by Bud Besser

We'll be at the White Eagle Restaurant Friday night attending Niles Police Chief Ray Giovannelli's retirement party. The 58-year-old chief was taken ill a couple of years ago but has bounced back well. He has been a member of the department for 35 years.

We reported three months ago Ray helped create NOR-TAF, an inter-village/city task force which combines several neighboring police forces which investigate major suburban crimes.

While Chief, Ray also created a very successful drug program, P.R.I.D.E., which was used in combatting drug problems.

During Ray's 11 years as

Niles Water Rate Increase

Effective June 1, 2000, the water rate for Niles customers will increase from $2.85 per thousand gallons to $2.96 per thousand gallons, a 3.9 percent increase.

The water rate is adjusted periodically to offset increases in the cost of providing water to the community. Costs for personnel, equipment and capital projects increase each year, and the prior water rate (set in June 1999) was insufficient to operate the system.

The new rate is calculated to provide operating revenues, but no profit, for the water system.

by Christine Caplinger

The good news is that State Senator Walter Dudyecz will be in attendance for the grand re-opening of Oriole Pool on Saturday, June 3, 2000, from 11 a.m. to 12 noon. The bad news is that Morton Grove Park District will have to repair a leakage problem before the pool opens for the summer.

The leakage was discovered when the pool was filled May 10, and tested May 11 to see how the new equipment will perform. The Police continue hunt for rape suspect

After a series of home invasions resulting in the rape of a Niles woman and the attempted sexual assault of women in Skokie and Mt. Prospect earlier this month, Niles Police said that no recent incidents have been reported.

The last reported attack occurred on May 11th when a man identifying himself as a census worker forcibly entered the apartment of a woman in Morton Grove. After a struggle, the woman managed to escape unharmful, but the suspect is still at large.

The suspect is believed by suburban police to be the same man who posed as a police officer in the Mt. Prospect and Skokie cases, where a man meeting the suspect's description identified himself as a police officer (in one case showing a badge) and entered the homes brandishing a gun.

The Skokie woman was pistol-whipped and handcuffed, and her female housekeeper tied up, before the suspect ransacked the home. Following a brief struggle with the homeowner, the suspect fled the scene. The incident occurred on May 8.

One week earlier, the Mt. Prospect woman also managed to escape the suspect's grasp when he began pulling at her clothes. He promptly fled the scene, leaving the woman un-

Niles Park District Honors 2-Time Olympic Skater, David Santee

On Friday, May 6, 2000 Niles Park District honored 2-time Olympian, David Santee. Santee, who is presently the General Manager of the IceLand Arena, was recognized for his contribution to the skating community of over 35 years. Santee competed in the 1976 and 1980 Winter Olympics and finished 2nd in the World Championships in 1982 to Scott Hamilton. "We are proud to have David on our staff," Executive Director Joseph LoVerde said. "He is a true professional and a role model for our young athletes." Santee, becoming the second athlete to be honored at Niles Park District IceLand this year, following Chicago Blackhawks star, Eddie Olczyk.

Letter to the Editors

'Keep Memorial Day for what it was originally intended'

Dear Editor:

This Memorial Day, our country is blessed by non-involvement in declared conflicts although many of our military continue to serve as peacekeepers in distant trouble spots throughout the world. The dangers they face are real and unrelenting, detracting no less from the original and true importance of Memorial Day - to commemorate the supreme sacrifices made by sons, daughters, fathers, mothers, uncles, and aunts in recent wars and military actions.

Unfortunately, there are many who still see this day as a weekend tie-in to signify the first holiday of summer. Neighborhood communities and cities that conduct celebratory parades on this occasion foster this irreverence by allowing clowns, baton twirlers, midjet cars, and brightly-colored floats to participate. These groups would more appropriately be added attractions for a Fourth of July celebration; not a Memorial Day event.

As a related example, a nearby park district fieldhouse showcased a child-made design that read: "Happy Memorial Day." While this innocent form of expression was designed to call attention to the day, it was obviously misdirected.

There is little to be happy about on this or subsequent Memorial Days. If otherwise, the remains of returned missing-in-action veterans would be greeted with the song, "Happy Days Are Here Again" and exclamations of joy instead of a color guard, somber military and patriotic music along with tears of sadness. Make no mistake readers, the freedoms we enjoy today as a nation were paid with the less of life or the physical and mental scars incurred by combatants on battlefields marked by devastation and death. Patients in VA hospitals can attest to this campaign.

Let's step and remember Memorial Day for what it was originally intended - a day of observance and commemoration and not a day of celebration, merriment or part of a three-day weekend.

Sincerely,
Stan "Tex" Banash

'Serving the public'

Maine Township Supervisor Mark Thompson (standing) showed that elected officials really do "serve" the public as he serves up fresh coffee for two guests at the annual Lion's Club Pancake Breakfast held at Maine West High School on April 8th. Enjoying the coffee are Dee Pirok (left), a Des Plaines resident and Charlotte Brown of Arlington Heights.

Park district to review employment policy

by Lisa Ashkenaz Croke

This month's meeting of the Niles Park District Board demonstrated the effectiveness that can come from public meetings when residents made a rare appearance to voice a variety of concerns before the Board of Park Commissioners.

"I love to see people at these meetings," said Park Director Joe LoVerde. "We need input from the community."

Mary Ann Reilly, a Niles resident for 40 years, told the Board that the district's policy of charging non-residents $70 for pool passes hindered her ability to entertain her out-of-state grandchildren when they came for their summer visit.

Board president James Hynes explained that the policy was put in place to stop abuses of residents who purchased lower cost, non-resident admissions for friends, but agreed that a resident who may have relatives visiting from out of town should not be penalized.

The Board decided that a new policy would be posted stating that guests accompanied by a Niles relative would be admitted at resident rates.

A resident of the Renaissance Condominium complex, which sits adjacent to Pioneer Park, lamented that while the new facility offered many family activities, there wasn't much for seniors.

The man suggested that a bocce ball or shuffleboard court be built behind the field house.

