Niles plans ribbon-cutting to exhibit new buses

In a continuous effort to improve service for residents, the Village of Niles has acquired 8 new buses to replace the current fleet. Although the new vehicles are similar in size and appearance to the current buses, they are handicap accessible - a lift device allows easy boarding and exiting of wheel chairs.

On Thursday, May 11, the Mayor and Village Board invite the public to a ribbon cutting ceremony to introduce the new buses. The ceremony will commence at 10 a.m. at the Niles Maintenance Building, 7104 Touhy Avenue.

Take advantage of this free service. The buses operate within the Village and stop at all major shopping centers and public facilities, including the Trident Community Center, YMCA, Golf Mill, Dempster and Civic Center Plazas, the Village Hall. Continued on Page 42

On the Other Hand

by Diane Miller

In light of the heinous acts of murder and the rampant crime taking place in our country we, as citizens and voters, have to take a closer look at our laws. There are states that allow John Q. Public to carry a gun in public and several other states are considering this law. In fact, if Timothy McVeigh, the suspect in the Oklahoma City bombing had been stopped by police in Florida instead of Oklahoma, he would not have been arrested since gun possession is legal in that state.

What does this tell us? The fact is our system isn't working if the average guy or gal has to carry a weapon in order to feel safe on the streets. Our police put their lives on the line every time they stop a vehicle for a traffic violation or answer a call on a disturbance. They tell us that even after they arrest a criminal, many times they are back on the street before the paperwork is completed.

Nearly every day we receive fax copy from Cook County State's Attorney Jack O'Malley on convictions and sentences. Last week one of them noted that last June, a 41 year old Bellwood man who tried to trap his ex-girlfriend and four other people in her home and then burn the house down was convicted and sentenced to 35 years in prison. It appears this man, angry because the woman had ended their relationship two weeks

Board okays video games, drive-thru bank

by Kathleen Quirsfeld

Three video games will soon be installed at Fluky's, 9645 Milwaukee, Niles. The installation was approved unanimously by the Niles Planning Commission and Zoning Board at their May 1 meeting.

Jack Drexler, 1768 W. Devon, Chicago, had requested the rezoning in order to keep his restaurant competitive with others in the vicinity. The games, he stated, would help him attract customers and particularly children's parties, which is a money-making venture in the suburbs.

In another matter, the Board approved a change in zoning from B-2 to B-2 Special Use for Donald Anderson of Park National Bank and Trust, 2958 N. Milwaukee, Chicago, for construction of a bank with a drive-thru window at 7840 Milwaukee, site of the former Shoney's Restaurant.

Larry Berg, an attorney, represented Park View Bank and was joined at the meeting by Alan Lucione, president of Park View Bank, and John Cortigan, the architect.

The Board approved the change unanimously with stipulation involving corrections for the outside lighting, outside access to the building, parking facilities, fencing and concealment of the outside mechanical equipment for purposes of preserving the view in the neighborhood.

The next meeting of the Zoning Board to be held June 5, will be at the Village Hall, 7601 N. Milwaukee, Niles.

Possession of cigarettes by teens now punishable by fine

Niles cracks down on teen smoking

by Kathleen Quirsfeld

It will now be unlawful for individuals under age 18 to possess cigarettes, cigars or smokeless tobacco in the Village of Niles. An amendment to Chapter 22, Section 22-120, was passed by the Village Board at its April 25 meeting, making it unlawful for minors to possess tobacco products.

Prior to this action, the statute only addressed those individuals who were selling to, distributing to, or buying tobacco products for minors.

The catalyst for the amendment came from Police Chief Ray Giovannelli who called the situation to the attention of Village Attorney Richard Troy after noticing several young teenagers smoking. Giovannelli realized there was no statute or ordinance to discourage them from doing so.

"The existing statute only prohibited the sale of cigarettes to minors," Troy told the 'Bugle. This ordinance is an attempt "to solve this problem," he said.

"Any minor who is in possession of smoking materials or is smoking will be subject to a $25 to $200 fine per offense. Parents or legal guardians who knowingly permit minors to smoke these products will also be cited and subject to the same fine, within the court's discretion.

Community Focus

Octogenarian shares memories with Skokie kids

By Joseph W. Zurawski

"I'm 86," says Skokie lifelong resident, Ted Ruesch, "my mind doesn't tend to work like it did." He had recently completed his 1994 income tax forms claiming that up until two years ago he would just mail them in.

But now, says Ruesch, "the government makes it so complicated," so he has to get the forms "checked over" before mailing them in.

Ruesch thinks out loud of days forty, sixty, eighty years ago, "things are not as good today, back then we didn't have all the worries like today."

He almost apologizes that he "doesn't remember much before (he) was six," when he began school in Niles Center, the former name of today's Skokie.

"Kids go for that history stuff!"

Yet as recently as two weeks ago he was called by the Skokie Historical Museum to "tell kids who are five, six years old," says Ruesch, about the community in which they live. Ruesch, who visits the museum frequently, says, the exhibits which are changed frequently, "bring back memories." So he shares with youngsters stories of greenhouses, of streets that were not paved, of a volunteer fire department He appears genuinely surprised when he says that the "kids kind of go for that stuff."

After Ruesch insisted several times that there is no more information in the museum than he could tell us, we assured him that only he could provide us with his own recollections and reflections, and flavor them with his own perspective, the very necessary ingredient that makes history come alive.

Eighty years ago Ruesch attended a school built "where the post office is today at Niles Center Road and Madison." There were about 18 in his class. There was no running water, they were outside toilets, and there was one girl "who walked from where Niles West is today, about a mile and a half," says Ruesch; "and she had good attendance."

His descriptions of the weeds in the streets in warmer weather, of the ruts during winter, and of the mud when it rained present visual images today's first graders easily understand.

Ruesch wishes that today's teens would have more interest in history. He tells a story he still relishes about November 11, 1918, the end of World War I when everybody celebrated.

"Five of us went into town to a bakery shop. They had all kinds of cans outside. There was a feed store right next to the grocery store. The feed store had bailing wire so we got the cans, tied them to the bailing wire and walked up and down Lincoln Avenue to celebrate."

The next day, says Ruesch, "when we had to go back to school, we thought we would get blamed for playing hooky but the teacher praised the hell out of us for being so patriotic to celebrate."

After completing grammar school, Ruesch worked as a caddy to get enough money to go on to business college in a few years. He says he will always remember the fifteen cents he received for his first job as a caddy.

He "learned to be a bookkeeper" he was in the dry cleaning business for 28 years, and during World War II service years, Ruesch recalls, he was responsible for the payroll of between 1,000 to 2,000 men while he was stationed in California and later in India. Ruesch doesn't speak to kindly of today's computers claiming, "a computer is the biggest trouble there is."

Kidnapped with two other guys
One other trouble Ruesch had was the day he "was kidnapped with two other guys," who were "trying to get us to join the union." Earlier that same day, while at work, he remembers "big Lincoln cars going around the block." "Then, a couple of guys came in who said they wanted to talk."

Ruesch recalls being taken to a tavern with "guys walking around with guns on their hips." He says the ploy was to "scare the hell out of my boss." But, "my boss had political pull," says Ruesch, "and made them let us go. After that, there were no problems."

As Ruesch collects a thought, mentally organizes it to present it as clearly and accurately as possible, he frequently explains the importance of a balanced viewpoint and getting information from other sources, it is difficult to convince him that his careful approach to the facts as he sees them convince us he is as close to the truth as anyone is likely to get.

At 86 Ted Ruesch still reflects some of the impatience and restlessness of youth. Ruesch says he "takes care of the place," speaking of his home where he still lives alone, he frequently walks "around town every day," he says, and goes past "some of the old buildings still standing." In the evening he is very busy working with wood and other items that attract him which he turns into various forms of folk art that decorate his apartment.

Las summer Ruesch met one of his classmates from first grade. "It was at Dominick's," says Ruesch, "she and another girl from the same grade live about a block apart in Morton Grove."

Ruesch only smiles when asked about the last time he saw this girl he recognized from the first grade.

Memory. Failing memory?

All of us should remember and see so clearly as does Ted Ruesch after 86 years.

Heidi's Bakery helps bombing victims

By Rosemary Tiro

When Heidi Schuerstedt, owner of Heidi's Bakery, 7633 Milwaukee Ave., Niles, heard about the tragic terrorist bomb blast in Oklahoma City April 19, she said to herself, "There's got to be something we can do. Then she thought of doing something from the business. And when husband Michael heard on the radio that a Chicago restaurant was donating part of its receipts from the April 22-23 weekend, Heidi decided that her bakery would follow suit.

On Monday, May 8, out of respect for the victims of the tragedy in Oklahoma City, 20 percent of all sales at Heidi's Bakery will be contributed to charities involved in the relief effort.

Heidi said this was the first time the bakery, opened last September, had engaged in any charitable endeavor. She said she has worked for the homeless with a youth group at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Mt. Prospect, but this is the first time the bakery, has been actively involved.

Those who may be dieting or not in the mood for baked goods can drop a few coins in the canister Heidi will have on the counter.

"Mother's Day and Divorce: Meeting the Challenges," a free community education program presented by Forest Health Systems, will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. on Tuesday, May 9 at the Novick Auditorium of Forest Hospital, 555 Wilson Lane, Des Plaines. "Mother's Day is a time to celebrate the rewards of parenthood, but for moms who are coping with a divorce, or striving to make a blended family work, the pleasures may be overshadowed by the challenges," notes Rick Tivers, L.C.S.W., A.C.S.W., who will be presenting the program.

