Airport noise war at a standstill

by Dorie Finnegan

For the past three years somewhat quietly, unbeknownst to many and amidst the threat of O'Hare International Airport expansion it has become apparent that a small war is raging. Like many wars in history, a smaller "resistance" group is taking on a larger, more powerful enigma: The City of Chicago.

The Suburban O'Hare Commission (SOC) is a group of representatives from 15 communities, most of which surround or are in the vicinity of O'Hare International Airport. In January of 1997 the city of Chicago implemented a $4 million stationary monitoring system to measure the amount of aircraft noise affecting O'Hare's surrounding area. Three months later the SOC, an opponent of O'Hare expansion and wary of the city's pending conclusions set up a state subsidized $760,000 system of its own. Six vans were mounted with

Dist. 63 approves $8.4 million bond issue

By extending it's $21 million debt pay-off date from 2007 to 2011, East Maine School District 63 will be able to pay for it's approved $8.4 million referendum without burdening property owners with a tax increase.

The District 63 Board approved the referendum at last month's meeting by a 5 to 1 vote. Officials plan to use the funds to renovate expanding district.

Hippotherapy at equestrian center

by Christine Caplinger

The Morton Grove Village Board of Trustees heard a request from Steven Blonz, chairman of the Planning Commission and Zoning Board of Appeals, for a change in the Special Use permit held by the Morton Grove Equestrian Center at 9501 Austin Avenue. Dr. Jeffrey Lee of Glenview and the stable owners requested the amendment so that they can construct a new facility to house the already existing hippotherapy program at the stable.

Hippotherapy is a form of treatment for children and adults with physical, mental, behavioral

Lease not renewed at Dempster and Greenwood; Golf Road K-Mart to be area's store

After 32 years, Dempster K-Mart to close June 1

After 32 years, the K-Mart at 8650 W. Dempster in Niles is closing it's doors.

The store's building is owned by New Castle Properties LLC who, for unstated reasons, have chosen not to renew K-Mart's lease when it expires on June 1. One explanation may be that K-Mart has opened a new K-Mart located on Golf Road, just south of Greenwood, less than a mile away from the store on Dempster.

In the meantime, the Dempster K-Mart has started its going-out-of-business sale. State regulations allow such a sale for 60 days, but may grant a 30-day extension.

However, as the store's doors seem set to close no later than June 1, an extension seems unlikely.

According to K-mart's corporate officials, the store at Greenwood and Dempster is one of about seven stores that are being liquidated.

Nelson Scouts kick off candy sale to raise funds for a bullet proof vest for Niles Police Dog Noah

On the morning of Friday March 10th the scouts of Nelson School announced during the morning telecast their plans to sell candy as a community service project during select times at school. This is a combined effort of Brownie Troop 560, Girl Scout Troops 1220, 1309, 1310 and Cub Scout Pack 45.

After Noah had appeared at a Cub Scout Pack meeting last year and visited the school at a general assembly with his handler Niles Police Officer Marjo Zavilla they left a big impression with the students. Pack 45 Cubmaster John Owiecki then saw a report on ABC's Good Morning America about a community in Philadelphia's efforts to get a vest for their Police Department K-9. It only seemed like a great fit to have the scouts get together and do a good deed for Noah. The candy is being sold for $1 each and consist of a variety of popular chocolate products.

Once funds are raised a presentation is planned for one of the upcoming Village Town Meeting.

Niles' Karri Nielsen is thriving on chaos and on her way up

by Dorie Finnegan

When you meet Karri Nielsen right away you know that this girl is something special. She looks directly in the eye and immediately disarms you with her warm, broad smile. And boy does this girl have something to smile about. In the last three months her life has turned completely upside down. Since then, even more than usual Karri has lived a life of perpetual motion. But the 18-year-old Maine South senior from Niles wouldn't have it any other way.

It was her spirited personality that got her into it. One day in January, as Karri was working at Nordstrom's in Old Orchard she noticed a woman purchasing an exceptional amount of clothes. Her curiosity got the best of her and she struck up a conversation with the woman named Gretchen. It turns out Gretchen was the wardrobe head of a movie being filmed in Libertyville. In a very short time she was so charmed by Karri, that she asked for a business card and promised she would call.

Karri was excited when she told her parents, Karen and Harvey, about the day's events; but a wary Karen warned her daughter not to get her hopes up. Karri had been involved in drama classes at school and as a little girl loved to tap dance and get up on stage, but she had never been in the school plays and her experience was limited.

A few days later to the Nielsen's surprise, Gretchen did call. She said that Karri fit what they were looking for, and invited Nielsen to come up to Libertyville and see for herself if she wanted to get involved in the project. At this time Karen decided it was time to check out just what kind of movie her daughter might be working on. She called an old family friend named Turk Muller. Muller is a Chicago actor and a producer. He's been in movies and on television, and the Nielsen's could trust him to give an honest opinion of what they were getting themselves into. Karen gave him the movie name, "Newport South," and explained that it was a John Hughes movie. Muller made his calls and got back to Karen quickly. "This is a BIG movie," he gave his blessing.

As many already know, John Hughes makes movies that showcase young people. In the 80's he was responsible for making Molly Ringwald a star. And his "The Breakfast Club" brought together many members of "the lost pack" for the first time. In addition to providing star vehicles for unknown young performers, he is also a big proponent of Chicago actors, especially those coming out of The Second City comedy troupe. He did movies with the late John Candy, like "Uncle Buck" and "Planes, Trains, and Automobiles," and was the person who brought "Home Alone" to the screen. This was a renowned director, and according to Muller, the movie was generating some great industry buzz.

