.

"The first step a financial planner takes is to develop a financial inventory - determining the value of a couple's current assets, liabilities and monthly expenses," Morse says.

IDS Financial Services Inc., an American Express company, is the nation's leading financial planning firm. Its products and services which are distributed by 300 planners in the Chicago area include financial planning, mutual funds, investment certificates, insurance and annuity products, lending and brokerage operations.

A planner then will work with a couple to establish financial goals. With this information, a financial plan will be developed to chart a course of action for the couple to help them achieve their goals and use financial resources more effectively.

Morse offered several financial concerns to keep in mind when planning to have a child.

"First, keep in mind that your investment strategies will most likely often change when you have a child. Many parents tend to favor long-term, growth investments. A financial goal, such as a child's college education, often warrants long-term investments. There also may be opportunities to reduce annual taxable income," she says. Trusts, certain mutual funds, tax-free bonds and the Uniform Gift (or Transfer) to Minors Act are a few examples of parents' investment options.

Secondly, Morse recommends that parents draw up a will. "Instead of leaving a legacy for your child, you may be leaving legal hassles and uncertainty due to death without a will," she adds.

In a will, parents may name a guardian who will be responsible for the child's upbringing. This person also may be responsible for handling the child's finances or another person may be named for this responsibility. Alternate conservators and guardians should be named in the will, according to Morse.

Because a child's functional abilities usually change as he or she grows and develops, the new regulations reflect this variability. They include specific guidelines for considering how a child functions as he or she ages and provides examples of the kinds of things children can do at age groups of birth to age 1, 1 to 3, 3 to 6, 6 to 12, 12 to 16, and 16 to 18.

Children of divorce need support

All too often, the victims of divorce end up being the children. Parents who want to help prevent this from happening can encourage their children to join one of two groups which help children and adolescents cope with divorce. Both are offered through Lutheran General Hospital's (LGH) Outpatient Mental Health Services, Suite 360, 1875 Dempster, and are led by clinical psychologist Adrienne Allert, Ph.D.

The group for children is scheduled from 6 to 7 p.m. Fridays and the adolescent group runs from 5 to 6 p.m. Wednesdays.

The groups provide participants with ways to deal with anger, guilt, fear and loneliness; after strategies to avoid being put in the middle of parents' problems; and suggest techniques for handling angry parents, changes at home, school problems and family pressure.

The cost for the groups is $45 per session which is often covered by insurance. The groups run for 10 weeks. For more information or to register, call Outpatient Mental Health Services (708) 696-5880.

MaineStay offers parenting workshops

Sibling rivalry was the topic of a free workshop for parents sponsored by MaineStay, Maine Township's Youth Services Department.

"He Hit My First," led by MaineStay therapist Lori Baer, M.S.W., gave parents hints on how to avoid the pitfalls of sibling rivalry and discover direct and creative ways to reduce competition and intervene effectively.

The next parent workshop, "Cluing In On Your Child's Self-Esteem," will be held Monday, Nov. 16, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. in the Park Ridge Public Library, 20 S. Prospect Avenue.

The seminar will advise parents on how to help their children feel good about themselves as a key to good behavior. When tensions build and stress increases, the best intentions often go by the wayside. Parents can learn simple techniques that can increase their rapport with their children, give a break from stress and nurture their children's self-esteem.

Besides parent education, MaineStay provides youth and family counseling, administers a model juvenile restitution program, coordinates a drop-in center and supports local substance-abuse prevention programs. For further information on MaineStay services or to register for these parent education programs, call 823-0650.

Announce qualifications for children's disability

Many people know that there are new rules for deciding whether a child is disabled under the Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program. But there still may be questions regarding what the new childhood disability rules are.

Under these new rules, children are considered disabled and eligible for benefits under the SSI program if their impairment(s) substantially affects their ability to function the way that children of a similar age normally would.

Because a child's functional abilities usually change as he or she grows and develops, the new regulations reflect this variability. They include specific guidelines for considering how a child functions as he or she ages and provides examples of the kinds of things children can do at age groups of birth to age 1, 1 to 3, 3 to 6, 6 to 12, 12 to 16, and 16 to 18.

Other new regulations provide detailed guidelines for evaluating mental disorders in children and, for the first time, specifically cover drug and alcohol dependency disorders, anxiety disorders, attention deficit hyperactivity disorder, personality disorders, autism, tic disorders such as Tourette's Syndrome, and anorexia.

The SSI program now provides assistance to more than half a million disabled children with limited family income and resources. And while a wide-ranging outreach campaign is underway to locate children who might qualify for SSI disability benefits under these criteria, more remains to be done.