According to Tivers, who is co-director of The Center for Divorce Recovery at Forest, "Divorced moms face special difficulties that our program will address, including helping their children to deal with the hurt, anger and shame of divorce and how to avoid creating another dysfunctional relationship." The Center for Divorce Recovery at Forest Health Systems provides an intensive therapeutic focus on divorce-related problems. The center offers counseling and psychotherapy, support and therapy groups, comprehensive evaluation services and educational workshops for adults, children and families.

S.I.J. 55 Plus Club

Our 18th Anniversary Party held on April 27 at the Chateau Ritz was a huge success. It seems that Thursday, instead of Sunday for our parties is the perfect day. The social hour, the food, hors d'oeuvres were delicious and plentiful. Mario and his Society Orchestra with Mario, Louie, John were great. They kept our feet-a-dancing all day.

A most enjoyable day was had by all. Thanks to Rudy Seifert, and his committee for hosting the party, and to all for coming. Those of you who didn't attend, passed up the chance to take part in the fun day. We had our annual Grand March led by Irene Seifert, Florence Lencioni and Ann Romeo, with the members all joining in. Great fun.

In a few weeks it will be Mother's Day. Let us give praise and prayers to all Mothers, whether or not they are still with us, who have given of themselves day in and day out. God Bless our Mothers, Grandmothers and Great-Grandmothers. "Happy Mother's Day."

Happy Birthday wishes to those celebrating a birthday this month. Hearts, flowers and best wishes to those couples celebrating their Wedding Anniversaries, especially to Helen and George Korda, who treated the club to biscuits and coffee at our April 6 meeting.

Also, those who celebrated April Anniversaries, Josephine and Ray Brown, Joann and Mike Provenzano, and Jean and Leonard Arendt.

Our May anniversary couples are: Ann and Vincent Adinolfi, Bette and Bill Fraser, Rose and Bernard Majewski, Dolores and Jerome Mostek, Phyllis and Stanley Rakoczy, Elaine and James Rutter. Congratulations to all and many more.

In your daily prayers remember all our members and their families that are sick or hospitalized and all our deceased members especially our sympathy goes to Rose Tomaska and family on the loss of her husband Joseph. Please keep him in your prayers.

A free blood pressure clinic is offered from 9 to 10 a.m. on Tuesday, May 9 in the Flickinger Senior Center.

MORTON GROVE HOMECARE SERVICE

The cost of a meal is by donation with the suggested contribution being $1.25. Up to 60 diners are served each day and reservations are required. For more information about the lunches or about transportation, call the Morton Grove Senior Hot Line at 470-5223.

DEPRESSION: A SERIOUS BUT TREATABLE ILLNESS. Everyone gets the blues now and then. It's part of life. But when there is little joy or pleasure after visiting with friends or after seeing a good movie, there may be a more serious problem. A depressed mood that stays around for a while, without let-up, can change the way a person thinks or feels. Doctors call this "clinical depression."

Being "down in the dumps" over a period of time like this is not a normal part of growing old, but it is a common problem. An older person who feels this way needs medical help. For most people, depression can be treated successfully. "Talk" therapies, drugs, or other methods of treatment can ease the pain of depression. There is no reason to suffer.

As a person ages, the signs of the disease are much more likely to be dismissed as crankiness or moods of "old age." Depression can also be tricky to recognize. Confusion or attention problems caused by depression can sometimes mimic the symptoms of Alzheimer's disease or other disorders of the brain. Mood changes and common symptoms of depression are sometimes the result of side effects of drugs commonly taken by older patients for high blood pressure and heart disease. Depression in late life also frequently occurs with other chronic diseases, making diagnosis difficult and treatment challenging. Depression in older people may not be easy to diagnose, but it should not be ignored because it typically responds to appropriate treatment. Morton Grove senior citizens who would like to talk more about depression may call Morton Grove Family Services at 965-7066.

For more information about these senior services and recreation programs, call the Morton Grove Senior Hot Line at 470-5223, or the Prairie View Community Center at 965-7447. To receive the "Seniors in Morton Grove" newsletter, send $2.50 to the Morton Grove Park District, 6834 Dempster Street, Morton Grove, IL 60053.

When good news looks like bad news

by Nancy L. Singer
President, First of America Bank
IL, N.A. Chicago Metro Region

Have you ever wondered why stock market prices tend to move up when the economic data is bad, and tend to fall when the economic data is good?

Take for example, unemployment. If the number of unemployed individuals is up from the prior month, that is certainly distressing news for those who are unemployed, and also very scary for those who sense that their jobs could be lost in the next round of belt tightening. But, the stock market generally rises.

Another example is the number of housing starts compared to the prior month. If that number is up, we generally think that this is a positive -- more people are able to purchase houses, which must mean that jobs are good and consumer confidence is higher. Besides, think how many more people are employed building those additional new houses. That must help the stock market, right? Wrong! The stock market generally falls on such "good" news.

Similar examples are virtually limitless. What we must remember is that the stock market is largely a psychological market, meaning that purchases and sales of stocks are often made based more upon how the end result from the economic data that is released is perceived, rather than upon the economic data itself.

So, the next time you hear good or bad economic news, remember to follow the trail from this news to the end result in the economy many months hence, and you'll have a better idea what will happen in the market as a result.

Let's take the first example. Rising unemployment should be bad news. However, the end result of rising unemployment, lagging behind the most current number by several months, is a lack of economic expansion. In reality this means that inflation will be held even or perhaps may fall, allowing for stable or falling interest rates as the Federal Reserve System pumps new money into the economic system so that we don't move into a recession. This is good news and the stock market reacts approvingly. In the second example, when housing starts rise, the economy is growing. Again the end result lags behind the most current number by several months, but demand for housing actually makes prices rise. Inflation increases, and the Federal Reserve System will increase rates by withdrawing funds from the economy, to "cool" down a potentially overheating economy. So, this is bad news and the stock market reacts negatively.

Recognize, of course, that these are generalizations and not absolutes, plus there are many times when other information will contribute to, or offset, some of the original statistics.

One of the most obvious generalizations used here is the fact that the whole stock market moves in one direction or another based upon any given piece of economic news. There are always stocks that move counter to the rest of the market, either because those companies actually benefit counter-cyclically, or because some relevant news about that one company or that company's overall industry is different from the market as a whole.

Further, remember that the Dow-Jones Industrial Average, which is the most often used gauge of stock market activity, is made up of only 30 stocks of industrial companies, whose movement may or may not be reflective of the market as a whole on any given day. So, the next time you hear good or bad economic news, remember to follow the trail from this news to the end result in the economy many months hence, and you'll have a better idea what will happen in the market as a result.

Chicago has highest March gas prices since 1982

Self-serve pump prices in Illinois--both in Chicago and Cook County and Illinois outside of Cook County--are at their highest March levels since the 1980s. Consumers got some relief as average self-serve prices dipped 1.5 cents per gallon during the past month in the Illinois and Northern Indiana region, according to the AAA-Chicago Motor Club's March Fuel Gauge Survey.

In Chicago and Cook County, average self-serve pump prices fell 2.6 cents per gallon since February. A gallon of self-serve unleaded regular currently averages $1.264, the highest March price since 1982 when it averaged $1.307.

In Illinois outside of Cook County, average self-serve gas prices dropped 1.2 cents per gallon during the past month. Currently, a gallon of self-serve unleaded regular averages $1.138, the highest March price since 1985 when the same gallon of fuel cost $1.154. In Northern Indiana, average self-serve gas prices fell 0.7 cents per gallon since February. A gallon of self-serve unleaded regular currently averages $1.019 per gallon, the highest March price since 1991 when the price averaged $1.036 per gallon.

March is a pivotal month for gas prices. Traditionally, prices reach their lowest levels of the winter in March and begin their upward movement by April in anticipation of the spring and summer driving seasons. According to Computer Petroleum Corporation (CPC), prices may rise in the next month because of spring turnarounds at the gasoline refineries.

Compared to a year ago, average self-serve prices are currently 12.1 cents higher in Chicago and Cook County, 8.9 cents higher in Illinois outside of Cook County, and 5.5 cents higher in Northern Indiana.

Pheasant Run announces new children's theatre

Pheasant Run Theatre is proud to announce its upcoming production of a new children's play, "Rat Dog and Princess Toad Meet the Frog Prince." Based upon the children's favorite, The Frog Prince, by Hans Christian Andersen and Diana Martinez's original characters, "Rat Dog" and "Princess Toad," "Rat Dog and Princess Toad Meet the Frog Prince" marks the first in a series of incredible adventures for Pheasant Run's new Children's Theatre.

In their first adventure, Rat Dog and Princess Toad journey into the Princess' imagination to meet the coolest Frog this side of the palace. The story opens with Priscilla, a precocious eight year old, and her favorite furry friend, Rocky, a cocker spaniel. When a streetwise narrator encourages Priscilla to use her imagination to become whoever and do whatever she wants, their adventures begin.

Priscilla chooses to become Princess Toad, who lives in a castle with her father, Elvis the "King," and makes Rocky become her loyal servant, Rat Dog. One day, Princess Toad and Rat Dog run into a fast-talking Frog, who leads them on a mission full of mischief and mayhem. Jam packed with loads of laughs, tons of fun, crazy characters, 30's tunes and lots of "imagination," this refreshingly funny and original modern musical fairy tale is sure to please audiences of all ages.

"Rat Dog and Princess Toad Meet the Frog Prince" opens May 7. Performances will be every Sunday at 10:30 a.m., followed by a Kids' Brunch, where audience members can meet the cast. Ticket prices start at $6 per person with brunch packages, overnight packages, and group discounts available.