So out to Libertyville Karri and her mother went. By the end of the day Karri knew that this was something she definitely wanted to do, and Karen was 100% behind her. If Karri wanted it Karen urged her to "go for it." The problem was that Libertyville is a long way from Niles, especially in the early morning darkness and the cold of winter. When the casting person told her she could bring a friend, Karri talked her best friend, Erica into coming with her and Erica was hired too. That made it perfect. "At first I didn't believe it," Nielsen remembers excitedly.

It was a lot of work. Through-out the two months of filming, Karri also went to school at least two days a week and continued to work at Nordstrom for her work study program credit. The first day was exceptionally hard. "My first day I was up at 3 a.m. It had snowed that night, and Erica and I drove in the dark and the snow to Libertyville." It was cold, and we needed three sets of clothes, two pairs of shoes, two jackets, and everything had to be OK'd by the wardrobe people. "Hours were going to be long, sometimes 15-20 hour days, and then you are back there the next day. One time I asked if I could just sleep over." (The answer was no). But Karri who thrives on the "go, go, go," was hooked. "I love constant chaos," she explains, and Karen, her mother adds "Karri thrives on activity, she's been constantly moving since she was a baby."

That first day 40 of the extras or "background artists" as they are called, were crammed into the smallest hallway imaginable for the whole day. Take after take the scene was shot over and over again. If she touched her hair the first shot, she had to "match that" and touch her hair from then on in every take. Karri was surprised how intense it was. Being a background artist required an enormous amount of concentration - all day. When the camera was rolling she had to think of every movement she made and then "match that" in the next take without making a sound. She had gone thinking that this was going to be easy - short days and fast money. What she found out early on was that a life filming movies was made up of long, hard days. She would come home after a long, long day exhausted and starving (lunch was the last meal served each day). But as Karri puts it, "I loved it. I loved the adrenaline, the spontaneity. You don't think when you're on the set 'I'm on a movie.' They made you feel comfortable. The directors kept us relaxed and low keyed." She explained that there is a lot of down time, but when the directors need you, you jump and go, whether you just took your first bite of lunch or not. "I thrive on that energy-on action."

At first Karri and her friend Erica felt like outsiders. Most of the background artists were from Libertyville. But given her personality, that changed quickly. "I was always awake and cheerful - full of positive energy - even at 5 or 6 in the morning." The higher ups noticed Karri and her energy and soon she was promoted from background artist to "core person." But with her promotion came more responsibility. She had to be around more, in the Maine Township turns 150 years old

Just over a week ago, Maine Township turned 150 years old. The rural area which now includes Des Plaines, Park Ridge, Rosemont, Niles, Glenview and Morton Grove, became one of the first local Northwest governments at a town meeting on April 2, 1850, two years after the just-written Illinois Constitution gave authorization for the establishment of small township governments.

When Maine Township was formed, only about three hundred people lived in the area. A dinner-dance celebration is planned for October 21, and will be held in Des Plaines.

Washington Commons assists Morton Grove Police

Washington Commons Shopping Center is assisting the Morton Grove Police Department's biannual officer's training, which is focusing on current law enforcement trends. The 8-hour sessions took place the first week in April at the center, which is located at Golf Road and Washington Street, Morton Grove.

The entire Morton Grove Police Department was trained in rapid deployment. The focus is on being able to think and act quickly in response to a violent aggressor who may be threatening citizens while in an office setting, at home, work, or in a school environment. During the practice sessions officers were educated on making split second decisions once they encounter the offender in this type of setting. The training was held at a current open retail space at the center.

Washington Commons is proud and pleased to be of assistance to the Police Department," stated Jim Koe of Method K Partners, management office for the shopping center. "This is one way we can give back to the community and show our support for our protective police force," concluded Koe. Washington Commons has recently become a member of the Morton Grove Chamber of Commerce and Industry, the only shopping center member.

New chaplain ready to assist police, firefighters

by Laurie Matlin

Since July, the Rev. Arthur Olsen has been a familiar face to many Catholic families in the Niles area as a new priest at St. John Brebeuf Church.

Starting this month, he will have one more flock to tend. The Niles Village Board last week approved Fr. Olsen as the first official chaplain for the Niles police and fire departments.

"It's an idea we have been toying with for a long time," said Police Dep. Chief John Katsoulas. While the department has had clergy available on an as-needed basis, this is the first time the department has asked the village board's approval to designate one chaplain to offer spiritual guidance and counseling.

"We want him for happy occasions as well as more serious ones," Katsoulas explained, adding that he hoped Fr. Olsen would be able to attend special staff meetings and participate in ride-alongs with officers.

"I consider it another avenue

The Cemetery Lady

by Barbara Mendelsohn
"Helen Schair, in her research, teaching and writing about cemeteries, is making a unique contribution to Chicago history that will have an impact on generations from now." —Kenan Heise, Chicago journalist, historian and poet.

Her name is Helen Schair, but she also answers to "The Cemetery Lady." Cemeteries are Schair's passion, and her passions run high. Her card confirms this: it's enclosed by a black border. Over lunch she tracks the progress of her life - her degree in vocal music, 27 years of teaching in a Chicago public school, today's status as a cemetery maven. This latest characterization began some 26 years ago, Schair explains, around the time her husband died and her daughter left for college, when she realized she needed a new interest. She became intrigued upon hearing about a historic pioneer cemetery on land that is now part of Lincoln Park, so she set off in search of information. Finding nothing, either in the public library system or at the historical society, she invoked Plan B - she advertised and built a body of information from the feedback. "I got hooked," Schair explains, "and totally fascinated" by the lack of attention (being) paid.