"This is a good suggestion," said LoVerde, who told the man that he would work with recreation staff to see what could be done, and agreed to meet with the

Dunkin' Donuts teams up with Medi-Check Foundation to distribute medical I.D. tags

In an unprecedented partnership of a leading food chain and a humanitarian health movement, more than 30 Chicagoland Dunkin' Donuts shops in the north and northeast suburbs will sponsor the Medi-Check International Foundation, Inc. during June and July.

For every dozen of the delicious donuts sold, the cooperating franchisees will donate twenty-five cents to Medi-Check, which supplies custom engraved emergency medical identification bracelets, neckties and wallet cards to persons with "hidden" medical problems.

The DesPlaines-based Medi-Check, started in 1965 by Marjorie and Peter Mayer, as a non-profit and tax exempt organization, has already "tagged" more than 200,000 persons suffering from life-threatening conditions such as epilepsy, diabetes, cardiac problems, allergies to medications and insect stings. There are more than 200 different illnesses and diseases that would go undetected should the victim be rendered unconscious and unable to describe their medical condition. The actual number of lives that may have been saved because victims were wearing Medi-Check emergency medical identification tags cannot be accurately calculated, but the number would be staggering.

Every two months, shops in another of the six Dunkin' Donuts districts throughout the Chicago area will sponsor the Medi-Check drive. Colorful yellow and red ordering brochures will be placed on counters of participating Dunkin' Donuts shops so that customers can become aware of Medi-Check's mission and possibly order a life-saving identification device for themselves or a loved one.

Peter Mayer, volunteer president of Medi-Check and recipient of a 1998 Jefferson Award recognizing the highest ideals and achievements in public service, said that 45 million Americans, 20 percent of the population, have a hidden medical problem. "If you have five people in your family," Mayer said, "one of them is likely to have a medical condition."

The Mayers started the Medi-Check Foundation 35 years ago after their 3 year-old daughter Elizabeth died from improperly administered medication while she was being treated in the hospital for the flu. They resolved then to devote their lives to saving other children and adults from being misdiagnosed and given the wrong medical treatment that would worsen their condition or possibly cause their death.

"Some victims suffering a reaction to insulin or a diabetic attack have been suspected of being drunk," Peter Mayer said. "They were put in a drunk tank to sleep it off and have actually died there. Whose fault was it?"

With the intervention of a Medi-Check emergency medical identification device, thousands of lives have already been saved. The Mayers' goal is to distribute several thousand more identification devices, and with the help of the generous Dunkin' Donuts franchisees, they may be able to reach that goal in the near future.

Stablelives program offers weight management workshop

Managing diabetes doesn't mean giving up all the foods that one enjoys eating. It just means to prepare dishes with relevant dietary information that can help one take control of the disease before it takes control of him or herself.

On Wednesday, June 7, Holy Family's Celia Morelos, RN, CDE and Cathy Graham, RD, LD, CDE will discuss the three important aspects of weight control - healthy eating, physical activity, and behavior modification. Celia Morelos is a Diabetes Nurse Clinician and Cathy Graham is a Clinical Dietitian at Holy Family's StableLives Diabetes Program. The lecture will be held from 6 - 7:30 p.m. in the Diabetes Education Classroom, 3 North Main at Holy Family Medical Center.

Resurrection seeks participants for breast cancer prevention research trial

Resurrection Health Care's Clinical Research Program is seeking women to take part in the STAR trial, an ongoing study to determine the effectiveness of two drugs in reducing the incidence of breast cancer in postmenopausal women. As part of a brief phone call to determine initial eligibility for the study, women will receive a free breast cancer risk assessment.

Kathleen Scott, Clinical Research Associate, said participants in the STAR (study of tamoxifen and raloxifene) trial receive one or the other of the two drugs, both of which are approved by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA). Tamoxifen has FDA approval as an effective breast cancer prevention drug for women at high risk for the disease, while raloxifene is FDA approved for prevention of osteoporosis in postmenopausal women. Neither the women nor their doctors know which drug they are taking, so as not to bias the study. Participants will have regular follow-up visits with their personal physicians, including mammograms and gynecological examinations.

The initial risk assessment is done over the telephone. In less than three minutes, a member of the research team will ask a few questions that can determine a woman's relative risk for breast cancer over the next five years, as well as her lifetime risk to age 90. All information remains completely confidential.

After the initial phone screening, each applicant for the study will receive a letter and a risk assessment form in the mail. Upon receipt of the form, each woman's personal risk profile will be evaluated to determine her eligibility for participation in the STAR trial.

If eligible, the woman will then be offered a one-on-one consultation with a research professional. Again, all information provided remains confidential.

Breast cancer is the most common type of cancer in North American women, and is the second leading cause of cancer deaths in females. A number of risk factors have been linked to the disease, including a first degree relative (mother, sister or daughter) with breast cancer, a history of benign breast disease requiring biopsies, having a first menstrual period at a young age and having never given birth, or having a first child after age 30.

Women who believe they have an increased risk for developing breast cancer, and are interested in participating in the STAR trial, are encouraged to call the Resurrection STAR Center.

To learn more about the STAR trial, to be considered for participation and to receive a free risk assessment, call toll-free 1-(877) 397-STAR (7827).

Migraines occur in twice as many women as men

Chicago's renowned Diamond Headache Clinic today validated what many women have known and suffered through for years - the reality that women are far more likely to suffer migraines than men, approximately two times more likely. Recent clinical studies indicate that certain hormonal changes that occur during puberty in girls and remain until menopause, may be responsible for the triggering and frequency of migraine attacks in women.

An estimated 25 million Americans suffer from migraine headaches. Migraine, the most common type of vascular headache, often combines intense pain with neurological symptoms such as visual problems, nausea, vomiting and sensitivity to light and sound.

Sixty percent of women migraine sufferers participating in a recent study related their attacks to their menstrual cycle, supporting a link between monthly cyclical female endocrine changes and migraine headaches. However, even among this group, significant individual differences did exist; attacks may occur several days before, during or immediately after the woman's menses. Some women get a headache at the time of ovulation, while others have headaches during the time between ovulation and menstruation.