For tickets, call Pheasant Run Box Office at (708) 584-MEGA (6342) or TicketMaster at (312) 559-1212. For overnight packages, call (708) 584-6300.

Man of LaMancha closes season

The Northbrook Theatre closes their most successful season ever with the classic favorite, Man of La Mancha. This musical is artistically adapted by Dale Wasserman from Miguel de Cervantes book "Don Quixote," with music by Mitch Leigh and lyrics by Joe Darion.

Man of La Mancha is directed by Wilmette resident and Joseph Jefferson Committee member Catherine Davis. The cavernous dungeon setting is designed by

Man of La Mancha will open May 5 and run Friday and Saturday evenings at 8 p.m. through May 27. There will be one Sunday matinee performance on May 21 at 3 p.m. This performance will feature Sign Language Interpreter for the Arts, Stefany Early, who will offer her artistic interpretation for our hearing-impaired audience members. Tickets are priced at $12 at the door, $10 paid in advance. Discounts are offered for seniors and groups of fifteen or more. Singles groups are invited to join us on May 6 for singles' night - free reception follows to meet and greet other area singles.

For reservations, call the Northbrook Theatre at (708) 291-2367. Box office hours are 10 a.m.-3 p.m., Monday through Friday - after hours reservations can be left at the same number on the Northbrook Theatre electronic box office system.

New Niles Restaurant never closes

By Rosemary Tirio

The crisp red and green lettering on the sign in the vast parking lot at the intersection of Touhy and Caldwell Avenues, Niles, proclaims "Melrose Restaurant, Always Open."

Day or night, breakfast, lunch or dinner, the Melrose, fourth of the casual eating establishments owned and operated by partners Jim Milois and Jim Koutsougeras, will be a friendly spot to stop for a tasty meal or snack.

A trademark of the Melrose and its sister restaurants in Chicago (The Melrose Restaurants at 930 W. Belmont and 3233 N. Broadway, and Kofield's at 5035 N. Lincoln) is the unexpected banana placed on every breakfast plate.

"I was the first guy to start putting fresh fruit on the plates about 25 years ago," said Koutsougeras. "The South Water Market loves me," he added, because so many restaurateurs have followed his example.

Now, says Koutsougeras, they garnish most plates with melon, kiwi, papaya and various other fresh fruits, but he claims his breakfast bananas were the first.

Another Melrose trademark is the delicious four-egg omelet from the restaurant's breakfast menu. The lunch menu features a wide variety of homemade soups—the delicious clam chowder, chicken and cabbage and cream of broccoli soups are some memorable ones—salads and sandwiches.

On the dinner menu, homemade stews, pastas, chicken piccata with linguini, vegetable stir-fry with chicken, beef or pork, and meatloaf made fresh daily are among the favorite entrees.

Especially excellent at the Melrose is the generous basket of home baked breads (the challah is outstanding) and rolls that greet every diner. These are made fresh and delivered daily from the Belmont Ave. Melrose, which is managed by Koutsougeras' daughter Theodora.

Another treat from Theodora's ovens is an outstanding cheese-cake, also made fresh daily. An array of other delicious pastries is always available as well.

Decor is newly updated in light green tones that convey a feeling of open freshness. "It's like a salad," Theodora said, and, indeed, the colors make one think of the delicious salads that are concocted at the central soup and salad station by the friendly waitresses.

Prices are modest at this attractive family restaurant. Average prices range around $7 or $8 for dinner, $5 to $6 for lunch and breakfast. The full service bar is open 'til 2 a.m. daily.

The two other Melrose restaurants in Chicago were selected as "Best Cheap Eats" by the Chicago Tribune, and the Skyline newspaper described Melrose fare as "Delicious meals that taste home-cooked." It seems more than likely that the suburban addition to the Melrose family will continue the tradition.

Any time of day or night that you are experiencing the munchies, you can always drop in at the Melrose for a friendly greeting and some unusual and delicious meals or snacks.

Man of LaMancha closes season

The Northbrook Theatre closes their most successful season ever with the classic favorite, Man of La Mancha. This musical is artistically adapted by Dale Wasserman from Miguel de Cervantes book "Don Quixote", with music by Mitch Leigh and lyrics by Joe Darion.

Man of La Mancha is directed by Wilmette resident and Joseph Jefferson Committee member Catherine Davis. The cavernous dungeon setting is designed by

Man of La Mancha will open May 5 and run Friday and Saturday evenings at 8 p.m. through May 27. There will be one Sunday matinee performance on May 21 at 3 p.m. This performance will feature Sign Language Interpreter for the Arts, Stefany Early, who will offer her artistic interpretation for our hearing impaired audience members. Tickets are priced at $12 at the door, $10 paid in advance. Discounts are offered for seniors and groups of fifteen or more. Singles' groups are invited to join us on May 6 for singles' night -- free reception follows to meet and greet other area singles.

For reservations, call the Northbrook Theatre at (708) 291-2367. Box office hours are 10 a.m.-3 p.m., Monday through Friday -- after hours reservations can be left at the same number on the Northbrook Theatre electronic box office system.

New Niles Restaurant never closes

By Rosemary Tirio

The crisp red and green lettering on the sign in the vast parking lot at the intersection of Touhy and Caldwell Avenues, Niles, proclaims "Melrose Restaurant, Always Open."

Day or night, breakfast, lunch or dinner, the Melrose, fourth of the casual eating establishments owned and operated by partners Jim Miloia and Jim Koutsougeras, will be a friendly spot to stop for a tasty meal or snack.

A trademark of the Melrose and its sister restaurants in Chicago (The Melrose Restaurants at 930 W. Belmont and 3233 N. Broadway, and Kofield's at 5035 N. Lincoln) is the unpeeled banana placed on every breakfast plate.

"I was the first guy to start putting fresh fruit on the plates about 25 years ago," said Koutsougeras. "The South Water Market loves me," he added, because so many restaurants have followed his example.

Now, says Koutsougeras, they garnish most plates with melon, kiwi, papaya and various other fresh fruits, but he claims his breakfast bananas were the first.

Another Melrose trademark is the delicious four-egg omelet from the restaurant's breakfast menu. The lunch menu features a wide variety of homemade soups--the delicious clam chowder, chicken and cabbage and cream of broccoli soups are some memorable ones--salads and sandwiches.

On the dinner menu, homemade stews, pastas, chicken piccata with linguini, vegetable stir-fry with chicken, beef or pork, and meatloaf made fresh daily are among the favorite entrees.

Especially excellent at the Melrose is the generous basket of home baked breads (the challah is outstanding) and rolls that greet every diner. These are made fresh and delivered daily from the Belmont Ave. Melrose, which is managed by Koutsougeras' daughter Theodora.

Decor is newly updated in light green tones that convey a feeling of open freshness. "It's like a salad," Theodora said, and, indeed, the colors make one think of the delicious salads that are concocted at the central soup and salad station by the friendly waitresses.

Prices are modest at this attractive family restaurant. Average prices range around $7 or $8 for dinner, $5 to $6 for lunch and breakfast. The full service bar is open 'til 2 a.m. daily.

The two other Melrose restaurants in Chicago were selected as "Best Cheap Eats" by the Chicago Tribune, and the Skyline newspaper described Melrose fare as "Delicious meals that taste home-cooked." It seems more than likely that the suburban addition to the Melrose family will continue the tradition.

Any time of day or night that you are experiencing the munchies, you can always drop in at the Melrose for a friendly greeting and some unusual and delicious meals or snacks.

For additional information, call (708) 588-1500.

Marsi's Restaurant a 'real find'

Marsi's Restaurant at 6352 West Gunnison is an excellent spot for informal sit-down dining in both northern and southern Italian cuisine on the city's far Northwest Side.

Marsi's received 2 and one half stars in the Sun-Times restaurant poll of 1991, and the Tribune's Sherman Kaplan gave it 17.5 points out of 20. Kaplan termed the restaurant "a real find."

Owner and chef Gabriel Sorci has had plenty of experience. "I've been cooking since I came to this country 30 years ago," he said.

Marsi's features many special dishes, with only a few dishes going up to the top price of $13.95. Spaghetti a la Marsi features sautéed shrimp and zucchini and "a touch of plumb tomato sauce," Sorci said.

Tiramisu, spumoni and cannoli are among the dessert favorites. A full line of Italian and California wines are available.

Marsi's has two private rooms for groups up to 50. Marsi's is open Tuesday through Thursday 4 p.m. to 10 p.m., Friday and Saturday 4 p.m. to 11 p.m., and Sunday 3 p.m. to 10 p.m. Phone: (312) 792-3322

Dempster Fish Market, 5846 W. Dempster, is celebrating its Grand Opening.

Chef-owner Ho Woon Jeon and his wife, Hyo Jeon, formerly ran a sit-down Japanese restaurant called the Tokyo Restaurant on Irving Park Road in Chicago.

However, since they and most of their family have moved to the suburbs, the Jeons decided to move their restaurant and to focus on the carry-out trade.

The restaurant features Sashimi, fresh raw fish delivered to the restaurant daily and then cut into artistic shapes for a beautiful and unusual presentation.

The more familiar Sushi also features raw fish, but it is served along with seasoned rice also in artistic designs attractive presentations.

The fresh fish used for Sushi and Sashimi are generally ocean fish like tuna, red snapper, salmon, clam, octopus, squid. A popular dish for beginners who have no experience with raw fish is the California roll made of avocado, cucumber, cooked crabmeat and seasoned vinegared rice wrapped in seaweed. Another favorite is Kappa Roll, made of cucumber and sesame seed wrapped with seasoned rice in seaweed.