A lady of impressive size and bearing, Schair's presence says that there is someone you pay attention to. Some of that bearing may be in her genes, since her maternal grandfather was a Methodist circuit rider and a state senator. Her mother died in childbirth, so the duty of decorating family graves fell to her. To do this, she journeyed from northeastern Illinois to southern Missouri, where annual graveyard homecomings were a custom.

Over the years Schair became well versed about those traditions that were once part of the grieving process. Prayer cards from the 1890s to 1920s were much larger than today and were kept, with reverence, in an album. They bore bores of the deceased and a sentimental verse. "The case with which people lived with death 100 years ago was the result of an elaborate system of notification," Schair informs. "While in mourning, they wore black and only certain kinds of jewelry. Handkerchiefs had black borders - why, the border's width even indicated the stage of grief. Wreaths were hung on doors, crepes were draped, notices of local deaths tucked up in neighborhood stores, so that grievers had an elaborate communication system at their disposal. This supplied a standard, a system of etiquette that showed others how to express compassion."

Such dedication d. lives a certain celebrity, and Schair has been featured in segments of both Channel 11's "Wild Chicago," and most recently, "Artbeat" series, where visuals show her striding through a cemetery in flowing garb, her gray hair gathered neatly into a bun. She also has her niche at Chicago's Newberry Library, where she has presented her 6-week lecture series, "Chicago and its Cemeteries," for seven years now, with the curriculum now expanded to include 201 and 301 courses.

She can be found in cemetery offices, poking around bookshelves, or browsing at postcard shows, all to expand her knowledge. Her discoveries touch on culture and customs, myth, religion, and ethics. They mine from emerging from its stone source. The second is complex - the snake, its tongue pointing upward toward the Book of Life - the climax, an "incredible Christ on the cross." Then, shedding her do-cent-like bearing, Schair admits to self-induced gooseflesh, and gives her shoulders a firm shake, to regroup.

Finally, laughing heartily over some bit of topical humor, she leaves, heading to nearby St. Adalbert's for today's reconnaissance - for, to quote the maven, "Ever, more!"

The event will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Saturday, May 6, at the Cancer Care Center, 1700 Luther Lane, Park Ridge, just west of Lutheran General Hospital.

For more information or to register for specific tests, call 1-800-3-ADVOCATE (1-800-323-8622). A limited number of specially priced PSA blood tests and rectal exams for prostate cancer will be provided for a $10 fee. (The registration deadline is April 22 to schedule an appointment for the PSA blood draw, which will be provided prior to Cancer Awareness Day on Saturday, April 29. Appointments to receive a digital rectal exam and review the PSA test results with a physician at Cancer Awareness Day will be given to individuals when they have their PSA tests on April 29.) Advance registration also is required for the free skin cancer exams that will be offered at the Cancer Awareness Day event. Call 1-800-323-8622 to make an appointment.

In addition, individualized breast self-exam instruction will be offered on a first-come-first-serve basis, and coupons for reduced-rate mammograms will be distributed.

Displays, videotape presentations, brochures and up-to-date information about prevention and early detection of various forms of cancer also will be provided. Topics covered include breast, lung, head and neck, colorectal, prostate and skin cancer, bone marrow transplants, brain/spine tumors, clinical trials, mammography, breast cancer treatment, gynecological oncology, smoking prevention, cancer genetics, positron emission tomography (PET) scans, music

Cancer Awareness Day visitors also will be able to tour the Lutheran General Cancer Care Center, which is the most comprehensive facility of its kind in the northwest suburban corridor. The center provides a multidisciplinary approach to diagnosis and treatment, and encompasses state-of-the-art imaging, radiation therapy technology and chemotherapy in one location on the hospital campus.

In addition, tours of the new Apheresis Center for patients undergoing bone marrow transplants will be offered. The Cancer Care Center is the first center in the suburbs to have its own in-house apheresis facility.

National Organ and Tissue Donor Awareness Week

The problem is tragically obvious. More than 4,000 Illinois men, women and children are waiting for the "gift of life" - an organ transplant. The solution is simple: People need to know the facts about organ and tissue donation, free of misconceptions and make the decision to donate. National Organ and Tissue Donor Awareness Week, April 16-22, is a special opportunity to focus on building public awareness about this urgent need and encourage Americans to make the commitment to become donors.

Last year, because families in Illinois and northwest Indiana graciously gave the "gift of life," 857 organ transplants and thousands of tissue transplants were performed using organs and tissues recovered by the Regional Organ Bank of Illinois (ROBI). These lifesaving and life-enhancing transplants were made possible simply because people - families and friends, hospital personnel and coroners - chose to make something positive happen in light of the death of a loved one or patient.

However, despite ROBI's record year, more than 300 Illinois residents died in 1999 while waiting for a transplant. Another person is added to the national waiting list every 16 minutes, a list that now includes more than 700,000 people.

Organs and tissues from a single donor can help more than 25 individuals. Choosing to become a donor is as simple as signing a Uniform Donor Card (such as the card on the back of the driver's license) and, most importantly, sharing your intentions with family members.

For more information about how you can make a difference in the lives of others by choosing to be an organ and tissue donor, call ROBI at 800/545-4438.