Those who know of a disabled or blind child who may qualify for SSI payments, should refer the child, parent, or guardian to a Social Security office. Appointments can be made by calling toll-free number, 1-800-772-1213, any business day from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Also, those who know someone whose SSI claim as a disabled child received a less than fully favorable decision, or whose childhood disability benefits were terminated between Jan. 1, 1980, and Feb. 27, 1990, advise the claimant -- or someone who can act on the claimant's behalf -- to contact Social Security for a review of the past claim under the new rules.

For more information about the SSI program and childhood disability, call Social Security Administration at 1-800-772-1213.

Parenting class for adoptive parents

Many couples who plan on becoming adoptive parents may wonder what to expect when they bring their new baby home. In order to teach these couples how to care for their infant, Lutheran General Hospital (LGH), 1775 Dempster Street, hosts a parenting class specially tailored for adoptive parents.

Issues covered in the course include such topics as basic care of the newborn, safety, doctor visits and immunizations, as well as adjustment to parenthood.

LGH pediatric and obstetrical services are two of the busiest programs in the metropolitan area. Services for children include pediatric subspecialties such as Pediatric Intensive Care, Infectious Disease, Cardiology and Hematology/Oncology. The hospital's obstetrical services include a perinatal center which treats high-risk pregnant women and babies, infertility treatment and general obstetrical services.

"Couples who go through a pregnancy have nine months to prepare for their baby's arrival. Adoptive parents, on the other hand, are sometimes notified only days in advance that they will be receiving a baby," adds Hoffman.

The Adoptive Parents' Class is one of a series developed by Lutheran General to address the needs of specific groups.

Other classes include a Grandparenting class and an Infant CPR and Safety class.

Masks add to spectacle of "Phantom"

The ultimate ghoul is normally thought of as Gaston Leroux's fiendish Phantom, however, in Candlelight Dinner Playhouse's new version of the classic thriller (from Authors Arthur Kopit and Maury Yeston) the Phantom is a sensitive sympathetic character who shields his grotesqueness with a variety of different masks depicting his mood -- sorrowful, tormented, joyful. Greenwood was assisted by Bill Henderson and Dave Herzog of Animart Puppet Theatre. He first sculpted the masks in clay; made negative plaster casts; formed positive masks in neo-prime rubber; then painted and decorated them with velvets, tapestries and pearls. Greenwood weathered the initial setback of having to create new masks for Phantom Scott. Cheffer when the originally cast Ken Ward fell at home making him unable to do the show. For tickets to Phantom, write or visit Candlelight Dinner Playhouse, 5620 S. Harlem Ave., Summit, IL 60501 or phone (708) 496-3000.

Whiplash: why it's so common

by Dr. Nancy E. Bayer

A whiplash injury happens when a person's head is suddenly snapped forward, then backward. The symptoms of whiplash are headaches, stiffness and neck pain. Blurred vision and tingling sensations in the arms and shoulders are caused by irritation to the nerves, caused by even a slight misalignment of the vertebrae in the neck.

A MISUNDERSTANDING

There is quite a bit of misunderstanding within the general population concerning the subject of whiplash. The most common of these concerns the amount of force needed to cause a whiplash injury. Recent studies on the subject have shown that the normal human neck can withstand a forward motion force of 50 g's - that is, 50 times the force of gravity - before producing an injury. However, when subjected to a sudden backward motion, the human neck can not withstand anything approaching this considerable amount of force. In fact, any force greater than 5 g's will misalign the vertebrae in the neck. If one considers that 3,400 pounds of force is created by an automobile traveling 25 miles per hour, it is easy to see that the impact of a crash at this speed will exert several tons of force on the crash victim's neck. This is more than enough to cause a significant injury. In fact, almost every person involved in an automobile accident suffers some degree of whiplash injury.

OTHER CAUSES

Although auto accidents are the most common cause of whiplash, many other kinds of accidents can create severe stresses on the neck. Sudden falls, bumps on the head or a shove from behind can cause rapid motion of the neck. For these reasons, it is important to visit your chiropractic physician immediately after any incident that might injure the neck. Through careful examination and gentle corrective adjustments if needed, we can help you heal the inflammation to nerve tissues and avoid serious neck problems later.

Remember, a whiplash that took place fifteen to twenty-five years ago can cause problems later in life. Call Dr. Bayer today. Why suffer? Most automobile no-fault cases are accepted with no out of pocket expense.

For any information regarding how you may be helped with chiropractic care, please contact Dr. Nancy E. Bayer of Bayer Chiropractic at (708) 825-8855 in Park Ridge.