In a related study, women appeared to suffer migraines for several days in connection with a rapid drop of blood estrogen following a preceding elevation of estrogen. While nonsteroidal, anti-inflammatory drugs are the treatment of choice - and often quite effective - for headaches triggered by hormone fluctuation, how these hormone changes trigger migraine remains a mystery.

Pregnancy seems to play a significant role in influencing migraine. In female patients with migraine, approximately 75 percent report the disappearance, or drastic reduction in frequency and/or strength of attack during pregnancy.

Genetic predisposition also appears to be relevant for some women migraine sufferers. Differences in blood vessel sensitivity have been linked to an apparent monogenic change that triggers migraine headache triggering mechanism, the rapid drop in blood serotonin, which is a chemical substance primarily present in platelets. It is a potent constrictor of the blood vessels and is thought to be involved in the mechanism of migraine.

There is also evidence suggesting a connection between the use of oral contraceptives and the incidence of migraine attacks. In one study, 50 percent of migraine sufferers experienced a worsening of their attacks while on the Pill, while 40 percent remained unaffected and 10 percent improved. Another study revealed that some women without any predisposition to migraine developed it while on the Pill, and 70 percent of those found their headaches disappeared after they stopped taking the Pill. In addition, women using estrogen replacement therapy following hysterectomy or menopause developed frequent migraine headaches, and that reduction or discontinuation of estrogen improved the headaches in 58 percent of these cases.

Medical consensus is that women with migraine are better advised not to take oral contraceptives or other female hormone preparations if at all possible.

For both women and men, incidence of migraine suffering peaks among people in their mid-20s through middle age, tapering off after approximately the age of 55. For most migraine sufferers, effective treatment therapies are available. Proper diagnosis is the key.

For more information, contact the Diamond Headache Clinic at 1-800-432-3224.

PMS isn't a disease

PMS (premenstrual syndrome) is troubling and common. It's also similar to a brain concussion states Dr. Leland Heller, a Family Physician, an expert on mental disorders and author of the new book, "Biological Unhappiness" (Dyslimbia Press, 1999).

"Several areas of medicine, especially cardiology, are discovering that some women without any predisposition to migraine developed it while on the Pill, and 70 percent of those found their headaches disappeared after they stopped taking the Pill. In addition, women using estrogen replacement therapy following hysterectomy or menopause developed frequent migraine headaches, and that reduction or discontinuation of estrogen improved the headaches in 58 percent of these cases."

Medical consensus is that women with migraine are better advised not to take oral contraceptives or other female hormone preparations if at all possible.

For both women and men, incidence of migraine suffering peaks among people in their mid-20s through middle age, tapering off after approximately the age of 55. For most migraine sufferers, effective treatment therapies are available. Proper diagnosis is the key.

For more information, contact the Diamond Headache Clinic at 1-800-432-3224.

are just like those experienced during PMS: irritability, anger, headaches, personality changes, and difficulty concentrating. Unlike most conditions causing swelling, women generally are swollen when they wake up instead of just before they've been on their feet all day. Their rings can be tight, they complain of abdominal "bloating," and their shoes don't fit. The weight gain can range from one half pound to 10 pounds in just a few days!

Dr. Heller says that "the most severe PMS seems to be closely related to the amount of swelling combined with underlying "menstrual" disorders such as depression, anxiety, AD(HD), and the borderline disorder. That's why psychiatric medications like Prozac are sometimes effective.

"Treating all their problems (including psychiatric), and using powerful water pills to remove the extra fluid virtually always resolves PMS symptoms." PMS and the complicating diagnoses are explained at length in the book "Biological Unhappiness," which is written for the lay person.

The screening test Dr. Heller uses for his patients is available on line along with a thousand ask the doctor questions at www.biologichunhappiness.com. ISBN #192804700X $22.95 available at Amazon.com, B&N.com, directly from Dyslimbia Press with a 30 day unconditional money back guarantee, 109 NE 19th Drive, Okeechobee, FL 34972 (888-338-8484), and soon in bookstores everywhere.

Heads and Figures: paintings in oils, non-realistic works by Lincolnwood resident Harriet Shapiro, will be on exhibit May 30 to July 28 at Lincolnwood Village Hall, 6900 N. Her paintings have been included in the Woodstock Women's Works exhibit and displayed at the Wilmette and Lincolnwood public libraries.

State funds awarded to Norwood Park Garden Club

The Norwood Park Garden Club, founded in 1928, was awarded $15,000 in state funds for improving the Blue Star Memorial Highway triangle garden at the intersection of Harlem and Avondale Avenues and to maintain ongoing projects. The monies were secured by State Rep. Ralph C. Caparoli (left) in the House and supported by State Sen. Walter Dudy (right) in the Senate. Receiving the symbolic check are Garden Club officers (from left): Julie Smith, garden therapist; Jo Kummer, treasurer; Delores Struzik, member; Mary Sykes, vice president; Louise Pantaleo, past president; and Dorothy Chapman, president. Other monies will be used to rebuild the Memorial marker erected in 1974, install an in-going watering system in the triangle, and purchase additional plants, shrubs and trees. The work is being done in cooperation with the Illinois Department of Transportation.

Illinois pols plan small one-time tax-cut bribe prior to Nov. elections

Springfield Republican and Democratic politicians are planning an election year bribe -- a small state income tax cut that will be mailed prior to the November 2000 elections, according to the Illinois Taxpayer Education Foundation (ITEF). The bipartisan bribe, most likely a one-time $500-per-family state income tax credit for homeowners only, will be the likely vehicle as both political parties jockey for advantage in the highly contested fight for control of the Illinois legislature.

Taxpayers are furious at the deceitful Gov. George Ryan (R)," said Jim Tobin, ITEF president. "Ryan campaigned on a no-tax pledge and then pushed through a $16 billion tax increase to fund his 'Illinois First' program, a socialistic transfer-of-wealth that bribed local politicians of both parties across the state."

"This pathetic one-time tax cut being considered is only 1.3 percent of $37.3 billion state revenues," said Tobin. "While Illinois politicians are sitting on a state surplus of $1.3 billion, and are considering throwing it and still would be less than 8 percent of total state revenues of $37.3 billion."