Prescription drugs available at low cost

Is your medication too expensive for your budget? If so, information in a new booklet might help.

Financial Assistance Network in Washington, DC has just published a 32 page booklet, "2000 Annual Directory of Free & Low Cost Prescription Drug Programs." The recently updated booklet gives information on how and where to get free & low cost prescription drugs.

"Many major drug companies provide free or low cost medication, but rarely, if ever publicize the programs," says Paul Naves-tad, founder of Financial Assistance Network. "We've published an A to Z listing of all the drugs that are available to certain qualified groups for free or at very low cost directly from the manufacturer."

Consumers can receive a copy by sending $5 to cover the cost of printing, postage and handling to: Financial Assistance Network, Prescription Drug Booklet Offer, Dept. FDB-402-1, P.O. Box 60848, Washington, DC 20039-0848. Consumers can also get this information from Financial Assistance Network's web site: www.FinancialAssistanceNetwork.org.

Five hundred generous, fun loving people packed the grand ballroom of the historic Palmer House Hilton in Chicago on February 12, 2000. Bear Necessities Pediatric Cancer Foundation sponsored the "7th Annual Thank Heaven for Little Bears" dinner dance. Dinner Chairperson, Carlene Ignoffo (Arlington Heights) reported excitedly: "We heard wonderful reports about the hotel, the food, the band and the entire program. It was a gigantic success." FOX TV (Channel 32) News personalities Walter Jacobson and Robin Robinson performed as the master and mistress of ceremonies. There were hundreds of elaborate silent auction items, a cash raffle and several high-ticket live auction items. "It takes almost the entire year to secure all these items and organize the raffles and auctions," related Kristan Salerno (Aurora). "It's a job I love doing because it's all for the children struggling with cancer. It's an underfunded cause which we are trying to help in a big way." And in a big way they did! Over $295,000 was raised that very evening for Bear Necessities Pediatric Cancer Foundation, which will continue to support pediatric cancer research and the immediate needs of children with cancer and their families. To volunteer, contribute or for more information about Bear Necessities please call (847) 952-9164 or e-mail Bearh1@aol.com.

Arvey's Restaurant - High Quality for 30 Years

by Dorie Finnegan

From the moment you enter Arvey's Restaurant in Niles you know it is something special. Special indeed! Enough so that it has managed to keep customers happy and returning for 30 years. A long time ago George Arvey made it quite clear. "Our priority is food and values. People get tired of gimmicks and fads, but never with tasty, and well prepared food." With that he and his brother Tom, also his partner and chef, set to work creating what has become one of the gems within the Niles community. Arvey's is a restaurant where food and service are maintained at the highest quality, while being kept at amazingly affordable prices. Everywhere you look in the restaurant the Arvey brothers' philosophy is apparent. The dining rooms are filled with comfortable booths and wide chairs that customers can really sink into.

which has won state and city-wide awards. North Shore Magazine's Reader Poll rated Arvey's Caesar number 1 in Chicago. It is included at no extra charge with your entrée, and this signature salad is always available. That alone could be the reason that Arvey's keeps two dining rooms open during the week and three on weekends. But there is more. A Sun Times poll rated Arvey's Barbequed Ribs among the best in the city of Chicago and its suburbs. Take out is also available with a full menu selection. While many enjoy fine dining, casual dining is also an option in Arvey's Bar, where the décor is darker and more relaxed. The decorated bar is warm and inviting but if you don't want to pull up a bar stool, tables are also scattered throughout the open room. Hardwood floors, a jukebox, video games and strategically placed television sets make the atmosphere complete. Come to Arvey's on a birthday or anniversary and you'll receive complimentary split of champagne, balloons and sparkling ice cream. You'll find a full service bar with premium liquor, a modest but fine selection of wine, and tempting desserts. For those even more special occasions the breathtaking le Petit Trianon Banquet rooms are available. The two rooms are meticulously accented with dazzling chandeliers. White pillars and moldings add more sophistication and elegance. Complete with a dance floor and dimmed light.

Chicago's Lerner Communications sold

In the latest of the media buy-outs, Lerner Communication Inc. has been purchased by the American Publishing Division of Hollinger International Inc.

In its 74-year history, Lerner found many expansion opportunities of its own, first through the acquisition of Myers Newspapers, in the 40s, then with the addition of the Northwest Side's Times and Life in Skokie to its holdings, which initially began as a sole paper, the Lincoln-Belmont Reporter, founded by 19-year-old Leo Lerner in 1926.

In 1965, Lerner expanded further with Skokie, which served downtown Chicago, the Gold Coast, and Lincoln Park.

Finally, Lerner Newspapers was purchased by Pulitzer Publishing Co in 1985, which in turn sold the company to the newly formed Lerner Communications Inc in 1992.

Under Hollinger, Lerner Communications will join daily papers that make a difference in people's lives. The day will start with a brunch for participants at Glenview Community Church, 1000 Elm Street, The BJB Sisterhood and the Church will co-host the brunch, from 10:15-11:15 a.m.

From noon to 3 p.m. in the parking lots of Glenview Community Church, 1000 Elm, and BJB, 901 Milwaukee Avenue, both youth groups will hold simultaneous car washes. Car washes will be $3 in advance and $4 on April 30.

The special projects to be undertaken on Mitzvah/Mission Day include food preparation, clean-up projects, a magazine drive, production of a quilt, and visiting the elderly.