"This area is good to sell raw fish and sushi," Hyo explained. Ho, an experienced sushi chef, can prepare attractive and reasonably priced Japanese fish presentations for small or large groups.

For a large group, you can get a tray of 60 pieces of Sushi for about $50, along with a California Roll. For a smaller party, a 12-piece Sushi tray with Tekka (Tuna Roll), might fill the bill. The price, Hyo says, is just half what other restaurants charge. Both Sushi and Sashimi are sure to be great party hits. Dempster Fish Market is also a Japanese convenience store, carrying frozen fish, like mackerel and cod, fish cakes, horse radish, soy sauce, and other little things you can pick up with your order to make it an even more delicious treat for family and guests.

The Dempster Fish Market offers a Sushi Lunch Special, from $5 to $6.95 and served Monday through Saturday from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. The restaurant is open daily from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m.

"People who know Japanese food really love the Sushi," Hyo said.

If you don't know Japanese food, now, during the Dempster Fish Market's Grand Opening Celebration, would be a good time to get acquainted.

Treasury simplifies Savings Bond Program

The Treasury Department announced changes in savings bonds that will make the program easier to understand.

The changes in regulations, effective May 1, will insure that Series EE bonds, the most widely held, will earn market-based rates from the date of purchase.

"For the first time, savings bond investors will get market-based rates right from the start. Whether interest rates are high or low, savings bonds investors will always get a return linked to market rates, a fair return on their money," Treasury Secretary Robert Rubin said.

"This is the latest in a series of changes Treasury has made over the years to keep savings bonds the safest and most convenient way for Americans to save," Rubin said.

Now, two different, market-based rates will be announced each May 1 and November 1.

Short-Term - Savings - Bond Rate. Series EE bonds earn the short-term rates for the first five years. The short-term rate is 85 percent of the average of six-month marketable Treasury security yields. A new rate is announced and becomes effective each May 1 and November 1. The May 1 rate reflects market yields during the preceding February, March, and April. The November 1 rate reflects market yields during the preceding August, September, and October.

Long-Term - Savings - Bond Rate. Series EE bonds earn the long-term rates from five years through 17 years. The long-term rate is 85 percent of the average of five-year marketable Treasury security yields. A new rate is announced and becomes effective each May 1 and November 1. The May 1 rate reflects market yields during the preceding November through April and the November 1 rate reflects market yields during the preceding May through October.

The new market-based EE Bonds will increase in value every six months. This means that a bond issued in January will increase in value each July 1 and January 1. Investors who redeem a savings bond will receive the cash value as of the last date interest was added to the value of a bond. Investors redeeming savings bonds between interest accrual dates will not receive any interest for the partial period since the last interest accrual date.

Savings bonds will be sold for a price of half their face value or denomination. Because savings bonds earn market-based rates, it is not certain when a bond will reach face value. For example, a bond earning an average of 5 percent will slightly more than double in value in 14 1/2 years. If the market-based rates are not sufficient for a bond to reach face value in 17 years, however, Treasury will make a one-time adjustment to increase it to face value at that time, implying a minimum rate of return of just over four percent if a bond is held for the full 17 years. EE bonds will continue to earn interest after 17 years at the rate structure then in effect for extended maturity periods for a total interest-earning life of 30 years.

Outstanding Series E bonds and Savings Notes as well as Series EE bonds issued before May 1, 1995, are not affected by the changes and will continue to earn interest under the terms of the offering in effect before May 1, 1995.

Ryan: Environmental plate raises $740,275 for parks

Illinois' environmental license plate has been a runaway hit this year, raising almost three quarters of a million dollars for state parks and prompting plans to extend it to other vehicles, Secretary of State George H. Ryan said recently.

A total of 29,611 sets of the "redbird" plate were sold since it was introduced April 15, 1994, raising $740,275 for a fund set aside to maintain and preserve Illinois parks.

The plate, developed with the Illinois Department of Conservation, features the state bird - the cardinal - and the state prairie grass - big bluestem. It is Illinois' first permanent fund-raising plate.

"The popularity of this license plate has been a real success story for Illinois parks," Ryan said. "People from every part of our state have taken the opportunity to display this unique plate and show their support for the environment."

Responding to requests from vehicle owners, Ryan proposed legislation this spring to make the environmental plate available for recreational vehicles after Jan. 1, 1996.

Additionally, the measure - contained in House Bill 2080 - would allow the creation of environmental plates with vanity and personality messages.

Currently, the plates may be issued to passenger cars, B-trucks and vans weighing 8,000 pounds or less.

The first-time cost is $88 with $48 for the license registration, $25 going to the conservation agency's State Park fund and $15 covering administrative costs of producing the plate.

Vehicle owners wishing to obtain an environmental plate before their current plates expire would pay $40 for the new plates, plus a $5 reclassification fee. The annual renewal fee is $75, with $25 going to state parks.

Vehicle owners may apply for the plates at any drivers license facility. The plates also can be purchased over the counter at full-service facilities in Carbondale, Champaign, Chicago, Decatur, Granite City, Lombard, Naperville, Peoria, Quincy and Springfield.

Additionally, the plates can be obtained by writing Office of the Secretary of State, Non-Standard Plates Section, 539 Howlett Building, Springfield, IL 62756 or by calling (217) 782-2402.

Ameritech Small Business Awards, repair hotline

In recognition of Small Business Week, May 1 to 7, Ameritech is launching two new programs for small businesses - a new statewide dedicated repair service called SBS CARE, and the Ameritech Small Business Community Service Award, co-sponsored by the Chicagoland Chamber of Commerce.

Ameritech is launching SBS CARE to help small businesses with their repair needs. Small businesses can now call 1-800-SBS-CARE for repair service and other communications support. The new service will deliver a level of responsiveness that's unparalleled in the industry. The new hotline is available exclusively to Ameritech small business customers with 24-hour-a-day access for problem reporting. Plus, problems will be addressed faster due to a more streamlined process.

Also in honor of Small Business Week, the Ameritech Small Business Community Service Award, will honor a small business in the greater Chicagoland area for its community service and volunteer efforts, including community service projects, program policies and the vision of the business that supports those activities.

Ameritech will make a $5,000 contribution to a nonprofit organization supported by the winning small business. In the fall, the selected small business will be presented with an award at a special ceremony.

"Ameritech understands that small businesses value charitable activities and relationships in their community," said Mitch Wienick, President of Ameritech small business services. "We believe it is important to recognize those small businesses that give back to the community where they live and work."

Ameritech created its small business services unit in November 1993, dedicated to meeting the communication needs of small businesses in the Midwest. Ameritech small business services provides a broad range of communication services to help small businesses increase sales and service customers, improve productivity and reduce costs.

Nominations for the Ameritech Small Business Community Service Award will be judged by representatives from Ameritech small business services and the Chicagoland Chamber of Commerce. Nominations may be submitted by or on behalf of a small business, defined as a company generating $40 million or less in annual revenue, and will be accepted beginning May 1 through July 1.

Nominations should include a brief description, 500 words or less, about how and why the business supports community service and the benefits to the local community. The nonprofit organization designated by the nominating small business for the cash award must have 501 (c) (3) status, or equivalent.

Nomination forms will also be available at the Chicagoland Chamber of Commerce, One IBM Plaza, Suite 2800, Chicago, IL 60611 beginning on May 1. Entries should be mailed to Ameritech Small Business Community Service Award, Ameritech Small Business Services, P.O. Box 87757, Chicago, IL 60680-0757.

That's the message Park Ridge resident Michael Collet will deliver when he speaks at 7 p.m. Thursday, May 11, at the Maine Township Youth Drop-In Center at 9000 Capitol Drive in Des Plaines.

Water-safety tips for parents and children

Each year, hundreds of children drown or suffer water-related accidents because they never learned basic water-safety skills. As the leading swim instructor in the Chicago area, the YMCA is joining with schools to provide free swim and safety lessons to second-grade students.

If your children have not participated in our Everybody in the Pool program, the following are important safety tips to discuss with them before they go swimming or boating:

- Swim only in places where there is a lifeguard on duty and never swim alone;

- Safest entry into a body of water is feet first;

- Young children are particularly susceptible to ear infections. To help prevent such infections, when children exit the water have them tip their heads to the side to empty excess water from their ears and then carefully dry their ears using a towel;

- If a boat overturns and you fall into very cold water, you need to know how to protect yourself from overexposure. The following is called the HELP position and will keep the body from losing heat: Cross your arms over your chest and hug your body; cross your ankles; and lean back slightly and keep your head above water;

- If someone in the water needs help, do not jump in. Immediately shout for help. If the person is within a short distance, look for floatable objects that can be thrown to them or for a rescue pole.

Never run on a pool or boat deck.

Michelle Meier Run for Cystic Fibrosis set

When two-year-old Michelle Meier was diagnosed with cystic fibrosis almost 25 years ago, there was little hope that she would live to see her teenage years. After a long and painful struggle, the disease took her life at age 12.

Today CF is less of a mystery. Scientists are on the brink of a cure and have developed treatments that are enabling more than half of CF patients to live into their late 20s and beyond.

Scientists' remarkable progress toward finding a cure for CF has been made possible by fundraising efforts such as Glenview's Michelle Meier Memorial Run, which has raised more than $125,000 over the past 13 years.

This year's run will take place Sunday, May 21 at Hoffman School (2000 Harrison St., Glenview). Runners can choose a 10K (6.2 mile) race, 5K (3.1 mile) race or one mile fun run/walk. The fee is $12 for entries received before May 7 and $15 after May 7 through race day. Check-in begins at 7 a.m., and the races start at 8 a.m. Runners will receive a t-shirt, and awards will be given in each event to the top three males and females in each division. For the third year, the Michelle Meier Memorial Run will sponsor a raffle. Prizes include a trip for two on American Airlines, hotel and dinner packages, and much more. Tickets will be sold prior to the run, on race day and at the Glenview Street Sale, June 24-25. For more information about signing up for the run or buying raffle tickets, call (708) 998-5040 or (708) 998-9574.