Glenbrook Hospital to hold cholesterol screening

To help community residents determine if they are at risk of having heart problems, The Glenbrook Hospital is holding a cholesterol screening on Saturday, Oct. 24, from 8 to 11 a.m., in the Enclosed Lobby, at The Glenbrook Hospital, 2100 Pringsten Rd., Glenview.

In addition, there will be information available on simple ways to reduce cholesterol. Some suggestions include: modifying diet, moderate exercise to stay fit, practicing stress management, and quitting smoking.

Letters To The Editor

It's time to give Niles taxpayers a break

Dear Editor,

We are very disturbed by the ability of the Niles Park District Commissioners to have such extreme power over the citizens of Niles. It's hard to believe we have this type of system, where 3 out of 5 people (a majority), can decide to spend unlimited amounts of taxpayers' money for what they seem to feel will better our community. For example, the current Park Board is spending thousands of OUR TAXPAYERS' DOLLARS in an attempt to prevent the residents of Niles from voting on an issue that is of importance to everyone. Is it in the best interest of Niles residents to be denied their right to vote on issues?

This type of governing body, with no means of checks and balances, could soak the taxpayers with outlandish bills, and we can do nothing about it. It only takes 3 out of 5 votes to do it. This is not only true for the present Park District Board, but any future boards as well.

We are a young couple who have lived in Niles all our lives. We've chosen to stay in Niles as adults, because we feel the Village is run very efficiently. We would like to say the same about our parks. We are not involved in any programs at the Park District, but we are concerned taxpayers. As so many people do, we work very hard just to "make ends meet", and it is appalling to see the money we work so hard for, get spent like there's no tomorrow.

We didn't realize how much money the taxpayers of Niles could be saving (if the Park District was incorporated into the Village), until we looked at our tax bill. We pay more taxes to the Park District than to the whole Village! Niles has revenue coming in from multiple sources, whereas the Park District relies on our property taxes to operate. Isn't it time to give the taxpayers a break, rather than to break the taxpayers?

Dave and Sandie Beierwaltes
Concerned Niles residents

Questions actions of the Niles Park District

To the People of Niles:

I have lived in Niles for quite some time now and am really shocked and surprised at the actions taken by some of the people you and I have elected to office.

Let us just look at the Park District Commissioners. Since we have elected some of these new commissioners, unprecedented and strange things have happened to our park district. The Park Board has voted to study our leisure time and recreational time. Cost $30,000. Sometime back they spent $20,000 for another study on the ice rink (?) and swimming pool (?) complex. Hey! That's $50,000 of your and my tax bucks.

You think that's the end? Nope! They are spending additional tax monies ($23,000) so far, to fight you and me in court so we will not be allowed to voice our vote on the referendum on November 3, 1992. They have not asked me (or made a study) of how I would vote, for or against them, on the referendum. Did they ask you? They just have the unmitigated gall to tell me in court. You and I don't have the right to vote. You think that's something! Try this for size! They are using your tax dollars and my tax dollars to fight you and me in court so we can't vote for or against anything. Russia got rid of that system just a little bit ago!

I have just read the neighborhood papers. Guess what? You and I have the League of Women Voters telling the Park District "that's the way to go". Here you have a supposedly (?) non-partisan, non-political (?) organization, who is telling us they only take positions and act on selected governmental issues. Well... they better get some neutral members to restudy this position and help you and me! We also have not heard too much about the $2.8 million dollar bond issue we and our heirs are saddled with.

The Park District has a lawyer they pay a retainer to and he (or the Park Board) has gone out and hired another lawyer (one?) who is experienced in fighting the rabble (you and me) of Niles. Cost so far, $23,000. I thank you and appreciate your listening to me!

An ardent supporter of beautiful Niles,
Ray Grochoccki

Citizens For A Better Niles explain issue

The Citizens For A Better Niles feel there are six strong points which Niles voters should consider when they go to the polls on November 3 regarding the referendum of incorporating the Park District into the Village.

1. The Park District is spending our tax dollars (an undisclosed sum) in an attempt to prevent us from exercising our Constitutional right to vote on this referendum. Tens of thousands of dollars have been spent thus far to deny you the freedom to voice your opinion.

2. In the present system of the Park District government, a majority of three out of five commissioners have total control over millions of our tax dollars. They do not have to answer to anyone. If the Village was to take over the park, a recreational commission would be formed. This commission would make recommendations to the Village Trustees, who in turn would vote on issues. This would be creating a much needed system of checks and balances, and more control over frivolous spending.

3. Under the present system of dual government, we are duplicating equipment and maintenance facilities, thus costing the taxpayers more money.