The organizations that will benefit from these projects are: The Abington, Holy Family Health Center, Glenview Terrace, Mary Haven Nursing Home, Good News Soup Kitchen, Inspiration Cafe, Mt. Sinai Hospital, Project Linus, Ronald McDonald House, The Grove, the Night Ministry, and Wings (Women in Need Growing Stronger).

BJB's 1995 Mitzvah Day resulted in recognition and $2,000 from the Paul Newman Foundation to help fund the congregation's Feed the Homeless Program.

The community is encouraged to participate in any of these projects and may call (847) 729-7575 for more information.

*You will be treated with the respect and appreciation that only a family owned business can offer.
*We consistently upgrade our facilities and equipment to offer families only the best.
*The comfort of knowing the person you're dealing with. You will always see a familiar face at our chapels. Our staff is not rotated among dozens of funeral homes.

Battery

A driver was assaulted Friday, after he and another driver took turns speeding up in front of each other as they sped down Milwaukee toward Oakton.

According to the assaulted man, he stopped his 2000 silver Pontiac Grand Prix at Milwaukee and Oakton, as did the other man who was driving a 1993 Oldsmobile Supreme.

The driver of the Pontiac yelled at the other driver, when two other men in their early 20s exited the Oldsmobile. The first driver told police that the second driver punched him in the face, and the other two men took the first driver to the ground and began kicking and punching him.

A witness told police that he saw one offender kick the victim's car, causing damage to the front door. All three offenders fled shortly thereafter, but police were able to obtain one of the suspect's home address. No arrests have yet been made.

Police say that the first driver did smell of alcohol. He was taken to the Lutheran General Hospital Emergency Room for treatment.

Theft from auto
 Two different women reported their purses stolen from their cars as they visited cemeteries on Saturday in two separate incidents.

The first theft occurred at the St. Adalbert Cemetery on the 6800 block of Milwaukee Avenue at 11:50 a.m., while the woman was visiting a grave.

The second occurred exactly an hour later at Maryhill Cemetery at the 8600 block of Milwaukee, where the second woman was also visiting a grave. She told police that a cemetery worker saw a grey or beige station wagon in the area at the time of the theft.

Police say that the worker may have a plate number on the vehicle, but did not say if the two incidents were related.

Deceptive practice
 An employee at Custom Accessories, Inc. at the 6400 block of Howard in Niles filed a report with police after he sent a California man a certified check in the amount of $3,050 for two Bose Stereo Speakers, but never received the merchandise.

The men met on E-bay, where they discussed the transaction. The Niles employee told police that he sent the check on February 28, but as of April 3 had been unable to contact the California man, whose records are now on file with E-bay.

Wallet stolen
 A woman had her wallet stolen Saturday, from the parking lot of the Dominick's food store on Greenwood, just north of Dempster.

The woman told police that as she held the wallet in one hand and began putting her groceries into her trunk, a man ran by and snatched the wallet out of her hand.

She described the suspect as a 19-20 year-old male, approximately 5'8", 160 lbs, with a slender build and medium complexion. The woman also told police that she saw the suspect when she first entered the Dominick's, but did not notice him when she left the store and headed into the parking lot.

Petite theft
 Two unidentified suspects were observed via closed circuit TV removing items from a display at the JC Penney's in Golf Mill mall on Wednesday.

The suspect put on the items and attempted to leave the store. They were stopped by security, admitted the theft, and paid a fine on the scene. They were ticketed and released.

Two other thefts occurred in the mall at Sears on Saturday. The first occurred at noon, when an unidentified suspect attempted to leave the store with $126 worth of shorts.

The second occurred half an hour later when another person attempted to steal $148 worth of men's clothing. In both cases, the suspects paid their fines on the scene, were ticketed and released.

Tavern check
 Police entered the Nul Bom Restaurant and Bar located on the 9300 block of Milwaukee Wednesday at approximately 2:30 a.m., accompanied by an unnamed employee, for a liquor check.

Police said that upon entering they noticed a door with an "Employees Only" sign. They entered the room and saw two couches and a TV and VCR set up for karaoke. Another room with a similar set up was found in the back near a door with an exit sign. Police noticed several knocked over chairs lying on the floor.

Police said they believed the bar only had a 2 a.m. liquor license, but the manager said that the bar was licensed until 4 a.m., but was unable to verify that information.

The bar had posted hours of 6 p.m. to 2 a.m. Police say that the establishment eventually emptied that morning at 2:40 a.m.

Police requested a follow up to investigate possible violations, and have forwarded a copy of their report to the liquor commission.

False kidnapping reported
 A Wisconsin woman, 37, now living in Niles notified police that a report listing her as kidnapped was false.

The report was filed in Wisconsin Dells by the woman's ex-boyfriend, 30, who told police that she was taken against her will by her new boyfriend.

The woman told police that she first heard that she had been kidnapped when friends informed her of the report.

She told police that she is fine and living with her new boyfriend at his mother's Niles home.

Niles police said that the couple produced valid photo driver's licenses, and that they are satisfied that no further investigation into the woman's disappearance will be necessary. They have notified the Wisconsin Dells Police Department.

Police said that upon entering the massages not be of a sexual nature.

The undercover officer entered the Milwaukee tanning salon, asked for a massage and was allegedly told by the employee that it would cost him $60.

He was led to a small room, told to undress, and received a 30-minute massage. The officer was covered from the waist down with a towel.