The Michelle Meier Run began in 1982, a few months after Michelle died. It was organized by a small group of her family and friends. They have watched the run grow from about 100 participants the first year to nearly 600 in recent years.

Since the Michelle Meier Run began, finding a cure for CF has become a realistic goal rather than a distant dream. In 1989, scientists discovered the CF gene, beginning a new era in the campaign to defeat the deadly disease. Researchers quickly determined how to make normal copies of the gene and use the copies to correct defective CF cells in lab dishes. In 1993, scientists began the first gene therapy studies involving people with CF. This research marks the first time that the root cause of CF—a defective gene—has been targeted. Gene therapy, therefore, holds great promise for developing a cure.

Cystic fibrosis causes a thick, sticky mucus to clog the lungs. This abnormal mucus leads to chronic lung infections and lung damage and interferes with digestion. Some 30,000 people in the U.S. have CF. Every day in this country, approximately three babies are born with CF; and every day, at least one person with CF dies.

For more information, phone Jennifer Kustra (312) 222-4596 (Office).

Snack Like a Pro: Tips to Stay Fit

Athletes and fitness professionals know snacking is essential for a healthy, active lifestyle. Following are some tips for snacking and fitness from Laurie Metcalfe, president of the National Fitness Leaders Association:

Stay Active All Day -- Can't fit in a 30-minute workout? There are plenty of other easy ways to get some exercise. Stay active throughout the day by doing things like taking the stairs or going for a brisk after-dinner walk -- even running errands count as a calorie-burning activity. For health benefits, ten minutes of activity three times a day may be as good as one 30-minute session.

Keep It Light -- When snacking just before or after physical activity, choose foods that are easy to digest, like low-fat yogurt, fat-free flavored rice cakes or low-fat cottage cheese. Heavy, high-fat foods may weigh you down when you work out.

Turn Your Backpack Into a Snack Pack -- Tote low-fat snacks with you in your purse or gym bag, so you're ready when the munchies hit. Pack snacks that won't get squashed or go bad in your bag, like low-fat granola bars, graham crackers and fat-free flavored mini rice cakes.

Make Mini Meals Out of Your Snacks -- Busy days may mean no time to stop for a meal. For a quick snack, make a mini meal by combining grains with fruits and vegetables and protein. Some good combos: a slice of lean turkey breast on half of a bagel with some low-fat cheese and an apple; or a fat-free banana cunch rice cake with low-fat yogurt and an orange.

Make Snacking Work For You -- Snacking can help you meet daily nutrition requirements. For example, grain-based snacks like baked crackers, whole wheat breadsticks and fat-free flavored rice cakes do double duty -- they help you get the six to 11 servings of grains you need per day, and they're a good source of crunchy carbohydrates.

Remember, Taste Is Tops -- If a snack doesn't taste good, it won't be satisfying -- no matter how healthy it is. For snackers with a sweet tooth, angel food cake with fresh fruit or preserves, fig bars or fat-free rice cakes in flavors like caramel corn or apple cinnamon are good choices. If you have a taste for something savory, try Quaker® white cheddar or butter popped corn rice cakes -- they're fat-free and low in calories.

To order a copy of "Shape Up With Healthy Snacking," a free brochure with lots of helpful information and tips for healthy snacking and fitness co-authored by Quaker Rice Cakes and the Women's Sports Foundation, call 1-800-1-SNACK-2. Brochure offer available while supplies last.

Contact Lenses: Is it something in the air?

by Dr. Michael Wodis

Aerosol sprays can cause contact lens problems. This includes insecticides, paints, lubricants, deodorants, and perfumes. One of the most common offenders is hair spray. Hair spray sticks to anything it touches, and that includes contact lenses.

What to do? Either put your contacts on after you've used your hairspray, or, if your contacts are already in, make sure there's a clear path out of the room, close your eyes, spray your hair, and walk out of the room with your eyes still closed. Carefully.

Niles Fire Dept. offers CPR classes

There are many different reasons why someone may choose to learn CPR. Some have a relationship who has a cardiac problem. Others want to learn so that they can help people.

Whatever the reason you may have, CPR may be the most important thing that you ever learn. The only chance between life and death may be you and your knowledge. Citizen CPR is very important because there are more citizens than there are EMS personnel. The chance is much greater that a citizen will be at the scene of a cardiac arrest.

The Niles Fire Department will be holding a CPR class each month. The classes are limited in size to 16. Sign up early to reserve your spot in a class that can mean the difference between life and death. Is 4 hours of our time worth the life of someone close to you?

If you have a group with at least 6 members, you can have a private CPR of First Aid class in our classroom at the Fire Department or at your meeting place. Call today to set up your CPR or First Aid class.

The Niles Fire Department is now holding CPR and First Aid free of charge. We would never want the cost of a class to come between wanting to learn CPR or First Aid and saving a life.

Don't delay, sign up for a class today.

Humanizing the tragedy of breast cancer

Lincolnwood Town Center, in association with the Y-ME national breast cancer organization, present the national exhibition "The Face of Breast Cancer: A Photographic Essay", at Lincolnwood Town Center from May 1 to 14.

"The Face of Breast Cancer: A Photographic Essay" will tour eight states during 1995, and Lincolnwood Town Center will be the only venue for the Midwest. The exhibit consists of 17 laminated double-sided photo panels and pays tribute to sixty-three women -- at least one from each state, who represent the thousands of women who have died of this disease.

Breast cancer knows no racial, social or age boundaries, it strikes at women indiscriminately and the statistics are terrifying -- in 1995 approximately 182,000 new cases of female breast cancer will be diagnosed across the country, and fatalities will total 46,000. In Illinois specifically, it is estimated that 9,200 new cases of breast cancer will be diagnosed and that almost 2,500 women in the state will die of the disease.

But, breast cancer is not about statistics, it affects real women, their partners, families and friends. "The Face of Breast Cancer: A Photographic Essay" is an opportunity to create a greater awareness of breast cancer and most importantly personalize and humanize the statistics.

Niles Battery

A 38-year-old Niles woman was followed to the parking lot of her apartment building in the 8400 block of Milwaukee Ave. by two Chicago women, ages 30 and 31, at about 7:40 p.m. April 25. The 30-year-old woman wanted to confront the victim about her husband moving in with the victim.

A verbal altercation began, and both offenders started punching the victim about the head with closed fists. The victim fell to the ground and the offenders continued to punch and kick her about the torso.

The victim yelled for help and several neighbors looked out their windows and observed the two offenders beating the victim. A neighbor called the police.

The offenders entered a 1995 Chrysler and left the parking lot through an alley onto Ozark. The victim walked back to her apartment to call for medical attention.

The offender's husband was driving on Ozark and the offenders stopped to speak with him. At that time, police stopped the offenders for questioning and went to the victim's apartment. The victim told police that her purse was missing. The victim's purse was found on the floor of the offender's vehicle.

The victim stated that she wished to pursue criminal complaints against the offenders. The victim was transported to Lutheran General Hospital and the offenders were taken to the Niles Police Department.

Both offenders were charged with battery and a court date was scheduled for May 5. Bond was set at $1,000.

The offenders entered a 1995 Chrysler and left the parking lot through an alley onto Ozark. The victim walked back to her apartment to call for medical attention.

The offender's husband was driving on Ozark and the offenders stopped to speak with him. At that time, police stopped the offenders for questioning and went to the victim's apartment.

The victim told police that her purse was missing. The victim's purse was found on the floor of the offender's vehicle.

The victim stated that she wished to pursue criminal complaints against the offenders. The victim was transported to Lutheran General Hospital and the offenders were taken to the Niles Police Department.

Both offenders were charged with battery and a court date was scheduled for May 5. Bond was set at $1,000.

A 30-year-old Glenview man's wife and her girlfriend parked their car in a store parking lot in the 8600 block of Golf Rd. at about 3 p.m. April 23 and entered the store, leaving the husband sleeping inside the car.

While in the store, the two women were confronted by three men who began speaking obscenely to them. When the women exited the store, they were followed by the offenders. One of the women told her husband about the event. He exited the car and confronted the offenders.

A fist fight started and one of the offenders was knocked out by one of the women, who hit him over the head with a shoe. The husband was struck in the face with a belt and sustained cuts. Two of the offenders ran into the apartment complex behind the store.

An ambulance arrived and the victim and offender were transported to Lutheran General Hospital for medical care.

The offender was charged with battery. One of the other offenders, a 20-year-old Des Plaines man, was found in the 9100 block of Congress. He was also charged with battery. A search of the offender's apartment turned up a handgun that was found under a mattress in one of the bedrooms.

A court date was set for May 16. Police will continue to attempt to locate the third offender.

Theft from Safe

A 31-year-old manager at Golf Mill Theatre, located in the 9200 block of Milwaukee Ave., told police that at 9 p.m. April 27, she counted the receipts and put the money in the safe in the back office.

The total amount was $1,908. At about 10:30 p.m., the complainant went back to the safe and observed $1,908 missing in addition to another $310, which was in a small box.

The complainant told police that she did not lock the safe door, nor was she sure if the office door was locked. She went in and out of the office several times between 9 p.m. and 10:30 p.m.

The complainant informed police that three individuals had access to the area. They are a 30-year-old Deerfield man, a 28-year-old Niles man and a 72-year-old Glenview man.