The $1.3 billion surplus the Springfield pols are hoarding belongs to taxpayers, not politicians. The bulk of it should be returned to taxpayers. Hoarding a $1.3 billion surplus is positively obscene," said Tobin.

"A meaningful tax cut that would stimulate the Illinois economy even further would be a 33 percent cut in the state income tax for individuals, from 3 percent to 2 percent. This would lift a $2.9 billion burden from the backs of Illinois taxpayers."

SJB students receive Sacrament of Reconciliation

The fourth graders joined with students from St. John Brobeur's Religious education Program to receive the sacrament on Monday evening, April 3rd. This is the 3rd sacrament the students received after Baptism and Eucharist.

St. John Brobeur fourth graders, Annette Carralota and Keith Baraszek display the sheep they made as part of their Reconciliation Sacrament.

Why Select A Family Owned Funeral Home?

*Prices are traditionally much lower than those of corporate owned funeral homes.

*Our funeral directors and staff do not work on commissions. They will never pressure you to buy something that you don't want or need.

*All of our preparation work is done at our funeral homes by licensed funeral directors. Your loved one will not be transported to a "factory like" embalming facility.

*You will be treated with the respect and appreciation that only a family owned business can offer.

*We consistently upgrade our facilities and equipment to offer families only the best.

*The comfort of knowing the person you're dealing with. You will always see a familiar face at our chapels. Our staff is not rotated among dozens of funeral homes.

News From The Village of Morton Grove

Morton Grove Recycling

Groot Recycling and Waste Services, Inc., is under contract with the Village to remove all acceptable and properly prepared recyclables along with two (2) appropriate containers of "regular" garbage at no cost to homeowners. Removal of yard waste or additional garbage containers are at an individual homeowner's expense. Residents only pay for the services they need. Appropriate Morton Grove yard waste or solid waste coverage stickers are required for these services.

Items Now Accepted As Recyclables.
Glass bottles, aluminum and metal containers: #1 and #2 plastic bottles/jugs; #3 (PVC) plastic containers; #4 (LDPE) plastic containers; lids, and six-pack rings; #5 (PP) plastic containers (i.e., pancake syrup, cottage cheese tubs); #6 (PS) plastic containers and trays (i.e., meat trays, clear produce containers, foam egg cartons); #7 other plastic containers (i.e., ketchup bottles);

Plastic grocery bags, newspaper covers, cleaner bags, and bread bags. Additional recyclables items include: Aluminum foil and pre-formed food containers (i.e., roaster pans); Empty paint cans (washed, no lids) provided the contents are completely dried at time of curb placement; All aerosol cans. Remove all caps and lids and place them into regular garbage. Please rinse and clean all items.

Please place pastie grocery bags, newspaper covers, and bread bags in a plastic grocery bag and place into your recycling bin for disposal.

Newspaper
Newspapers (but not the glossy inserts) should be bundled and tied with a natural fiber string or placed into brown paper grocery store bags.

Mixed Paper
Catalogs, phone books, paperback books and magazines; Chip-board (i.e., potato chip or cereal boxes); Cardboard; Paper generated in offices (i.e., copy paper, faxes, envelopes (windows, metal clasps removed)). Paper grocery bags, paper egg cartons, junk mail or corrugated containers.

All mixed paper must be placed into a brown paper grocery bag and placed in your recycling bin. Cardboard boxes and corrugated material that is too big to be placed into the bag should be flattened to a size no greater than three feet on any side, tied with string, and placed under your recycling bin.

The Following Items Will Not Be Accepted As Recyclables:
Motor oil containers; Anti-freeze containers; Charcoal lighter containers; Cold-cut containers; Corrugated pizza boxes; Padded envelopes; Paper milk/juice containers; Foiled gift/tissue boxes; Gift wrap; Styrofoam containers/packing.

Regular Garbage
After properly separating and preparing your recyclables, whatever garbage remains must be placed into your two appropriate and sealed containers (cans or plastic garbage bags, neither of which may exceed thirty-two (32) gallons in size or fifty (50) pounds in weight). Extra containers must have a special solid waste sticker attached. These stickers cost $1.30 each and are available at the Village Hall and several local retailers who are listed at the end of this article.

Loose garbage or garbage in any other container, including cardboard boxes, will not be taken.

"Bulky" items such as furniture, bedding, appliances, large toys, and carpenter (rolled in lengths no longer than five feet) will be removed if placed alongside your other garbage and recyclables. The Village suggests that you first contact your favorite charity to see if they can pick-up, recondition, and reuse these items. There is no charge for the collection of bulky items.

"Construction or remodeling debris" will not be taken as a part of the regular Village solid waste materials. Removal of these materials should be made as part of an agreement with the contractor. If this cannot be arranged, residents are required to have the debris removed at their own expense. However, small amounts of properly containerized or bundled building debris from do-it-yourself projects will be collected.

Container Set-Out Times
To protect the visual beauty of our community, Morton Grove ordinances require residents do not place out for collection any garbage, recycling, or yard waste prior to 6 p.m. from April 1 to October 31 and 4 p.m. from November 1 to March 31 the evening before your scheduled waste removal pick-up service. Residential solid waste containers shall also be removed from the curb or alley and returned to their permanent storage location before midnight on the day of collection. Violators are subject to residents should be reminded that three different trucks come through the Village on collection days: one for "recyclables," one for "regular" garbage, and one for "yard waste." There may be a break of several hours between the different pick-ups. Furthermore, since collection is permitted between the hours of 7 a.m. and 6 p.m., your pick-up times may vary from week to week depending on a driver's schedule.

Household Hazardous Waste
Products that can threaten human health or cause contamination of sewer, ground water, soil, or air can not be disposed in landfills with regular garbage. These products include: paint, thinners, and removers; lawn chemicals; pesticides; hobby chemicals; pool chemicals; cleaning products; solvents; aerosols; old motor oil; old gasoline; anti-freeze; automobile batteries; household batteries and tires.