According to police, the woman then asked the officer if he was "generous." Upon answering in the affirmative, the woman removed the towel and began touching the officer in a sexual manner. When told to stop, she allegedly told the officer to leave a tip on the massage table.

Three police officers who were on the scene entered the salon after the undercover officer reported what had occurred. They discovered one tanning booth, and five massage rooms. Police seized $1,328 and placed the woman under arrest.

A purse was stolen from a car that was left in a car while the owner went to a movie in the 7300 block of Dempster Street.

A Scouting International 'Good Turn'

The Boy Scouts of America celebrated their 90th Anniversary in February, 2000, and most people still remember the scouts for providing 'Good Turns', like helping little old ladies across the street. In reality, most scouts provide much more than this! They consistently provide assistance to many people - some times half-way around the world!

Eagle Scout Benny Costes, committee chairman and valued leader of Troop 175 of Niles, has found a great way to provide the 'Good Turn' assistance to the scouts of the Philippines, the country of his birth. He has shipped used camping equipment to a number of scout troops for their use in the Philippines campgrounds and wilderness.

When the leaders of Boy Scout Troop 175 of Niles, found themselves with an expansion to almost 20 scouts, they were forced to review current camping supplies to accommodate the growing troop. When the current equipment was found not adequate to provide for the size of the troop, the leaders organized a fund raiser to allow the purchase of new tents and supplies

Because much of the older equipment was still in good shape and usable, Benny Costes and his son Josh, convinced the troop to donate it to the Brother Scouts in the Philippines. Benny then solicited the help of Troop 175 to assist him in boxing the equipment, including 14 tents, and ship them to the Philippines. Benny provided the funds necessary to ship all of the equipment, as a donation to promote scouting and communication between the troops of other countries.

The scouts of the Philippines are now using the equipment for their weekend outings for the more than 2000 active scouts in their town. Although the equipment was gratefully accepted, there is still a great need for more.

Benny & Josh Costes, are now organizing the efforts of all scouts throughout the U.S. to donate their used/new equipment for fellow scouts in the Philippines. They are encouraging everyone that has equipment to donate to contact them to discuss the opportunities to send it to these needy scouts.

If you would like to donate motion of scouting - developing young men into future leaders! Any donation will be appreciated!

Tour offers insider's view of Washington, D.C.

Get an insider's view of our nation's capital when you join one of our several travel/study programs available through Oakton Community College.

With the assistance of the Close Up Foundation, a non-profit and non-partisan civic education organization, these tours offer access to a Washington not often seen by visitors. To maximize the experience, a trained professional instructor will provide day-to-day interpretation of activities to small "learning groups" of 20 people.

These different tour packages are available. The Washington, D.C. and the World tour focuses on the interaction between domestic and international policy. Embassy visits, seminars and question-and-answer sessions with experts provide insight into the making of a foreign policy. A "walking workshop" on Capitol Hill leads you the halls of Congress for an investigation of the legislative branch's role in formulating foreign policy. The tour is scheduled for May 13-19, 2000.

The Washington, D.C. tour takes an inside look at our government in action. Visit Capitol Hill and a sampling of Washington's agencies and institutions and learn about some of the people and concepts that make our government work. Special seminars with policymakers and officials will bring you closer to the current issues facing Congress. Experience our nation's history first-hand as professional staff guides you through the memorials celebrating our heritage and the museum preserving our past. Tour dates are April 29-May 5, May 6-12, and June 3-9, 2000.

The Washington, D.C. & Williamsburg, VA tour combines the excitement of the Washington tour with two nights in Colonial Williamsburg, the restored 18th century Virginia colony. In Williamsburg you'll experience day-to-day life as it was during the time of our nation's struggle for independence. You'll also enjoy a colonial dining experience with an authentic menu and an evening of 18th century entertainment. The tour is scheduled for May 20-26, 2000.

All tours allow independent time to explore area cultural and historical sources, such as the Smithsonian Institution, The National Gallery of Art or Arlington National Cemetery in Chicago.

For more information and complete itineraries, call Bea Cornelissen at (847) 635-1812.

The People, Yes, a staged adaptation of Carl Sandburg's transcendent anthem poem on Sunday, April 16 at the Lincolnwood Public Library.

Five versatile actors play various characters -- farmers, politicians, poets, construction workers, mothers and fathers, business leaders, the lonely, the rich, the poor. Rich in homespun wisdom and elemental human truth, the piece is accompanied by guitar, banjo and mandolin.

Fred Amzevins adapted this poetry-cycle for the ensemble which has a mix of vocal ranges as varied as the characters. Enhancing their spoken-word harmonies is the live incidental music of Rich Green, recalling Sandburg's practice of accompanying himself at his own readings. The free program begins at 2 p.m. and lasts just over an hour. Tickets are required and are available free at the circulation desk three weeks before to Lincolnwood residents and one week before to non-residents. The library is located at 4000 W. Users happy with low-flow toilets

Americans are happy using low-flow toilets that save water, two newly published studies say. The studies, which analyzed water conservation and customer satisfaction with low-flow toilets, showed that the 1.6 gallon-per-flush toilets that were introduced in recent years yield above average satisfaction levels from users.

One study results, published in a study called "Residential End Uses of Water" in Winter 1999 by the American Water Works Association Research Foundation, indicate that low-flow toilets per household use half the amount of water compared to 3.5-gallon-per-flush toilets.