All three suspects were transported to the Niles Police Department for further investigation. All said that they had not seen anybody in or around the office. Police searched their vehicles with negative results.

Two of the suspects told police that six teenagers came into the theatre and asked where there was a gas station. They said that they were having car trouble. The teenagers bought tickets to a movie and left the theatre after a short time.

Retail Theft

A 56-year-old manager at a Golf Mill store reported that an unknown employee removed two mink coats valued at $5,000 from the rear storage area sometime between 10 p.m. March 23 and 9 p.m. March 25.

The complainant also indicated that the store has been closed since the theft.

Criminal Damage to Property

Person(s) unknown cut the Cablevision line which runs six inches underground along the east edge curbing in the 8400 block Maynard sometime between 1 a.m. and 9 a.m. April 24.

The line was cut in about the same place a few weeks earlier. It is believed that a resident in the 8400 block of Maynard is the offender as he does not have Cable and appears to be having a dispute with neighbors.

Damage to Auto

A 1986 Pontiac Firebird was found by police in the parking lot of a store in the 9000 block of Golf Rd. at about 3 a.m. April 22. The vehicle had all the windows and headlights broken and had four flat tires.

The owner of the vehicle, an Arlington Heights man, was notified of the damage. He told police to have the vehicle towed.

Blood presumed to be that of the offender(s) was found in the vehicle.

Criminal Trespass

A 25-year-old Des Plaines man, who police said was extremely intoxicated, entered a bar in the 9000 block of Milwaukee Ave. at 11:30 p.m. April 26. The subject was recognized by a security agent as a customer who has caused many problems in the past.

The subject has been told numerous times that he is not welcome in the establishment.

The offender was stopped by the security agent near the door and ordered to leave. The offender became belligerent and was escorted outside by the agent. The offender then reached inside his jacket and told the agent to come outside and that he would shoot him. The agent refused to leave the building, as the offender continually threatened to kill him.

The offender fled the parking lot of the bar when police were notified. Several minutes later, police observed the offender running through a parking lot in the 9100 block of Milwaukee Ave.

The offender was taken into custody and transported to the Niles Police Department where he was charged with criminal trespass and aggravated assault. Bond was set at $1,000 and a court date was scheduled for June 6. No weapon was found on the offender at the time of the arrest.

Know the right-of-way law

by Secretary of State George H. Ryan

Most drivers are familiar with Illinois' right-of-way law, but some ignore it and put themselves and others at risk. To avoid an accident, know who has the right-of-way in any traffic situation, while practicing courtesy and common sense.

Q. What does the law say?

A. When two vehicles approach the same intersection from different directions and there are no stop signs, yield signs or traffic lights, the driver on the left must yield to the driver on the right. However, the driver on the right should be prepared to yield if the driver on the left does not.

Q. When more than one vehicle arrives at a four-way stop intersection at about the same time, who has the right-of-way?

A. In the case of two vehicles, the vehicle on the left should yield to the vehicle on the right. With more than two vehicles, the first driver to stop should go first, and the others should take their turns, proceeding with caution.

Q. What is the rule for turning left at an intersection?

A. Drivers must yield the right-of-way to oncoming traffic before attempting a left turn at an intersection, alley or driveway. If you are in the middle of an intersection while the traffic light is green and it turns red, you may finish your left turn after yielding to oncoming traffic. Before executing your turn, make sure all cross traffic has cleared the intersection safely and you have yielded to any pedestrian traffic.

Morton Grove Battery

A 42-year-old Morton Grove woman employee of the retail store at 6831 Dempster reported that an unknown woman walked into the store April 29 at 7:10 p.m. and attempted to return merchandise for cash. When the victim informed her that the store did not return cash for merchandise brought back without a receipt, the subject became irate and struck the victim over the head with a box. The offender left the area in a 1982 black and gray Chevrolet registered to a Chicago man.

The victim sustained no visible injuries and no complaint was signed.

A June 12 court date has been set for a 31-year-old Island Lake man who became involved in an altercation with the 30-year-old employee of the service station at 7736 Dempster over the fee for towing the offender's vehicle.

The offender grabbed the victim about the chest and neck and began pushing him backward. The register employee called police at the victim's request, while the victim and offender continued struggling. The victim struggled in self-defense by pulling at the offender's pony tail until a witness, a 42-year-old Hoffman Estates man, positioned himself between the parties and broke up the struggle.

The offender surrendered to Morton Grove police without incident and was transported to the police department where he was charged with battery. The incident occurred around 4:05 p.m. April 27.

Laboratory Accident

A lab chemist at the chemical factory in the 8100 block of Austin Ave. sustained acid burns on her face April 30 around 1:10 p.m.

Although there were no witnesses and the victim is unsure of what happened, police theorize that she was working near where several gallon bottles of sulfuric acid were stored, and she must have bumped or actually handled an acid bottle that fell to the floor splashing acid into her face.

Morton Grove paramedics transported the victim to Lutheran General Hospital for treatment.

Steel Stolen

A 58-year-old employee of the iron works in the 7800 block of Lehigh Avenue reported that on April 28 at 7:56 p.m. he observed three male subjects loading a number of short pieces of steel onto an older model pickup truck with a rebuilt bed with wooden sides.

No estimate of the value of the stolen steel was available.

Graffiti

The 24-year-old manager of the restaurant in the 9400 block of Waukegan Road reported finding gang-related graffiti on the interior of the door to the men's room.

The manager suspects six or seven teenage subjects who were the only ones seen entering the washroom since the time the manager had last checked it.

The youths came to the restaurant in two trucks, one of which is registered to a Chicago man. No record is on file for the second truck.

Criminal Damage

A 39-year-old Morton Grove man reported finding a three-inch cut in the right rear tire of his 1987 Honda that had left in the parking lot of the fraternal organization in the 6400 block of Chestnut.

There were no witnesses, and the victim could offer neither suspect nor motive.

Retail Theft

A 30-year-old Morton Grove woman was arrested and charged with retail theft of a "fossil" watch from a clothing store in the 7200 block of Dempster. A court date was set for June 3.

Suspicious Person

A 26-year-old man resembling the description of the second subject being sought in the Oklahoma City bombing was seen and questioned Sunday, April 30, in the parking lot of a health club in the 6800 block of Dempster, where he is a member.

The subject was driving a two-door red Ford Escort, which had an Oklahoma registration and Oklahoma license plates.

The man was not taken into custody, but the report was faxed to the FBI by the Morton Grove police.

Traffic Accident

A 69-year-old Morton Grove man, riding a bicycle, was involved in an accident with a 26-year-old Niles man driving an automobile April 29 at 9:42 a.m. at the corner of Harlem and Lake Street. The victim was taken to Lutheran General Hospital by paramedics for injuries he said he sustained to his knee.

Residential Burglary

A 65-year-old woman notified police that a burglary had occurred at her home in the 7900 block of Linder on April 26 some time between 10:30 a.m. and 5:15 p.m. The woman told police that she noticed the basement window had been smashed inward.

A ring and other small jewelry items were missing, totaling approximately $2,200 in value.

On April 26 at approximately 1:30 p.m., a 47-year-old woman was the victim of a burglary at her home in the 5700 block of Warren on April 25. The theft occurred sometime between 7 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Stolen Auto

A 29-year-old woman reported the theft of a 1992 Geo Tracker vehicle from the driveway of her home in the 5900 block of Warren on April 25. The theft occurred sometime between 7 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Criminal Damage Trespass

A theft occurred in the tire store in the 9400 block of Waukegan Road at 12:20 a.m. April 28. When police arrived to investigate the burglary call, they noticed a man coming out of the rear door of the store and restrained him.

Two other offenders, both in their teens, were attempting to squeeze out a back door of the store. One of the three subjects was released when it was apparent that he could not have been involved, but the other two were questioned and one was taken into custody.

One of the offenders was charged with criminal damage to property and criminal trespass. The other offender was charged with criminal damage to property. A court date was set for June 25.

Police News

Everyone gets burned by arson

In the time it takes to read this article more than $4,000 worth of property will be set on fire, making arson one of the costliest crimes facing the United States today.

But that's just part of the price that arson exacts. Each year more than 700 people die in arson fires. The National Arson Forum and Niles Fire Department want to remind you that arson is a crime that burns everybody.

That's why the first week in May has been designated National Arson Awareness Week, to raise America's consciousness of this most costly of all fires and the steps that are being taken to combat it.

Motives for arson vary widely; they include vandalism, revenge and greed. But regardless of the motive, the results can be destructive and deadly.

According to the National Fire Protection Association, each year at least 100,000 building fires are deliberately set. Thousands of autos and trucks also end up in the junk heap after being torched by an arsonist. Throw in the number of brush fires, rubbish fires and other fires that occur, and the total number of arson fires each year reaches more than 500,000.

The National Arson Forum says if you know or suspect that an arson crime has been committed, contact your local fire or police department. Also, report suspicious activity near a house or other building to the local police and support Neighborhood Watch programs.

Other steps that can be taken: Keep leaves, firewood or other combustibles away from buildings. A vandal may look at a stack of firewood against a house or garage as an invitation to start a fire.

Keep doors and windows locked when a building is unoccupied.

Take keys away from employees who leave the company. A disgruntled former worker with access to the building could destroy a business.

Take safety measures such as installing a burglar and sprinkler systems.

Remember, you can make a difference.

New plant lighting technology introduced

A revolutionary new line of lighting technology, using advanced research techniques developed by the inventor of lighting technology for time lapse photography, is being introduced to the Chicago suburbs and in Indiana by Environmental Lighting Concepts, Inc. of Tampa, Fla. OTT-LITE is the first total-spectrum, radiation-shielded light source that simulates natural sunlight in order to promote plant growth and is used to give the feeling of natural sunlight for humans and animals.