For information on how to dispose of these items or for other questions, call the Village's Public Works Department at 847/470-5235 or the Building Dept. at 847/470-5214, between 8:30 and 5 p.m. weekdays.

ing the money needed not only for erecting the statue, but for purchasing a site for the monument at Lincoln and Georgian. The "Doughboy" statue stands there today, along with the Morton Grove Public Library. Gradually the celebration grew in size and scope. Fundraising was enhanced by specific needs or special projects. In fact, the site of the annual Independence Day and Anniversary celebrations, Harter Park, was purchased with money raised by past Morton Grove Days Committee events.

honor men who served in World War I, the fundamental spirit which drove them still exists today. In fact, without the support of individuals, families and businesses within Morton Grove, the events enjoyed by thousands each year would not be possible. While the Park District, Village and Township governments help support the Committee, most revenue is derived from a community-wide sponsorship program. Individual residents can become a patron sponsor by contributing as little as $20 to the Days Committee.

We hope you and your family will become a Morton Grove Days sponsor, and more importantly that you come and enjoy the Committee's family-oriented programs scheduled each year.

For more information about Morton Grove Days, call the Morton Grove Park District, 965-1200.

Morton Grove Park District celebrates Parks and Recreation Month in June

Many exciting events and activities are planned for Morton Grove by the Morton Grove Park District in celebration of Parks and Recreation Month in June as proclaimed by Illinois Governor George Ryan.

Saturday, June 3 - Oriole Pool Opening Day

Saturday, June 10 - A Day in the Park 2000 and Opening Day at Harrier Pool

Friday, June 16 - School's Out Beach Party at Oriole Pool

Saturday, June 17 - Annual Piano Recital

Tuesday, June 20 - Concert in the Park - Morton Grove Park District Jazz Band

Tuesday, June 27 - Concert in the Park - Bopology

Friday, June 30 - Movie in the Park - Muppets in Space and Morton Grove Days July 4th Festival begins.

"Residents of Morton Grove can look forward to a wide variety of special events and programs during the month of June said Kelly Morris, Recreation Manager."

"In addition to sports leagues and summer camps, which improve quality of life in our community, the Morton Grove Park District provides health and fitness programs for all age groups, as well as other social services."

The role of park districts, forest preserves and recreation agencies is changing," said Dr. Ted Flickinger, executive director of the Illinois Association of Park Districts.

"Local park districts, forest preserves and recreation agencies have grown beyond sports and entertainment and are addressing concerns such as well-ness, juvenile delinquency, substance abuse, gangs and crime."

Park districts, forest preserves and recreation agencies make communities better places to live. Their programs and services provide health benefits, social benefits and economic benefits to the people of their communities.

For youth, recreation programs release tension and fulfill desires for challenge and competition. These activities and other confidence-building programs have a direct impact on crime reduction.

For people of all ages physical activity reduces the risk of stress-related disease and helps them live longer. Studies have shown that each mile walked or ran by a sedentary person adds an extra 21 minutes of life and saves society from unnecessary medical expenses.

Maine South serves swing at Niles Senior Center prom

by Laurie Matlin

Ceil Fiedor, of Niles, had to make up for lost time. Dressed in a straight-line dress with gold and white lines that swept the floor, Mrs. Fiedor dipped and swirled and twined with the charming gentleman more than a half-century her junior who had asked her hand for the swing dance.

"He swung me, twirled me around. I never thought that I would make it. And then at the end, he dipped me. Oh my goodness, it was fabulous!" the 70-something prom date exclaimed. Mrs. Fiedor was one of 60 Niles senior citizens and 70 Maine South High School students who participated in the first intergenerational prom Friday, May 5, at the Niles Senior Center, 999 Civic Center Drive.

Both students and senior citizens dressed in their finest suits and dresses while an orchestra played music spanning from the 1940s to the current era as both senior citizens and teenagers twined and hopped along.

For some of the senior citizens, who ranged in age from 69 to 85, there could be no prom in the Depression years when a fancy dress cost too much money. Much of them revelled in seeing the variety of styles many of the younger women wore.

Conchita Goldberg, of Niles, went to her high school prom in 1937. "We didn't have much money. My mother helped make my dress and I went with the man I eventually married," she said. And how did this event compare? "It was fabulous," she said. "The meal was fabulous and the students from Maine South were fantastic, really nice kids. They were so refreshing. They renewed my faith in teenagers."

The night began with ice breakers and a trivia game revolving around the evening's theme of "A Century of Memories."

Veronica O'Neill, of Niles, joked that she last went to prom as a young woman in Ireland "100 years ago." She agreed that the students planned a wonderful event. "The high school students didn't sit down for one minute, always dancing or getting everyone to mingle. The four girls at our table were just beautiful. I told everyone, they were just fabulous."

"When they started the dancing, I got up because I didn't want the whole thing to flop, but then I didn't sit down again for the entire evening," said Mrs. Goldberg. "It was the most wonderful evening I've had in a long time."

"This was such a fabulous event, such a fun party with lots of laughs and pure joy," Mrs. Fiedor said of her first-ever prom. "It was fantastic," echoed Maine South teacher and event organizer Matt Parrilli. "I don't remember being as outgoing and confident as these students were."

Four students, all part of a community services organization at the school, sat at each table of senior citizens. Jennifer Sheehan, a senior at Maine South, was one of the students attending and a key organizer of the event. "I was really worried about it. I wanted people to have a good time," she said, adding that the resulting event exceeded her expectations. "Even the students had a ton of fun," she said. "It was nice to see everyone so happy."

And what about that charming young man with whom Mrs. Fiedor danced? Like her granddaughter, he will be enrolling as a freshman at Northwestern University in the fall, she discovered. The two have already begun making plans to meet. "I may have even picked up a boyfriend for my granddaughter," she confided. "How's that for a prom?"

Ferris Academic Honors for Fall 1999

Among the students honored was Timothy J. Thibault of Niles.

Troop 175 thanks donators for support

The Boy Scout Troop 175 would like to thank all the generous folks who provided the many items that were sold and the folks that purchased these items, at the recent flea market at St. John Brebeuf. The troop will use all funds received to purchase various camping equipment so drastically needed for this growing troop.