A study published in December 1999 by the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California also reflected above average satisfaction levels. Based on customer satisfaction, the top five toilets were: American Standard Cadet 2164; the Toto CST703/CST704; the Mansfield Alto 130-160; the Western Pottery Arts; and the St. Thomas Marathons #6201.0.

The products can be found at North Shore Faucets at 5268 Dempster Street in Morton Grove. The business can be reached by phone at 847-470-0306. The store's web site is www.nshfaucets.com.

The American Water Works Association study indicated that the low-flow toilets did not increase the need to double flush as the quantity of flushes remained the same in households where they used standard or low-flow toilets.

Researchers said that the low-flow toilets affect the environment by protecting natural resources by saving water and by improving water quality.

Kitchen Walk showcases latest in design

The Parenthesis Parent Child Center in Oak Park will hold its 15th Annual Kitchen Walk on Saturday, May 6 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tickets are $25 in advance and can be reserved by calling 708-848-2227. Future programs the Morton Grove Police Department plan on providing for the community are:

- Bicycle Helmet Program. Through the school PTAs, the Department will make bicycle helmets available to children and adults for a reduced rate.
- VIN Etching Program. The police department in conjunction with a local insurance company and body shop will etch a car's serial number into all the window glass to reduce the chance of theft.
- D.A.R.E. Lock-In. A program showing D.A.R.E. students positive alternatives to drugs through a fun evening locked in a local bowling facility.

Pickwick Theatre needs money for preservation

by Laurie Matlin

The picture palace of a bygone era was forced into what was feared its final act more than two dozen years ago when competition from modern cinema complexes turned the structure into a discount movie house.

Now supporters of the Pickwick Theatre in Park Ridge say they want to revise the script for the historic building before final curtain calls begin.

If support for a major restoration can be found, says Executive Director of the Theatre Council Catherine Kenney, the 72-year-old building may sparkle again with live entertainment for Chicago's near north suburb.

Undaunted by funding rejections and potentially large expenses, the Pickwick Theatre Council is looking to raise money to preserve the building as a film and performing arts center. And Kenney said, the group is increasing its efforts to convince officials of the benefits the converted theater could bring to Park Ridge.

Last February the Park Ridge City Council turned down the group's request for $25,000 that promoters hoped would defray the cost of a study to assess the condition of the 1920s-era structure. The finance and budget committee of the city council argued that the council could not spend tax dollars for a privately-owned business venture.

While Park Ridge alderman Michael MaRoas praised the grass roots effort to save the building, he said that the Finance

Edward Jones: No Age Restrictions on Roth IRA

Not too many years ago, "retirement" meant a true cessation from work. But today, more and more retired people are choosing to consult, work part time or even open a small business. Do you plan to follow one of these paths? If so, then the money you earn will help you maintain the lifestyle you want in retirement. Plus, you'll receive another bonus from your labor -- you get to continue contributing to a Roth IRA.

As you may know, Roth IRA earnings grow completely tax-free, provided you've had your account for at least five years. That's a big plus, but there are other benefits.

- You can make contributions as long as you're working -- With a traditional IRA, you cannot make any contributions past age 70-1/2. However, as long as you continue to earn income, you can contribute up to $2,000 a year to a Roth IRA. And if you have at least $4,000 in earned income, you also can contribute to your spouse's Roth IRA, even if he or she doesn't have any earned income.
- You won't be forced to make withdrawals -- Once you reach 70-1/2, you have to make minimum withdrawals each year from a traditional IRA, even if you don't need the money. Plus, you'll have to pay income taxes on your withdrawals. A Roth IRA has no such requirement; you can keep the money in your account for as long as you choose.
- Your family pays no income taxes on inherited Roth IRA funds -- You may not outlive the money you have accumulated in your Roth IRA. If that happens, you can leave the assets in the account to your heirs, and they won't have to pay income taxes on it. (However, Roth IRA proceeds may result in increased estate taxes.) On the other hand, your heirs would have to pay regular income taxes on any money they withdraw from an inherited traditional IRA.

Of course, you may already be contributing to a traditional IRA. Should you convert this account to a Roth IRA if you plan to continue earning income during your retirement years?

There's no one right answer for everyone. But you need to be aware that you will have to pay income taxes on the entire converted amount. That could have a significant impact on your tax situation; you may be better off withdrawing the funds you need each year from your traditional IRA and paying income taxes on the withdrawals. Even if you choose this route, you can still open a new Roth IRA.

Before you make any IRA moves, you'll need to consult with your tax advisor. But if a Roth IRA is appropriate for you, you'll find that it can be an excellent investment for your retirement years -- even if you're not really "retired."

same clothes sometimes for two days if it took that long to do a scene. She was under a lot more pressure too. A mess up by a core person could ruin a scene. She had to be more flexible too. Directors don't want to hear their actors say "no I can't come in, I'm sick." But still there were the days that they would just sit and wait on the set to be called to the camera. Karri explained, "In the beginning everyone is happy, the actors, the crew, the directors, but tension builds as the movie progresses."

Some of the background artists and core people became aggravated with the "hurry up and wait" of the business, but Nielsen used her downtime on the set for her schoolwork. Her teachers quickly noticed that the crazy schedule she was juggling was actually good for her. Karri was balancing it all perfectly. According to her mother, the "experience" was priceless. "And when Karri is asked how she feels about spending part of her senior year of high school working, she sees it as a very positive experience. I didn't miss the parties. I had a learning experience that no one else can say they had." And she had a lot of fun.