Introduced through Builders Square outlets in Illinois and Indiana, the newest line is OTT-LITE Plant Growth Lighting Products. This ergonomic, ecologically designed product line promotes plant growth in a manner unlike any other product on the market and is equally used and beneficial for animals and humans.

OTT-LITE's newest product line is available at Builders Square in Niles.

OTT-LITEs are beneficial to plants, pets and animals. They reduce glare, produce the natural feeling of sunlight, and block harmful cathode ray radiation which is emitted from the ends of all fluorescent tubes. Dr. Ott found that this radiation, if not shielded correctly, may cause plants to mutate and die. Major universities, hospitals and Major League Baseball have utilized the stress, and provide other beneficial effects.

The new OTT-LITE line is available through Builders Square outlets, Office Deposits or by contacting Environmental Lighting Concepts, the exclusive manufacturer and marketer of the product, at 1-(800) 842-8848.

Des Plaines businessman named to serve on board

Michael J. Porcaro, vice-president and publisher of Construction Equipment magazine, Cahners Publishing Company of Des Plaines, has been elected to the board of directors of The Road Information Program (TRIP), a Washington, D.C.-based national non-profit organization which researches and distributes data on highway transportation issues.

"I am pleased to welcome Mike Porcaro to serve on the TRIP board," said Tommy James, chairman of TRIP. "Mike's many years of experience and leadership in the highway industry will be of tremendous assistance to TRIP as we work to increase public awareness of the need to improve our road and bridge system."

Porcaro has been with Cahners

Publishing since 1982, first serving as marketing manager for Construction Equipment magazine. After becoming sales manager, Porcaro was promoted to associate publisher in 1986 and became publisher in 1989. He also served briefly as publisher of Building, Design and Construction magazine. He has been a vice-president of Cahners Publishing since 1990.

Porcaro is active in a number of industry and professional organizations, including Construction Industry Manufacturers Association (CIMA), Equipment Manufacturers Institute (EMI), Associated Equipment Distributors (AED), The American Business Press (ABP) and the Business/Professional Advertiser Association (B/PAA).

Prudential plans expansion

In today's economy, while many large corporations are downsizing, The Prudential expects to hire 800 sales representatives in its 11-state Mid-America territory in 1995.

That total includes more than 26 new sales representatives in Prudential's Northwest Suburban Agency, 1011 E. Touhy Ave., Des Plaines. This expansion is designed to increase market share in Prudential's product areas, according to Larry Andrews, CLU, ChFC, general manager.

"This is an excellent opportunity for flexible, people-oriented individuals who are committed to achieving their own goals and building better futures for themselves and their families," Andrews said. "New sales representatives will receive specialized training in how to meet the needs of clients."

Andrews heads an agency that includes 71 representatives, 7 managers and 9 service associates. The Northwest Suburban Agency also has branch offices in Chicago.

Qualified candidates must pass an aptitude profile/background questionnaire. New representatives must become registered with the National Association of Securities Dealers, and obtain the state licenses necessary to market a comprehensive range of insurance and financial products.

For more information about becoming a Prudential representative, individuals should contact Robert Boettcher, recruiting manager with the Northwest Suburban Agency, at (708) 298-8020, ext. 108.

earlier, broke into her home at 4:30 a.m., lit a pile of flammable materials and then blocked the door with a sofa in an effort to trap the ex-girlfriend and four other people in the home. Fortunately, they managed to escape and were not seriously injured.

This same man had served prison time for two previous convictions. In 1983, he was sentenced to 10 years for aggravated battery after shooting a woman in the back of the head, leaving her permanently paralyzed. He was paroled after 6 years in 1989. In 1992, he was convicted of armed robbery and sentenced to 6 years, but was out on parole 2 years later when he attempted the arson of his ex-girlfriend's house.

Had this man been required to serve at least 85% of his previous sentences, he would not have been able to commit the arson. If this isn't enough to make you shake your head, the state's attorney's memo added that due to various good-time credits, he may serve less than half of his 35 year arson sentence.

We spoke with Suzanne Rollier of the state's attorney's office and asked how a man who has been convicted of his third felony could possibly acquire good-time credits. Rollier said this man had been incarcerated since the June, 1994 arson crime until the March 9, 1995 sentencing. According to the Illinois Unified Code of Corrections, offenders receive one day of good-time credit for each day of incarceration on all but "natural life" sentences. Each day of good-time credit reduces by one day the inmate's period of incarceration. The fact that he is a previously convicted felon doesn't enter into the picture.

When we questioned Rollier on the fairness of this state law, she said the state's attorney's office has pushed very hard to get the law changed and they want "truth in sentencing." We commented that the woman paralyzed by this man in his first conviction did not get a day out of her wheelchair for every day she spent in so why was he afforded the privilege of accumulating good-time credits.

A few months back two convicted murderers were executed after spending 17 years on death row. John Wayne Gacy spent 14 years on death row before he was executed. Why do taxpayers have to be burdened for so many years before a sentence is carried out? And why are the "candle-burners" standing outside the prisons on the night of executions instead of in front of the homes of the victims. Where are their priorities?

According to statistics received from the state's attorney's office the average sentence for murder is 32.9 years and the average time served is 10.3 years, less than one-third of the sentence.

It seems to us that the only way we are ever going to reduce crime in this country is with "truth in sentencing" and when laws are enacted that put as much emphasis on the rights of the victims as they do on the rights of the criminals.

Oakton ...

OCC by the Des Plaines Chamber of Commerce for a traditional ribbon cutting ceremony.

The lights were then turned off and the entire audience turned on fibre optic favors, given out to guests at the ceremony to symbolize the new directions in which OCC is moving with modern technology.

Boris Sorokin, Office Systems Technology Professor, presided over a high-tech, computer-generated, animated ribbon cutting. The multi-purpose center had special exhibits set up from the Art, Office Systems Technology, Mechanical Design, Performing Arts, and Early Childhood Education divisions, of the college, along with a display from the new fitness center.

Other festivities included a reception, music by Glenna Sprague, Professor of Music, and videos by Bob Burton and Tim Ratzman of Oakton's Television Services.

Guests were invited to tour all of the new facilities, following the reception.

OCC's Child Development Demonstration Centers, offer hands-on training and education of early childhood professionals, by running a complete pre-school for children in the surrounding communities. Their new facilities include two large classrooms, with stations set up for a wide variety of activities, a playground, kitchen, bathroom, and office. Each of the classrooms can be viewed through a one-way mirror in an observation room. OCC students, as well as parents of the participants, are able to view classes as they actually are when in session.

The new fitness center, open to both OCC students and faculty, and people in the community, includes the latest CYBEX and Life Fitness equipment with over twenty different machines to exercise all muscle groups, aerobic machines, warm-up area, lounge, and locker rooms with showers.

The opening of the Visual Arts Center was also celebrated during the dedication. The gallery, found in the OCC center lobby behind the main staircase, will showcase both student art and exhibits from community artists.

The opening show is an exhibit of OCC student's art, in a wide variety of media, including oils, pastels, charcoals, ceramic and bronze sculpture, and new high-tech art forms such as electronic imaging. The exhibit will run through June 4, 1995.

Other facilities in the new additions include a theater rehearsal room, science laboratory, computer and manufacturing labs, classrooms, offices outdoor courtyards, and the remodeled student lounge complete with new cafeteria and game room.

OCC President, Dr. Ten-Hoeve, said that perhaps the most exciting part of the dedication of all the new facilities, is knowing that no taxes were raised to pay for any of the new additions. The OCC Foundation funded much of the work, with the students pledging up to $500,000, over five years, from their activity fees, to be sure the fitness center could be included.

Fargo St. update
Four "No Parking" signs will soon be placed at Nordica Avenue and Fargo Street, the Board unanimously agreed. A stop sign for northbound traffic on School Street at Fargo was also upheld.

With this action, the Trustees attempted to further resolve the infamous Fargo Street dispute that had caused much unrest among the surrounding homeowners. Fargo Street had been closed at Nordica Avenue when the Deep Tunnel Project began in Niles two years ago. The street has since been reopened.

The Village Trustees approved a raise in the water rate from $2.02 per 1000 gallons to $2.28. This amendment will take effect June 1, 1995.

Mayor Blase announced the appointment of Robert Callero to the Village Board to replace Jeffrey Arnold who had been appointed Judge of the Circuit Court of Cook County on March 3. Callero, a member of the Fire and Police Pension Board, will complete Arnold's unfinished term until it expires in 1997.

Jeffrey L. Cardella was appointed to the Fire and Police Pension Board to replace Trustee James Mahoney.

Rezoning requests
Commercial rezoning requests were granted by the Board to Big Apple Bagels, Forever Friendly Pet Grooming and Lutheran General Occupational Health Center. A residential rezoning was given to the Ashland Court Subdivision, 9212 and 9214 Ashland, Niles.

The Village Trustees unanimously proclaimed their opposition to Illinois House Bill No. 568 that would preempt a Niles ordinance prohibiting the possession and sale of handguns. H.B. 568 is currently pending before the House of Representatives.

The next Village Board meeting will be held on May 30 at a meeting room in the Village Hall. The current Council Chambers meeting hall will no longer be available for meetings but will be used by the Niles Police Department.

Tips on car care

Spring has traditionally been a time to complete projects that have been neglected over the winter, such as cleaning out the attic or tending to the garden.

However, one project that is not addressed enough is automotive maintenance, according to Larry Yeager, Director of Training and Technical Services for Echlin's Engine Systems, a leading manufacturer of engine components including ignition parts, wire and cable, fuel pumps, fuel injectors, emission control and clutches.