4. If the Village was to take over the Park District, the taxpayers would save thousands of dollars on utility bills. The Village does not pay for gas or electricity in their non-revenue buildings, whereas the Park District pays the full amount of these utilities. In 1992, $145,000 was budgeted in electricity alone by the Park District. This sum could be drastically reduced, putting more money in our pockets.

5. The Village of Niles has sources of revenue other than just property taxes. The Park District gets 90% of its revenue from our property taxes, and 10% from program fees. The Village gets 10% of its revenue from property taxes, and the rest from sales taxes and other revenues. Many Golf Mill shoppers come from neighboring villages and therefore can be contributing to our park services. Years ago, residents spent less tax dollars on the Park District than the Village. Check your tax bills. You are now paying MORE for the Park District than you do for the entire Village!

6. One of our biggest concerns is the way the Niles Park District is trying to scare and fool people by circulating inflammatory information and intimidating employees with innuendos and threats. For example, pre-school moms were recently handed a notice stating that the Village would possibly discontinue tot programs. NOTHING COULD BE FURTHER FROM THE TRUTH.

The Citizens For A Better Niles feel an educated public will make the right choice on the referendum issue at the polls on Nov. 3. Only 7 states, including Illinois, have park districts which are separate from the municipal governments. We feel Niles will surely benefit from eliminating the waste of having the governing bodies separate.

For more information, call Rick Sheridan, chairman, at 698-6493.

Letters To The Editor

The present Niles Park system must be changed

Letter to the Editor:

Don't let the scare tactics and innuendos on literature being circulated by the Friends of the Niles Parks Committee cloud the facts of the very important referendum issue to dissolve the Niles Park District and create a Recreation Department in the Village of Niles.

The Niles Park District has spent tens of thousands of our tax dollars since January of 1992. What should scare all of us is the fact that it only takes 3 members of their 5 member Board (a majority) to be able to do or spend anything they want without anyone stopping them.

A perfect example of this is that they are spending thousands (an undisclosed sum) of OUR tax dollars in lawyers fees while trying to keep the referendum off the ballot. They are trying to deny our Constitutional right to petition our local government to vote on an issue using our money, and we can't stop them! THIS SCARES ME!

Do not be fooled, you ARE paying and will pay more in tax dollars for the money they are spending now in their attempts to try to appease and please the voters. I want to make it clear that this is not a personal issue, it is a MONEY issue! I for one, do not want 3 people (any 3 people) to control millions of Niles tax dollars without any checks and balances. I will certainly not stand still for them using my tax dollars in an attempt to keep me from my Constitutional right to vote!

The present system MUST be changed. I urge you to get the facts on this very important issue before going to the polls on November 3. If you decide to vote YES on the referendum to dissolve the Niles Park District, the Village will have a chance to put your tax dollars to work with a system of checks and balances and put more of it BACK IN YOUR POCKETS!

A. B. Dick suffering from terminal illness

Dear Mr. Besser:

How many thousands of Nilesites have, at one time or another, worked for the Niles-based A. B. Dick Company? It's one of the largest companies in our village. How many Bugle readers are aware that A. B. Dick is suffering from a terminal illness? Like cancer, it is slowly being chipped away by cut-backs and layoffs. Slowly, in the past several years, its employee count has dwindled. Like true fighters, the few employees left have made it through major surgery, radiation and chemotherapy. But the cancer still grows. With reluctance, some employees still cling to the hope of a "miracle cure." But others have resigned themselves to the fact that the end is near.

When the end comes, will there be any funds left for severance pay and other benefits everyone thought were theirs? Will newspapers and television stations report about the demise like they did Midway Airlines? Will there be help with employment and job training like Midway got because of all the media attention? Or will it die quietly with only close friends and families knowing what it has suffered?

Employees are people. People with families to support. People who had the American Dream. They worked hard and bought homes in Niles, sent their children to Niles schools and some may have hoped to retire here. But the dream is but a nightmare now. How can people teach their children the value of hard work when sometimes hard work only gets you a place in the unemployment line?

Yes, the end is very near. Will it make headlines or will it be just another embarrassing statistic that is better left forgotten? With all our progress, sometimes we still can't mention the word "cancer."

I know someone who has made it through surgery, radiation and chemo. Therefore, I remain:

Name withheld by request.

AFL-CIO endorses Ralph Capparelli

The Illinois State AFL-CIO has announced the endorsement of Ralph Capparelli for State Representative in the 13th District in the November 3 general election.