Any item not sold at the flea market, will be donated to local charities to benefit less fortunate members of our community.

Although the funds collected will provide some relief for the troop, the troop has many other needs. With growth of 100%, to 27 scouts, throughout the past 12 months, there are still many other items needed to put on a successful program for the boys.

The troop would appreciate any donation made to help the troop. For more information on this tax deductible contribution, please call Bob Galassi at 847-965-0920.

Grow Your Own Wedding at Home

If Cupid has left an engagement ring on your finger recently, you know about the deluge of details that comes with planning a wedding. And if you're determined to express your individual style, as so many of today's brides are, finding just the right blend of traditional and unique can add to the pressure.

There's no place like home for comfort and refuge, so why not plan the special family occasion right in your own backyard?

If you've got some time to plan, perhaps a year or more, you're in good shape. Start by walking around the yard, looking for an area large enough and flat enough to accommodate your guests. Then observe the grass. Is it dense and lush, or a patchy mess of colors other than green?

Even if you have no grass at all, you'll have plenty of time to re-seed or, better yet, put down new sod. For a last-minute fix, annual ryegrass seed grows quickly and can fill any bare spots in just a few weeks. If a truly luxurious Garden of Eden is what you have in mind, a dense, slow-growing sod like zoysia makes a beautiful lawn.

The blades of zoysia grass grow so close together, your feet probably won't touch the actual ground," says Jane Troiano, a lawn and garden expert at The Home Depot. "Cutting it a few days in advance will make sure the train of your dress doesn't stain, either."

Once you have the lawn chosen, flowers will be your next step. What better personal stamp to put on your day than to grow your own bouquet? For the strongest flowers, it's better to stick with perennials. Lilies, roses, hydrangeas, tulips and daisies are very easy to grow and fully mature in about a year.

"I like peonies best," says Troiano. "The blooms are so large that just a few make a beautiful bouquet, and they smell just heavenly."

The added bonus is that perennials come back every year, providing a living memory of your wedding. A fresh bouquet of your flowers would be the perfect touch for such a succeeding anniversary dinner.

When you've decided on the place you and your fiancé would like to stand during your ceremony, why not build an arbor or trellis on the spot? You'll have plenty of time to train climbing roses or other vines over the structure, and again, have a permanent memory.

If you're looking for something a little more dramatic, a gazebo is a great do-it-yourself project. Invite the entire family or wedding party over to pitch in, then celebrate the project's completion with a picnic.

When the big day finally arrives, you'll need a place for guests to sit. Simple resin patio chairs are inexpensive and easy to decorate with ribbons and greenery. Since they are always available in white, they work perfectly for an outdoor wedding.

And if you're not sure what to do with all those chairs after the event, send them home with your guests as a wedding favor. Most everyone has a use for patio chairs. Besides, they can always bring them back when you host your first cookout as a married couple.

What Hue Do I Do?

Deciding to paint is a quick decision, but choosing a color that's just right can be agonizing. Take heart, though, here's some advice from decorating experts at The Home Depot to give you the confidence you need.

How Sunlight Works with Color

The diagram above shows the relative amount of sunlight various rooms receive, depending on their exposure. You can apply this knowledge to brighten or tone down the appearance of various areas within your home.

"Sun-drenched rooms, for example, appear cooler with lavenders, grays, greens, and blues. And warm tones, like yellow, red, brown, and orange, can make dimmer rooms seem more cozy," says Mike Horsmann of The Home Depot.

By reinforcing a room's natural color temperature, you can supplement its impact.

Choose the Right Texture

A paint's surface sheen affects more than it looks. It's also an indication of its durability.

Gloss is usually considered the most hard-working, and it will stand up to heavy handling. That makes it a good choice for interior window and door trim.

Satin finish also is called "eggshell" because that describes its appearance when dry. It retains a slight texture if applied with a roller, but it does not have any real sheen. Satin is a durable choice for walls or other big areas. It's usually tough enough to stand up to cleaning, so it's popular in both kitchens and baths.

Flat paint is a favorite with builders because its low reflectivity hides surface flaws. However, it's usually considered the least durable paint finish, and it easily shows hand prints and scuffs. Ceilings are a good location for flat paint.

In addition to improving accuracy, the RoboHammer features advanced shock-absorbing technology that minimizes recoil and focuses more energy at impact, allowing users to accomplish more work with less effort. That means less strain on muscles and joints, and fewer injuries.

Precision forging and top-quality finishing give the 18-ounce RoboHammer its unique profile. Other features include a triple-layer grip, surrounding a one-piece, solid steel shaft, which dampens vibration and reduces fatigue. There also is a deep-cut claw that is ideal for hard-to-pull nails. Made in the United States and backed by a lifetime guarantee, the RoboHammer is priced under $30 and available exclusively at The Home Depot.

The hammer's customized non-slip grip allows both righties and lefties to swing harder and with more confidence.

The hammer's customized non-slip grip allows both righties and lefties to swing harder and with more confidence.

That's a major benefit since it's estimated most people currently miss one out of three hits," says Steve Daniels of The Home Depot.

In addition to improving accuracy, the RoboHammer features advanced shock-absorbing technology that minimizes recoil and focuses more energy at impact, allowing users to accomplish more work with less effort. That means less strain on muscles and joints, and fewer injuries.

Precision forging and top-quality finishing give the 18-ounce RoboHammer its unique profile. Other features include a triple-layer grip, surrounding a one-piece, solid steel shaft, which dampens vibration and reduces fatigue. There also is a deep-cut claw that is ideal for hard-to-pull nails. Made in the United States and backed by a lifetime guarantee, the RoboHammer is priced under $30 and available exclusively at The Home Depot.

Maine Township Drop-In Center Spring Bash

Young people from grades 5 through 12 along with parents and adult volunteers celebrated the spring weather Thursday, April 27 with their annual Spring Bash at the Drop-In Center, 9511 W. Harrison in unincorporated Maine Township. "Each year attendance gets larger, and so does the enthusiasm," said Drop-In Manager Amy Job.