Even though she's now back to school and thinking about prom, the acting bug is still ever present. Whereas before this experience, Karri was thinking of combining her love of chemistry with the law in something like forensic science, she is now looking towards acting. She wants to join the SAG (Screen Actor's Guild) and is now thinking of going to Columbia in Chicago for Drama School. She is in the process of getting an agent and already has applied to work on three more movies. She'll be auditioning for a speaking part in "Solball" a movie set to start filming this month, and she's interested in getting into commercials.

In the process, Karri is enjoying getting to know the people in the industry. "Everyone is going for the same stuff," she says, so she's seeing familiar faces and has already made some great friends. That comes as no surprise as Miss Nielsen is someone you simply cannot forget. Her mother Karen puts it best. "I'm very proud of her in so many ways. Early on Karri learned that anything you want you have to work hard to get. She's a fighter, she doesn't give up. Karri's a very cool kid." And a face you'll be seeing a lot of in the future. "Newport South" is set to be released either in the summer or next winter. Karri's ultimate goal is to make it big; to someday be in a movie where her name is in the title. "So people can say 'I knew that girl,'" she laughs charmingly. That blue eyed blond from Niles could just get her wish.

and social disorders that helps to maximize function for these individuals. It pairs the patients with a horse, under the supervision of a doctor, volunteers and staff, in order to improve a variety of physical, mental and emotional factors associated with the patients disability. The stable is already providing this service. The desire is to build a new facility to house this service exclusively.

During discussion about the request, Trustees acknowledged that there were some concerns on the part of residents nearby and Commissioner Blonder regarding aggravation of the dust problem, the possible increase in smell and impacts on drainage and traffic. A representative from the stable indicated that they could minimize the dust problem by utilizing wood chips (an option that is still being examined and tested) and watering the ring and parking lot more often. The smell could be minimized, the representative argued, by having the manure hauled away once per week or more frequently, and by utilizing an odor neutralizer, providing an effective one is available. The stable owners agreeing to have deliveries made only during operating hours answered the traffic concerns.

The Plan Commission and Zoning Board of Appeals added other conditions on to the amendment before the case was approved by them and brought before the Village Board. The stable owners expressed their willingness to comply with the Permit as amended. Regarding the program title "So people can say 'I knew that girl,'" she laughs charmingly. That blue eyed blond from Niles could just get her wish.

case, like many resistance groups before it, the original idealism has become clouded with a harsh financial reality. The SOC has accumulated three years worth of massive amounts of meticulously recorded data. It is stored on computer printouts, zip drives and CD Roms.

But because membership dues are presently being used to pay for lawsuits filed by SOC communities, none of the noise monitoring system data is being analyzed or put in any form to challenge the city's numbers. It leaves many, among them David Larson the acoustical engineer who originally set up the monitoring equipment in the SOC vans asking, "Who is analyzing the data," as well as questioning what is being done with it.

Mark Fishman, Chairman of the Park Ridge Citizens O'Hare Airport Council has acknowledged, "We need personnel to review raw data and come out with some conclusions."

The City of Chicago presented its results in a "Noise Contour" map which determined the number of homes accepted by the city for sound proofing. Results concluded that 1999 noise levels are down one decibel from 1997 levels. As expected, the SOC leaders contend that the city's sound measurements do not truly represent the number of homes affected by O'Hare noise.

SOC lawyer, Joseph Karganis has said that the SOC data proves that areas beyond the boundaries of the city's contour map (which city analysts claim ends where levels drop below 65 decibels) are actually far greater than the 65 Day-Night Decibel Levels (DNL). "There are areas outside the contour that show very intense values, not just 65, but in the 70s, 80s, and 90s." The SOC continues to stand behind its sound monitoring system's quality. Their measurements are done event by event and on a 24 hour noise averaging basis which is also used by Chicago and the Federal Aviation System.

In the meantime the SOC finances are tied up as Elmhurst, Wood Dale, Bensenville and DuPage spearhead a court action which would require O'Hare to purchase permits before it could begin any expansion plans. So, like the Department of Aviation, the SOC does not have the manpower or the financial means to "conduct that analysis."

Although SOC monitors have been available and data produced has been used in at least one lawsuit over school sound insulation, still no SOC noise contour map has been able to be produced. And the war wages on.

THE L-MAX FACTOR

Karganis believes that Chicago figures would be the same as SOC figures if the city would release daily noise "event" readouts compiled by individual noise monitors, called L-Max. L-Max figures show the highest sound decibel level experienced during a single event, from which the airport produces monthly and quarterly reports. But when both Park Ridge Mayor, Ron Wietechu and Elk Grove Village Mayor, Craig Johnson (another who feels the city has seriously underestimated the noise affecting this village) from the city they have been denied. The reason given by the Department of Aviation Spokeswoman Monique Bond, "We don't have the manpower to conduct that analysis," is ironically all too familiar.

DEADLOCKED-WAR

WAGES ON

At this point the ultimate conclusion is still being put on hold. When the Village of Harwood Heights requested a noise level average from the SOC, they found the numbers to be pretty much the same as the city's. Both systems came up with noise levels just short of qualifying Harwood Heights from sound proofing assistance. On the other hand, Park Ridge was able to use SOC data in making a case for testing whether two of its schools were eligible for noise insulation.

In the meantime the SOC finances are tied up as Elmhurst, Wood Dale, Bensenville and DuPage spearhead a court action which would require O'Hare to purchase permits before it could begin any expansion plans. So, like the Department of Aviation, the SOC does not have the manpower or the financial means to "conduct that analysis."