Richard J. Walsh, President of the 1.2 million member organization, said that he was looking forward to working with Capparelli in the 88th General Assembly. "If working men and women are to make even the most modest of gains in the future, we will need the assistance of people like Ralph Capparelli. Capparelli has been a good friend to working families; he was a co-sponsor of our family leave legislation. Illinois workers deserve the right to take unpaid leave when their children are sick; they deserve adequate and affordable health care; they deserve the right to strike. The men and women they elect this fall will determine whether or not those goals become reality."

Capparelli was endorsed at a July 9 meeting of the AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education (COPE).

Remember to Buckle Up!

Maine Township expresses thanks for hurricane aid

To the Editor:

The local business community responded immediately. Banquets by Brigante, PlainsBank of Des Plaines, K-Mart of Des Plaines, and Pepsi Cola Corp. fed our volunteers. Large quantities of packing supplies, water, food and other necessities for the hurricane victims were donated by the Des Plaines and Niles K-Marts, Niles Venture store, Arvey Paper Office Products of Niles, and many container companies.

We in Maine Township appreciated the help we received during two monumental floods in recent years and welcomed the opportunity to assist other disaster victims. The response to Operation Andrew from our community and people throughout the Chicago area was overwhelming.

Sincerely,
Joan B. Hall
Maine Township Supervisor

Questions LGH smoking policy

Dear Editor:

I spoke to you about Lutheran General Hospital which has the highest priced rooms and they claim a person can't smoke when they are there. I'm talking about a private room that a patient is the only person in the room.

One that is discrimination. How can a patient feel comfortable, especially when going in for an operation knowing he has to stay about 4 days and without smoke? I think a smoker would be a basket case and not a good candidate for surgery on a spine or any kind of surgery.

Here are some of the sample prices of private rooms in different hospitals: Lutheran General, $555; Glenbrook, $400; Evanston, $400; Rush North Shore, $415; St. Francis, $430; St. Joseph, $429; and Holy Family, $445.

The Hospital treats people like they do not count, they just want the money. The personal touch is all gone, they used to make people feel good and not just like they are a money machine.

Sincerely,
David Marks

Sincerely,
M. Nevin

Blaine calls sign ban unfair

Bill Blaine, Democratic state senate candidate from the 28th District, requested that the Mount Prospect Village Board temporarily suspended its ban on campaign signs on public property during election campaigns last night, arguing that, "This ban provides another unfair advantage to incumbents such as my opponent. We need to abolish the current incumbent protection system in Illinois and create a level playing field."

"The Mount Prospect ban limits political speech by challengers, making them even more dependent on raising money. It directly benefits incumbents who already enjoy widespread name recognition," Blaine commented. "Mount Prospect should suspend the ban until November 3rd and give me an equal chance with my opponent."

Blaine pointed out that incumbent legislators like Marty Butler are allowed to mail their district newsletters at state expense as late as September 30.

Blaine proposed that one districtwide mailing per general election, covering all candidates, be publicly financed. The mailing would be similar to the information provided for the school funding constitution amendment.

"The voters deserve a real choice when they go to the polls," Blaine observed. "Democracy benefits when citizens have access to basic information on all candidates, both challengers and incumbents. That ensures a full and free discussion of ideas."

POWERFUL PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT
You who solve all problems, who lightens all roads so that I can obtain my goals. You who give me the divine gift to forgive & to forget all evil against me & that in all instances of my life You are with me. I want in this short prayer to thank You for all things & to confirm that I never want to be separated from You even & in spite of all material illusions. I wish to be with You in eternal glory. Thank You for your mercy toward me & mine. The person must say this prayer for 3 consecutive days, after 3 days the favor requested will be granted even though it may appear difficult. This prayer must be published immediately after the favor is granted without mentioning the favor. H.S.

HAPPY 30TH BIRTHDAY SUE!

SWANCC to expand commercial recycling

Widespread expansion of commercial recycling will be the major goal of a new coalition announced today by the leaders of the Solid Waste Agency of Northern Cook County (SWANCC), Northwest Suburban Association of Commerce and Industry (NSACI) and the Northwest Municipal Conference (NWMC).

The joint announcement was made by William Abolt, Executive Director of SWANCC, Laura Davis, Executive Director of the Northwest Suburban Association of Commerce and Industry and Rita Athas, Northwest Municipal Conference Executive Director.

"Now that residential curbside recycling programs are firmly established in all SWANCC member communities, we believe the time has come to begin a concerted effort to work on comprehensive expansion of commercial recycling policies that will be uniform through the region," said Abolt.

"Today we are announcing a cooperative initiative with one of the region's best organized business associations to launch an accelerated four month study aimed at developing a broad-based commercial recycling program," he noted.