Along with activities, refreshments and games - including an outdoor football tournament that took advantage of the nice weather - many youths participated in the annual Talent Show, performing as singers, dancers, rappers and even an impromptu juggler.

"Sometimes we find that part of a group may not be able to come at the last minute, or once in a while a performer just may get a bad case of the 'butterflies' and drop out at the last minute," explained Job about the difficulties scheduling acts for the show. "But there's always plenty of entertainment and willingness to pitch in."

One such instance involved 12-year-old Justin Ward. During a long unintended break between acts that was caused by a performer arriving late, young Justin grabbed three tennis balls and proceeded to wow the crowd with a juggling act as the DJ provided accompanying music.

12-year-old Justin Ward filled a gap in the program with his unscheduled juggling act that wowed the crowd at this year's Maine Township Drop-In Center Talent Show.

Resurrection High School to be honored by White House

On May 1 Resurrection High School, 7500 West Talcott in Chicago was one of 32 high schools across the country named National Service-Learning Leader Schools for excellence in service-learning.

The Presidential Award recognizes outstanding schools that combine academics with community service in a way that benefits students, teaches civic responsibility, and strengthens communities.

Resurrection High School, an all-girls school on the Northwest Side of Chicago, engages 70 percent of its students in service-learning through offerings in nine courses throughout the curriculum. As a Christian Catholic High School, Resurrection makes service-learning an integral part of student life.

Service-learning projects in the classroom help students develop critical thinking, problem solving and decision making skills needed for responsible citizenship, leadership, and full participation in society.

Service-learning is a burgeoning trend in the United States. The Department of Education found that in 1994, only 27 percent of all high schools had school-fostered community service projects and only 9 percent offered service-learning. By the 1998-99 school year, those numbers rose to a remarkable 83 percent and 46 percent, respectively.

while Resurrection proudly reports 70 percent non-mandatory participation.

Three representatives from Resurrection have been invited to Washington in June to receive the presidential award, attend a congressional reception, and receive three days of training. As a Leader School, Resurrection will remain an "active winner" for two years, sharing their service-learning successes with other schools.

As part of the award, Resurrection has developed a plan of service leadership activities for the next two years focusing its attention on the needs of two important groups of constituents in the community: junior high school students and parents.

The National Service-Learning Leader Schools program is administered by the Corporation for National Service, which provides Americans of all ages with opportunities to improve communities through programs such as AmeriCorps, Learn and Serve America, and the National Senior Service Corps.

Learn and Serve America supports service-learning programs in school, colleges, and community organizations through which more than one million students each year from kindergarten through college meet community needs while improving their academic skills.

Bill to track drivers court supervision

Illinois lawmakers have approved legislation sponsored by Assistant Senate Majority Leader Walter Dudyzy (R-7th, Chicago) to crack down on motorists who have a long history of choosing court supervision to keep minor traffic tickets off their driving records.

House Bill 2883 sets up a statewide system to track court supervision for minor traffic offenses by requiring court clerks to notify the Secretary of State when a traffic offender is given court supervision. The legislation was passed March 24 by the Illinois Senate and Nov. 17, 1999, by the House of Representatives.

"Court supervision is often for minor traffic offenses. It allows motorists to pay a fine and take a defensive driving class, which keeps the offenses off their official driving record," Dudyzy said. "The problem is that each county has its own records so the courts in other counties have no way of immediately accessing a motorist's history of court supervision in other jurisdictions. Many different offenses indicate a problem, but that information does not currently appear on motorist's driving record."

Earlier this year, near Bourbonnais, an Amtrak train collided with a truck driven by a person with a long history of receiving supervision to avoid punishment for poor driving. Secretary of State Jesse White testified at the Jan. 26 Senate Transportation Committee meeting in support of House Bill 2883, which is a recommendation of the Secretary's Highway Safety 2000 Advisory Panel. Dudyzy is a member of that Panel and a member of the Senate Transportation Committee.

"Last year, the train accident that took place in Bourbonnais was an eye-opening experience for all of us. We lost 11 wonderful individuals," White said. "The person who was driving the truck was driving under court supervision. We realize there was a problem within the system so we established Highway Safety Panel 2000. Its mission was to seek a remedy for that problem by coming forward with this piece of legislation, which would allow us to establish a database for all court supervision."

House Bill 2883 required that the court clerk must send a report within 10 days of disposition or within 10 days of the driver's referral to a driver remedial or rehabilitation program. The reports would be available only to the affected driver, the Secretary of State, and for use by the Illinois courts, prosecutors, and police.

House Bill 2883 will become law when signed by Gov. George Ryan.

Safer Memorial Day travel tips

Memorial Day is fast approaching, which means millions of motorists will be hitting the road as America awakens in the start of the summer travel season. And with more and more vehicles jockeying for position on the nation's heavily traveled highways this holiday weekend, the need for safety has never been greater.

These easy-to-follow tips are taken from the Count On Shell series of safety booklets, which address six specific driving issues: hazards on the road, driving with children; how to handle an accident; keeping safe while driving alone; keeping safe during roadside emergencies; and how to safely share the road with trucks, trains and motorcycles. The booklets are now available at more than 9,000 Shell stations in 39 states, or can be obtained by calling 1-800-376-0200 or by visiting Shell's web site: www.countonshell.com.

1. If your tire blows out, don't slam on the brakes. You could lose control completely. Instead, take your foot off the gas and concentrate on staying in your lane. Slow down gradually and pull off the road to a safe location.

2. If your car starts to skid, take your foot off the gas pedal and turn the steering wheel in the direction you want the front of the car to go.

3. If you're involved in an accident, stay calm, move out of traffic and find a safe place to wait for the police and emergency crews. Sometimes the safest place to be is in your car. Warn other motorists by turning on your flashers and raising your hood or trunk, and watch for traffic, fire and wires. Also, turn off the ignition of all vehicles.

4. When transporting children, always use seatbelts. Properly used, child safety seats are life preservers. They reduce the risk of death to infants by 69 percent, and that of toddlers by 47 percent. More than 1,000 children die every year because they are not buckled in.