The winter months are rough on a car's components. Potholes, salt, snow, and freezing temperatures all have adverse effects on a vehicle. As a result, spring is an ideal time to have a car inspected for wear and tear.

"Unfortunately, most people do not have their cars inspected until something goes wrong or they notice a change in drivability," Mr. Yeager stated. "This type of reactionary maintenance ends up being inconvenient, time consuming and expensive."

Automobiles have improved tremendously over the last two decades. With the introduction of electronic ignition and unleaded fuel, additions of computer controls and improvements in oil and gasoline, it is more difficult to identify deterioration of a car's performance. For this reason, motorists must establish a regular schedule of maintenance.

As a general rule, tune-ups should be conducted about once a year or every 12,000-15,000 miles. During a tune-up, most technicians will take the opportunity to check for other needed maintenance such as radiator and heater hoses, coolant condition, fan belts, fuel and air filters, battery condition, tire inflation, and exhaust system.

"I would also recommend that motorists familiarize themselves with their car owner's manual," Mr. Yeager commented. "There is a section on maintenance instructions which contains information on basic upkeep."

Generally, it is recommended that the oil and filter be changed every 3,000 miles or three months. Coolant and transmission fluid, as well as belts and hoses, should be changed about once every two years.

Preventative maintenance is also important to maximize the life span of tires. Most steel belted radials should last approximately 70,000 miles or more if proper steps are taken. Wheel alignment and tire balance should be checked once a year, keep tires properly inflated and check once a week, and rotate tires every 6,000 miles.

"The essence of preventative maintenance is looking, checking and replacing components before failure. It really will save you time, money and aggravation in the long run," Mr. Yeager concluded.

For more information on Engine Systems, contact Echlin's Engine Systems in Franklin Park, at (708) 455-3120.

Host a summer exchange student

You can extend the hand of friendship around the world as an American host family for a summer foreign exchange student. These homestays are always interesting and are often the beginning of lasting friendships.

Most students come for short summer homestays beginning in early July. A few may come for the school year. Students range in age from 14 to 19. All will speak English, although some are more fluent than others in the language.

They live as fully participating members of the family, not as guests in the home. It is an opportunity for American families to share their home and life with someone from a different country and culture and learn something of the language and customs of the homeland of their new family member.

only on orders of 12 or more helmets. Van Der Haegen said that not many people would be ordering that many, so the police have offered to collect the blanks and payments and forward them to the Montana firm so everyone who needs a helmet can order one at the low, low price.

"The regular retail price of the helmets ranges between $39 and $49," Van Der Haegen said.

The police will be ordering the helmets until about the third week in May, Van Der Haegen said. "We want to get them on the heads of the kids before school is out," he said.

When the helmets arrive at the police station, those ordered through the schools will be delivered to the individual schools. Citizens without children in school will have to go to the police station to pick up their helmets.

Van Der Haegen said that he will try to put a notice in local newspapers when the helmets arrive.

Water Safety: Safeguards in place and increasing

The week of May 7-13 was recently designated "Safe Drinking Water Week" by Gov. Jim Edgar, making the state part of a nationwide effort to focus attention on this essential commodity many people take for granted.

Historical records indicate that people began treating the water they drank as early as 2000 B.C., but technology only combined with formal regulation much more recently to assure that when you turn on the tap, you will be tapping into a water supply that is plentiful and safe.

By 1870, there were six public water supplies operating in Illinois. Today, there are 1,830 public water supplies distributing an estimated 1.91 billion gallons of water daily to approximately 10.8 million residents (roughly 176 gallons per person a day). Since 1970, the operation of public water supplies has been overseen by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, which took over and expanded on programs already in place under the Illinois Department of Public Health.

The water the supplies distribute is monitored for bacterial contamination, naturally occurring substances like iron or radionuclides, and scores of manmade materials used in the agricultural and industrial activities that support the state's economy. Federal regulations currently require monitoring for 84 separate potential contaminants, and more will be regulated in the near future. The laboratories of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency do most of the water supply testing, with more than a million tests performed on water samples each year.

When testing indicate contamination is present at levels exceeding drinking water standards, water supply officials must notify the public. The notices do not mean that there is an immediate health threat, as there are large safety factors built in to the standards. The notifications are intended to provide public information and to gain public support to encourage quick compliance.

"Boil water orders" are issued when conditions might have permitted bacteriological contamination into the distribution system. Loss of system pressure or major water main breaks are usually the cause of these alerts. They are precautionary in nature and are issued as an interim measure until additional testing can determine if bacteria have actually entered the distribution system.

Illinois has not had a documented outbreak of waterborne illness linked to a contaminated public water supply for nearly 60 years. In 1939, leaking sewer lines allowed sewage containing typhoid organisms to enter the groundwater supplying the Manteno State Hospital; 453 patients and staff were stricken, and 60 died.

Today, safeguards are in place that early Illinois settlers could not have imagined. Monitoring helps guard against outbreaks of bacterial illness, and standards limit amounts of potential contaminants that could, in excessive amounts over decades of exposure, cause negative health effects. The agricultural community is actively working to reduce their use of pesticides and herbicide that could get into drinking water sources.

Industry is taking steps to reduce chemical use, and pollution prevention is becoming more prevalent. Recent figures show that in 1993, Illinois companies used less of 1,125 different chemicals, reducing at the source amounts of potential pollutants requiring regulation.

Laboratories can now find contaminants at parts per trillion, pushing still farther the limits at which pollution can be detected. Water supply operators must monitor for the presence of some substances that have not yet been regulated, but are thought to have some adverse health effects and have been significantly detected in various parts of the country.

All in all, a glass of water may be the best, and safest, bargain you'll find today.

Low-cost wills for seniors at Skokie office

Eligible senior citizens are offered low-cost will preparation services through the Senior Citizens Will Program Wednesday, May 10, at the Skokie Office of Human Services. Advance appointments are required and will be scheduled for 10 a.m. to noon that day.

An attorney from The Chicago Bar Association will provide free consultations about wills to seniors who register for the service. At a client's request, the attorney will also prepare a simple will for a reduced fee. The cost for drawing up a will is not more than $50 for an individual ($75 for a couple).

Durable Power of Attorney and Living Will forms are available free of charge. A Durable Power of Attorney allows a senior to designate another person to make property or health care decisions in the event the senior becomes physically or mentally unable to do so. A Living Will allows an individual with a terminal health condition to express his or her desire to have death-delaying procedures withheld or withdrawn.

Seniors may complete the Durable Power of Attorney and Living Will forms themselves, or they may hire the attorney to help fill them out and explain the various options available on the forms. The fee for the attorney to provide legal advice about a Durable Power of Attorney is $75 maximum for an individual ($125 for a couple). The charge for a Living Will is no more than $50 for an individual ($75 for a couple).

Township applies for block grant to repair alley

Maine Township recently submitted an application to Cook County for a $163,184 community development block grant to improve an alley in the unincorporated area.

The alley, which runs parallel to Sumac Road, has gone without regular maintenance or significant repairs since the area was developed with multi-family housing in the 1960s. No residents' association exists to care for the alley, and the township and the county have been unable to repair it because the alley is on private property.

The 17-foot-wide alley runs 950 feet between Emerson St. and Noel Ave.

If it receives the block grant, Maine Township would use the funds to repair and improve the alley. As part of the improvement plan, adjoining owners were asked to release their alley property rights to the township, which then would continue to maintain the area as a one-lane, public alley.

Wednesday, April 19, was the deadline for applying for block grant funds. The township held two public hearings—the most recent one on Tuesday—to discuss the grant proposal with residents.

"We're highly optimistic the county will understand the importance of this project," said Supervisor Mark Thompson.

Residents in the Sumac area came to the township for help and worked with officials in the effort to collect signatures from property owners and apply for the block grant.

Jobs available through CIED

The Chicago Institute for Economic Development (CIED) is seeking men and women ages 22-65 from throughout the six-county Chicago area to place in permanent, full-time jobs where they will learn new skills and receive quality employment training.

Positions are available in the manufacturing, retail, hospitality and transportation industries in a variety of positions from clerical to managerial. Most openings are at small and medium-sized companies.

Job seekers who have lost their job due to down-sizing or those who are economically-disadvantaged are encouraged to apply.

according to Carol Dougal, a co-director of the organization with Hedy Ratner. Dougal and Ratner also serve as directors of the Women's Business Development Center.

"We want to locate individuals who are committed to long-term employment and who are eager to work with companies that offer quality on-the-job training," said Dougal.

Since it was established in 1984, more than 500 companies and virtually thousands of men and women have participated in CIED's program.

For further information about jobs, call Fran Luster at (312) 853-8084, ext. 20.

Hospice offers speakers to the community

EHS Hospice is offering free educational speakers to organizations interested in learning more about hospice care or the grieving process.

Nurses, chaplains and social workers trained in caring for the body, mind and spirit of terminally ill patients and their families have prepared 30 to 45 minutes talks on three different topics. These professionals believe that the time to learn about hospice is before a life-threatening illness occurs.

"Hospice, A Special Kind of Caring" explains the philosophy of hospice programs and what services they provide. "Making the Hospice Decision" explains when to decide on hospice, who decides whether hospice is appropriate and the philosophy behind hospice care.

The third talk, "Understanding Grief," explains what grief is, some common misconceptions about grief, factors for healthy grieving and danger signals in the process of grief. The speakers spell out when it is appropriate to seek professional help for someone experiencing grief.

For more information or to schedule a hospice speaker, call 1 (800) 564-2025.