Representatives of the business group said the joint effort serves as a strong indication that the project can produce a workable commercial recycling plan.

"Many businesses are keenly aware of the value of a comprehensive recycling program. We will be working with the area residents to make a significant contribution toward solid waste disposal problems," said Davis.

"Given the diversity of the commercial sector, the types of materials involved and the geographical considerations, however, a comprehensive recycling effort for the commercial sector requires a strong, concentrated effort," said Davis.

Davis explained that beginning in October the three organizations will begin a detailed fact finding effort with national and regional solid waste disposal firms to determine present recycling capabilities and future recycling plans.

She noted that in November a second round table will start involving SWANCC and NWMC officials and top business and property management leaders to determine a list of target recycling materials, potential markets for the recyclables and logistical concerns.

Abolt and Davis explained that a central part of the project will be to develop a plan that can and will be implemented. "We want a program that achieves results for both community recyclers and business," said Abolt.

"Consumer interest in recycling and source reduction has already brought about some tremendous changes in the business community in packaging and marketing. We see more of that happening all the time," Davis noted.

"The planning effort will enable business to determine what services solid waste disposal companies can offer, estimate any additional costs and gauge the disposal savings that will occur through recycling," Abolt noted.

Niles sets Red Ribbon Campaign

Niles West junior Eric Gurewitz cuts red ribbons to be distributed during Red Ribbon Week, Oct. 24 to Nov. 1. Students, parents and community members are asked to wear a red ribbon during that week to signify their support for a drug-free community.

Niles Township community members are asked to take a stand on drugs during National Red Ribbon Week, October 24 to November 1. By wearing a red ribbon or displaying one on cars or in windows, community members will show their commitment to a healthy, drug-free lifestyle and the creation of a drug-free environment for adults, children and youth.

The Niles Township Red Ribbon Campaign is a joint effort of the National Federation of Parents for Drug Free Youth and local community agencies and organizations to promote alcohol and drug awareness and prevention education activities and programs. State Rep. Jeff Schoenberg, the Honorary Chairman of the Niles Township campaign, is joined in the effort by all Niles Township elementary and high schools, The Response Center, Township Reachout to Youth, Niles Township village government and park districts, local Chamber of Commerce and other businesses and organizations.

Red Ribbons will be distributed to every student through the schools, and window flyers will be sent to parents. Businesses and individuals who wish to support the campaign with a donation will receive posters for display.

Niles North and Niles West high schools are also participating as members of the Central Suburban League in bringing a drug-free message to all athletic contests. From Oct. 24 to Nov. 1, red ribbons will be distributed at each home athletic event, and a statement will be read which outlines the league's belief that there are alternatives to drugs. In addition, the football players will wear special red ribbon game decals on their helmets at that week's game.

Edison, Argonne seek "artificial intelligence"

A research arm of Commonwealth Edison, the nation's largest producer of nuclear generated electricity, has entered into a partnership with a federal laboratory to develop advanced computer software for its nuclear plants that will be guided by "artificial intelligence."

The three-year agreement between Edison and the U.S. Department of Energy's Argonne National Laboratory, one of the nation's largest federally funded research laboratories, is part of a technology initiative by the government to turn high-tech research into high-tech products and services that will improve the nation's competitive position in the global marketplace.

"Artificial intelligence" programs use computers to simulate human reasoning processes, but do not replace human judgment. The Edison-Argonne system will function as a sort of high-tech detective, peering deep inside complex systems to ensure they are operating properly.

The research program will first consider reactor cooling systems.

How does your IRA stack up?

Retirement dollars and common sense by Jeffrey Cardella Edward D. Jones & Co.

You have worked hard to provide for a secure retirement. Your savings should work hard too, beginning with your IRA. When you retire will you have enough to provide the lifestyle you want? If you're not sure, then it might be time to find out.

If you know how much you have been contributing and what rate of return you are earning, the worth of your IRA upon retirement can be calculated. If it's not enough to meet your needs, there are many different investment options that may help meet your goals. Many offices are equipped with computer programs that can make this calculation while you wait absolutely free. You can then judge for yourself if your IRA stacks up.

Because money compounds tax deferred in an IRA, even a small increase in the rate you are earning today can make a big difference when you retire. Let's look at an example.

Mary Doe, age 45, contributes $2,000 per year to an IRA earning 7 percent. If she retires at age 65, Mary's IRA will be worth $87,730.35.

If however, Mary was able to earn 8.5 percent on her IRA, her savings would grow to $104,978.12. That's a difference of $17,247.77. When it comes to your retirement dreams, don't take chances.