5. The safest place in the car for children is the back seat -- in the center, if you have center belts -- and in an appropriate vehicle seat. The general rule is that the greater the distance from the point of impact, the greater the protection.

6. If you come upon an accident, pass well beyond the scene and out of harm's way.

7. If emergency crews are racing to a crash ahead of you, pull over to let them safely pass. And don't assume the first ambulance or police car you see will be the only one. Watch for other emergency vehicles following closely behind the first.

8. Prevent driver fatigue on long trips by: Avoiding night travel, as the glare of the lights outside and from the dashboard increases the chance of highway hypnosis; keeping the car temperature cool; snacking frequently, and taking frequent breaks.

9. To help avoid being cut off, make sure you're not driving in another driver's blind spot. Glance into the rearview mirror. If you can't see their face, assume they can't see you.

10. When following trucks, don't tailgate. Trucks typically can't see anything less than 30 feet behind the trailer. Stay 100 to 250 feet back or follow the four-second rule: If you pass the same fixed point as a truck before reaching the count of four, you're following too closely. And when passing a truck, change lanes only when you can see both of the truck's headlights in your rearview mirror.

top man in his department he instituted an immediate response team combining a patrol and detective force with officers serving dual roles. It was innovative and quite successful.

Ray has served our community with a style and grace which speaks well for the village as well as for himself.

Niles added Steve Vincenzo to its village manager staff May 1. Steve was imported from Prospect Heights where he served as assistant village manager. Steve becomes administrative assistant to Niles, assistant village manager Mary Kay Morrissey who is presently back-up to Niles manager Abe Selman.

We spoke to 68-year-old Selman recently and asked if we're seeing the beginning of the changing of the guard in Niles. Abe said he had no plans of retiring. So long as he remains healthy he expects to continue in his present role well into the new millennium.

Abe said Mr. Vincenzo was in the Gulf War serving as a captain in the army. The old suspicious Left Hand thought bringing in a young 35-year-old with such rank and experience in the military service indicated the new man in town may begin being groomed to move into Abe's job in the not too distant future.

In addition to the manager's post we're seeing the greying of the incumbent political parties in both Niles and Morton Grove. Nick Blase's 40 year tenure as Niles village president may be the longest running political act in the United States. In 2001, when Nick is likely to run for his 11th term, the former 32-year-old Mayor will be 72 years old. Just as in neighboring Morton Grove, we're seeing the "maturing" of the local politicians in both towns. In next year's elections we might see some young-bloods contesting the old line incumbents who have held the government reins for much of the last 40 years.

Because the local newspaper is the unofficial historian in its communities we should report last Thursday Niles and Morton Grove and the entire North Shore was almost blown away. In the late afternoon we were standing on an island at a gas station at Washington and Golf Roads when a wicked blast of cold wind almost blew us off the island. The wind was biting and the sudden rain became confrontational. While we fought our way into the gas station, residents east of our area endured a mini-tornado which uprooted trees resulting in the killing of a Wilmette man, a couple of miles away. My brother-in-law was at an auto repair shop when the wind tore off the garage door at the station and knocked out the electricity. Cars up on the lifts remained there after the power was short-circuited. At our residence at Central and Milwaukee Avenues the loss of electrical power prevented us from having any water services for 24 hours.

Many years ago a tornado devastated the Oak Lawn community on the south side and also reared down Touhy Avenue and ripped off part of the roof at the old Niles public elementary school (Niles South). It happened just as suddenly then as that first burst of wind did last Thursday which almost blew us up and away.

We are seldom aware of the era we are living in until long after it has passed. But this past weekend Bob Besser and his daughter, Ariel, attended Saturday's St. John Brebeuf Catholic Women's Club luncheon and we attended a granddaughter's brief role as the executioner in Alice in Wonderland, a jazz concert at Northwestern Saturday night and granddaughter Ariel's dance performance Sunday at the Jewish Community Center in Skokie. What Bob and I both agreed to was the stylish and gracious life middle-America is living through during this very prosperous time. Middle class America is living in a golden era in the beginning of the 21st century.

new filter system and heater were operational, but water loss was noticed. The Park District had Paragon Pool put divers in the water on May 13 to examine the structure for leaks.

It was eventually discovered that four 3-year-old hydrostatic valves were the likely culprits causing the water loss. The Park District will replace the valves, which were not part of the pool's remodeling plan, at an estimated cost of $1,500. The repair is expected to allow the pool to be put back on line before the end of the month.

In addition, the finishing details of the remodel are expected to be finished. The deck lighting should be shipped the week of May 15 and installed by K & M Mechanical soon afterward, interior partitions for the bathroom are expected to be corrected for height and reshipped, and all Braille signage has been ordered. With these details finished, Orville Pool patrons can expect a full summer of pool usage at a new and beautiful facility.

On a more personal note, Robert Smith, who resigned as Superintendent of Parks to accept a position in Franklin Park, was on hand at the May 18, 2000 Park District Board meeting to express his thanks to the Board and the District for the nearly 10 years he worked here. Commissioner Andy DeMonte, expressing thoughts shared by other board members, thanked Smith for his work and dedication to the Park District during his tenure.

Donut Day Chairperson designated

Mr. Bud Swanson has been designated as this year's Salvation Army Donut Day Chairperson for the Village of Morton Grove. As chairperson, Mr. Swanson will coordinate volunteers for the 62-year-old Chicago fund-raiser for the June 2 tag day. Mr. Swanson has served as chairperson for the past 10 years.

With the help of Mr. Swanson, and several hundred other chairpersons, the Army expects to muster a volunteer force of more than 6,000 people to help raise an area goal of $200,000. The money will be used to help sustain a variety of emergency assistance programs.

The idea for Donut Day originally commemorated the services of Salvation Army workers on the battlefields of France where they became known for serving coffee and donuts during WWI and later WWII. Ever since, Salvation Army emergency canteens have become a common sight during times of human crisis and disaster. Responding to most major fires and natural disasters has made the Army an integral part of disaster responses.