You should know that it's easy to transfer your IRA and you can do so without an IRS penalty. Remember, at age 70 1/2, you must begin taking minimum distributions from your IRAs. You are required to calculate your distribution for each IRA that you own. By consolidating your accounts, you save yourself time and trouble because you make only one calculation.

Meunier appointed controller at bank

Millie K. Meunier has been appointed controller of the First National Bank of Morton Grove, announced president Charles R. Langfeld.

Mrs. Meunier is past treasurer of the Morton Grove Jaycees Womens Club and has a degree in business from Oakton Community College.

She resides in Morton Grove with her husband George and son Jeff.

Skaja, Beusse, Kosiba...

In an interview with The Bugle on Monday, Skaja said, "I'm in support of the referendum one hundred percent...I feel this is best for the people of Niles."

Skaja noted the many people programs now run for Niles residents as evidence of the priority the village will have in running park programs.

Kosiba said in a column written for this week's Bugle, "The Niles Park District will have to raise your taxes to make major improvements and land acquisitions to better your park system. The Village of Niles, because of sales tax revenues, will not need to raise taxes to give you quality recreation."

Besides tax issues, Kosiba also said there would be a money savings if Niles takes over the park system. Kosiba also favors the checks and balances over an appointed board, rather than the decision-making process when a simple three-fifths majority is needed, as on the current park board.

Lastly, Kosiba said the current park administrator needs to be free from the interference of an elected board in the day to day operation of the parks.

Only in a system where the park director answers to a village manager can this occur, said Kosiba.

Park Commissioner Skaja supports end of Niles Park Dist.

having to report to one person...I think that's a better way of running things. It is real hard to have to answer to five bosses. I just feel it is a better way of running a park district.

Bugle - What do you think the final vote on the referendum will be?

Skaja - I hope there's a lot of people who can see this is better for the people of Niles and the taxpayers of Niles. And if you think about it, what town is run better? I don't think there is any. And that's not to say the park district was ever run badly because I think our staff is tops. It's just that I think we need that extra little boost of money and administration. With this being an arm of the village, I think it can only make the park district better. Everything this village has done - with the free bus system and the seniors, they've always done an excellent job and I can't see them pushing the park district down on the ladder. This village has always been very people oriented.

Bugle - How has the board changed since March 1992?

Skaja - In the past 9 months, we've gone from a board I thought was progressive and had a lot of ideas and was moving in the right directions. Since then it has been pulled apart: one against the other, not a group.

Bugle - For what reason did the board not renew former Park Director Tom Lippert's contract?

Skaja - They had no real good reasons, I thought. How could a man, who one year before had such a high performance rating and, after an election, get such a low rating? Something was wrong. I guess they just didn't want that man.

Bugle - How much are you and Commissioner Elaine Heinen left out of park business by the board?

Skaja - It is absolute. You try and do things and they don't listen. You ask for certain things and get no response. It's gotten a little better since we've gotten a director because he's been a buffer.

Bugle - How do you think current Park Director Tim Royster is getting along?

Skaja - He's doing a very adequate job.

Bugle - Was the board ever going to close the ice rink?

Skaja - Never...it was never going to be closed.

Bugle - Why did the Park Board wait until April to start doing something about the rink if they knew it was in such terrible shape?

Skaja - We didn't know how bad it was until we could get engineers in there to find out how bad those leaks were. In anything of that magnitude it takes time. You can't just dive into it head first.

Bugle - Why didn't they start repairs earlier instead of waiting until April when they knew they couldn't possibly have it open in September?

Skaja - I think we kept hoping it wasn't as bad as it was. I think it was wishful thinking on our part.

Bugle - How would you describe the flurry of actions by the board in the past months?

Skaja - Everything they do now is like a band aid. Why now? Why not before?

Bugle - What is the attitude of the board about the upcoming election? Are they worried?

Skaja - I think they are. I think a lot of people are losing sight of a lot of different things. They are worrying a little too much about it. The damage has been done. They have to look at what's best for the people of Niles. Can we provide the same amount of service and not always have to be crying for money? With the villages we have the alternate funding of the sales tax. At this venture, I think this is what's best for the people of Niles.

Bugle - The attitude the public has is that you interviewed 50 people and Royster was number 51.

Skaja - That's not true. He was one of the top candidates which the search firm wanted us to consider. He was the best candidate to be interviewed, I felt, after all was said and done.

Bugle - What are your thoughts about the referendum today?

Skaja - I think a lot of people got the wrong idea. A lot of people think it is a power-grab by the Mayor - which is totally wrong. If people didn't light a fire underneath him with all their complaints...he never would have gotten involved. The Mayor got involved because people involved him.

Bugle - Do you think if Park President Carol Panek had never been elected, the Park District would be in the position they're in right now?

Skaja - No comment.

Bugle - Do you think she has an ulterior motive and wants to move on politically?

Skaja - You'll have to ask Carol.

Bugle - How's her general attitude been towards you?

Skaja - She hates my guts. People would tell me that when I'd be talking at a meeting that she'd be making faces. She considers me a kid...a punk, a Peck's bad boy. I've heard she thinks I'm Nick Blase's son.

In an attempt to block the November referendum, the Niles Park District hired outside attorney Michael LaVelle, as well as Park Attorney Gabriel Berrafato, to unsuccessfully seek its removal from the ballot. Advice on fall planting

According to Doug Aniballi, Amlings Flowerland's Senior Vice-President, celebrations such as Arbor Day have established spring as the time to plant trees. Aniballi adds however, that over the past several years, most homeowners have discovered that autumn is also an excellent planting season.

In some ways autumn is superior to spring. April showers can transform the good earth into messy mud, making hole-digging troublesome. By September and October the ground is drier and easier to work. Equally important, soil in autumn is warm, and new tree roots continue to sprout, even if summer growth has stopped. These roots give fall-planted trees a head start over those planted in the following spring.

Amplings offers nursery stock in two forms: containerized and balled-and-burlaped. Smaller size nursery stock is usually container grown. The soil and roots are held in a metal or plastic container, like a potted house plant.

Nursery stock is more often field grown. When it is dug out of the nursery, the root balls are tightly wrapped in burlap for easier handling.

Aniballi suggests that if delays occur before planting, keep roots of a waiting plant moist. Water a containerized plant as you would any large potted plant. With balled-and-burlaped plants, cover the wrapped ball with the mulch of wood chips or peat moss and occasionally water the mulch.

Aniballi offered the following advice on selecting a site for trees. "From a little acorn grew the great oak. Take to heart this adage when choosing sites for little oaks, maples, willows, and other eventually large trees. Do not plant these trees too close to the house, lot line, garden areas, or utility wires."

According to Aniballi, dig a hole twice the diameter of the root ball and half again as deep. As you work, heap the earth into separate piles of top and bottom soil.

The Amlings Vice-President advised working a few shovelfuls of peat moss plus some bone meal or superphosphate into the bottom of the hole and firm well. Then shovel in a mixture of two parts top soil to one part peat moss. Add enough so the top of the root ball will be even with the surrounding soil surface.

Balled-and-burlaped trees can be set into the ground as is. However, if the ball is held together with twine or a metal form, it is imperative that they be removed. Failure to remove these items could ultimately choke and eventually kill the tree. With containerized trees, cans must be removed before planting. Use tin snips to cut away resistant metal cans. Roots that encircle a bare root ball should be pulled loose and gently untangled.

Once the root ball is centered in the hole, add top soil until the hole is half filled. Settle the soil by tamping with a hoe and watering thoroughly. At this time, cut exposed twine to lay back the top of the burlap.

Aniballi added that many homeowners often fail to provide proper support for newly planted trees by failing to stake them. He stated that in preparation for staking a young tree, the homeowner should drive a pair of wooded stakes into the ground on opposite sides of, but not through the root ball.

Aniballi added that homeowners can facilitate beneficial deep watering by creating a basin around the base of the tree. Simply encircle the outer edge of the planting hole top with extra soil. Flood the watering basin several times to ensure that the entire root ball and below are staked. Then mulch the basin to conserve soil moisture and inhibit weeds.

Aniballi said that nursery-grown trees with compact root systems should not require drastic pruning at planting time. He added that weak or poorly placed branches should be removed and wounds over one inch in diameter should be treated with tree paint.

He also said that special care should be taken to shield tender bark of young trees with special treewrap tape. This can be done by starting at the base and spiraling the tape upward in overlapping layers as far as the first major branch. After wrapping is complete, secure both ends with cotton cord. After two years, the expandable tape can be removed.

Aniballi continued, once the previously outlined steps have been completed, the tree is ready to be fastened to the stakes for support. Protect the bark by threading the guy wire or rope through a short section of garden hose. Place this section around the tree trunk carefully. In two years the tree can stand unaided.

Aniballi suggests weekly waterings during the first growing season, especially when dry weather persists. He states that watering will help establish a healthy and vigorous root system, the key to a young tree's survival. Aniballi encourages homeowners to stop by their local Amplings Garden Centers and pick up a free copy of Amplings "How To Plant Booklet."
